Preparations Point To Big Voter Turnout

VIRGINIA BEACH — Volunteering baby-sitters, free transportation and other voter assistance measures are underway throughout the city today as an expected record breaking number of persons go to the polls.

The city's 23 precincts opened at 6 a.m. and will remain open until 7 p.m. so that all voters will have an opportunity to cast their votes.

Both the Democratic and Republican headquarters have volunteer workers on hand to provide baby-sitting services and transportation to the polls for those who need them.

Persons desiring assistance in getting to the polls may contact Democratic headquarters at 340-6311 or Republican headquarters at 428-9488.

The voter turnout is expected to double the 13,000 persons who voted in the 1960 presidential election. Predictions have ranged between 20,000 and 25,000 but some officials have claimed even higher figures.

When the registration books closed October 3, the city had 32,551 registered voters, over 12,000 more than in 1960. Much of the success of the voter registration drive was due to the efforts of the non-partisan League of Women Voters.

Abolishment of the poll tax on federal elections will draw many persons to the polls for the first time.

Seldom has Virginia Beach experienced more political activity than has been underway in the past few weeks.

Over 30 Democratic women have opened their homes for campaign coffees during the past week and the Democratic nominees.

Mrs. Thomas N. Downing, wife of the incumbent congressional candidate from this district, was guest of honor Monday morning at the final event in this series sponsored by the Democratic Women's Club.

Sharing the limelight with Mrs. Downing was Mrs. Mills Godwin Jr., wife of the lieutenant governor, and Mrs. Sidney S. Kellam, wife of state Democratic campaign manager.

At the same time the Democrats were holding their coffee at the Americana Motel, the Republicans had a similar event underway at the home of Mrs. Quintin E. Marlow on West Little Neck Road.

Guest of honor at the coffee was Wayne C. Thiessen, Republican candidate for Downside's congressional post, who spoke

WRITE-IN VOTING

For the benefit of our readers who are still confused over the controversial write-in amendment appearing on today's ballots, the Sun-News here reprints section twenty-eight of the Constitution of Virginia:

Section twenty-eight. Ballots.—The General Assembly shall provide for ballots without any distinguishing mark or symbol for the use in all State, County, City and other elections by the people, and the forms thereof shall be the same in all places where any such election is held. All ballots shall contain the names of the candidates, and of the offices to be filled, in clear print and in view and orderly succession; but any voter may erase any name and insert another.

The Sun-News can only add this last minute explanation: If you want to keep the write-in provision, vote against the amendment. If you want to eliminate the write-in provision in primary elections, vote for the amendment.

Amendment Confuses To Say The Least

We said in last Thursday's edition that the amendment concerning write-in voting as worded on the ballots might be confusing. The article proceeded to explain the amendment. Now we learn that our interpretation of the wording was wrong and we have merely added to the confusion.

After many conferences and many authoritative explanations, we will try once again to clear up the issue.

The ballots state: "Shall section twenty-eight of the Constitution of Virginia be amended so as to permit write-in voting in other than primary elections and to prescribe the manner in which ballots may be marked in such cases?"

A vote for the amendment (we are told) would eliminate write-in voting in primary elections. A vote against the amendment would allow the law to remain as it is which provides that a citizen may write-in in all elections.

We sincerely regret our error in misinterpreting the wording on the ballots—but it is confusing, isn't it?

Four Men Convicted In Robbery

VIRGINIA BEACH — Four young men were convicted Thursday of the armed robbery at the rear of the Rathskeller last summer. Convicted were Elvin Baker, Elijah Thomas Jenkins, Foster Braithwhite, and Michael K. Trotman. All were referred for pre-sentences report.

In other Circuit court cases:

- Benjamin Francis Herndon was found guilty of armed robbery and was referred for pre-sentences report. His bond was revoked.
- John Edward Joyce was convicted of two charges of armed robbery. His bond was revoked and a pre-sentence report was ordered.
- William Floyd Shrivis was found guilty of two charges of armed robbery, and was referred for pre-sentences report. Bond was revoked.
- Benjamin Foreman charged with murder, had his case continued.
- Juanita Sue Thomas and William Alva Thomas, both charged with embezzlement, were continued.
- Walter Rufus Thompson Jr. was found guilty on six different charges of burglary. He received 12 years each on five charges, and six months in jail on the sixth. All sentences, except one 12 year term in the penitentiary, were suspended.

Civic League To Hear City Personnel

PLAZA — A speaker from the Virginia Beach police department and the report of the recreation committee will be featured at the next meeting of the Princess Anne Plaza Civic League which has been postponed from its regular meeting date because it conflicts with election night.

The meeting will be held Nov. 10, at the Lynnhaven Elementary School. Earlier plans to call a meeting in the latter part of October were changed in favor of the delayed regular meeting.

A group of girl scouts will lead in the pledge to the flag ceremony at the opening of next Tuesday's meeting.

Lt. George Bryant, juvenile officer, will give information on what parents can do to prevent child molesting and other pertinent facts on this subject. Recent events have focused attention on the activities of child molesters and intensified efforts of the police to promote preventive measures.

A question and answer period will follow Lt. Bryant's talk.

The latest developments in the effort to obtain recreation facilities will be given in the report of the recreation committee. Included in the report will be John Aragona's offer to provide land for this purpose.

Transportation to and from polling places will be furnished for residents of the Princess Anne Plaza area by members of the Plaza Elementary PTA and the Princess Anne Plaza Civic League. Anyone wishing to take advantage of this service can call 341-5812 during the time the polls are open. In cases where it is needed, a baby-sitting service will also be provided while parents are transported to and from the polls.

Tricksters Here Leave Few Marks

VIRGINIA BEACH — The city came through Saturday's Halloween activities in "pretty good shape," the police department reported Monday.

"There were some scattered incidents of egg-throwing," juvenile officer Lt. George Bryant said, "but most of the offenders were apprehended and turned over to their parents."

Lt. Bryant said that officers were stationed at various places throughout the city to keep the Halloween tricksters, especially the teen-agers, under control.

He praised the special programs, such as the WGH Top 30 Show at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center, for "keeping the teen-agers off the streets."

"It's too bad we can't pass a law prohibiting Halloween to fall on a Saturday night," Lt. Bryant laughed. "But all in all it was very quiet."

POLICE OFFICERS ATTEND WORKSHOP

KEMPSVILLE — About 10 Virginia Beach Police officers are expected to attend the Regional Medico-Legal Workshop November 19 at the Norfolk F.O.P. Club in Kempsville.

Experts will give lectures and demonstrations on homicide. Those attending will be given amnesia data and will be asked to state the cause and manner of death with supporting data. They must also state how they would collect and preserve all evidence.

Music Festival May Triple

VIRGINIA BEACH — The 1965 Virginia Beach Music Festival, scheduled for early next June, may triple in size over all previous festivals.

Now under the sponsorship of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, the event may draw as many as 33 high school bands from states east of the Mississippi River.

Charles Forbes, general chairman, and his committee are now in the process of mailing out over 7,000 invitations to the festival.

The invitation list is triple in number the amount issued in previous years.

If 33 bands should sign for this year's festival, the chamber has predicted that the participating bandmembers alone would spend over $100,000 in Virginia Beach during a 4-day stay.

Assistant Planning Director David Cassida points out the court house on the new city map to Senior Draftsman Arnold Rodriguez. The map comes in four sections.

New City Map Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — The long awaited new city map is now on sale at the planning commission office. There are four sections, each costing $1. Together these sections show the entire city plus some overlap of neighboring areas.

The new map is accurate as of last month, showing all the new street names, all fire stations, most churches, police stations, proposed interstate 64, Virginia Beach toll road, proposed canals, schools, subdivision names, etc.

If all four sections are put together, the map measures 8' x 5'8". The scale is one inch to 1600 feet.

Plans call for the map to be up-dated once a year or oftener if all maps on hand are sold before the year ends. The color map is being sold at just about printing costs.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Films

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Kiwanis Club of Virginia Beach will launch a series of six travel and adventure films later this month.

The first program in the series is scheduled for Nov. 21 at Princess Anne High School at 5:15 p.m. Five others will follow periodically through April 30.

Each of the 90-minute color films were taken by professional photographers with many years experience in traveling and filming some of the world's most interesting places.

The films will be personally narrated by the photographers who took them and musical backgrounds and special sound effects will add to their interest.

Season tickets to all six programs are now on sale at Pic's 31st Street Cleaners for $3 per student and $5 per adult.

Proceeds will be used to further the club's many community projects.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria before and during the free periods. All parents are urged to attend and assist with their child's teachers.

Make a list of your furnishings

Yes, we'll agree it's a dull chore. It's boreome.

But every home owner ought to take time to make an inventory of his household furniture, clothes, books, etc. Now, tonight.

The average home owner guesses only a fraction of the real value of his things. The reason is, he acquired them one at a time over a period of years.

You should KNOW the worth of your possessions and increase your fire insurance on them to cover replacement at today's prices.

Admirals

PORTSMOUTH — A controversial call by the officials that rubbed out a Craddock touchdown and a free-for-all at the end added to the excitement of an Eastern District football thriller that saw Princess Anne stave off the Admirals, 20-13, Friday night.

The win ended a three-game slump for the Cavaliers, who packed two touchdowns into the final four minutes of the first half to come from behind for a 14-6 lead at intermission.

Kellam Wins
Second Time

VIRGINIA BEACH — Kellam soundly trounced Northampton Friday night, 24-7, and made its 14-game losing streak, broken only last week, sound like ancient history.

The Knights scored early, and in the second half of the non-conference football game used most of its substitute team.

Kellam scored its first touchdown in three power plays with only two minutes on the clock in the second quarter. Although they missed on all extra point attempts, scoring was made to look easy. The Knights racked up 18 points in the first quarter, six in the second and left the remainder of the game to the subs.

Cox Loses To Smith

CHESAPEAKE — In the first quarter of its Eastern District football match with Oscar Smith Friday night, Cox ran 12 plays from scrimmage. On four of them Willie Inman wound up with the ball, Inman plays for Smith so this was embarrassing to say the least.

These four fumbles also proved costly to the Falcons in their first experience in the harsh glow of the football spotlight. Inman grabbed one of them in mid-air and ran 15 yards for a touchdown. Another was used to ignite a 40-yard drive for more points. Since Smith won the game, 13-0, the importance of these early bobbles was underlined.

COX J-V

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Cox jayvees won their second football game of the season here Thursday by shutting out the Virginia Beach junior varsity, 12-0. Dan Conrad tallied first for the victors on a 20-yard run in the second quarter and Bill Blowe chalked up the second touchdown in the final period on a nine-yard scamper.

Landowner's Rights Deserve Respect

The outdoors lies deep in American tradition. It has had a great impact upon our Nation's character and on those who made its history. When an American looks for the meaning of his past, he seeks it not in ancient ruins on a mountain, in a forest by a river, or at the edge of the sea. The outdoors is a thing of the heart and of the senses—sight, sound, smell, taste, touch. Conservation and sportsmanship are personal things—growing from the conscience, from the soul. That is why hunting is cherished by Americans as a legacy to be shared by sportsmen today, but to be conserved for generations yet unborn.

When our forefathers established our government, it was decreed that wild game belongs to the States in their sovereign capacity for the use and enjoyment of all the people. At the same time, it was decreed that the landowner has the right to determine who may come upon his land to hunt the game. While pressures were light, there was no critical conflict between public ownership of game and private control over its harvest. As the population has increased, however, trespass laws have become more and more restrictive.

Grid Mark

VIRGINIA BEACH — Russell Chaplain, Ben Williams and Chris Hanson each scored three touchdowns Friday night as Group I-A Virginia Beach overwhelmed hapless Group II Holland, here in a football game.

Hanson and Williams scored 22 points apiece and the Seahawks ran up the highest point total in the school's history. They led 34-6 at the half and 62-6 after three quarters.

Most of the Seahawks' 12 touchdowns came on running plays. The Beach team did intercept two passes for touchdowns and returned a punt for a tally.

Hunting is an essential part of the total American way of life, and wild game must be properly managed and harvested. As custodian of the Nation's wildlife, the landowner has an obligation to provide reasonable opportunities for hunting, but he cannot be expected to give up his private rights and freedom from unauthorized trespass. Public hunting on private land is a privilege, not an inherent or vested right, and must be earned by proof of respect for the landowner's rights. In the final analysis, the mutual understanding between outdoorsmen and landowners will determine the future of public hunting in America.

Too many hunters are guilty of vandalism, trespass, careless handling of firearms, and violations of game laws. The true sportsman of America cannot afford to permit this small minority group to destroy hunting opportunities for all. Hunters must work together and with landowners to control the vandals; they must encourage good sportsmanship by example; and they must insist on the highest standards of conduct from hunting companions in the field.

While hunting is an extremely safe sport, there are injuries and fatalities which can and should be avoided. Research shows that hunting accidents are due primarily to carelessness or ignorance of proper gun handling. If we are to prevent accidents, each of us must adhere to the essentials of safe hunting. We must know our gun, be sure that it and its ammunition are in good condition, sight-in our rifle or pattern our shotgun, and learn to be a good shot. We must handle our gun properly—always treat it as though it is loaded, always point the muzzle in a safe direction, be sure of our target, and practice self-control.

The need for genuine conservation of our natural wildlife resources and effective protection of our right to keep and bear arms is extremely important. What better way to preserve these great American heritages than to teach our young people the skills, the attitudes, and the appreciations for hunting experiences in the outdoors.

So why not take a boy or girl hunting on your next trip? As you walk through the paths in the woods and fields, exclaim and demonstrate the NRA Hunter's Code of Ethics. By doing this, you will be sharing and helping to conserve the heritage of hunting in America.

NRA HUNTER'S CODE OF ETHICS

1. I will consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, seeking his permission, and so conducting myself that I may be welcome in the future.
2. I will obey the rules of safe gun handling and will courteously but firmly insist that others who hunt with me do the same.
3. I will obey all game laws and regulations, and will insist that my companions do likewise.
4. I will do my best to acquire those marksmanship and hunting skills which assure clean, sportsmanlike kills.
5. I will support conservation efforts which can assure good hunting for future generations of Americans.
6. I will pass along to younger hunters the attitudes and skills essential to a true outdoor sportsman.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Not "Cheap"

Managers of the electric departments of a group of Massachusetts communities have released an engineering report proposing joint construction of a large thermal power station and interconnecting distribution systems. This, it is alleged, would result in a substantial saving to consumers. Most of the power used in the four municipalities concerned is now purchased from investor-owned utilities.

On the face of it, this may seem an appealing idea. But in such cases, it is necessary to look deeper. A spokesman for one of the investor-owned utilities concerned says that his company is "skeptical that the savings suggested can be achieved, if all the costs of making electricity are included," and adds that a municipal system would deprive the towns of needed tax revenue by establishing a "tax-exempt" empire.

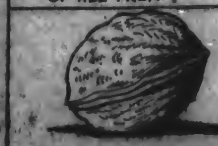

It is this fact that is too often overlooked in considering public-power schemes, whether on the municipal, state or federal level. Authoritative surveys have found that when all economic factors are considered—taxes among them—private power service is frequently cheaper, as well as better, than socialized service. It is certainly obvious that electric rate reductions are a dubious blessing if they are accompanied by losses of tax revenue which must result in higher taxes for all remaining taxpayers.

The efficiency of the investor-owned utilities cannot be seriously questioned—they lead the world in their field. Their rates are publicly regulated and based on the costs of providing service, plus a very moderate profit. They pay, on the average, some 25 per cent of all their revenues in taxes. The so-called "cheap power" of public systems is made possible because they are free of all federal income taxes and most of the other taxes the utilities must pay. There is nothing honestly "cheap" about that.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

U.S. Farm Exports Now Six Billion Dollars

By U.S. Rep. Carl Albert (D.-Okla.)
House Majority Leader

Largely unnoticed by most people is one of the most significant developments in American agriculture. And it has all happened since 1961. It is the spectacular expansion of farm exports.

Not many people realize that today agriculture leads all other American industries in total exports—more than $6 billion during fiscal year 1960, ending June 30.

This new peak represents an expansion in U.S. agricultural exports of 20 percent in a single year and it represents an expansion of 31 percent above the level four years ago when this Administration took office.

In terms of the individual farm family, one out of every five acres of cropland production now goes into the export market.

Carl Albert
Commenting on the new export record, President Johnson said:

"Once again American agriculture has demonstrated its ability to succeed in highly competitive world markets."

"The trade surplus in agriculture last year (commercial exports versus competitive imports) was over $2 billion, the highest in 10 years. This represents a substantial contribution to the plus side of our balance-of-payments ledger."

The increase in trade surplus in agriculture is 300 percent over that of 1960.

The year's agricultural export total of $6,076 million was compared to $4,494 million in dollar sale commercial exports, plus $1,582 million in Food for Peace shipments to less-developed countries. Practically all of the $1 billion gain occurred in dollar sales.

The biggest export gain in FY 1960 was in cotton, up 66 percent. Next, animals and animal products (meat, meat products; poultry, dairy products, lard, tallow, hides and skins, etc.), up 28 percent. Third largest increase in a commodity group was grains, up 23 percent.

New export records were set for many individual commodities, including feed grains, soybeans, rice, wheat, tallow, non-fat dry milk, yellow peas, dry edible beans, and hides and skins.

Exporting of U.S. farm products has become big business. It provides jobs and income not only for the 1.5 million commercial farmers who produce 90 percent of U.S. agricultural output but also for the hundreds of thousands of business organizations and workers in the "agribusiness" area who process, transport, finance, and sell the products that go abroad. Practically every community in America feels the favorable impact of this successful export operation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

The following is a telegram that the undersigned have sent to Senator Barry Goldwater at the Republican Campaign Headquarters, with copies to President Lyndon B. Johnson at the Democratic Campaign Headquarters:

"In reference to your statement concerning Turkey, we believe you have created more problems between our two Allies."

You have done more harm to NATO by praising Turkey and ignoring Greece, the most trusted Ally for generations. Once again you are shooting from the hip, and damaging our prestige and good will among our Allies. A half a million Greek Americans will answer you at the polls on Tuesday, November 3rd.

We doubt that the Turks will come to your rescue. The reason for this telegram was the statement that Mr. Goldwater made in his foreign policy speech about being so concerned about NATO and praising Turkey as the most important Ally we have and ignoring Greece completely, also a member of NATO.

In our opinion, in bringing unity among our NATO Allies, you cannot praise one and ignore the other. The result would bring more disunity and hamper the efforts in solving their differences about Cyprus which have divided these two important Allies in NATO.

Very truly yours,
CYPRUS BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OF NORFOLK, PORTSMOUTH & VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA.
Thomas C. Kyros, President

Dear Sir:

Your news article and editorial in Thursday's paper regarding the ruling by the Honorable Judge Wahab on the Rudee Inlet Authority was read with interest. Although most of the information was accurate, I respectfully correct one statement. The property owners were not, repeat not, suing the authority. Mr. Bastian's original suit to halt condemnation of his property was filed several months ago by the Court. He and the other six owners were Defendants against condemnation suits entered by the Authority to acquire their homes.

May I say these people do not wish to halt progress. They do hope to keep their home and property which is of almost importance to older people. Can't the Marina be built without disrupting homes? There is undeveloped land in abundance surrounding the Inlet!

Judging from recent magazine articles, the "power of eminent domain" is universally abused. If I suddenly desire your home, do I have the right to possess it by condemnation power from Richmond? Our Government spends millions helping unfortunate people unable to care for themselves. A man, no longer young, works hard to buy his home, pays his taxes, and is self-sustaining. Must he further pay to hold that which legally belongs to him? Furthermore, isn't it unjust to have his home threatened with the very tax money paid by himself and his neighbors?

If those in authority were forced into a similar situation, how would they feel? I know. I'm one of these "little people"! I'm thankful there are still men of courage and integrity in high places. May we have more like the good Judge!

CITY VOTE GOES TO JOHNSON

KEYS TO A BRAND-new 1965 Ford Mustang are held by Khac Adams, right, president of Emrhaer Ford, just before turning them over to Albin R. Matheson, vice-president and general manager of the Virginia Beach Sun-News. The new Mustang will be the grand prize in the big Sun-News "Everybody Wins" subscription contest. See details in this issue in stories and advertisements about the contest. The contest ad appears on pages four and five. (Hardy Photo)

$7,000 CONTEST OPENS SUN-NEWS EXPANSION

A sensational campaign, in which a brand new 1965 Ford Mustang is being offered as top prize, is announced today by the Virginia Beach Sun-News.

The new Mustang was obtained from Emrhaer Ford Motor Company of Virginia Beach, where it is now on display and interested persons are invited to stop and see it.

This latest product of the Ford Motor Co., much in demand in Virginia Beach and throughout the country, will be delivered to the most industrious person in the Virginia Beach trade area on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at the climax of a short six and a half weeks' campaign.

Second prize will be $750.00 in cash.

Although the campaign will officially open next Wednesday, Nov. 11, as The Virginia Beach Sun-News moves to increase its already growing circulation lists, there is nothing to stop aggressive persons, who would like to win a new car, from taking new and renewal orders to the paper immediately.

Besides the top prize of a $2733.95 automobile, big cash prizes will go to third, fourth, fifth and sixth place winners, as outlined more fully in the big double-page announcement on pages 4 and 5-A in this issue of today's paper.

One of the best features is the fact that everyone gets paid for his part in the campaign. Special bonus prizes will be paid to anyone in the community who is willing to cooperate in the program.

Generous 20 per cent commission will be paid on all subscriptions turned in to the campaign department. Each Wednesday, participants will be paid weekly commission paychecks.

This first week, for example, it is a simple matter to pick up an additional $50 to $100.00 or more in commissions and special first week bonuses.

In other words, it is called the "Everybody Wins" contest, simply because everybody does. Participants get regular commission pay checks, insuring them of adequate, generous compensation, and then compete as well for the big prizes.

It is understood and agreed that winners of first and second prizes will consider their weekly pay checks in the light of an "advancement" and are returnable, thus obviating double compensation.

This does not apply to bonus check winners or to other contestants who do not win one of the two top prizes.

Liner Circulation Service, the nation's oldest and most outstanding circulation service with more than 50 years longevity, will conduct the campaign for The Virginia Beach Sun-News.

Liner Services is long recognized among newspaper publishers throughout the United States for its fairness in conducting circulation campaigns.

Residents of this area, therefore, have the assurance of equal opportunity to win a new Ford Mustang and absolute fairness in conduct of the campaign.

To enter, clip the entry blank and free vote coupon in the two page official announcement in this issue.

In order to give every worker the fullest cooperation, a campaign department has been opened at the Virginia Beach Sun-News office, with Miss Jeannine Bullard and Robert L. Bullard, veteran contest managers of Liner Circulation Service in charge.

Both the Bullards have had years of experience in helping people, and they are ready to devote all their energy to helping anyone who is interested in earning one of the many prizes offered.

For a quick start and full information, phone 428-2401 or better still come to the campaign

Offer Extra $25 1st Week

To start the ball rolling and provide added incentive for prompt action on the part of those who intend to participate in the subscription contest, the Virginia Beach Sun-News will award special prizes consisting of $25.00 cash prizes to solicitors who make the best showing up to and including Monday night, November 16, 1964.

These special cash prizes are in addition to the regular 20 per cent commission.

Here's how! Each solicitor who obtains $125.00 in circulation (both new and renewal) the first week ending Nov. 16 will be paid the regular 20 per cent commission of $25.00 and an additional bonus of $25.00 making a total of $50.00 just for obtaining $125.00 in circulation.

Then, too, the same subscriptions will count towards winning that Ford Mustang at the end of the contest.

Kellam Moves Up As State Swings To Democrats

VIRGINIA BEACH — Sidney S. Kellam, state campaign manager for the Democratic candidates, Wednesday credited hard-working volunteers with the party's landslide victory in Tuesday's election.

He also continued to squelch rumors that Sen. Harry F. Byrd would step down from office so that Kellam could be appointed to the post.

"I feel confident that Byrd will finish his own term," Kellam said in an interview Wednesday morning.

Kellam's name has been linked to various rumors concerning high appointments ever since the campaign got underway early last month, possibly because of his double position as Virginia's national Democratic committeeman and campaign manager.

While Kellam credits the state Democratic victory to "hard work on the local level," officials here contend that much of the Democratic vote in Virginia Beach was in support of Kellam as much as the candidates.

And, despite Kellam's denials, the general feeling among the political leaders is that there is more fact than fiction in the persistent rumors.

"Yes, I believe Kellam might be named to Sen. Byrd's seat if and when he retires," one official said. "And it would be the best thing that could happen to Virginia Beach and the entire state."

Others hesitate to say that Kellam would accept an elective office but feel he may be in line for a post in President Johnson's cabinet. Several such appointments have been frequently mentioned in rumors during the past few weeks.

Kellam said Wednesday that the Democratic victory will greatly benefit Virginia because "putting us in the winning column will give Virginia better recognition by those in Washington, and be very helpful to us." He also said that he feels Virginia went Democratic in such overwhelming totals because voters were aware that "Virginia has more to gain from the Democrats than from the Republicans."

Women Voters Forum Monday

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Unit, League of Women Voters will hold its "Know Your City Government" Forum Monday at 7:45 p.m. at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center with 15 of the city's officials participating.

Open to the public and free of admission, the event is planned as a public service function by the non-partisan league.

Five minute speeches explaining the functions of various departments will be given by Treasurer V. A. Etheridge for the elected officials; Edward T. Caton III for the city councilmen; City Manager W. Russell Hatchett, Planning Director Mason Gamage, School Supt. Frank W. Cox or a representative, and Electoral Board Chairman John James.

Other officials attending and participating will include City Clerk John Fontness, Revenue Commissioner Ivan D. Mapp, Commonwealth's Attorney Robert L. Simpson, City Sergeant John Marr and Councilmen James Darden, L. Stanley Hodges, Lawrence Marshall, Earl Tebault, and John McComb.

A question and answer period will follow the speeches. Written questions will be collected from the floor as well as from organizations previously contacted by the league.

These organizations include the Council of Civic Organizations, Council of PTAs, Council of Garden Clubs, Chamber of Commerce, both the Princess Anne and Virginia Beach Chambers of Commerce, Princess Anne County Historical Society, Farm Bureau, Princess Anne Woman's Club, Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Junior Woman's Club, Virginia Beach Chapter YWCA and Virginia Beach Chapter American Association of University Women.

A profile view of the City of Virginia Beach will be presented by Mrs. Ephraim Spivey, president of the League of Women Voters of Norfolk - Virginia Beach.

Curran Speaks To Art Group

VIRGINIA BEACH — John Curran will speak to the members of the Virginia Beach Art Association on the subject "Nature and the Artist," at the Cavalier Hotel, November 11, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Curran has an extensive international background of study in Europe, the Middle East, Africa, the South Pacific, the East and West Indies, and Asia. He has exhibited extensively in Kentucky, Ohio, Washington, D.C., and Virginia.

Downing Tops Voting Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach followed the state and the nation in Tuesday's record-breaking voter turnout by supporting the Democratic ticket all the way.

Republican presidential candidate Sen. Barry M. Goldwater made more of a showing in the local voting than expected, however, by claiming seven of the city's 24 precincts but fell easy prey to President Johnson's sweeping victory by over 2,000 votes.

The most lopsided voting was at Seatack, a predominantly Negro precinct, where Johnson was picked over Goldwater by 614 to two. This was with exception, of course, of Wash Woods and its 13 registered voters who unanimously backed the Democratic ticket across the board.

With 32,550 registered voters in the city, the polls drew 23,645 Tuesday for an all-time record turnout. The high figures have indicated a new interest throughout the city in political activity.

Another indication might also be evident in the election totals. The increased support of Republican candidates - Richard May and Wayne Thiessen, who capped 4,961 and 4,847 votes respectively, points toward a more active two-party participation here.

"This election has told us one thing," one official commented, "the Republican party is becoming more organized in Virginia Beach. We can no longer sit back and expect to win without a fight."

Voters went to the polls shortly after they opened at 6 a.m. and continued in relatively steady streams until they closed at 7 p.m.

Arguably, a new precinct, was extremely busy throughout the day with long lines of waiting voters basally stretching along the walkway outside the Arlington Elementary School building.

Activity slackened somewhat about mid-day after the early morning rush was over but picked up considerably just before closing time.

Both the Democratic and Republican headquarters were busy

LYNDON B. JOHNSON

With the exception of the Goldwater support, Republican candidates offered little competition for Sen. Harry F. Byrd and Congressman Thomas N. Downing, each taking total victory in all precincts.

The strongest Republican showing came in the city's largest precinct, Bayside one, but the count was not high enough to down any of the Democratic candidates.

The Cape Henry precinct, serving North Virginia Beach and Bay Colony, picked Goldwater over Johnson by nearly 300 votes but, overwhelmingly backed Byrd and Downing.

Those precincts supporting Goldwater—Cape Henry, Virginia Beach No. 2, Thalia, providing transportation and baby-sitters for voters needing assistance and answering inquiries about precincts.

Although Republican headquarters on Atlantic Avenue drew a small group of supporters after voting hours, the most lively vigil was underway at Democratic headquarters on 17th Street where large crowds kept tally of the precincts until well after midnight.

HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

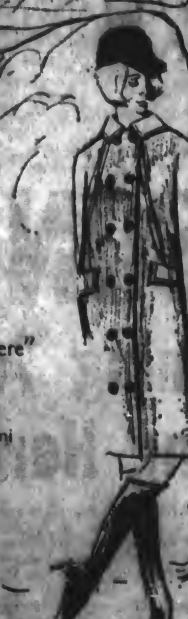

Woodstock, Great Neck, Oceana, and Linkhorn Park—serve primarily the higher income communities. This trend was exactly the opposite of voting in the northern states where Goldwater reportedly carried the lower income areas.

Although only seven precincts went to Goldwater, the race between the two presidential candidates was close in the more populated areas of the city. Only the extreme southern sections carried a Democratic majority.

Make a list of your furnishings

You, we'll agree it's a dull chore. It's boring.

But every home owner ought to take time to make an inventory of his household furniture, clothes, books, etc. Now, tonight.

The average home owner guesses only a fraction of the real value of his things. The reason is, he acquires them one at a time over a period of years.

You should KNOW the worth of your possessions and increase your fire insurance up to them to cover replacement at today's prices.

Don't guess. Make a list.

YOUR HAIR AND SKIN

Are you one of those people who think of their hair as an ornament to the head—a grate-like growth that can be cut, trimmed, and arranged into pleasing shapes as a means of enhancing one's appearance? Well, it is that, but much more. It doesn't just grow from the skin but is an integral part of the skin and actually reflects the condition of the inner being. The hair is truly a part of the dermis, or middle layer of the skin, and an essential part of the armor that stands between us and the outside world.

For Women Only—As I See It

"This special here! That special there! Think of the money I can save."

This thought may run through your mind as you think of all the weekend specials on food. This store does have one or two specials that really appeal to you. Another store has a special or two that seem equally attractive. What will I do? Will I store hop and take advantage of all specials I like or will I confine my shopping to the store whose specials are most appealing?

Often this is a hard choice to make. There isn't any one answer either. The answer may vary from person to person, from week to week, and from special to special. Each time you have to remake or rethink your decision and make it on the situation for that week.

There are, however, some things that may help Mrs. Betty Deal you make up your mind. Two of the more important of these are distance and time.

We all know that it takes money to operate a car and, if we go by car, the travel usually costs money. Total operating costs for an automobile are about 10 cents a mile. If many miles are involved in store hopping, transportation alone can eat up a lot of savings in food costs.

Time is a little harder to put on a dollars and cents basis, unless there's a baby sitter or someone else you hire involved. Extra time spent shopping—or store hopping—means less time available for other things.

There are, however, cases when it's obviously economical to do some store hopping. Each case requires a new balancing of time and distance against the possible savings.

CONSUMER RESPONSIBILITY IN CLOTHING PURCHASES

Were you ever unhappy with a purchase of clothing you have made?

The purchase and satisfactory use of a garment depends on a dual responsibility—that of the manufacturer and/or the store, and that of the consumer.

Most of us feel the manufacturers or retailers should back their merchandise, but few of us feel the responsibility to relate information on performance to the store or manufacturer.

We feel performance is not what it should have been, take the garment back and explain the problem to the department manager. Sometimes he can make an adjustment. If this does not produce results, write the manufacturer and state your problem.

If the customer continues to buy the less than satisfactory garments, the manufacturer never knows the customer is not satisfied. If sales continue the manufacturer feels there is no real reason to change.

Of course, consumer responsibility should not begin and end in the complaint department! When exceptional service is had from an item, it deserves consumer recognition as well. Letters do have influence.

Seven American foods put their best foot forward last month in England at the Ideal Home Show in Birmingham.

Before the show closed on October 24, nearly 300,000 Britishers viewed, tasted and often bought American rice, cranberries, canned poultry and chicken and turkey rolls, soy products, Florida frozen orange juice concentrate, California raisins and prunes.

Streaming through the aisles were people carrying colorful shopping bags filled with samples of U. S. products and bearing the message "Here's a Wealth of Good Food from America."

The exhibit sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is part of an overall market development program to help bolster the sales of U. S. food products in Britain.

The 'Y' of It

by Helen W. Crist

The ladies—bless them—are about to present their own version of "show and tell."

After six weeks of fun and work, Ladies Day Out students are anxious to show their achievements and tell of their fellowship together.

This they will do at noon on Tuesday, November 10 when the Kempville-Virginia Beach group meet for luncheon at LeKies Methodist Church. Margaret Eady and Elaine Crandall, co-chairmen, will provide nursery facilities for mothers from 11:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Margaret asks that you phone reservations to her at 428-4131.

Ann Middleton, chairman of the Bayside Council, hopes that you will circle Thursday, November 12, 10 a.m. on your calendar. That is the morning of the Achievement Day coffee at Baylake Pines Methodist Church.

We think you'll enjoy these affairs; the atmosphere is always charged with enthusiasm and pride in accomplishment.

And now for the "what's new department."

In case you were passing the Y office last Thursday about 8:15 a.m. and saw a well-dressed, dark-haired lady swaying precariously on a skinny ladder reaching to the second floor, be assured you do NOT have spots before your eyes, and the cat burglar is NOT on the prowl again.

That damsel in distress was none other than our own unpredictable Elizabeth Bender. Seems Elizabeth dutifully carted down the garbage that morning when the front door banged shut after her. As no one was around at that frightfully early hour, it presented a somewhat sticky problem—as to how to reenter said building.

She knew that the upstairs window might give with a push. But how to reach the window?

A store owner nearby kindly donated the ladder, but not the climber. So Elizabeth, with all the dignity she could muster at that particular moment, and casting furtive glances over her shoulder, sheepishly ascended.

Can't you just hear her, as she climbed and clutched her modish skirt about her legs, muttering all the while to herself and the world in general, "Well, I declare, Nobody—but NOBODY—would believe the things I do for this Y!"

"Everybody Wins"

Plan In Brief

The object of this big "Everybody Wins" prize contest is three-fold. Primarily, to increase the already large subscription list of this newspaper, to collect advance subscription payments from present readers, and at the same time afford local wide-awake, energetic men and women (married or single) and young people of this trade territory an opportunity to profit in a BIG way through whatever spare time they may have during the next few weeks. It is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this quickly and effectively, the most attractive and altogether desirable awards ever offered by any newspaper in this section have been made ready for distribution among those who participate most actively. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success.

Let it be understood at the very outset that this is not a "lucky drawing" nor something-for-nothing affair, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women, and one in which all active contestants will receive a liberal commission check each Monday morning covering results obtained by them during the past week, while striving to win one of the major awards. An outstanding feature of this big contest is the fact that "Everybody Wins." There will be no losers in this race.

How To Enter—What To Do

The first thing to do is to clip the Entry Coupon appearing on the opposite side of this page, fill in your name and address and mail or deliver in person to contest department at once. This coupon starts you in race with 5000 FREE votes and, by using the Early Entry Coupon appearing on front page of this issue with your first subscription (this coupon good ONLY during first week of contest) you would then be entitled to an extra 5000 PREMIUM votes for taking IMMEDIATE action—all of which speeds you on your way to win. Only one of each Entry Coupon and Early Entry Coupon will be accepted for each participant.

The next step is to obtain from contest department one of the little special receipt books, printed for the purpose, which list of present subscribers showing expiration dates, etc. Then equipped, you have but to see your customers, neighbors and acquaintances and ask them to subscribe to this newspaper through you. Just think: Anything worth having is worth striving for. Six and a half short weeks and you may be driving in YOUR OWN big automobile for a long, long time to come, or otherwise several hundred dollars added to your pocket as the result of a little well directed effort NOW!

From this on, as more fully outlined below, this newspaper offers "early starters" substantial special cash prizes for outstanding success during the very first week of this contest, the small requirements necessary to qualify as a winner being easily attainable and well worth the little extra effort it requires. Try it and see!

How To Win The Big Prizes

It takes some time to win the big prizes, and they are secured in the following ways: First by clipping the free vote coupons appearing in this newspaper. Begin gathering them NOW while they are good for 100 votes each. After next week when coupons will be reduced to 50 votes each; the following week to only 10 votes each, and after that they will be discontinued entirely. Only ten coupons of each denomination will be credited to any one contestant and they must be cast within one week after publication.

Another, and much faster way, to accumulate votes in our "Everybody Wins" prize contest is by securing new and renewal subscriptions to this newspaper. Votes are issued on each subscription secured, the number varying according to amount paid and during which "period" same are received at the contest department. SEE SCHEDULE OF VOTES BELOW.

Early Start Means Easy Finish

The advantages of an early start are manifest. This "Everybody Wins" prize contest is of such short duration that immediate action is necessary for greater success. Subscriptions taken during the early part of drive not only carry the MAXIMUM number of votes, but "early starters" who are first in field will undoubtedly get the "cream" of new and renewal subscriptions, while those who put off starting until a later date will find of course have to take what is left.

Don't lose valuable time "waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do" but get into the game today, without delay, and show the "other fellow" how to do it!

Rules and Regulations

1. Any reputable resident of this city or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the contest and receive weekly commission checks.
2. The entered office employee of this newspaper is eligible to enter contest. This does not apply to company correspondents.
3. Winners of main prizes will be determined by (a) their earned votes, said votes being represented by ballot boxes for bona fide new and renewal subscriptions, and (b) free coupons clipped from this newspaper—said coupons to be printed in this and one next three issues in denomination of 100 votes each and next week; 50 votes each the third week, 25 votes each the fourth week and then discontinued. No more than ten coupons of each denomination will be credited to any one contestant.
4. Participants in this subscription drive are not limited to their own town or community in which to secure new or renewal subscriptions, but may solicit voters anywhere in this section; or, for that matter, anywhere else.
5. Votes are issued free. It costs the subscriber nothing to cast their votes for any contestant. Votes must be asked for at the time of paying subscription, however, otherwise subscriber waives this privilege.
6. Votes once issued are not transferable. Contestants cannot pool their votes in favor of another contestant. Should a contestant withdraw from the drive, his or her accumulated votes will be cancelled.
7. Any dishonesty or collusion on the part of contestants to nullify competition, or any other violation formed to the detriment of other participants or this newspaper will not be tolerated.
8. Exact vote standing of each contestant will be published in this newspaper in proportion to earned votes; however, votes issued in the form of ballots, or special votes thereof, may be held in reserve by contestant only insofar as it does not affect position in published standing. The free vote coupons, clipped from this newspaper, must be cast within one week of publication.
9. In event of a tie for any one of the prizes offered, an award of identical value will be given each tying contestant.
10. Participants in this drive are authorized to accept new and renewal subscriptions and give temporary receipts for same (official receipts will be sent direct from this office) but it is understood and agreed that they will be responsible for all money collected and will remit such amounts in full to the contest department on regular report days.
11. No statements or promise made by any representative or participant varying from the rules and regulations appearing in the columns of this newspaper will be recognized by the publisher.
12. In case of typographical or other error it is understood that neither the publisher nor contest manager shall be held responsible except to make necessary correction upon discovery of same.
13. All active participants will be paid twenty percent cash commission ($1 out of $5) of their individual subscription collections each week as it accrues. It is to be understood, however, that in the event any contestant becomes inactive (failing to make weekly reports) his or her name will be removed from the published list of contestants until such time as participant again becomes active.
14. It is understood and agreed that the winners of first and second prizes will consider their weekly pay checks in the light of an "advance," which may be returnable upon presentation of prize—thus obviating double compensation. This does not apply to third, fourth, fifth and sixth bonus check winners.
15. To insure absolute fairness in the awarding of prizes, the race will be brought to a close with a sealed ballot box. During the entire last "period" of the drive, a ballot box—looked and officially sealed—will be placed in the vaults of a local bank, where contestants themselves may deposit their final collections and reserve votes in utmost secrecy. In this way no one—not even the publisher or contest manager—can possibly know the actual strength of the various participants, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.
16. Twenty-five thousand extra votes will be given contestants for each 14 months subscription (or extension from previous contest subscription payment in 24 months) turned in by them during their first week in contest, and during third week of the drive half as many special extra votes will be issued on same basis.
17. Any subscription once turned in can be extended during either first or second "period" by making extension payment, and remainder of votes will be issued thereon same as if full amount had been paid at the very beginning.
18. Any contestant who earns as much as $50 in commissions during their first week of the drive, will receive an extra bonus of $25 cash in addition to regular commissions earned or any other special prize won.
19. Ten thousand free "report day" votes will be given participants making a subscription report on Mondays and Fridays during drive.
20. This newspaper guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all participants, but should any question arise, the decision of the Advisory Board will be absolute and final.
21. In becoming a member of this "Everybody Wins" prize subscription drive contestants agree to abide by above conditions.

22. Merchandise "Jackpot" Awards To Be Awarded As Announced.

It is the sincere aim of this newspaper to conduct this campaign from start to finish in a fair, honorable and impartial manner. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interests of participants, and absolute honesty in all dealing is guaranteed. However, not all wisdom lies with any one man or institution, and for that reason an Advisory Board has been decided upon, whose functions shall be to decide any question of sufficient moment that might happen to arise, and from which a committee shall be selected to act as judges and award the prizes.

All of these gentlemen are well known to everyone in this vicinity and the final results, as given out by them, will be beyond dispute.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Virginia Returns To The Democratic Column

The great presidential election is over and the people of Virginia and the Nation have chosen Lyndon Baines Johnson as their thirty-sixth president of the United States of America. Here at home we have re-elected Democrats Senator Harry F. Byrd and Congressman Thomas N. Downing, the latter representing the First Congressional District of Virginia.

In our opinion the lopsided victory of the Democratic nominees is a mandate of the people, but not a mandate to move to the left or right. We believe it tells our leaders to stay somewhat in the middle of the road with moderation in dealing with domestic and foreign matters.

The most satisfying aspect of the election, we feel, is that large vote given the national ticket by the voters of the State of Virginia. It is the first time in 16 years that Virginia has voted Democratic and we believe it will place the state in a favorable position during the next four years.

Virginia's return to the Democratic column in a national election this year is a tribute to the hard working Democratic organization within the state. The margin of victory for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket neared the 80,000 vote mark on Wednesday in the State and this compares to a Republican victory four years ago when Richard Nixon carried Virginia by some 40,000 votes.

The return of Senator Byrd and Congressman Downing also heralds a continuation of the fine representation these public servants have rendered through the years. Both are among the top flight legislators in Washington.

With the election behind us we can now turn to other matters. But, as the late returns are still coming in we believe it would be well to give serious consideration to legislation that would shorten the time devoted to election campaigns. In this national election we fairly well drain the physical strength of the candidates as well as the many hard workers throughout the country. And, the candidates speak so often and are exposed so many times on radio and television that they, themselves, are hard put to come with new material. It means that they must repeat themselves many times.

We congratulate the winners on their victories.

Surfing Star Suspected In Jewel Robbery

VIRGINIA BEACH — The top winner in last year's Surfing Carnival here has been arrested in Miami, Fla. in connection with the $300,000 jewel robbery of the New York Museum of Natural History last Thursday.

He has been identified as 27-year-old Jack Rolland Murphy, frequently referred to as Murph the Surf, who walked away with all of the honors in the senior men's classes during the 1963 surfing event.

Murphy and Allen Kuhn were arrested in Miami and turned over to New York state authorities but are now free on bond. The 22 jewels taken from the museum include the 563-carat Star of India sapphire and the 100-carat DeLong ruby. None of the gems have been recovered.

Murphy told carnival officials here last year that he was from Oceanside, Calif., and built surfboards and operated a surfing shop in Florida.

Cancer Cure Is Stressed Cox Advises Auto Drivers

RICHMOND — The hopeful side of cancer, particularly when diagnosed early and treated properly, is stressed in the 1963-64 Annual Report of the American Cancer Society's Virginia Division.

The recently distributed Report stated that, "In Virginia, of the estimated 11,200 new cancer cases expected to be diagnosed this year, 5,600 could be saved. Because of ignorance of cancer's danger signals, or delay, or unreasoning fears about cancer, only 3,700 persons will be saved. Early diagnosis and proper treatment could save the other 1,900."

Recognizing the importance of education in saving lives from cancer, the Virginia Division intensified its efforts during the past year to alert Virginians to early signs of cancer. According to the pamphlet, "The Million Club," a new public education film with a story of hope about cancer, has received widespread use throughout the state.

Also women's organizations such as the Virginia Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, the Richmond Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, and the Virginia Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs participated in the Division's "Conquer Uterine Cancer" program. Cancer of the colon and rectum was emphasized through use of the Society's educational film, "Life Story." Employee education, another area of concentration for the Division, was carried out through cooperation with local employers.

The financial section showed that $149,175 was allocated by the Society to the University of Virginia in Charlottesville and the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond for six cancer research projects during the period September 1, 1963 through August 31, 1964.

Receipts from the Society's annual educational and fund-raising crusade in Virginia were listed as $748,848.48, an all-time high for the Division, exceeding the goal of $725,000 by nearly $24,000. It also was reported that memorial contributions in Virginia exceeded $55,000 in the past year. Receipts from persons designating the Society's Virginia Division as a beneficiary in their will totaled $12,771 during the same period.

Prominently displayed throughout the Report is the Society's familiar symbol, the Sword of Hope, a red double-edged sword with the physician's Frank Cox, Director, Tidewater Auto. Assn., stated that drivers must assume a "defensive position when driving near shopping areas, schools, parking lots, and side streets lined with parked cars.

caduceus forming the hilt. In describing the significance of the Sword, the Report noted, "The blade is intended to express the crusading spirit of the cancer control movement. The twin serpent caduceus forming the hilt emphasizes the medical and scientific aspects of the attack—To millions of people, the Society's sword represents hope and progress in the effort to conquer cancer."

BASKIN IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

While I am perfectly aware of the old advertising saying that selling makes the economy go, I am a little tired of the "hard sell" as practiced by those brazen-bound, tough-tongued, loud—and often rude, door-to-door types who have increased in alarming numbers over the last few years. They use tactics which would make a Hitler Youth blush for shame, and seem to be increasing in number similar to a plague virus under perfect growing conditions. I understand from people who profess to know, that they are recruited in teams, headed by a manager with a cast-iron nerve, and go from city to city shoving merchandise down the throats of people who haven't the nerve to call the cops. I assume that there is a pile of money in this type of selling, since the largest incomes among salesmen is enjoyed by the bell-ringer faction.

The magazine salesman—or girl—is the one most often encountered when you open the door. They are usually working their way through college—or some such nonsense, and try to use this as a lever to get into the house. About the only way you can avoid them is to adopt the kind of attitude usually practiced by the father of a pretty but stupid daughter and meet all such salesmen with a 16-gauge shotgun. If you haven't a gun, I'd advise the purchase of a large dog with long teeth and a short temper.

The field for door-to-door selling is no longer confined to the magazine racket, but now includes such items as cemetery lot promotion and sales. Any day now you'll be able to buy a casket from the friendly salesman who comes to your home—usually when you're sitting down to dinner.

The telephone gimmick is also tiresome and even more frustrating, since you can get no pleasure out of cursing someone on the end of a telephone line. Slamming down the telephone on a sales pitch is not nearly so satisfying as slamming the door in the face of a magazine salesman.

I am told that these people need a license to practice their particular form of torture, but I wonder if the fee is high enough to keep some of these privacy invaders away from the nation's doorsteps. I'd like to be able to set the fees for a three month period. The only person able to afford the license would be Nelson Rockefeller, and he's had a bellyful of ringing doorbells—I think.

His fellow employees completed his "golfing" outfit by gifting him with a set of golf clubs, golf bag, cart, etc. at the Banquet room of VePco on Cromwell Rd. on Friday.

INNOCENT LETTER REAPS REWARDS

VIRGINIA BEACH — When Roy LaMere, executive director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, dropped an informal "letter to the editor" of the Halifax (Nova Scotia) Mail-Star, little did he realize what response it would bring from the readers there.

The letter, captioned by the editor as "Many Friends" told of the fine Nova Scotians who had visited here occasionally and complimented the city and paper on their growth.

LaMere's friendly gesture has apparently opened a door between Nova Scotia and Virginia Beach for he has received numerous letters in response to his.

A motel owner in Kentville, N.S., for instance, wrote and said that he and his wife had planned to travel further south sometime this month but after reading LaMere's letter they decided to visit here instead because "Virginia sounds very interesting."

Another letter came from a woman whose husband advised "the way you feel about Virginia, you should write and tell Mr. LaMere." She pointed out that they had been visiting Virginia for the last three years and this spring came to Virginia Beach. "We had a wonderful time, as usual, and we just loved our stay," she added. Oddly enough, they made their first visit to Virginia after Perry Como had spotlighted the state on one of his television shows.

"During our three trips we have covered most of your lovely state and I could write pages on all the interesting and beautiful places we have seen, and of the friendliness and courtesy of all with whom we have come in contact," she stated. "In fact, I am sure that I am one of your biggest boosters and several of our friends have made visits after hearing my glowing reports."

3 RX. . . OR A LONG HOSPITAL STAY

A prescription costs less — far less — than a single day's stay in the hospital. Today, in most cases, just one or two prescriptions are all that a patient needs to get well. But years ago, he would have had to go through a long, expensive session at the hospital. That's why we say!

"Swing Into Books" Book Week Theme

by Doris Paddek

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Swing Into Books" is the theme of Children's Book Week, now underway, and is one that everyone can celebrate and participate in easily.

Books are coming from the shelves at an unprecedented rate, and the quality of the books is no doubt accounts for the wide range of interest in books of all forms.

Children's books are especially popular. The illustrations are beautiful, the covers are colorful, and the books are easy to read. And, as yet, the books are not too expensive, and they are close to the child's eye level in the library.

Children thoroughly enjoy stories read to them, and they are old enough to read themselves. There are warm and comforting about books, and they are available to all. Old favorites, like "The Cat in the Hat," and new ones, like "The Little Red Riding Hood," are all available to all. Children who will take the time to visit the public library, and the book stores.

The Virginia Beach Public Library at 302 22nd St. devotes the second floor to books, and including the 12 year level. Mrs. Barbara Huch is the trained librarian in charge.

Any child who is six years old can write or print his name in the library. For many children a 6th birthday celebration would not be complete without the final of coming to the public library for his very own personal card. This is a treasured object proving he is no longer a baby. A library card will also be a child's valuable possession, and it does not belong to him. If books are abused, the privilege of being able to borrow books is revoked.

Hamill at the Fireside Book and Bookshop on Laskin Road carries a wide variety of books in all price ranges and for all ages. The children's books are grouped together to the back of the shop, and browsing is encouraged. Books make elegant gifts, and the proper one to fit the child's personality and interests and age are on the shelves or will be ordered. One particular religious story which is in great demand by the various Sunday Schools as well as individuals is "The Story of My Life" by Fritz and Margaret.

The "Book Fair" is being presented at Friends School on Laskin Road today through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Book fairs vary according to taste, but here are four recommended new books: "The Untold Adventures of Santa Claus" told in rhyme by Ogden Nash with his illustrations, Ages 6 and up.

"Mountain Born" by Elizabeth Yates. A dramatic story of Peter and his pet lamb, which Walt Disney is currently making into a movie. Ages 6-12.

Humor On Way To Jail

COURT HOUSE — A fellow going into jail for armed robbery was heard to wisecrack while signing in "Are you sure you've got room? I wouldn't want to put you out none."

"We've never had to turn anyone away yet for lack of accommodations," replied City Sergeant John E. Marr. "Sometimes it might get crowded—so you kind of have to pick your feet up and step over people to move around. But we're too hospitable to turn anyone away."

At present there are 80 prisoners in the city jail—more than the average. This is true all over the country this time of year. More crimes are committed during warm weather, but some offenders aren't caught until now. Others are just being tried. Still others, being laborers, don't have the money during bad weather to pay their fines. Thus there are a lot of people finding themselves behind bars this time of year.

MEN AND WOMEN who know how to meet the public and some of this area's most aggressive youngsters can profit in spare time by entering The Virginia Beach Sun-News "Everybody Wins" subscription campaign. Weekly paychecks a big feature. A brand new 1965 Ford Mustang and other valuable prizes to be awarded. Contact Bob Bulard at the Sun-News.

The event is being sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, and takes place at 8:15 p.m. in Northside Junior High School, Westmont Ave. and Granby St. There is no admission charge.

Mr. Alton resigned as administrator of the Rockefeller Brothers' Governmental Studies a few years ago to devote full time to the Christian Science healing practice.

He has held a number of executive posts in the oil industry and other development enterprises over the years, and during World War II served as a Captain of Military Intelligence with the Airborne Corps in Europe.

He is now a recognized teacher and practitioner of Christian Science in New York City, and currently on tour as a member of the Board of Lecturers of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

BEACH DENTISTS

NAMED DELEGATES

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two dentists will participate in the scientific program of American Dental Association's 105th annual session being held Nov. 9-12 in San Francisco. The Association's session will be held in conjunction with the 52nd annual meeting of the Federation Dentaire Internationale, the profession's international organization.

Dr. Kenneth L. Cottle will present table clinics on the scientific program. And Dr. Thomas R. Jarrett, Jr. will attend as an alternate delegate to the House of Delegates, the Association's policy making body.

More than 600 essays, clinics, lectures, films, and exhibits will be presented on the program. Attendance of 25,000 dentists, dental educators, dental manufacturers and guests from around the world is expected.

State's Natural Resources Are Cited This Week

The natural resources with which Virginia is so richly blessed, fertile soil, ample water, abundant forest, and rich wildlife, are very important to the economic and social well-being of our citizens. It behooves each of us to accept the responsibility of using these resources wisely.

To emphasize the importance of our natural resources, I am designating the week of November 1-7 as Natural Resources Conservation Week. I urge the citizens of Virginia to join with the sponsor, the Virginia Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors, using this observance to emphasize the importance of well-planned conservation programs.

We owe a great deal to individual landowners, to Soil and Water Conservation Districts, and to all agricultural agencies and organizations which have done so much to further progress in conservation in our State. But as the demands on our natural resources continue to increase, each of us as individual citizens, urban and rural alike, must cooperate in a program to conserve these basic resources.

VOTER ACTIVITY WAS LIVELY AT LOCAL POLLS

VIRGINIA BEACH SUN-NEWS

"SERVING THE WORLD'S LARGEST RESORT CITY"

SECTION B

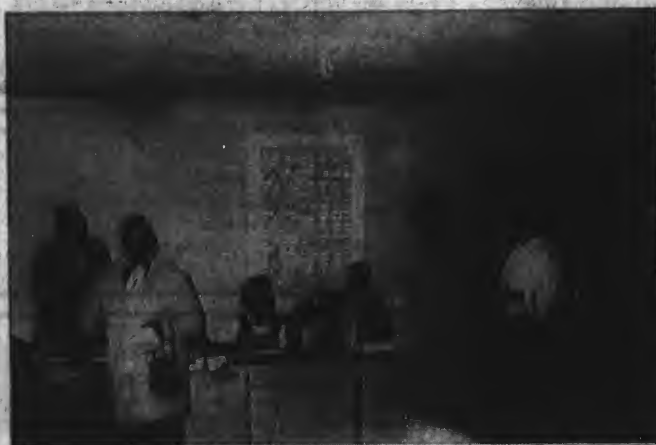

Inspection and Zoning Superintendent John E. Gibbs casts his Ballots as James A. Gates Sr. looks on. Gates said that by early morning, there had been more votes cast at John B. Dey Elementary School than is usual for an entire day. (Staff Photo by Hardy)

The morning lines at Aragona Elementary School stretched completely to the road hour after hour. As each voter waited his turn to vote for president, he couldn't help noticing the school flag still at half mast for another president—one their votes had placed in office and removed from office. (Staff photo by Hardy)

G. M. Atwater explains to Mrs. Loretta Whitehurst how to operate the voting machine installed at the Virginia Beach Fire Station. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Even though little Gina Brogan is too young to vote, her father, Ed Brogan, gives her that "welcome to the polls" smile and a sample ballot. They are pictured in front of the large trailer at Linkhorn Park School where voters were treated to refreshments throughout the day. (Phillips Photo)

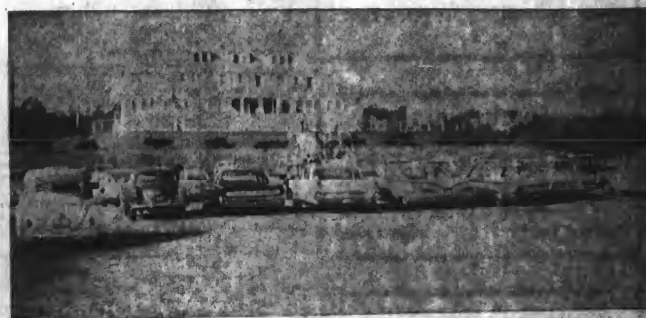

Knowing that voters get hungry waiting in those long lines at city polls, the Virginia Beach Exchange Club scheduled its annual Pancake Party to coincide with election day. One group of women traveled all the way from Princess Anne Court House to eat a pancake luncheon at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center. Many others traveled less, but enjoyed eating just as much. Proceeds will be used for the purchase of a Freedom Shrine for Virginia Beach High School. This is a display of 28 copies of historical American documents. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Shelton Park School had eight voting booths and two tables to speed their high number of registered voters. The lines still managed to extend a good way down the sidewalk, however. (Staff photo by Hardy)

A packed parking lot at the Cape Henry Precinct (A.R.E. Headquarters) was visible proof that people were turning out early to vote. This precinct maintained a "standing room only" crowd nearly all day. (Phillips Photo)

STRONG CHURCHES...

make STRONG COMMUNITIES

HOW DOES LIFE GET SO TANGLED?

Interesting thing about a rope—it rarely becomes tangled when it's serving some useful purpose. It stretches firm and taut... reaching... holding.

But lay the rope aside... waiting without a purpose... and it becomes so tangled you can't even find the end.

Life is like that! For some folks it seems an impossible tangle of conflicts, worries and disappointments. They haven't discovered how to devote their strand of years to a vital, constant purpose.

But for others life stretches firm and taut from birth to Eternity. The tangle disappears as men reach across time to hold certain the truths by which God would have us live.

Life without tangles... life with purpose... Discover it in Church next Sunday!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a crucible of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For the sake of the Church itself. (2) For the sake of the community. (3) For the sake of the Church's witness to the world. (4) For the sake of the individual's own spiritual growth. Plan to go to church regularly and find your life's direction.

THE MIXING BOWL "It's Fun To Cook"APPLE FOR THE TEACHER

An apple for the teacher may be Johnny's way of saying "I love you" or even used as a means of courting her favor.

But Johnny's mother—wise woman that she is—sees to it that Johnny also has an apple for himself. As far back as colonial days when every landholder in the Old Dominion had their own apple orchard, Virginia women knew that apples were healthful.

Today nutritionists and dentists say that "an apple will clean your mouth as efficiently as a toothbrush. The virtue of apples is that they are clean and easy to carry about, you do not need any tools to eat them and you do not mess up your hands or face."

Rich in vitamins and minerals that are readily available, also puts apples on the list of protective foods.

Early Fall brings us an abundance of Virginia Stayman apples. Now at the peak of their fresh crunchy crispness, they're juicy and pleasantly sweet. They're wonderful to munch on just as they are.

But one of the Old Virginia favorites—and other southern states as well, is a freshly cooked apple filling wrapped snugly in crisp pastry, then either fried or baked.

These apple puffs are eagerly consumed by lunch box toppers, after school snackers, by members of Ladies Aid Societies or even as party fare. Make them large or small according to the occasion and the kind of appetites you plan to appease.

Be sure to make plenty of them however, for both old and young consider apple puffs real taste tempters.

Fried or Baked Apple Puffs

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups plain flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Pour boiling water slowly over shortening, beating until shortening is melted and mixture is smooth and creamy. Add the combined flour, baking powder and salt and stir to form a ball. Flatten and chill—3 to 4 hours.

In the meantime prepare filling:

3 large Virginia York apples (3 cups pared and diced)
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon each nutmeg and ground cloves
2 tablespoons flour

Cook apples and water until apples are tender, but not mushy. Combine remaining ingredients and add to apples and cook until thick. Cool.

Roll out pastry very thin. Cut into 5 or 6 inch rounds. Place heaping tablespoon apple filling on center of each. Moisten half of rim, fold over and seal by pressing together with tines of fork. Chill about 30 minutes before baking or frying.

To oven bake, brush with melted butter, place on greased pan and bake at 375 degrees 20 to 30 minutes. To fry, drop into deep fat 365 degrees and cook until light brown. Drain; sprinkle with confectioners sugar if desired.

Most folks look forward to autumn as a time of crisp, invigorating days brightened by colorful leaves and the fruits of the autumn harvest. Cooler weather also seems to inspire homemakers to begin baking again after a summer away from the oven. In honor of this fall revival of home baking October was proclaimed Biscuit/Muffin Month, a time to surprise your family with baskets of piping hot quick breads at mealtime. So you don't have to celebrate in just October.

Biscuits and muffins team so naturally with plentiful autumn fruits—another good reason for baking now. The slightly sweet, nutty wheat flavor of muffins combines especially well with the tart goodness of apples, pears, grapes, plums and cranberries.

Basic muffins can be easily varied by the addition of other foods, making them suitable for serving as breakfast breads, hot bread accompaniments, economical casserole extenders, desserts or snacks. The three recipes that follow—Cinnamon Apple Muffins, Cocoa-Pear Brunch Cake and Cranberry-Turkey Muffin Stacks—demonstrate the versatility of muffin batter.

Yet another reason for baking quick breads is their nutritional contribution—because enriched flour is used as the basic ingredient. In the enrichment process three B-vitamins—thiamine, niacin and riboflavin—plus the mineral iron are added to the flour to help maintain your family's glowing good health. Nutrients in the fruits and other ingredients supplement those in the flour.

To achieve light, tender muffins, follow these few mixing and baking hints. Add the liquid ingredients all at once to the dry ingredients. Stir quickly until the dry ingredients are moistened—the batter will be lumpy. Overmixing causes small, tough, "tunnelly" muffins.

Thoroughly grease the bottom of each muffin cup for easy removal of muffins from the pan. For highest volume grease the sides of the cups very lightly, if at all. Remove the muffins from the pans as soon as possible after baking to prevent their becoming soggy.

Muffins can be frozen to serve later when you have little time to devote to last minute preparation. They'll stay just-baked fresh two to three months in the freezer. Cool baked muffins to room temperature. Then wrap in moisture-vapor proof material, seal, label and freeze. To serve, heat the unwrapped muffins in a 300° oven for 20 minutes.

Serve these Cinnamon Apple Muffins as a breakfast specialty or as a snack-time treat. The cinnamon-apple flavored muffins are enhanced by a topping of brown sugar, cinnamon and chopped pecans.

Cinnamon Apple Muffins

12 muffins

1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
3/4 to 1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening, or oil

1 cup grated unpeeled raw apple
Grease medium-sized muffin pan. Preheat oven to 425°. In small bowl stir together pecans, brown sugar and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Into medium-sized mixing bowl sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Blend together egg, milk, shortening or oil and apple. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill muffin cups 3/4 full. Sprinkle pecan mixture over muffins. Bake 25 to 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Best Cow Herds—
A Successful Future

Though many farmers talk about shifting from beef cow herds to steers, Virginia's cow herd is not likely to diminish any time soon. In fact, during the next cattle cycle, beef cows will probably increase to around 180,000.

During the same cycle, however, there will be a build-up in numbers of steers, particularly the type watered as calves and grazed and sold as yearlings for beeflot replacements.

Too, there should be an increase in silage-finished steers. As the market demand turns to less highly finished cattle, the possibility of finishing cattle with large quantities of silage becomes more realistic. And, Virginia farmers are learning to make silage of considerably higher quality than previously.

There are many reasons why cow numbers will increase—after recovering from the drought and low price cycle adjustments. Cows naturally fit a forage program and for this reason suit more farmers than other kinds of cattle. They can use coarse, rough hay during winter and can graze relatively steep land and rough types of pasture.

Cows have a tendency to cover up a lot of their manager's mistakes! Many poor managers are kept out of trouble because the cow has a certain ability to take care of herself. The manager must think daily for the steer and rarely will a steer do any better than the manager's ability to look after him.

Once the cow herd is established and paid for, little annual financing is needed. Replacement heifers can be saved to keep the herd going, and there is only the matter of selling the calf crop annually. There are organized feeder sales where the inexperienced trader can be assured of getting the top dollar for his produce.

This does not mean that expert management isn't desirable and necessary for a successful operation. It just means that a person can get by with cows if he is inexperienced—where he will have great difficulty with steers.

Cattle numbers have built up to high numbers and the price has gone the other way! More cattle have been slaughtered for domestic consumption recently than ever in history, however.

Last year, beef consumption was up to 95 pounds per person and I feel it will only be a matter of time until numbers are adjusted so we can eat our way out of this price situation.

Cow owners should cull heavily this year and get rid of non-productive cows. Most of Virginia's cow herds are in good shape because of last year's severe drought—which caused heavy culling.

If marginal cows are on hand they need to be culled and some of the best heifers from the best producing cows should be kept to replace them. This is the time to make cow herds young so, when the price cycle does swing, the herd will be loaded with young cows that will see most of their productive lives through the next cycle.

Late Culling Hurts Alfalfa

Don't cut or graze your alfalfa too closely in the fall. Experiments show that where late green succulent growth is cut off or closely grazed in early fall, a loss of 75 percent of the stand may occur.

It is important that a substantial top growth be allowed to develop and remain on plants during winter. This offers protection from winter injury and also permits the plant to store plant food reserves.

The reserve food supply must be sufficient to give cold resistance, and furnish food for spring growth. A weak plant is much more susceptible to plant diseases.

Don't Put Compost Back on Garden

Don't use plant material from your vegetable garden for a compost pile on that same garden.

Organisms that cause many of the vegetable diseases plaguing home gardeners live during the winter in diseased plant refuse.

The best time to clean up a garden is in the fall. This is the time to carry out proper sanitary measures.

Home gardeners who grow mostly vegetables, where rotation isn't practiced should burn the old plant material.

If you practice a three- or four-year rotation, however, you can plow under the diseased plant material in the fall. Or, you could spread this compost on fields growing crops other than vegetables.

But many growers make the mistake of composting vegetable trimmings and field refuse. Then, they apply the manure from this compost heap back to the vegetable crop. It is in such compost that disease organisms keep living during the winter. If the same crops are green the following year, there's a good chance of an outbreak of disease.

I also advise destroying all weeds. Many of them, too, harbor plant disease organisms.

Things To Watch For In Checking Oil Furnaces

It's a very good idea to have your oil furnace checked before the real cold weather sets in, but it's also a good idea to make sure your service man does certain things correctly.

A properly equipped service man, for instance, should have all the necessary tools for cleaning and adjusting the burner nozzle.

He should have the right equipment for measuring the amount of carbon dioxide in the flue gases. A carbon dioxide content of not less than 10 percent would be most apt to assure the best combustion.

Stack temperature is something else that an expert service man should be sure to check. Too high a stack temperature means that there will be a high heat loss. Too low a stack temperature, on the other hand, can mean improper burner adjustment, incomplete combustion, or insufficient draft. I recommend a stack temperature of between 450 and 600 degrees Fahrenheit.

The service man should have equipment, too, for automatically vacuuming out the ducts of your warm air heating system, freeing them of dust, soot, and dirt. If it is a hot water heating system, he should check to see if the boiler and radiator systems need cleaning out.

He should check all the fans and filters on the system.

Here are additional hints to homeowners who want the most efficient oil heat:

Keep the air in your home properly humidified. If you feel chilly at 72 degrees, your home may lack proper humidity. Most warm air systems have humidifiers. If you don't have one, it would pay you to investigate the low-cost automatic humidifiers on the market. They help to maintain a more healthful atmosphere with less oil consumption.

Check steam radiator vent valves periodically during the heating season. Be sure they are operating properly, permitting the radiators to heat all the way across so that they don't become clogged with dead air at one end.

Keep vents and fireplace flues closed when you're not using them. Open flues suck warm air out of a room and make your burner run more.

Go outdoors and look up at your chimney from time to time. If you can see smoke, it's a sign that fuel is being wasted. Call your service man.

Periodically inspect the automatic draft controls on your furnace. Be sure that the bearings have not become corroded, preventing free movement.

Keep your fuel tank full in the summer. This prevents "breathing" and "sweating," with condensation, dust, and dirt accumulating in the tank. The full load of fuel also will help to prevent a tank from floating to the surface during heavy summer rains.

Keep a close watch for air leaks around all apertures. Good weather stripping means less heat loss. Storm doors and windows can whittle down fuel oil costs. The more complete the insulation in walls and ceilings, the less the heat loss.

"If you wish your merits to be known, acknowledge that of other people." Oriental Proverb.

Hello folks! Interest in 4-H Club work is growing in the City of Virginia Beach. Seven of the eight Clubs in the City have re-organized and nearly all of them have increased their membership. These Clubs are Bayside, Blackwater, Courthouse, Ridesawhyle, Stumpy Lake, and Thalia Community Clubs, and the City-wide 4-H Junior Block & Bride Livestock Club.

If you live in any of the communities mentioned above and would like to join 4-H, contact the leaders of the Clubs as follows—Bayside, Mrs. Alvin Oliver (HQ 4-1267); Blackwater, Mrs. Joe Pecos (421-2723); Courthouse, Mrs. Ralph Moulton (426-6965); Stumpy Lake, Mrs. R. B. Fulcher (622-7406); and Thalia, Mrs. C. H. Bungeard (341-4297).

4-H Clubs to be Organized in Kempville Area
At a meeting held at Kempville Elementary School to determine the interest in 4-H Club work, 90 young people stated that they wanted to join a 4-H Club. After determining what communities these young people were from, it was decided that 4-H Clubs could be formed in the following areas: Kempville - Kempville Heights; Bellamy Manor - Kempville Colony; Accredale - Country Haven; Haven Heights; and the Davis Corner - Chinese Corner vicinities. The reason I say "could" is because clubs in each of these areas will need adult leadership and guidance.

Meetings are being planned to organize in these areas, and any young people between the ages of 10-19 are invited to join. The first two meetings to be held are for the interested young people and their parents from the Bellamy Manor - Kempville Colony area (November 9) and the Kempville - Kempville Heights areas (November 12). Both of these groups will meet at Kempville Elementary School at 3:00 P.M., on the dates mentioned.

If you would like to know more about the 4-H Program and how you can be a member, contact the VPI Extension Office at City Hall, Princess Anne Station, Virginia Beach.

Now is the time to start a 4-H Club in your Community (rural or urban) and take advantage of all the activities planned for the coming year.

4-H Livestock Club Elects Officers
The 4-H Junior Block & Bride Club, which includes all the 4-H Club members (18) taking the 4-H Steer Project, elected officers at their October 22nd meeting. Those elected were as follows: Paye Frost, President; Lee Carry, Vice-President; Brenda Ives, Secretary; and Beverly Frost, Reporter.

The Club plans to meet at the Princess Anne Fire Station on the second Thursday of each month. The next meeting will be held on November 12th, at 7:30 P.M.

Members will plan a program for each meeting to include progress in the project, care, feeding, and management of the Steers, and guest speakers to discuss the beef business.

COMING EVENTS

November 6-7—State Adult Leader's Meeting—Natural Bridge
November 9—Council Meeting—7:30 P.M.—Demonstration Kitchen
November 22—4-H Achievement Night—Kempville Junior High, 8:30 P.M.

BANKING GROUP
HELPS AGRICULTURE

VIRGINIA BEACH — The outstanding service which the Virginia Bankers Association has given to Virginia's agriculture, both through educational programs for better banking services, and through special activities in the agricultural field, has received special recognition from The American Bankers Association, the national organization of the banking industry, according to Edward H. Church Agricultural Key Banker for Virginia Beach.

The A.B.A.'s Agricultural Committee Chairman, T. P. Axton, President of the Lafayette Savings Bank in Lafayette, Indiana, has advised Mr. Church that the Virginia Bankers Association has been awarded the Committee's Annual Agricultural Award on behalf of the bankers of the State.

This Award recognizes the wide range of projects carried on by the Virginia Bankers Association Committee on Agriculture to bring financial and farming interests together for better understanding and cooperation.

The work of the Committee is implemented by County Key Bankers. It is the work of these groups in Virginia which has brought this award to the State's banks. In presenting the award, the ABA Agricultural Committee stated that "state association activities through the years have played a prominent role in helping banks remain the largest lenders to agriculture. Today's dynamic agricultural industry presents a real challenge to bankers to see that efficient farm businesses receive the kinds and amounts of credit they need. Beyond making farm loans, however, banks have a responsibility to assist farmers by every means possible in making the adjustment necessary for the future development of our agricultural economy."

Among the outstanding agricultural projects of Virginia banks during the past year was the annual Farm Credit Conference held for bankers and professional agricultural workers and attended by County Agents and leading agricultural economists of the nation. Over 200 persons attend this Conference annually.

This past year the County Key Bankers played a prominent role in conducting a survey to determine the effects of the drought on farmers in each county, and established the fact that credit needs of farmers were being adequately met by the local banks.

The Agriculture Committee of the Virginia Bankers Association also provides annual subscriptions to adult leaders in the State for "4-H News," the monthly magazine of the State 4-H Club Foundation.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Beef Cow Herds—
A Promising Future

Though many farmers talk about shifting from beef cow herds to swine, Virginia's cow herd is not likely to diminish any time soon. In fact, during the next cattle cycle, beef cows will probably increase to around 480,000.

During the same cycle, however, there will be a build-up in numbers of steers, particularly the type wintered as calves and ground and sold as yearlings for meat replacements.

Too, there should be an increase in silage-finished steers. As the market demand turns to less highly finished cattle, the possibility of finishing cattle with large quantities of silage becomes more realistic. And, Virginia farmers are learning to make silage of considerably higher quality than previously.

There are many reasons why cow numbers will increase—after recovering from the drought and low price cycle adjustments. Cows naturally fit a forage program and for this reason will move farmers than other kinds of cattle. They can use coarse, rough hay during winter and can graze relatively steep land and rough types of pasture.

Cows have a tendency to cover up a lot of their manager's mistakes. Many poor managers are kept out of trouble because the cow has a certain ability to take care of herself. The manager must think daily for the steer and rarely will a steer do any better than the manager's ability to look after him.

Once the cow herd is established and paid for, little annual financing is needed. Replacement heifers can be saved to keep the herd going, and there is only the matter of selling the calf crop annually. There are organized feeder sales where the inexperienced trader can be assured of getting the top dollar for his produce.

This does not mean that expert management isn't desirable and necessary for a successful operation, it just means that a person can get by with cows if he is inexperienced—where he will have great difficulty with steers.

Cattle numbers have built up to high numbers and the price has gone the other way. More cattle have been slaughtered for domestic consumption recently than ever in history, however.

Last year, beef consumption was up to 93 pounds per person and I feel it will only be a matter of time until numbers are adjusted to what we can eat our way out of this price situation.

Cow owners should call heavily this year and get rid of non-productive cows. Most of Virginia's cow herds are in good shape because of last year's severe drought—which caused heavy culling.

If marginal cows are on hand they need to be culled and some of the best heifers from the best producing cows should be kept to replace them. This is the time to make cow herds young so, when the price cycle does swing, the herd will be loaded with young cows that will see most of their productive lives through the next cycle.

Late Culling Hurts Alfalfa

Don't cut or graze your alfalfa too closely in the fall. Experiments show that where late green succulent growth is cut off or closely grazed in early fall, a loss of 75 percent of the stand may occur.

It is important that a substantial top growth be allowed to develop and remain on plants during winter. This offers protection from winter injury and also permits the plant to store plant food reserves.

The reserve food supply must be sufficient to give cold resistance, and furnish food for spring growth. A weak plant is much more susceptible to plant diseases.

Don't Put Compost Back on Garden

Don't use plant material from your vegetable garden for a compost pile on that same garden.

Organisms that cause many of the vegetable diseases plaguing home gardeners live during the winter in diseased plant refuse.

The best time to clean up a garden is in the fall. This is the time to carry out proper sanitary measures.

Home gardeners who grow mostly vegetables, where rotation isn't practiced should burn the old plant material.

If you practice a three- or four-year rotation, however, you can plow under the diseased plant material in the fall. Or, you could spread this compost on fields growing crops other than vegetables.

But many growers make the mistake of composting vegetable trimmings and field refuse. Then, they apply the manure from this compost heap back to the vegetable crop. It is in such compost that disease organisms keep living during the winter. If the same crops are grown the following year, there's a good chance of an outbreak of disease.

I also advise destroying all weeds. Many of them, too, harbor plant disease organisms.

Things To Watch For

In Checking Oil Furnaces

It's a very good idea to have your oil furnace checked before the real cold weather sets in, but it's also a good idea to make sure your service man does certain things correctly.

A properly equipped service man, for instance, should have all the necessary tools for cleaning and adjusting the burner nozzle.

He should have the right equipment for measuring the amount of carbon dioxide in the flue gases. A carbon dioxide content of not less than 10 percent would be most apt to assure the best combustion.

Stack temperature is something else that an expert service man should be sure to check. Too high a stack temperature means that there will be a high heat loss. Too low a stack temperature, on the other hand, can mean improper burner adjustment, incomplete combustion, or insufficient draft. I recommend a stack temperature of between 450 and 600 degrees Fahrenheit.

The service man should have equipment, too, for automatically vacuuming out the ducts of your warm air heating system, freeing them of dust, soot, and dirt. If it is a hot water heating system, he should check to see if the boiler and radiator systems need cleaning out.

He should check all the fans and filters on the system.

Here are additional hints to homeowners who want the most efficient oil heat:

Keep the air in your home properly humidified. If you feel chilly at 72 degrees, your home may lack proper humidity. Most warm air systems have humidifiers. If you don't have one, it would pay you to investigate the low-cost automatic humidifiers on the market. They help to maintain a more healthful atmosphere with less oil consumption.

Check steam radiator vent valves periodically during the heating season. Be sure they are operating properly, permitting the radiators to heat all the way across so that they don't become clogged with dead air at one end.

Keep vents and fireplace flues closed when you're not using them. Open flues suck warm air out of a room and make your burner run more.

Go outdoors and look up at your chimney from time to time. If you can see smoke, it's a sign that fuel is being wasted. Call your service man.

Periodically inspect the automatic draft controls on your furnace. Be sure that the bearings have not become corroded, preventing free movement.

Keep your fuel tank full in the summer. This prevents "breathing" and "sweating" with condensation, dust, and dirt accumulating in the tank. The full load of fuel also will help to prevent a tank from floating to the surface during heavy summer rains.

Keep a close watch for air leaks around all apertures. Good weather stripping means less heat loss. Storm doors and windows can whittle down fuel oil costs. The more complete the insulation in walls and ceilings, the less the heat loss.

"If you wish your merits to be known, acknowledge that of other people." Oriental Proverb

Hello folks! Interest in 4-H Club work is growing in the City of Virginia Beach. Seven of the eight Clubs in the City have re-organized and nearly all of them have increased their membership. These Clubs are Bayside, Blackwater, Courthouse, Rideaway, Stumpy Lake, and Thalia Community Clubs, and the City-wide 4-H Junior Block & Bridle Livestock Club.

If you live in any of the communities mentioned above and would like to join 4-H, contact the leaders of the Clubs as follows—Bayside, Mrs. Alvis Oliver (HO 4-1267); Blackwater, Mrs. Joe Pecsek (421-2733); Courthouse, Mrs. Ralph Moulton (426-6965); Stumpy Lake, Mrs. R. B. Fulcher (622-7406); and Thalia, Mrs. C. H. Bungard (341-4297).

4-H Clubs to be Organized in Kempville Area
At a meeting held at Kempville Elementary School to determine the interest in 4-H Club work, 90 young people stated that they wanted to join a 4-H Club. After determining what communities these young people were from, it was decided that 4-H Clubs could be formed in the following areas: Kempville - Kempville Heights; Bellamy Manor - Kempville Colony; Acredale - Country Haven; Haven Heights; and the Davis Corner - Chinese Corner vicinities. The reason I say "could" is because clubs in each of these areas will need adult leadership and guidance.

Meetings are being planned to organize in these areas, and any young people between the ages of 10-19 are invited to join. The first two meetings to be held are for the interested young people and their parents from the Bellamy Manor - Kempville Colony area (November 9) and the Kempville - Kempville Heights area (November 12). Both of these groups will meet at Kempville Elementary School at 3:00 P.M., on the dates mentioned.

If you would like to know more about the 4-H Program and how you can be a member, contact the Extension Office at City Hall, Princess Anne Station, Virginia Beach.

Now is the time to start a 4-H Club in your Community (rural or urban) and take advantage of all the activities planned for the coming year.

4-H Livestock Club Elects Officers

The 4-H Junior Block & Bridle Club, which includes all the 4-H Club members (18) taking the 4-H Steer Project, elected officers at their October 27th meeting. Those elected were as follows: Paye Frost, President; Lee Carey, Vice-President; Brenda Ives, Secretary; and Beverly Frost, Reporter.

The Club plans to meet at the Princess Anne Fire Station on the second Thursday of each month. The next meeting will be held on November 12th, at 7:30 P.M.

Members will plan a program for each meeting to include progress in the project, care, feeding, and management of the Steers, and guest speakers to discuss the best business.

COMING EVENTS

November 9—Council Meeting—7:30 P.M.—Demonstration

HELPS AGRICULTURE

VIRGINIA BEACH — The outstanding service which the Virginia Bankers Association has given to Virginia's agriculture, both through educational programs for better banking services, and through special activities in the agricultural field, has received special recognition from The American Bankers Association, the national organization of the banking industry, according to Edward H. Church Agricultural Key Banker for Virginia Beach.

The A.B.A.'s Agricultural Committee Chairman, T. P. Axton, President of the Lafayette Savings Bank in Lafayette, Indiana, has advised Mr. Church that the Virginia Bankers Association has been awarded the Committee's Annual Agricultural Award on behalf of the bankers of the State.

This Award recognizes the wide range of projects carried on by the Virginia Bankers Association Committee on Agriculture to bring financial and farming interests together for better understanding and co-operation.

The work of the Committee is implemented by County Key Bankers. It is the work of these groups in Virginia which has brought this award to the State's banks. In presenting the award, the ABA Agricultural Committee stated that "state association activities through the years have played a prominent role in helping banks remain the largest lenders to agriculture. Today's dynamic agricultural industry presents a real challenge to bankers to see that efficient farm businesses receive the kinds and amounts of credit they need. Beyond making farm loans, however, banks have a responsibility to assist farmers by every means possible in making the adjustment necessary for the future development of our agricultural economy."

Among the outstanding agricultural projects of Virginia banks during the past year was the annual Farm Credit Conference held for bankers and professional agricultural workers and attended by County Agents and leading agricultural economists of the nation. Over 200 persons attend this Conference annually.

This past year the County Key Bankers played a prominent role in conducting a survey to determine the effects of the drought on farmers in each county, and established the fact that credit needs of farmers were being adequately met by the local banks.

The Agriculture Committee of the Virginia Bankers Association also provides annual subscriptions to adult leaders in the State for "4-H News," the monthly magazine of the State 4-H Club Foundation.

"BECKET" MOVIE IN BEACH RUN

BURTON — O'TOOLE

"Becket," a magnificent movie starring Richard Burton and Peter O'Toole, opened Wednesday at the Princess Theatre and left the first-night audience reeling with pleasure. A work of imaginative intelligence, the Hal Wallis production for Paramount is stunning in visual impact, story-line narrative, and acting accomplishment. It is a "must" for all movie fans.

In telling the story of Thomas Becket, the 12th century priest who became Archbishop of Canterbury, and his king, Henry II, the picture goes far beyond any mere costume drama. With wit and sensibility, it delves into the personalities of the fascinating principals and comes up with a well-rounded portrait of two friends forced apart by affairs of state. All this is played against the lusty and violent background of life and habits in the 1300's.

Casting Burton and O'Toole as Becket and the King, respectively, was a definite coup for producer Wallis. The two surpass all expectations and set new definitions for screen acting. With the skill and masculine gusto they bring to their roles, along with their superlative voices, it would be a surprise if they are not both nominated for Academy Awards.

Others in the cast are also excellent. Sir John Gielgud and Sir Donald Wolfit show their Shakespearean training in the majesty of their performances. Sian Phillips and Veronique Vendell combine their exceptional beauty, and Paolo Stoppa delivers an unforgettable portrayal as Pope Alexander III. As Queens, Marina Hunt and Pamela Brown perform with dignity and grace. Peter Glenville, who has directed "Becket" on Broadway, is most effective in handling the movie version. His color-Panavision cameras use the beautiful sumptuous English landscape as a fitting background for the slam-bang action scenes. With the help of Edward Anhalt's eloquent adaptation of Jean Anouilh's international stage hit of the same name, Glenville's "Becket" moves him into the forefront of today's directors.

For those who are interested in seeing great actors perform at their peak in a story of the highest interest and excitement, it is highly recommended that they go see "Becket."

MARINE CORPS 189 YEARS OLD

VIRGINIA BEACH — Marine Recruiting Sergeant Clint Coleman of Virginia Beach reminds residents that November 10 will be the 189th anniversary of the founding of the Marine Corps.

Coleman said that traditionally each year the Commandant of the Marine Corps sends his birthday wishes to Marines in service around the world. This year Marine Commandant, General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., said to his Marines: "Since 10 November 1775, Marines have served our country faithfully and well, in war and in peace. For nearly two centuries we have fought on far-flung battlefields of the world in the cause of liberty. Today, in Southeast Asia, a new generation of Marines is helping a beleaguered people defend their freedom against aggression.

"It is fitting that amidst our celebrations we pause a moment to pay tribute to the memory of those Marines who have given their lives in steaming jungles, on the cold waters, and in the vast reaches of the skies in the defense of freedom throughout the years. Let each of us pledge, with deep and reverent resolution, to preserve and maintain those high ideals for which they fought and died.

"Today, as in the past, our Nation is most fortunate in having within the Marine Corps men and women who have the high order of personal ability that modern warfare requires, and the ability to perceive a national goal of such paramount importance that they voluntarily undertake duties in which to long hours, the family separations, the risks, and the uncertainties far exceed the material rewards. Throughout the years, Marines have fostered these traditions of courage, loyalty, honor and devotion to duty, qualities which have made uncommon valor a common virtue.

"To all who bear the name Marine, and to all Marine families, I extend my warmest congratulations and very best wishes on the 189th birthday of our beloved Corps."

Sands Stars In Drama

Tommy Sands and Johnny Crawford guest-star in "Let's Dig a Little Grammar," a drama in which "Mr. Novak" (James Franciscus) arranges an unusual "test" to prevent a gifted student from quitting school to join a jazz band Tuesday, Nov. 10 (NBC-TV 7:30-8:30 a.m. EST).

Novak is concerned when Ray Wilson (Sands) tells him about his decision to join the band as a trumpet player. Ray's music teacher, Mr. Webb (David Sheiner) tells Novak that Ray is good but his buddy, Jojo Rizzo (Crawford), has even more talent.

Then Novak, aided by Webb, arranges for the boys to meet in a cutting session—a head-to-head competition between musicians to see who is tops. Comedian Allan Sherman makes a special appearance as George, a jazz band leader, and Harvey Lembeck plays Vic Rizzo, Jojo's older brother.

Downes Will Tour Bases

Major Downs will tour American military bases in Western Europe next month to film a report on how members of the U.S. Armed Forces will spend Thanksgiving Day and to interview servicemen who will be on duty away from home on the holiday.

The report will be narrated by Downs, who will also review his unit, as a special Thanksgiving program on NBC-TV's "Today" show Thursday, Nov. 26 (7-9 a.m. EST).

Downs will visit the bases from England to the Mediterranean, Nov. 11-20. He will begin his tour at Brize Norton Air Force Base in England, arriving aboard a Strategic Air Command jet bomber from Pease Air Force Base in New Hampshire. Downs will film interviews with members during the flight, and will talk with Air Force personnel at Brize Norton.

Next, he will travel to the U.S. Naval Base in Naples, Italy, to visit sailors and Marines with the Sixth Fleet. Downs will interview sailors and Marines in port, and then fly to other units of the fleet on duty in the Mediterranean Sea.

Finally, Downs will visit U.S. Army personnel with the American garrison in West Berlin and other soldiers training in West Germany. "The purpose of the trip is two-fold," explained Downs. "On the one hand it is reportorial, showing through personal interviews the men who are making sacrifices for the rest of us. But another important purpose is to try to represent Americans from home to these men by expressing gratitude for their service."

HOW TO BUILD A STREET

Text and Photos by Robert Hardy

VIRGINIA BEACH — A new look has come to 32nd Street this week. Only last August the paved area was narrow.

There were wide dirt shoulders on either side used for 45 degree parking. And the drainage was poor.

Now the street sports new drainage, curbs, guttering, a greatly enlarged paved area, and parallel parking. Meters may be added.

Sun-News has been on the scene since the beginning survey. Recorded here are the steps in remaking a road.

SURVEYING of the old 32nd Street was done by, left to right, Rodman Bob Branch, Instrumentman Ennis Johnson, and Recorder Phil Baker. Note lack of curb or any drainage.

TRENCHING was dug along the road edge where drainpipe would be laid. The two men in the trench are trying to break through to an existing network of pipes.

TROWLING the newly poured concrete for the gutter is Samuel Delk, left. To his right, William Hill is edging the top of the new curb. This was August 25 and work was moving quickly. Later bad weather, flooding, etc., were to hamper speed.

BREAKING THROUGH to the existing drain pipes was done so that the new pipe could be connected. Three pipe lines now join at this manhole. Operating the drill is William Wright. Webb Broadnax holds the guide rope.

PIPES ARRIVE for the new drain and are placed along the newly dug trench by Earl Anderson, on the truck, and by Napoleon Carter.

SPREADING GRAVEL over the road was done shortly after new drain pipes had been laid along north side of the street and crossing near the second telephone pole to connect with other drainage.

FRESH TAR was first laid on the road October 13. Minutes after the tar was on the road, this truck began covering it with gravel. Then came a steamroller. Guiding the truck is Rayfield Sessoms. Willie Hill cautions Arctic Avenue traffic.

COMPLETION is only a matter of minutes away. Operating the city's stripping machine are Billy Lee and, standing, C. T. Hall. To the left Butch Faton and Junius Gregory mark the parking spaces. Parking meters might be added later.

YESTERDAY 32nd Street looked like this—curbs, gutters, new surface, better drainage, double line down the middle, and parking spaces painted. But it took a while to get this way. The $25,630.50 contract was awarded to Asphalt Roads and Materials Co., Inc. on August 11. Because of bad weather it wasn't until October 14 that contract work was completed. The city completed marking off the safety zones and seeking election day.

Drive For Subscribers Getting Underway

1965 FORD MUSTANG, CASH AWARDS AND COMMISSIONS GIVEN IN CAMPAIGN

This week the Virginia Beach Sun-News is beginning a 6% week subscription campaign. For years this newspaper has enjoyed a good circulation both within and outside of Virginia Beach. As with each week's issue another permanent record in the history of Virginia Beach is compiled, we would like to make this historical record available to more residents and others interested in the growth and future of the county.

It was not a hasty decision to have this campaign but the idea has been under consideration for some time. During this time several plans were considered and advice asked from other members of the profession as to the best type campaign to have. Recommended most highly by the trade was the Liner Circulation Service. This firm was contacted and a contract signed whereby this firm will be in complete charge of the contest.

Not only is Liner the oldest of these firms it is the best. In fact this newspaper waited for over one year to obtain the services of Liner Circulation Service to conduct the local campaign. Saturday Miss Jeannine Bullard and her father, Bob Bullard, arrived and began preparations for the contest. Both of the Bullards are well known in many states as operators for Liner campaigns.

Elsewhere in this issue is a full page advertisement giving the details and information on the contest. As the name implies "Everybody Wins" in a Liner campaign—the salesman, the subscriber and the newspaper. Better yet, call the Virginia Beach Sun-News office and ask Bob or Jeannine for all the information.

Jeannine Bullard says, "Dad is getting old and slowing down. You see me and I will show you how to really get rolling."

Bob Bullard says, "My daughter is a little young and fresh. See me and I will tell you some of the ideas she has never heard of yet."

In all fairness, the Virginia Beach Sun-News would like to point out that any prospective contestant may see BOTH of the Bullards and learn ALL the techniques.

OPEN HOUSE

LYNNHAVEN — The Parents and Teachers of the Lynnhaven Elementary School will meet November 17 at 7:30 p.m. There will be a brief business meeting followed by Open House.

A $10.00 award will be given to the class having the largest percentage of parents joining the P-TA at this time.

CLEAN-UP DRIVE

VIRGINIA BEACH — The newly organized Civic Improvement Organization is conducting a clean-up campaign throughout the city.

Citizens are urged to support the move by painting mail boxes, moving unused automobiles, cleaning ditches, picking up paper and planting trees where needed.

Pictured above is Miss Jeannine Bullard (left), contest manager for the Virginia Beach Sun-News "Everybody Wins" subscription contest, and Mrs. Laura Crawford (right) of Cleveland, Texas. They are standing by a Ford Mustang that Mrs. Crawford has just been awarded in a similar subscription contest. Mrs. Crawford has 7 children, 30 grand children and 10 great grand children and she has never owned a car in her life nor had she ever entered any contest before. Mrs. Crawford does not think that the MUSTANG is too sporty for a great grandmother at all.

FATHER-DAUGHTER TEAM HEADS PAPER'S SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

Liner Circulation Service, of Chicago, has assigned Jeannine Bullard and her father, Robert (Bob) Bullard to work with the Virginia Beach Sun-News in the great circulation campaign that is destined to create excitement for the next six and one half weeks. Mr. Bill Gupion, owner director of the Liner Circulation, announced that the Bullards are the only father-daughter team of campaign managers in the nation.

Mr. Bullard stated that they combine beauty, brains and experience, but he declined to comment on which is the possessor of which virtue. Jeannine is the oldest of five talented children. The family lives in Jackson, Miss.

Both Jeannine and Bob like people of all ages and really enjoy helping people. They will consider it a privilege to help anyone who is interested in earning some of the many prizes to be awarded by the Virginia Beach Sun-News in this great circulation campaign. Bob Bullard issued the following statement. "This Everybody Wins" circulation campaign is a vital part of a great area development program. Men and women, boys and girls, of all ages have an opportunity to be a part of civic development project and be handsomely rewarded for their effort. Everybody wins for you can not receive less than a handsome commission on every subscription, new or renewal, you take from friends and neighbors, and you have a chance at $7,000 worth of prizes up to the beautiful 1965 Ford Mustang from Emhras Ford.

Jeannine Bullard said, "We have awarded cars to teen agers and great grandmothers. We are here to help you. You supply the energy and we supply the know-how."

Use Permits, Too

Rezoning Application Fees Doubled By City

VIRGINIA BEACH — A dispute over a proposed rezoning changes, the mailing of notices and research involved in such changes.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett read a letter from Lewis Smith, director of public utilities, stating that Vico Construction Corp. of Portsmouth had submitted a low bid of $127,000 for installation of sewage lines to serve the General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

He said that the overall cost of the installation is expected to be about $148,000 but that $40,000 will be paid through federal funds.

The increase, passed on first reading, will jump the rezoning applications from $25 to $50 and the use permits from $10 to $25.

These increased rates will not go into effect, however, until after council passes on a second reading which will presumably be at the next meeting on Nov. 23.

The action came after property owners opposed an application of Curtis J. Lee for a change of zoning from residence suburban to multiple-family residence of property west of South Lynnhaven-Road between Cox's Bridge and London Bridge.

A spokesman for the group said that they had not received notice of the Planning Commission meeting in time to oppose it. Attorney Edwin Kellam, representing Lee, said that the notices had been sent out as prescribed by law but that the state law declares notification of rezoning must be made five days prior to "the hearing," which could mean City Council's hearing rather than the Planning Commission.

Lynnhaven Councilman James Darden asked that the application be referred back to the commission until further study could be made and also asked about the possibilities of having the commission send out notification of the change rather than the applicants.

Planning Director Mason Gamage told council that such a move would require at least three additional manhours on an already overworked staff plus additional cost in mailing.

Gamage said that the application and use permit fees are used to pay for the cost of required legal advertising of proposed changes, the mailing of notices and research involved in such changes.

The city will be required to pay about $29,000 with the understanding that the Hampton Roads Sanitation Division will refund about $22,000 of the amount.

Developer John Aragona informed council, through a letter to Gamage, that the city may acquire over 28 acres in Princess Anne Plaza for $1,450 per acre. It would be used for the development of recreational facilities for Plaza residents.

Aragona also said that he would deed to the city 10 additional acres in the same area and explained that the gift would not be contingent on the city's purchase of the other property.

Two representatives of the Council of Garden Clubs urged council to take action against littering throughout the city.

Mrs. G. L. Tilbrook suggested that the council impose and enforce a $25 fine on motorists accused of littering the streets and give the action "plenty of publicity."

Mrs. Lawrence F. Tucker said that if council didn't take some steps to clean up the city's streets, the 2,000 garden clubs in the council would "be on the warpath."

She suggested clamping down on owners of vacant lots in an effort to clean up unsightly property.

Council agreed to give the Council of Garden Clubs its full cooperation in improving the litter problem and that an ordinance might be recommended later if needed.

Fire may be only part of your loss

If your property is damaged or destroyed by fire, there'll be rent for you to pay somewhere else for several months.

Everybody knows about fire insurance, but many people don't know that it is possible, also, to carry America Fore Insurance to meet the cost of renting while you repair or rebuild after a fire.

And it costs comparatively little.

The same kind of insurance can be used to cover loss of rent coming to you from your

Bill Casper Shows Stance For Uphill Lie

The proper way of playing the uphill shot is demonstrated by Bill Casper, a top PGA money winner and stylist with the short irons. Casper recommends that the ball be played off the left foot, with hands slightly in back of the ball. Most of the weight will be on the right foot. Use a normal swing — but since your weight is on your right side — you automatically fall back on your shot. Therefore, you have to aim towards the right of the flag and let the ball hook in. Casper and Sam Sneed demonstrate how to overcome this and many other difficult situations in a 20 minute color movie, "High Life Golf Hints," available free of charge from the Miller Brewing Co. of Milwaukee, Wis.

Cox Beats Suffolk

SUFFOLK — Suffolk scored its first touchdown of the football season Friday night but the Raiders still lost, 14-7, to Cox in an Eastern District game at Peanut Park.

A Peanut Bowl crowd of 3,000 saw the home team tie the score at 7-7 in the fourth quarter only to lose when Cox scored again with 1:42 left on a 16-yard pass from Doug White to Mike Drye.

Cliff Holcombe made the first Suffolk points in nine games on a one-yard sneak that capped a 68-yard drive. Holcombe threw a 14-yard pass to Glen Cole, advancing the ball to the one. Then the Raider quarterback passed for the conversion point.

Suffolk now has an 0-8-1 record and closes its season here against Smithfield Friday.

Cox, now 4-5, finishes against Princess Anne.

The visiting Falcons almost scored in the first half but Doug White fumbled the ball going into the end zone.

Cox went in front in the third quarter when Steve Cochran intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Jim Podlesni converted after both Cox six-pointers.

Kellam Nips Deep Creek

VIRGINIA BEACH — Kellam scored a safety and a touchdown in the final minute and a half to upset Deep Creek, 29-27, Friday night and record its first victory in the Eastern District.

The victory was the third straight for the Knights and brought their record to 3-5. This is the first year for Kellam in the Group One league.

The Knights had taken a 13-0 lead in the second quarter only to fall behind to the Hornets, 27-13, on the running of Jimmy Lawrence and the passing of Ricky Lorber.

Joe Brytus, a senior quarterback, scored on a two-yard run and passed for a touchdown for the short-lived lead. But Deep Creek came storming back and seemed on its way to victory.

But with 1:36 left in the game and the score 27-20, Kellam guard Donnie Vernon tackled Hornet halfback Bobby Harrell in the endzone for a safety and the score was 27-22.

The Hornets kicked and the ball was taken on the Kellam 46. Byrtus, an outstanding player on the basketball court as well as the gridiron, connected on three of three passes and with the aid of 20 yards in penalties against the visitors moved the ball to the 21.

Southampton Beats Hawks

COURTLAND — Southampton remained the only unbeaten scholastic team in the Tidewater area Friday night as the Indians blanked Virginia Beach 16-0 for their ninth victory in a row.

The visiting Sea Hawks, fresh from a 82-6 romp over Holland last weekend, now stand at six wins and three wins for the season after this non-conference skirmish.

Halfback Larry Harrell put Southampton on the scoreboard in the first quarter with a 49-yard run, and Ben Ussery added the point after on a run.

The Indians tallied again in the final quarter when second string quarterback Chris Hill tackled Donnie Johnson of Virginia Beach in the end zone for a two-point safety.

Minutes later Ussery grabbed a 21 yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Westbrook and scampered into the end zone for the final Southampton touchdown.

The Sea Hawks were able to muster only two consistent offensive thrusts which penetrated to the Southampton 20 before coming to a halt.

Chris Hanson, Virginia Beach's standout halfback led his team in rushing, rolling up 100 of the Sea Hawks 181 yards in 20 carries.

UNIONALLY SPEAKING

The Minimum Wage Problem

The head of the AFL-CIO union declares that an increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour is needed. Congress will be asked to approve that figure, or one approaching it, when it convenes next year.

Many people who are sincerely concerned with the problems of the low-income groups will probably look favorably on this proposal. But there is much more involved than meets the superficial eye. There is every danger that an excessive minimum wage may seriously harm the interests of those it is supposed to help.

Various businesses have room for people whose skills are extremely limited. Retailing is a prime example. It offers employment to youngsters just starting out in the business world, to part-time housewives, and to others whose value to the store is slight. If the minimum wage is boosted to the point where the productivity of these workers cannot justify it, one result is certain—store operators will be forced to seek ways and means of getting along with fewer marginal workers. Then the unskilled will find it harder and harder to get jobs and to obtain the experience that would qualify them for higher pay.

It may be argued that the stores and the other businesses affected could solve the problem by the simple expedient of raising prices. But that is much more easily said than done in this era of intense competition. And if it could be done, the burden of higher prices and inflation would fall heaviest on the low wage groups.

It may also be argued that the stores could use a part of their profits to take care of higher costs. But these profits are a great deal less than is generally believed. Food chains, for instance, commonly earn only a trifle more than a penny on each dollar of sales. There's just no margin for absorbing wage increases.

What it all comes down to is that worker productivity and wage levels are inseparably related. A law which ignores that fact must do more harm than good.

PEMBROKE CHURCH CONFERENCE HELD

PEMBROKE MANOR—The Pembroke Manor United Church (Congregational Christian) held its regular quarterly conference on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Simiele on Bonney Road.

Reports were heard from all boards and officers, all of which registered encouraging progress. John Ashworth, Robert Hill and Paul Black were elected deacons to fill vacancies and Michael Judge and William Wigdon were elected Trustees.

A board of junior ushers were elected consisting of Bill Davis, Terry Palmer, Earl Jordan and Steve Blazo.

The Deacons were directed to submit the church constitution to the superintendent of the Southern Convention and Dr. J. Edmund Lippy of the Philadelphia Office of the Board of Homelands Ministries for comments and suggestions before being adopted by the congregation.

The Adult Bible Class accepted the responsibility of surveying the whole Pembroke development in completing the study of requirements for the first unit of the church building.

In June of 1963 the church and Mission Boards purchased the two acres of land directly in front of the Pembroke Manor mansion, and agreed not to build any type architecture not in keeping with the colonial mansion. A committee of two deacons and two trustees was authorized to negotiate with the Southern Convention relative to six-thousand-dollars voted the Pembroke Church by the Christian Missionary Association in its sessions in 1963 and 1964.

To provide more time between Church School and Worship that the choir may have time for preparation it was voted to begin morning worship at 10:45 instead of 10:30 as in the past.

The Youth Group reported collecting $34.00 for UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) following which they were treated to a pancake supper at the parsonage Sunday evening.

Police Officer T. M. Millions watches the speed indicator in the radar-equipped patrol car. The accuracy of the radar is checked with two tuning forks often during the day. Also the police run a car of known speed through it every eight hours. The police emphasis on stopping speeding and reckless driving has reduced highway deaths from 28 this time last year to 12 now.

WATCH SPEED; ESCAPE RADAR

text and photos by Robert Hardy

VIRGINIA BEACH — Radar is clocking some driver on some street every day in Virginia Beach. The only way to avoid being presented with a speeding ticket is not to drive over the speed limit. If this seems like an over-simplification, just remember that your speed is being registered in the patrolman's car 1500 feet down the road—usually long before you see his radar.

Kellam Road in Aragona, Independence Boulevard in Pembroke, and Shore Drive near the Bridge-Tunnel overpass are especially dangerous to those who don't obey the speed signs... and for good reason.

Thursday, I rode with police officer T. M. Millions, and watched one of the radar cars in operation.

While looking for a likely spot in a residential area, a child came running out of a driveway. Pulling a wagon with two other small tots, the little boy darted in front of the police car. Millions slammed on brakes. The children remained in front of the car unconcerned.

"That's why we have radar here!" he said.

At 25 m.p.h. it had been close. Yet everyday residents do 35 and 40 MPH down this same street.

Lt. C. R. Bailey, commanding officer of the traffic bureau, commented later that "People who call to complain of speeders in their area are often themselves caught when the radar is set up at their request. It's surprising how many speeders are from their own neighborhood."

Surely, if the child these speeders one day kill belongs to a friend, it won't make matters any better.

One place drivers seem determined not to slow down is the 35 MPH zone around the Bridge-Tunnel crossover on Shore Drive.

Within a minute of setting up radar by the drive-in theatre, a woman came breezing through the 35 zone at 48 MPH. The speed is posted on a double size sign, painted on the street, and there is a warning sign before all this. Yet the woman claimed she didn't see it.

Going back to the same spot, it was only about a half-minute before another woman came by at 48 MPH again. Even with the police car flashing red lights behind her, she kept right on going. It took her from the drive-in, all the way to the Little Creek gate to get the message.

Putting the radar to work once more, it took exactly five seconds, by my watch, before still another woman sped by. 48 again! This one was mad.

"Thank you," she said sarcastically.

"You'd be surprised how many I write at 47 and 48 MPH," Millions said back in the car. As he was speaking, a low numbered Cadillac came by at 49. The Richmond woman accepted it, turned, her car around, and headed back toward the Beach. Think she was rechecking the signs?

Two men were later stopped, but the speeders remained predominantly women. Why?

"Women don't pay too much attention to posted speeds," said Millions. "On the open highway, they usually run under the speed limit—say 45 to 50 in a 55 zone. But in town they want to drive the same speeds."

"Now a man might do 70 to 75 on the open highway. But when he sees a posted speed, he slows down and does it."

What happens when one is stopped for speeding? The following is typical. This woman had just been stopped by Millions for doing 49 MPH on that same section of Shore Drive.

"Good afternoon," smiled Millions, touching his hand to his cap. "May I see your driver's license and registration, please?"

The woman handed them over. "I clocked you at 49 miles per hour by radar in a 35 zone. I'll have to issue you a summons."

"Well," she said, "it's my birthday. I'm trying to get home before my kids get home from school."

Millions went back to his patrol car to write the ticket. She followed.

"Will it cost much? I was going to buy some plants."

"Well, let's say those plants would've been cheaper if you bought them tomorrow."

She looked away for a moment. "It was such a beautiful day and it's pretty around the bridge-tunnel. I guess I was day-dreaming too much to notice the signs."

"I know it's a poor birthday present, but here's the summons. Happy birthday anyway."

Human Failure?

It was Safety Chief Reeves Johnson who pointed out to Sun-News readers that all traffic fatalities in Virginia Beach this year and last were caused by someone failing to pay attention.

Commenting on the number of speeders caught on Shore Drive, Johnson said "It seems that many people were riding with their minds not on the existing conditions. The speed was changed on Shore Drive when the bridge-tunnel opened."

"Extra large signs have been added along with painted pavement. But people keep speeding. It's the turn traffic and theatre traffic that warrant the speed reduction from 55. It's necessary to keep the speed down, so we may have to install yellow flashing lights to call attention to the 35 MPH signs. We don't want to give tickets, just reduce speed to safe."

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

SPEECH AND HEARING CENTER

An estimated eight million persons with speech and hearing problems are the largest group of handicapped persons in the United States.

The speech impaired alone are six times more numerous than the crippled, blind, and deaf combined.

Almost 4,000 babies are born each year with a cleft palate while an estimated million and a half people in the United States struggle painfully with the problem of stuttering.

A communication handicap isolates children and adults alike. These are the people to which the University of Virginia Speech and Hearing Center is dedicated.

Established in 1941, the center was at that time the only one of its kind between Washington, D.C. and Alabama.

The importance of the center's work is evidenced by the fact that similar clinics have mushroomed in the South.

The center was established for two reasons: to provide a practical laboratory for students of speech pathology and audiology and to serve the University, community and state as a diagnostic and treatment agency for those with a communication handicap.

Housed in a 12 room suite in New Cabell Hall at the University, the center uses such facilities as research instrumentation and electro-acoustic equipment for speech recording, audiometric testing, auditory training, and evaluation and selection of hearing aids.

Much of the therapy prescribed by the center involves departments of the University Medical Center.

Practical learning for students, diagnosing and therapy are the Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center at Fishersville, the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind, the Mobile Clinic, and the University of Virginia Medical Center.

More than 650 persons were examined in the University center last year. Therapy was prescribed and given to 167 of these individuals in the various rehabilitation centers.

The Mobile Clinic with headquarters at the University, serves the entire state. Last year, 8,309 persons were tested and counseled in the field service program.

An undergraduate and graduate course in speech pathology and audiology leading to a doctor's degree at the University is a way of trying to meet the acute shortage of personnel trained in this vital field of the handicapped.

The University is one of 199 educational institutions offering a major sequence of courses in this area.

Speech pathologists and audiologists are needed in clinical service centers, hospitals, public school systems, health departments, industry, and research centers.

Requirements for certification in speech pathology and audiology are being sharply upgraded. After Jan. 1, a master's degree will be necessary for membership in the American Speech and Hearing Association.

"Speech and hearing disorders do not destroy life," says Dr. Helen Gunderson Burr, director of the center.

They are not ranked in mortality tables. But they rank high as destroyers of human potential for self-realization and effective contribution to our national welfare.

WAVY Offering New Feature

As a part of its educational programming, WAVY-TV (10) will begin airing "The American Economy" on Monday (November 16) from 6:30-7:00 a.m.

The program, originally produced as part of the College of the Air, a network production, consists of a series of illustrated lectures by John R. Coleman, professor and head of the department of economics at Carnegie Institute of Technology; and Kenneth O. Alexander, associate professor of economics at Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

The course has been accredited by the University of Virginia, and carries 3 semester-hours of college credit in both certificate and degree programs.

This special television course will help to build a more objective understanding of how and why our economic system works as it does. It will examine both the economy as a whole, asking questions about changing levels of jobs, incomes and prices in the United States and major segments within the economy, focusing on such institutions as business firms, labor unions, farms and households.

For information concerning college credit for the course, interested persons may contact, University of Virginia, Hampton Roads Center, 120 The Mall, Norfolk Shopping Center, Norfolk or by calling 855-2001.

The course will be aired Monday through Friday and is made available to WAVY-TV by the Economic Education Department of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

YOUNG DRIVERS INCREASE IN AUTO CRASHES

Young drivers are becoming involved in more auto crashes than ever before, a leading insurance executive said today.

Citing late statistics, Judson B. Branch, president of the All-state Insurance Companies, urged parents to exercise strict control over their children's driving.

"Parents simply must realize the importance of strict supervision of their children's driving habits," said Branch. "Young drivers have the highest auto crash and death rates of any age group on the road today."

"Another important reason for parental control of young drivers is that their education will suffer if they are allowed too much use of a car," continued Branch. Referring to "A Teenage Pattern," an Allstate computer study of 20,000 high school students, Branch said, "Our findings show that the more a student uses a car during the week, the poorer his grades were."

Branch noted, with concern, late traffic figures from the National Safety Council, which show that drivers in the 15-24 age group have crash and death rates nearly double that of older drivers.

Young drivers under 20 are involved in crashes at an annual rate of 35 per 100 drivers, while drivers aged 20-24 have 90 crashes per 100 drivers.

"Many of these crashes could have been prevented if the drivers involved had been properly trained," said Branch. "Experience shows that trained young drivers have 50 percent fewer crashes than untrained drivers of the same age."

But even if the young driver is well trained, studies must come before driving. The Allstate-published "Teen-age Pattern" study showed that too much use of a car affects the grades of good students as well as poor students.

Grades start to suffer when the car is used more than two days out of five during the school week. Students who do not drive or who use the car only on weekends have the best grades, while those who drive two to four school days a week have significantly poorer grades, the survey proved.

Branch made these recommendations to parents interested in helping their children become good students and good drivers:—Make sure that scholarship comes first and driving second.—See that they get proper driver education in a high school.—Restrict the use of cars to weekends and keep the week days for school work. There will be exceptions, but this is a good basic approach.—Don't permit a teenager to have a part time job just to pay for a car or to support one.—Keep the keys in your own pocket and lend the car only under the proper circumstances.—It's up to the parents, the business leader warned, "to keep school work and car play in their proper perspective, and to provide the children and sample in use of the car."

Home Program On WAVY-TV

"A Home In Your Future" is the name of a new program seen every Sunday from 1:00-1:30 p.m. on WAVY-TV (10). Hosted by WAVY's veteran personality, Kurt Webster, the program is a showcase of new homes that are available for prospective buyers. The program also features other interesting bits of information for area residents.

This Sunday (November 8) Webster will interview the winner of the 2000th Home Purchaser Award from Princess Anne Plaza, through Larason Realty Corp. The winner, a young mother and homemaker, is one of the first Tidewater area's lady "GI Bill" home buyers.

As an added feature of the program, a chef, from the Chesapeake Club's kitchen, will demonstrate the art of holiday ham and turkey carving.

"A Home In Your Future" is a regular Sunday program feature on TV 10.

HEALTH TIPS

The ups and downs of your blood pressure help to forecast the state of your health, somewhat like the readings of a barometer help to forecast the weather.

If the arterial blood pressure becomes too low to circulate the blood properly, certain vital organs, particularly the brain, fail to function. Dizziness on standing, fainting or cold skin may be due to blood pressure that is too low for your body's needs.

High blood pressure, properly called arterial hypertension, is an abnormal state of the circulation that may be a cause as well as a result of arterial disease.

Hypertension appears to be a complex of influences from our inheritance, emotional life, diet, stress, exercise and the body's response to the vicissitudes of life. A disease of this nature hardly can be expected to respond to a pill or a portion or be cured by a single course of some panacea.

Hypertension requires a lifetime of management. The patient and his doctor, working together, plan a living pattern, supplemented by various medical procedures, that will result in the longest and most useful life the patient can live.

In dealing with hypertension, first there must be a medical history and a complete physical examination. Therapy often includes various medications which your doctor prescribes. Diet and weight control may be an important part of the treatment. And a planned way of life often is essential, involving hours of sleep and exercise, periods of rest and frequent vacations away from the problems of home and the stress of business.

Blood pressure tends to increase with age. High blood pressure will ultimately produce disabling or fatal complications. To help prevent complications, long-time management must be planned.

It is highly important in combating hypertension that there be close support between the patient and his physician. It is essential that the patient understand his disease, know the need for continued treatment and be willing to tolerate the occasional unpleasant side effects of some of the drugs used. The patient must look to the long-term good to be obtained.

Teachers In Love Plot On Mr. Novak Show

John Novak (James Franciscus) and teacher Claire Andreas (guest star Geraldine Brooks) are targets of poison pen letters accusing them of having an affair, in "Love Among the Grownpups" on NBC-TV's "Mr. Novak" Tuesday, Nov. 17 (7:30-8:30 p.m. EST).

Principal Albert Vane (Dean Jagger) also receives the letters accusing Novak and Mrs. Andreas, and together with them conducts an intensive investigation to find the sender. The school board also learns of the situation and demands that Mrs. Andreas and Novak reveal their whereabouts on a certain weekend. Novak is puzzled when Mrs. Andreas quits rather than supply the information and is even more perplexed when she refuses to reconsider her resignation after the sender is found to be an emotionally disturbed student.

Lane Bradbury is featured as Ellen Westfall, a student, and Alexander Scourby as George Andreas, Claire's husband. The cast also includes Baynes Barron as Mr. Westfall and Karl Swenson as School Superintendent Haskell.

This episode was written by Harold Galt and directed by Abner Biberman.

NOTES AND ANECDOTES
Zina Bethune of "The Doctors and the Nurses" will take time out from her starring assignment on the CBS Television Network Tuesday night series to dance in "The Black Swan" ballet with the Syracuse (N.Y.) Symphony Orchestra in January.

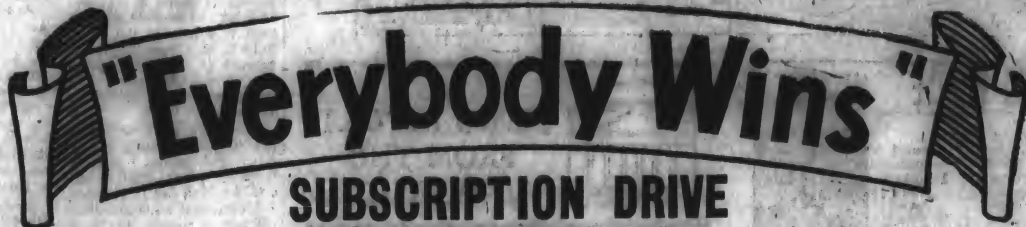

Vera Miles portrays a widow who vows political vengeance on State Representative Slattery, in an episode of "Slattery's People" now in production for broadcast later this season on the CBS Television Network (Mondays, 10-11 p.m., EST). In "Question: How Long Is the Shadow of a Man?" Miss Miles is appointed to her late husband's seat in the Legislature and tries to use her office to gain revenge.

Arthur Treacher, tall, long-faced veteran performer famed for his portrayals of proper English butlers, has been cast by producer Paul Henning in a special guest role as a butler for two episodes of "The Beverly Hillsbillies," now before the cameras for broadcast later in the season on the CBS Television Network Wednesday night comedy series.

N.C. Officials

Canal System Under Fire

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach's proposed canal system was again under fire this week from North Carolina officials who claim the project would destroy wildlife in Currituck Sound.

The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission announced Monday that it plans to take the matter to Congress in an effort to stop the canals.

Harry Cornell, chief of the commission's Fisheries Division, said in Raleigh Tuesday that the duck and fresh water fish in the sound "would cease to exist" if the canals are widened and deepened.

City Council has already backed City Manager W. Russell Hatchett's suggestion that the city proceed with the project even if it doesn't get federal aid.

Hatchett again voiced the city's intentions to go ahead with the canals at a public forum Monday night at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center.

North Carolina officials have said that the canals would allow an increased flow of salt water and silt into Currituck Sound which would kill off plant life and fish.

A biological study of the Back Bay - Currituck Sound area has been conducted by both states and the federal government and is expected to be published next spring or summer.

Early reports on the study have indicated it will show that small amounts of salt water would help food plants but over 10 per cent salinity would deform or kill fish.

The purpose of the canal project is to provide drainage for low-lying areas but also offer waterways for pleasure craft.

In order to accomplish this, the city would widen and deepen existing ditches.

The eastern canal would start at Rudee Inlet and extend south into Back Bay. The central canal would start in Lynnhaven Bay and empty into North Landing River, which flows into Currituck Sound. The eastern canal would also flow into North Landing River.

Cornell said that some silt is now coming into the sound from the present central drainage ditch.

"If this canal is increased to its announced size of 80 feet wide at 8 feet below sea level, the effect on Currituck Sound will be disastrous," Cornell said.

Backers of the canal project here have said that the salinity would be controlled, if necessary, by locks.

Trio Injured In Oceana Auto Crash

OCEANA — Two cars crashed in a head on collision at 4:49 a.m. Wednesday on route 615 near the Naval Air Station entrance. Witnesses stated that the car driven by Richard E. Evans swerved across the white line and smashed head-on into a car being driven by George J. Bohan.

Investigating officer Donald E. Tilton said "There were no apparent skid marks. Both cars were traveling about the same rate of speed when they hit. It looked like nothing moved either way."

Witnesses told Tilton that either Evans had fallen asleep or lost control of his car. He will appear in court November 16 on a charge of reckless driving.

Both Evans and Bohan had a passenger with them. All were stationed at NAS Oceana, and were taken to the dispensary. Evans was the only one not injured. Later the others were transferred to the Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

DRIVING LESSONS AT CIVIC CENTER

VIRGINIA BEACH — Drivers and soon-to-be-drivers will have a chance to learn more about automobiles and how they function by enrolling in the 4-H Automotive project which will begin next Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center, 19th Street & Pacific Ave.

Girls as well as boys, 14 years of age or older are invited to participate.

There will be no behind-the-wheel driving instruction, but rules of the road, safe driving pointers, and driving courtesy will be covered thoroughly.

BEACH RADIO BACK ON AIR

PLAZA — After overcoming mechanical difficulties during its first day in operation, Radio Station WKVK has resumed its broadcasting schedule.

Shortly after going on the air at 7:30 a.m. Monday, the new station experienced power failure and was silent until Tuesday mid-morning.

The new 5,000 watt station, located at 1550 kilocycles on the radio dial, has its offices at 36 Plaza Mall in Princess Anne Plaza.

WKVK is affiliated with the Mutual Broadcasting System and will emphasize heavily on local news and activities and will broadcast sports events of local interest, including the Navy-Army game Nov. 28.

Alan G. McLellan, formerly of WAVY-TV and radio, is the manager and Lee Hoffman is the news director. Other staff members are Richard Harman, program director; Chet Zemany and Robert McCurdy, advertising account executives; Barbara Vachet, administrative officer; Robert Gheza, weekend spectacular director; and Stephen J. Hart, chief engineer.

WKVK's broadcast license was formerly owned by WBOF, Inc. which went off the air in February.

As a result of a bankruptcy proceeding against WBOF, its operating assets were purchased by Arthur W. Arundel, communications executive of McLean, Va., and C. Braxton Valentine Jr., a Richmond and Washington attorney.

Arundel and Valentine are the owners and principle officers of Atlantic Communications Corporation and Virginia Beach attorney Richard Brydges is secretary-treasurer.

The co-owners held a luncheon Friday at Pine Tree Inn for members of the press and invited civic and business leaders.

Each of the staff members was introduced by McLellan and an outline of the station's plans was discussed.

SAND FENCES EFFECTIVE

VIRGINIA BEACH — Sand fences used along the oceanfront to build up the dunes have proved so effective in places that additional fences are needed.

Public Works Director Richard J. Webbon said Tuesday that new fences will be installed in spotted areas all the way from Croatan to North Virginia Beach "and particularly at street ends on public property."

City Council Monday appropriated $2000 for additional fencing and the Public Works Department is now in the process of taking bids on the project.

Because the fences must conform with Army Engineers' specifications, they are heavier than the usual fencing. Webbon explained, and, of course, more expensive.

"We are purchasing the fencing as needed rather than buying a large supply in advance," he said.

The new fences are necessary because in some areas sand has nearly covered those installed earlier. A second row will now be placed between the ocean and the old fences to further build up the dunes.

The city initiated the sand fences after the dunes were washed away during the March 7, 1962 storm.

Oceana Men Arrested In Armed Robbery

PLAZA — Two Navy men from the Oceana Naval Air Station have been arrested by Virginia Beach Police in connection with the armed robbery Tuesday night at Princess Anne Plaza shopping center.

Police have identified the two men as Charles Cary Keith, 25, of Birmingham, Ala. and John W. Mapp, 29, of Littleton, Tex.

Detectives were continuing their search, however, for one of the four bags of money taken in the holdup. Three were recovered from one of the suspects when he was apprehended shortly after the robbery.

The crime occurred about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday as Thomas Harp, manager of the men's and boys' wear department of Miller's Department Store, and a uniformed guard from Jettette's Protective Agency attempted to deposit the money, estimated between $10,000 and $15,000, at the bank's night deposit.

Harp stopped his car about 20 feet from the deposit box and, followed by the guard, started to walk toward it. An armed man wearing a Halloween mask came from behind the bank and a second man came up behind the men and disarmed the guard.

The gunmen took four cloth bags containing currency and checks from Harp and ordered him and the guard to run. The gunmen ran in the opposite direction.

Harp called police and patrol cars were immediately alerted.

Patrolmen Thomas R. Glisson and Robert Yale set up a road block on London Bridge Road and a few minutes later a black compact car ran through the block.

The two patrolmen chased the car at speeds over 100 miles an hour and finally brought the car to a stop on Harpers Road by shooting one of the tires.

Keith was found in the car with a loaded single-barrel 12-gauge shotgun and a toy Laser but Mapp escaped from the car before police overtook it and ran into a wooded area.

Mapp was picked up later by Lt. Richard Davis and Patrolmen Ronald Sawyer. Police said he had three of the four money bags taken from Harp with him.

Bridge-Tunnel Booth Drawing Many Visitors

BAYSIDE — The tourist season may be slackening off in Virginia Beach but the traffic across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel is still going strong.

At least the information center there is maintaining a busy schedule. During October the center talked with 3,828 persons and recorded 1,688 automobiles.

The most inquiries came from New Jersey with 324 followed by Pennsylvania, 235; New York, 233; Florida, 115; and Maryland, 114.

Canadians are still big boosters of the state. The center spoke to 44 persons from Canada. They also had one person from each of the following countries: Australia, Bermuda, Canal Zone, Colombia, Germany, Ireland, New Zealand, Norway and Switzerland.

FIRST WEEK CASH PRIZES

Just start the ball rolling, so to speak, and a little added incentive to prompt action on the part of those who intend to participate in the subscription contest, this newspaper will award SPECIAL prizes consisting of $25 each to aggressive "early starters" making the best showing up to and including Monday night, Nov. 16.

These special cash prizes are in addition to the regular 20 percent commission, a minimum of $125 in subscription collections (both new and renewal) is necessary to qualify for a special prize, and after all, this is a comparatively small amount and easily obtained.

Then, too, there's still another $25 cash prize on top of the above offer to be given for extra effort and substantial results during the first week of the contest also easily obtainable as more fully outlined in the big two page announcement in the Nov. 5 issue. It is easily possible, therefore, for everyone to earn $100.00 in cash, or even more, during his or her very first week in the contest, while at the same time accumulating a big total of votes toward winning one of the major awards.

LOBSTER HOUSE IS AMONG ART MUSEUM FEATURE PAINTINGS

RICHMOND, Va. — An art museum here has built a weather-beaten lobster house smack in the center of one of its galleries.

The museum is the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, which has an international reputation for the way it presents art exhibitions in unique but fitting settings.

The lobster house is the entrance for an exhibition of 54 rare marine paintings by the noted 19th century American artist Winslow Homer.

The display, "Homer and the Sea," was organized by the Virginia Museum, which is interested in things nautical.

The exhibition is believed to be the largest single collection of Homer's marine creations ever to be shown.

It is attracting visitors from all parts of the state. The display opened October 30 with a special black-tie preview for the museum's members and guests and it will be on view 1-5 p.m. and 8-10 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and 1-5 p.m. on Sundays, through November 29.

The collection includes such favorite oil paintings and watercolors as "All's Well," Homer's picture of a seaman in oilskins calling out the hour, and "After the Tornado," his famed watercolor of storm wreckage.

There are bright watercolors of the Bahamas, hazy paintings of England's turbulent North Sea coast, and famous New England scenes.

The pictures include "Sailing the Catboat," Homer's noted scene of a group of boys in a sailboat, "The Gale" and "To the Rescue."

Others include "Three Boys on the Shore," "Kissing the Moon," the noted picture of three seamen, the rolling sea and the rising moon; "Incoming Tide," "Turtle Pound," and "The Boatbuilders."

The famed watercolor, "Gulf Stream," Homer's picture of a lunging shark and a lone man dying on the battered remains of his drifting boat, is also in the exhibition.

And Homer's last dated work, "Diamond Shoals," is there, too. Fittingly enough for this Virginia exhibition, the idea for this famed painting came to Homer here in the South. He painted it in 1905 after passing the Diamond Shoals lighthouse, off the wrecked coast of North Carolina. It was his last dated creation.

Homer also created his earliest pictures in the South—as an artist covering the Union Army for Harper's Weekly during the War Between the States.

Cancer Society Study Survey Underway Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — The fifth annual follow-up in the American Cancer Society's massive cancer prevention study is being conducted in Virginia Beach this month.

Seventy volunteers in Virginia Beach will again report on whether the 1228 men and women they enrolled in the study in the fall of 1959, are alive or dead. In Virginia, the study involves 41,114 men and women and 2,684 volunteer researchers. Nationwide, according to Mrs. Leo Bille, chairman of the study, it covers more than 1,000,000 people in 1,121 counties in the United States. At the annual meeting of the Virginia Division in Richmond it was announced that the Virginia Beach unit was one of the few still tracing 98% of their subjects.

In 1959, these people furnished many details about themselves and their pattern of life. They filled out questionnaires answering 250 carefully framed questions that might help to determine if those who develop cancer differ in some ways from those who don't, with respect to environment, habits, exposures, and way of life.

Valuable information has already emerged from the study, according to the American Cancer Society. After two follow-ups, a preliminary analysis confirmed that certain danger signals had a high relationship to deaths for specific sites of cancer. It was also found that certain general physical complaints such as loss of appetite, shortness of breath, and a tendency to lose weight, were related to the cancer group.

The next regular meeting of the club will be November 18, at 7 p.m. at Shore Drive Inn.

ANTIQUE SHOW FOOD BAR FEATURES STEW

VIRGINIA BEACH — Brunswick Stew and Chess Tarts will be featured at the Food bar when the 6th Annual Antique Show and Sale opens today at noon at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center.

Sandwiches filled with chicken salad, sliced ham, tuna salad, and turkey will also be served along with the traditional ham biscuits of genuine Smithfield ham.

Home-made pies and cakes will be brought in by members of the Princess Anne Woman's Club, the sponsoring organization, to be served along with coffee.

Mrs. Erma T. Mott is the Food chairman ably assisted by Miss Mary Elizabeth Crump and Mrs. Douglas Wilson.

Brunswick Stew and Chess Tarts, prepared according to early Virginia recipes, add to the authenticity of the antique show theme. In one old recipe, the directions for making the stew begins, "First catch the hare . . ." and from that point on the stew takes shape by adding whatever was available in the way of rabbit or squirrel meat and chicken, salt pork, and vegetables in season.

Mrs. R. E. Davenport, Mrs. M. B. Zoll, and Mrs. Harry Billups are the stew makers.

Chess Tarts are an old English pastry adopted and adapted to the colonial menus. It is a versatile recipe and may be prepared with many types of fruit, nuts, lemon, etc. It is a pastry most Southerners miss the most when they move North . . .

While Mrs. Mott and her assistants are responsible for the preparation of the food and the Food bar for the entire four days, there is also a "Chairman of the Day" and it is her duty to look after the general cleanliness in the serving of the food. Today is Mrs. B. W. Wroton; Friday, Mrs. Millard Godsey; Saturday, Mrs. Frank Klepper; and on Sunday, Mrs. House and Mrs. Dudley.

Rose Craft and Mrs. Lorin Hay will be the cashiers for the Food bar during the entire show.

If at the conclusion of the Show and Sale there is any food still available, it will be sold outright.

The 6th Annual Antiques Show and Sale begins at noon today till 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday hours are 12 noon to 10 p.m. also, and Sunday the show will open at 1 p.m. and close at 6 p.m.

The Princess Anne Woman's Club will use the proceeds from this year's sales toward a building fund for the Atlantic Mental Hygiene Center. The Center at 2022 Atlantic avenue has outgrown its location and is hampered by cramped quarters and lack of space.

Mrs. R. H. Owen, advisor-director for the show, invites other organizations to join in their efforts to provide a more centrally located, modern, permanent Mental Hygiene Center for the area.

Council Acts To Aid Plaza Play Program

VIRGINIA BEACH—Vice Mayor S. Paul Brown, who conducted Monday's council meeting in the absence of Mayor Frank A. Dusch, has named a 4-man committee to look into the purchase of property in Princess Anne Plaza for recreational facilities.

Named to the committee were Recreation Director Harold Whitehurst, Treasurer V. Alfred Etheridge, Revenue Commissioner Ivan D. Mapp and School Superintendent Frank W. Cox.

The committee was appointed at council's request after Plaza developer John Aragona offered to donate a portion of land and sell another portion to the city for recreational facilities for Plaza residents.

Aragona offered to sell over 28 acres between two lakes for $1,450 per acre. He also said that he would give to the city an additional 10 acres regardless of whether or not the city purchased the other property.

In other action Monday, council:

- Named William E. McClurg to the recreation commission at the request of Commissioner Chairman Maury Rignato.
- Amended a previous ruling on an application by Bayshore Development Corp. declaring that a $25,000 fee of sewage disposal would encompass only motels.

- Deferred the Planning Commission's application for a change of zoning of property in Euclid Place located on the south side of Virginia Beach Boulevard between South Witchduck Road and Kellam Road. The application would change the frontyard setback from 70 feet to 30 feet.

Council also decided to set up a study of zoning in Belamy Manor, on property between Mears Corner and Stumpy Lake Golf Course, to bring all plats under the same zoning.

- Approved an application by Roy L. DeHart for a change

Council Will Aid Studies

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council Monday agreed to underwrite correspondence courses for three employees in the city engineer's office.

City Engineer Charles Kiley spearheaded the educational program for his department because, as he explained to council, "it's almost impossible to find experienced personnel in this field."

Cost of the courses, estimated at about $200 each, will be deducted each month from the employees' salaries but when the course is completed the entire amount will be reimbursed by the city.

"With this set up, it will encourage them to complete the courses," Kiley explained. "If they are not completed it will cost the employees money."

The employees involved in the program are: Frank Ennis and Ronnie Goodwin, both draftsmen, and Phil Baker, a member of the department's survey party.

"Oh, I've got my license, but everytime I bend a fender my husband makes me take a refresher course."

THE KEEP HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

Historic briefs about the area now known as Virginia Beach.

Adam Thoroughgood is a shining example of how, in the new world, a man can start at the bottom and reach the top. In 1621 at the age of fifteen he came to Virginia as an indentured servant. In June, 1635, he was granted 5350 acres of land south of Chesapeake Bay for transporting from England 105 persons which included his wife, Sarah, Thomas Thoroughgood and himself (twice, in 1628 and in 1634). That his wife was a daughter of the powerful London family of Olfrey and granddaughter of London's Lord Mayor was surely no insurance.

A Real Charmer

C. B. "Neal" Owens, (left), general chairman for the 1965 Virginia Beach March of Dimes campaign, and Rhae W. Adams, March of Dimes advisor, are shown with Mary Heinicke, 4, Denver, Colo., 1965 National March of Dimes Girl, victim of birth defect known as open spine. They recently attended a planning meeting in Washington, D. C., for the campaign to be held January 2 through 31 to fight birth defects. The National Foundation - March of Dimes is the largest single national source of private support for research and patient care in this disease area.

Noted Authors To Visit Here

BAY COLONY — Father Daniel Rankin of the diocese of Pittsburgh and Dr. Claire Quintal, co-authors of "The First Biography of Joan of Arc," will visit here next week.

They will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. McGrath in their home on South Bay Shore Drive Sunday through Nov. 22.

Father Rankin has been a close friend of the McGraths since serving as a Navy chaplain in Norfolk during the 1940s. Now retired as Navy chaplain and released from clerical duties, the priest-historian has spent many years in France studying ancient texts concerning St. Joan.

He and Dr. Quintal returned to the United States in October just as their book was being published by the University of Pittsburgh Press.

It has been tagged a "first" biography of Joan because the first part of the book is actually a translation of the first biography of the maid written anonymously about 70 years after her death.

Father Rankin and Miss Quintal are also preparing for publication by Yale University Press the first complete translation in any language of the original minutes of Joan's posthumous retrial and exoneration.

The primary sources of information used in "First Biography of Joan of Arc" were documents, mainly recorded in Latin and medieval French, dating back to the time of Joan which contained the earliest and most basic data about her.

Miss Quintal, who collaborated with Father Rankin in translating these documents, holds a degree in Comparative Literature from the Sorbonne and had been working on other translations before joining Father Rankin.

Father Rankin, a native of New Orleans, became interested in Joan of Arc through his Presbyterian father's enthusiasm for history and Dr. Quintal's interest stems from earlier association with the great Joan scholar, Father Paul Donceur.

They are presently doing a new drama about Joan and a movie scenario of the play which will be concerned with their controversial points of view about her, her family, her political and military associates and the church's role in her Vindication.

It has meshed well with the business community and gives the youngsters in the program invaluable experience in on-the-job training.

In the Distributive Education program the students are given background knowledge of the various jobs available in the area and the requirements needed to fill these jobs. The DE student is started the basics in applying for, obtaining and holding a job.

The DE program is working well in all of the city high schools and in nearly every instance the employer is highly satisfied with the type youngster filling the jobs.

The SUN-NEWS has first hand knowledge of the value of the DE program since this newspaper has employed a DE student for the past several years. It is one of the finest programs to be found in our school system.

We congratulate our school administrators and those individual instructors who have made the Distributive Education program so effective in Virginia Beach.

He plans to take the two-year course at the Southeastern Seminary at Wake Forest College.

"This is a decision I have been making for 17 years," he said Monday, "and finally I realized I couldn't fight it any longer. It is what I have always wanted to do and I must do it."

VIRGINIA BEACH — A new inspector and assistant inspector will be added to the city engineer's staff within the next few days.

City Council Monday appropriated $13,499 for salaries for the two new employees and the purchase of a pick-up truck and other equipment.

"We expect the positions will be filled by the end of this week," City Engineer Charles Kiley said Tuesday.

LOCAL P.O. GETS EFFICIENCY AWARD

Postmaster Joseph T. Crosswhite, Jr. accepted on behalf of employees of the Virginia Beach Post Office, the Presidential Citation for outstanding achievement in efficiency and cost reduction. The award was made through the Post Office Department's Suggestion and Awards Program.

Regional Director Andrew E. Newton made the presentation. He stated, "This award represents the new spirit of cost consciousness and service improvement sought by President Johnson. In order to assist President Johnson, we in the Washington Region have all accelerated our efforts in encouraging ideas for cutting costs during the year."

During fiscal year 1964, the Virginia Beach Post Office received 74 suggestions and adopted 21. Tangible savings benefits for the first year amounted to $3,984.00.

Joe L. Miller

Newton also presented a superior accomplishment award and $100 check to Joe L. Miller. He told Miller that "Your vast knowledge of the postal service and ability to project such knowledge during the recent POMSIP project in Silver Spring, Maryland is truly indicative of dedicated performance at its highest level. You devoted many hours on the workroom floor operation and were instrumental in rearranging the workroom furniture. Your ideas on redesigning all distribution cases made a most significant contribution to the success of the project."

Tuesday was awards day at the Virginia Beach Post Office on Atlantic Avenue. B. J. Mailigan from the regional suggestions and awards office congratulated Assistant Superintendent of Mails Joe L. Miller, center, on winning a superior accomplishment award. Superintendent of Delivery and Collections Ross F. White, right, proudly displays the Presidential citation.

Colt's Unitas Speaker For Grid Jamboree Here

Seahawk Group Banquet Set For January

VIRGINIA BEACH — John Unitas, the Baltimore Colts' star quarterback, will be the principal speaker at the annual football jamboree at the Cavalier Hotel on January 25, 1965. The annual affair is sponsored by the Seahawk Gridiron Association, a civic group of followers of the Virginia Beach high school football team.

"We feel extremely fortunate in securing a speaker of the caliber of John Unitas," a spokesman for the association stated. "Unitas is having one of his greatest years and the Baltimore team is leading its division at present with 8 wins and a lone loss," he added.

Tickets for the affair are selling for five dollars. The Seahawks play Kellam in their homecoming game here Friday night and tickets will be available at the game. Tickets can also be purchased at the Bank of Virginia Beach main office, the Lumberhouse at 207 Twenty-sixth street, and at Atlantic TV at 2402 Atlantic avenue.

There is a brief rundown on Unitas which covers his professional football career.

In 1963, his eighth pro season, Johnny was better than ever—both as a runner and as a passer. He topped all previous efforts by rushing for 224 yards in 47 carries (4.8 ave.). In doing so he increased his ground yardage for 1,356 for 319 pro hauls (4.5 ave.), but passing remains his chief stock in trade and the 6-1, 194-pound quarterback isn't going to seek any ground-gaining records.

All standards, however, are another matter and he claimed slight team marks and equalled a record last fall. His 237 completions established a new N.F.L. record. He threw 410 times for all-time Colt highs of 57.8% and 3,481 yards. At the same time his interceptions dipped from a 1962 total of 23 to 12—thus giving him the league's lowest interception percentage of 2.9.

After a somewhat uncertain 1963 start, while several of his regular receivers underwent various repairs and the fullbacks were being juggled, John waxed warm down the stretch, leading the Colts to victories in five of the last six games, while completing 113 of 177 aerials (63.8%) for 1,883 yards and 13 touchdowns.

His eight-year pro log now shows connections on 1,489 of 2,726 tosses (54.6%) for 21,491 yards and 168 touchdowns, all team records. A participant in the last seven Pro Bowl games, he's been named the contest's most valuable player on three occasions, including the January, 1964 battle. He was also named the most valuable player in the 1958 and 1959 championship games—both won by the Colts from the New York Giants. The three-time All-Pro pick also established a N.F.L. standard when he fired for TDs in 47 straight games, the streak ending in Los Angeles on Dec. 11, 1960.

A Pittsburgh, Pa. product, Unitas excelled in college at Louisville and was drafted ninth by the Steelers in 1955. Upon being released by Pittsburgh he played a year of semi-pro ball before joining the Colts.

Tickets at Kellam game.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

(By Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 West York Street.)

The following are some of the important changes which will be accomplished by new pension legislation effective January 1, 1965. These changes do not apply to the old pension law but only to PL 86-211, commonly referred to as the new pension law.

Excludes the following income under PL 86-211:

Amounts equal to those paid by a veteran for the last illness and burial of his deceased wife or child. Present law makes this provision in case of a widow, but not in case of a veteran.

Profit realized from disposition of real or personal property other than in the course of business.

Payments received for performance of jury duty or other obligatory civic obligations.

Payments received under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act.

Bonuses paid by a State for having served in the Armed Forces.

Excludes $1200 of the veteran's spouse's income, or all earned income, whichever is greater.

Under both the old and the new pension laws ten percent of payments to a veteran under any public or private retirement program as has been permitted heretofore. Recognition of contributions for those receiving pensions on December 31, 1964 will be allowed to continue even though the recoupment period extends beyond January 1, 1965.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

View Of Virginia Beach

By Doris Padrick

When you find yourself mired in the doldrums of boredom one of the quickest ways to pull yourself out is to wear a wig!

This prescription is given by your "View" writer after a delightfully fun day of parading around in one among fellow workers, family, friends, neighbors, shops, school, and a bowling establishment.

Being fitted with a dark brown (almost black) high style bouffant flip over my own customary medium brown casual hairdo turned me into a new personality. Whether it was better or worse was a matter of opinion. The beauty operator was enchanted with her creation. The photographer smiled. I was brave—and wore it all day.

The men in the composing room guffawed, and asked "What is that?", and went away, shaking their heads and mumbling. The office girls decided all I needed was a broom . . . to complete the picture. But a lady in my office was overcome and thought it quite fabulous, making me the most fashionable writer indeed!

To the teen-age daughter, it was a puzzling addition. While she liked the wig, she was sure it would look better on her . . . To the older son, an embarrassment ("You haven't been wearing THAT where people can SEE you, Mom?") And the little daughter, giggled and danced around, wanting to feel it. The dog barked and growled . . .

Quite taken back with the appearance of a strange woman in his kitchen, the man of the house after much minute examination, gave his approval to accompany "it" to the high school's open house . . .

At the school, the strangers noticed nothing out of the way. There were many fashionable hairdos in the corridors and whether any of them were wigs or not, only the person themselves knew. But a few of the students (friends of the children) while recognizing a familiar face, tried not to be obvious about staring at the puffed up head!

None of the neighbors recognized a friend, and looked rather startled to have a stranger open their door and walk right into their living room! Acquaintances at the bowling lanes had to look twice to make sure who it was out with my spouse . . .

A new dress completed the outfit but no one noticed how pretty it was. They saw nothing but all that hair.

Wearing the wig made an interesting day and evening. Most of the women thought it quite attractive. Men weren't quite as enthusiastic, but did agree, it had its merit. Teenagers thought it rather ridiculous. Little children enjoyed it.

I liked the reactions it created—but am more comfortable being just me . . .

Youth Forum In Norfolk

NORFOLK — The Governor's Committee for Youth in joint sponsorship with the Mayor's Youth Commission of Norfolk are sponsoring an area youth conference to be held Saturday at the Golden Triangle Motor Hotel.

The Conference will start at 9 a.m. and deal with subjects such as "The Functions of Youth Commissions" and "The Needs of Youth". Similar meetings have been held in Richmond and Roanoke. Attendance is open to the general public.

The Honorable Mills E. Godwin, Jr., Lt. Governor, Commonwealth of Virginia, will be the luncheon speaker. Other speakers at the meeting will include Samuel P. Hall, Secretary, Norfolk Youth Commission; John D. Landers, Chairman, Portsmouth Youth Corps; and George Sinke, Chairman, Norfolk Youth Corps. A panel session will be held during the afternoon at which time Paul E. Bryan, Manager, Norfolk local office, Virginia Employment Commission; A. I. Godden, Assistant Director Technical Institute, Old Dominion College; and Dr. Sam Ray, Assistant Superintendent, Norfolk Public Schools will discuss "The Needs of Youth".

The Governor's Committee for Youth was established by joint resolution during the 1962 Legislative Session. The Committee is charged with the responsibility of making studies, findings, and recommendations which will contribute to the overall strengthening and extending of youth services throughout the State of Virginia.

The Governor's Committee for Youth is made up of 26 members appointed by the Governor. They represent a cross-section of professional and lay groups and come from all sections of the State.

The Chairman is Mr. Sidney Buford Scott of Richmond. The Vice-Chairman is the Honorable Kermit V. Rooke, Judge of Richmond City Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court.

Cox Made Lifetime DE Member.

Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Cox was made an honorary DE life member by Virginia Beach students during a short ceremony Monday afternoon. He also received a DE key and paper weight. Said Cox, "I get my satisfaction out of doing things for young people, and this was an unexpected award." He then told DE students that whether or not they go on to higher education, their DE training will stand them in good stead. With Cox are, left to right, DE School Presidents Lloyd Brantley of Cox High School, Kent Morgan of Virginia Beach High School, and Betty Davis of Princess Anne High School. (Staff photo by Hardy)

CUSTOMERS PRAISE DE

PRINCESS ANNE HIGH — While many DE students do an outstanding job at work, it's always nice when someone takes time to tell them. Below is a letter addressed to the manager of a department store about one DE student—Miss Christa Risner of Princess Anne High.

Dear Sir:

COX HIGH

COX HIGH — Lloyd Brantley is president of the DE Club at Cox High School. He has been working at the Kempsville Golf Station for a year and a half.

"I'm getting experience in how to meet and talk with people," Brantley said. "There's not as much salesmanship at a service station as in a department store, but we have to keep good relations with our customers, too. The biggest thing that DE teaches is how to get along with the public."

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation of an outstanding service rendered to me and my wife by one of your employees at G-E-X. On Friday evening (Oct. 30) my wife and I were shopping in the Housewares Department and experiencing difficulties in deciding upon several purchases. We approached a salesgirl who was very busy among a pile of boxes putting up stock. The button she was wearing identified her as a Miss Christa Risner.

This young lady stopped her task and came to our assistance. For the next 15 minutes we were treated to the most courteous and efficient service ever received by either of us in any store we have shopped in. Miss Risner made it a pleasure for us to shop in G-E-X. We feel that this young lady is a credit to the store and pass this knowledge along to you to do with as you see fit.

Sincerely yours,
Mr. Albert Urania

STUDENTS PLAN FUTURE THROUGH ON-JOB TRAINING

VIRGINIA BEACH — In the fast-moving world of today, it becomes more and more necessary for high school students to begin planning early for their future.

Many students have a vague idea of what they will do after graduation, but few have seriously made definite plans. Some will attend college or enter the armed forces, but the majority will seek employment immediately after receiving their diploma.

Of these working graduates it is more than likely that most of them will enter some phase of the wide field of distribution.

What are these students doing to prepare themselves for their future in distribution and what do they really know about it? To answer these questions is the main purpose of the Distributive Education Program.

The Distributive Education Program was instigated to provide the employers and employees of tomorrow with a fundamental background in distribution, and to give them on-the-job training.

In the DE classroom, the students are first given a background knowledge of the various jobs available in distribution and the requirements needed to obtain these jobs. Among these jobs are the many types of salesman such as: the retail salesman, the wholesale salesman, and the service salesman.

These are the types that most people associate with distribution: the small independent store, the large chain store, and the service establishment such as beauty salons and barber shops. However, they are but a few of the job opportunities open in the distribution field.

The DE student is taught the basic necessities which are important in applying for, obtaining, and holding a job.

These begin with simple rules of good health, then he is trained to have a pleasing, "selling" personality, one of the most important fundamentals in any job which involves "meeting the public".

The student is also given thorough instruction in the general characteristics and moods of the customer and how to cope with each.

Often as the student gains a keener insight into the personalities of others, he develops a better understanding of his own personality traits.

PRES. SPEAKS

VIRGINIA BEACH HIGH — Kent Morgan is president of the Virginia Beach High School DE Club. Here in his own words is what he feels DE has done for him.

"Distributive Education has given me invaluable knowledge in the areas of how to apply for a job, personal grooming, personality development and the whole fields of retail, wholesale and service occupations.

"DE has taught me how to work effectively with co-workers and to develop good relations with supervisors and customers. Also, this course has assisted me in getting a job to prepare me for a future in distribution. At the present time, I am working at Russell-Holmes Shoe Store at Virginia Beach. In this particular job, DE has helped me in analyzing customers and determining their needs as a sales person. I have been aided in the field of display in which I, also, get on-the-job training from my employer.

"On-the-job training is one of the most important parts of DE. This has enhanced my being promoted to my present position, Assistant Manager Trainee at Russell-Holmes Shoe Store at Virginia Beach. This has given me a new outlook on the future for myself."

PRINCESS ANNE

PRINCESS ANNE HIGH — Miss Betty Davis is president of the Princess Anne High School DE Club. She's been working with Rice's since August.

"DE has helped me to get along with people. I have a specific want to get along with people. Before you work in a store you wonder why clerks do certain things. But after you've worked in a store, you realize what makes a store tick."

Miss Davis said she has also learned how to bring better business into a store. But there's a lot more than putting up stock and selling it that DE students learn. Most of all they learn how to get along in the world.

Working with fellow employees smoothly is sometimes a pretty hard job. In DE you can talk over problems before they get too big."

KELLAM HIGH

KELLAM HIGH — The Kellam Chapter of DECA is only two months old and already it's making great strides forward, announced Jefferson Davis, principal of Floyd E. Kellam High School.

The school's DE coordinator Martin Forbes writes "With an industrious thirty-one active members the club has just finished one project, a candy sale, and are beginning to plan for their Christmas Dance.

"The highlight of the year will be the Employee-Employer Banquet to be held in the Spring of the year. The money for this banquet will come entirely from club projects.

"Our DE students are making great strides forward in the fields of marketing and distribution.

"One of our students, David Hines, works at Irish's Shell Service. John Irish, owner, thinks that David is one of the best students he has ever had working for him.

"Bob Estes, assistant manager of Roses, is employing three DE students. On one coordination visit Estes said, 'All three are doing an outstanding job, and seem to be very conscientious over their work.'

"With the ever increasing demand for more skilled personnel in the fields of marketing and distribution, it is hoped that through DECA some of these needs can be met."

VIRGINIA BEACH

VIRGINIA BEACH HIGH — K. D. Wade is DE coordinator at Virginia Beach High School. Below he writes about the program at his school.

"Distributive Education at Virginia Beach High School has been in existence for a period of three years.

"During this period, the number of students enrolled in the program has almost tripled. This growth has been attributed to the interest indicated by the school, the employers and the community. Due to their efforts, all three have benefited—the school, by providing training that is needed; the employer, by obtaining more efficient personnel and the community by receiving better service as consumers.

"Most of the high school graduates of the Distributive Education program have either pursued a career in a distributive occupation or continued their education in college. A recent survey indicated 90 per cent either continued their careers in the field of distribution or enrolled in college.

"It is our goal at Virginia Beach High School to continue to support the expanding field of distribution by providing trained personnel who will be equipped to contribute skill and knowledge needed to promote greater efficiency."

TEAM EFFORT

VIRGINIA BEACH — The DE program must be a team effort in order to be successful. It calls, first upon educators and business leaders, who, by working together, can shape and polish the program. If they are successful in working out a top-notch program, they will attract students of high caliber whose achievements will someday reflect well upon DE as a whole.

STARTED 1937

RICHMOND — Miss Louise Bernard is the State Supervisor for Distributive Education in the state of Virginia, after having founded the program in the state in 1937.

The program now operates in over 115 high schools, two past high schools and two state colleges with a staff of over one hundred and fifty.

Waiting their cue in the wings, the DE boys and girls were determined to do as well on the stage as they have on their jobs. Many had the opportunity to talk with the featured guest Miss Virginia, 1964—Miss Carolyn Eddy. (Staff photo by Hardy)

FREEDOM'S DISCOVERY

There is joy in giving to God. That is freedom's ultimate discovery. And the hundreds of thousands of churches which we have built and supported bear testimony to the fact.

But when there are nations who despise God... who tear down churches... or forbid their support, how shall we teach this Christian joy to the boys and girls who will be our nation—tomorrow?

Karen and Paul are placing Sunday School "envelopes" at the foot of the children's altar.

Of course, what Karen and Paul and their classmates can give will hardly pay for an altar. But our world of tomorrow cannot be built on Kremlin economics.

A mighty generation must learn to worship in prayer and faith and sacrifice. There is joy in giving to God!

Our children learn this chiefly from our example and encouragement.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a place of the community and the church, which should be a place of devotion and service. Think up four good names for your person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Pesticides and Human Health

The article quoted below appeared in the October 1964 issue of Shell Chemical Agricultural News. I felt that this information was worth passing along to you.

"Man's continuing need for chemical protection from insect-borne diseases has received sharp emphasis in recent weeks from the rising encephalitis (sleeping sickness) death toll in Houston, Texas, and suspected outbreaks in other U. S. areas.

"A massive insecticide spray control program to curb the female Culex mosquito, carrier of the sleeping sickness virus, is being carried out by private and government sources in Houston. Sales of insecticides and repellents in the Texas city have risen and thousands of gallons of spray materials have been distributed at no cost.

"Health officials point out that similar outbreaks in Florida in 1962, brought under control largely with insecticides, serve as a reminder of how dependent we are on the use of chemical pesticides for public health in the U.S. The Public Health Service estimates that more than five million lives have been saved and 100 million illnesses prevented through chemical control of insects causing malaria and encephalitis since 1942."

This illustrates again that when properly used pesticides can be a boon to mankind.

National Sweet Potato Meeting Set

The Third Annual Meeting of the Sweet Potato Council of the United States will be held at the Claridge Hotel in Atlantic City, New Jersey, on January 17, 18, 19, 20, 1965, according to Herman G. Liepe, President of the Council.

An outstanding program is being arranged and is practically completed. In addition to the program there will be numerous commercial exhibits including one of a new sweet potato harvester which is being used in New Jersey this year.

breaking down of the cell tissues. Excessive loss of moisture (which is quite a frequent cause of winter killing) is due largely to the effect of strong, drying winds during periods of brilliant winter sunshine.

The evaporation of moisture from twigs, branches, canes, and leaves (in the case of evergreens) continues at a slow rate through the winter. To supply this moisture, the roots of the plant must continue to absorb water.

When evaporation is rapidly accelerated by prolonged periods of winter wind and sunshine, the roots of the plant must continue to supply, but are unable to supply, moisture rapidly enough. Branches and canes become withered and if this condition is sufficiently aggravated, it often results in dying back of a large portion of the plant, or in its death.

So, one of the most important preparations for winter is to see that the soil is adequately supplied with moisture. If rainfall has been light during the summer, see that the ground is thoroughly soaked before freezing. Many trees and shrubs may be saved from winter injury if this protection is given. For many plants, winter protection against wind and sun is as important as protection against extreme cold.

One method of protecting broadleaf evergreens is the use of a plastic spray. This spray should be applied between mid-November and early December. A thin film applied to leaves and twigs, with a repeat application in January, gives additional protection.

A spray of this type protects against winter sun and will also reduce transpiration of moisture from leaves.

To protect half-hardy shrubs and newly planted shrubs, some protection from wind is advisable. A wind screen may be constructed of snow fence, burlap, or you may use commercially prepared mats of straw.

more effective program. Planning provides for project leaders and their groups to participate in specific parts of the total program. It provides opportunity for young people to plan ahead.

We suggest that a program committee consist of 5 members. The vice-president serves as chairman. Others to serve on the committee are an adult 4-H volunteer leader and 3 experienced club members. This committee has the responsibility of outlining and planning the club's programs and activities for the year. Junior club members will need more guidance from leaders. Senior club members with experience will want to assume more responsibility with leader serving as advisor.

Specific duties would be, first, to get ideas and suggestions from all the club members. This would include their ideas for club improvement, community service, recreation, kinds of educational programs, publicity and membership. Consider county 4-H goals in planning club programs.

Second, the committee should determine dates or months for special events such as tours, camps, parents' programs, 4-H Sundae, Share-the-Fun, recreation programs, community service programs, achievement days, and other special activities.

Third, plan each regular meeting to include an educational feature. Usually there will be a central theme for each month; for example, "Let's Evaluate Our Accomplishments" for the month of November, "Christmas in Other Lands" in December. The program may be presented by members assisted by leaders and sometimes a special guest or Extension Agent. Club members may be assigned to give demonstrations about what they have learned in their projects that pertain to the theme. Talks, skits, reports, and demonstrations given by the members and leaders should make up the educational feature. Plan for members and leaders to report on a meeting, Short Course, or other special event.

A sample program for one month might look something like this:

Theme: Nature and Our Community

Place: Bill Thomas' home

Time: 3:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Opening: (8 to 10 minutes)

Pledge to flag led by Betty Brown

4-H Pledge led by Jim Rucker

Devotions, led by Mike Cobb

Business: (15 to 20 minutes)

Roll Call (name a bird found in your yard or community)

Reading of minutes by Jo Jones

Committee Reports:

Report Plans for Parents' Party—Jo Lee

Report on 4-H Sunday—Sue Aims

Old Business

New Business

Make plans to go to 4-H Camp—Mary Lee

Educational Program Features: (30 to 60 min.)

Mounting an Insect—John Pace

Knowing the Trees in our Community—Mrs. Smith (Adult Project Leader)

How to Introduce People Easily—Lou Rice

Keeping Our 4-H Records—Mr. Lewis (adult leader)

Recreation: (15 to 20 minutes)

Games & refreshments—Sue Cox, Bob Smith

A well-planned program improves the quality of meetings; arouses more interest, and insures a balanced club program for the year. It develops a systematic plan for involving all club members and gives leadership experience to many different club members. Good program planning encourages members to set goals and maintain high standards by striving to meet them. Parents and other adults can be informed of what the club expects to do. There is more continuity in meeting with good program planning.

Make 1964-65 club year a success. Start now by appointing and working with the 4-H program planning committee.

By LUCILE CLARK

SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Crusty Batter-Fried Chicken

Crusty Batter-Fried Chicken is deliciously crisp on the outside and tender on the inside. The batter has delicate corn flavor and crunches right into it because it's prepared with self-rising corn meal.

Self-rising corn meal adds extra nourishment as well as flavor to your meals, thanks to added B-vitamins, iron and calcium. Use both self-rising corn meal and flour in all your cooking and baking, being sure the sack or container states "enriched," to get all these important nutrients at no extra cost.

Seasonings in the corn meal batter give your chicken dinner a flavor boost. Use this batter idea for other foods — vegetables, fish, chops and others. Self-rising corn meal and flour have leavening and salt added to make baking with them extra convenient.

CRUSTY BATTER-FRIED CHICKEN

- 2 1/2 to 3-pound frying chicken, cut up
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 cup enriched self-rising corn meal
- 1/2 cup enriched self-rising flour
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 fat for deep frying

Place chicken in water to cover. Add salt. Simmer about 15 minutes. Cool chicken and broth before making batter. To make batter, mix together corn meal, flour and seasonings. Beat broth into egg. Add to dry ingredients. Stir until smooth. Dip chicken in batter. Let stand a few minutes before deep fat frying. Fry in deep hot fat (350°F.) for about 10 minutes. Drain chicken on absorbent paper. Makes 4 servings.

New Cranberry Ways

With Chicken

The French say, "poulet," the Spanish, "pollo," but no matter how you say it, chicken is everybody's favorite. Combine a versatile food with its flavor made cranberries and you'll find you never had it so good.

Use your skillet to brown chicken spiked with just a touch of garlic. Now, simmer slowly in a savory mixture of cranberry sauce, vinegar and soy; garnish with crisp vegetables for Sweet and Sour Berried Chicken . . . chicken with a Polynesian flair! Sweet and Sour Berried Chicken

2 tablespoons cooking oil

1 clove garlic, minced

1 3 lb. frying chicken, cut up

1 teaspoon salt

1 can Whole Berry Cranberry Sauce

1/2 cup vinegar

2 oranges, rind and juice

2 tablespoons cornstarch

1/2 cup water

1 1/2 tablespoons soy sauce

1 large green pepper, cut in thin slices

1/2 cup thinly sliced onion

Chives to garnish

Heat fat in skillet, add garlic and cook slightly. Place chicken in hot fat; brown well on both sides. Sprinkle with salt. Combine cranberry sauce, vinegar, orange rind and juice; pour over chicken. Cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender (about 30-40 minutes). Mix cornstarch, water and soy sauce; add to chicken with green peppers and onions. Simmer 'til mixture is clear and thickened and vegetables are slightly cooked but still crisp. Serve over hot seasoned rice sprinkled with freeze dried chopped chives. Makes 4 servings.

Make a ruby red Cranberry Lemon Salad Ring and fill with your favorite chicken salad — pretty enough for a party, meal!

Cranberry Lemon Salad Ring

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

1/2 cup cold water

2 cans (1 lb. each) Jellied Cranberry Sauce

1/2 to 3/4 cup lemon juice

2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

Chicken or Turkey Salad

Place gelatin in cup. Add cold water and let stand 2 minutes. Place cup in pan of boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Stir dissolved gelatin into cranberry sauce that has been beaten 'til saucy with rotary beater. Add lemon juice and rind. Spoon into a ring mold and chill until firm. Fill with chicken or turkey salad to serve.

Wind up Cranberry Dip in your electric blender for a perfect basting sauce for baked or barbecued chicken . . . Ideal, too, for chicken "dunking."

Cranberry Dip

1/4 cup salad oil

1/4 cup vinegar

2 1/4 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper

1/4 teaspoon paprika

1 teaspoon sugar

1 teaspoon horseradish

3 tablespoons cocktail sauce

1 teaspoon prepared mustard

1 split garlic clove

6 tablespoons brown sugar

1/4 teaspoon curry powder

1 can Jellied Cranberry Sauce beaten 'til saucy

1 tablespoon cornstarch

Whiz all ingredients except cranberry sauce in electric blender on high speed for 30 seconds. Pour into saucepan; add cranberry sauce. Stir in cornstarch. Heat slowly, stirring, to boiling point. Cool and serve with fried chicken or fish sticks.

During this fresh cranberry season, be sure to freeze extra packages. Rinsed frozen berries can be used successfully in any recipe calling for fresh cranberries.

1 cup chopped fresh cranberries mixed with 1 package ready mix bread stuffing adds a tangy flavor touch to stuffed chicken.

Cook 1 cup rinsed fresh cranberries in 1 cup maple syrup until berries pop. Add 1/4 cup butter, stir over low heat to melt. Serve hot over griddle cakes for a hearty fall breakfast.

Quick tricks for your sweet tooth: Try new cranberry orange relish (now available in 14 ounce jars) as a topping for vanilla ice cream, a filling for home made coffee cake or layered with vanilla pudding for parfait desserts.

Mash a ripe banana, then mix with 1 cup cold cranberry juice cocktail for a delicious nutritious fruit drink. Let the children drink their vitamins!

Spread peanut butter on bread; cover with cranberry sauce for a welcome lunchtime treat.

Now bake your cranberry garnish with your chicken. Spread 1 cup rinsed fresh cranberries in a flat baking dish. Sprinkle with 1 cup sugar. Cover with aluminum foil and bake for 1 hour. Delicious served hot or cold.

Quickie Cranberry Bread: Combine 1 box orange muffin mix, 1 egg and 1 cup jellied cranberry sauce, beaten 'til saucy. Bake in loaf pan, for about 45 minutes in a 350° oven. For a very special treat serve with softened cream cheese.

As an employee of Rose Hall, Miss Newman's duties consist of sales work, modeling and assisting with fashion merchandising. At the present time she is working with the Teen-age Charm Classes that are being held at Rose Hall. Her future plans call for additional education as she wishes to major in business administration.

This distinctive folding screen provides an effective and eye-catching divider between the dining and living room in this contemporary home. The screen, an easy do-it-yourself project, is made of Masonite filigree hardboard, perforated in an interesting cloverleaf pattern. It has been painted to match the walls and contrast with darker furniture finishes. The screen is portable and can be used in family room, bedrooms, and other areas, as well as living-dining room.

Screens Serve Double Duty In Modern Home

Let a decorative folding screen do double duty in your home.

It can serve dozens of practical purposes, particularly in homes with today's popular open floor plans. At the same time, it can add an attractive conversation piece to your decor.

Screens are finding favor as dividers between dining L's and living rooms. They're also being used to provide privacy for sewing, reading, studying, and other activities. In many homes, they "fence off" areas temporarily out of bounds for the youngsters in the family.

Among the screens which get high grades from decorators and designers for both beauty and utility are those made from the new filigree hardboard, which is both distinctive and durable. The lacework panels are perforated in interesting designs, such as the Cloverleaf and Camolet patterns by Masonite Corporation. These patterns, let through light and air, while performing their primary job of screening.

Factory-cut moldings and accessories make it easy and inexpensive for even the amateur home decorator to build folding screens. The panels, which can be cut with ordinary carpentry tools, merely slide into grooves.

When the frame is fastened and hinged, you have a folding screen which can be finished to match or contrast with your color scheme. As a final touch, vines, plants, or small knick-knacks can be fitted into the perforations.

Your Social Security

Social security amendments, signed into law by President Johnson on October 13, will bring new or higher benefits to more than 100,000 totally disabled workers and dependents Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said today.

The newly signed legislation removes a restriction on the retroactivity of applications for disability insurance benefits. This restriction had caused some disabled workers and their dependents to receive reduced social security benefits or to lose their disability insurance rights entirely.

Under the previous law, an application for disability insurance benefits, filed after June 30, 1962, could establish a period of disability beginning no earlier than 18 months before the date of application. Workers who had been disabled for more than 18 months and who did not apply until after June 30, 1962, found that they were either ineligible for disability insurance benefits or were eligible for only reduced amounts.

Most of these disabled people and their families will now receive benefits as a result of the change in the law. Letters have gone to those newly eligible for benefits telling them what steps will be taken to process their claims for benefits. Those made eligible for higher benefits will get the increase with the checks delivered to them early in December.

Commissioner Ball said that severely disabled workers who worked under social security for at least five out of the ten years before they became disabled, but have not yet applied for social security disability insurance benefits, should get in touch with their nearest social security office promptly.

Back benefits will be payable for up to 11 months—back to the month of November 1963—for most of those made eligible under the new law and whose applications are on file before the end of this November.

"THE HANGED MAN"

NBC MOVIE

"The Hanged Man," a suspense feature with the New Orleans Mardi Gras as its backdrop, will have its world premiere on "Wednesday Night at the Movies" Nov. 18 (NBC colorcast, 9-11 p.m. EST).

Starring in the color film are Edmund O'Brien, Vera Miles, Robert Culp, J. Carroll Naish, Gene Raymond, Norman Fell, Brenda Scott, Pat Buttram, Edgar Bergen, Archie Moore, and Randy Boone. Also featured are the Stan Getz Quartette and singer Astrud Gilberto.

Based on the novel, "Ride the Pink Horse" by Dorothy B. Hughes, it is the second of two two-hour films produced by Universal Pictures for world premiere on "Wednesday Night at the Movies" during the current TV season. The first, "See How They Run," was colorcast October 7.

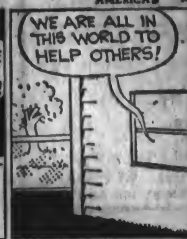

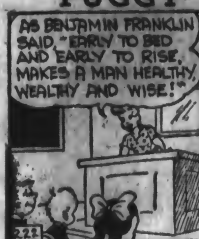

In the story, Harry Pace (Culp) sets out to avenge the murder of Whitney Devlin (Miles), a close friend he believes was killed by union boss Annie Sooner (O'Brien). Along the way, Pace meets Sooner's unhappy wife (Vera Miles) who confesses her love for his late friend. Together they form a scheme to blackmail the union boss with evidence that he has been mishandling union funds. When Pace puts the squeeze on Sooner, it's a cue for everyone to get together amid the color of the Mardi Gras, an affair that holds more than its share of surprises.

"The Hanged Man" was produced by Ray Wagner and directed by Donald Siegel. The screenplay was written by Jack Laird and Stanford Whitmore.

NAIL SIZES
By Paul Harper
Home & Farm Specialist
The Center for Better Living
Selecting and buying nails for your handyman projects can sometimes seem more difficult than the project itself.

It is quite embarrassing to walk into a hardware or lumber store and hem and haw while you and the clerk try to determine what size nails you need and how many you want to buy. Nails are referred to as two-penny, six-penny, etc. on up to 60-penny. This indicates the size of the nail and is abbreviated with the letter "d". Therefore, a 3d nail is a two-penny nail. Keep this handy reference chart for determining your own future nail needs.

Size	Length	Dia.	In 1 lb.	Number
3d	1"	5/64"	576
4d	1 1/4"	7/64"	480
5d	1 1/2"	7/64"	316
6d	1 3/4"	7/64"	271
7d	2"	7/64"	181
8d	2 1/4"	7/64"	161
9d	2 1/2"	7/64"	108
10d	2 3/4"	7/64"	96
11d	3"	7/64"	80
12d	3 1/4"	7/64"	68
14d	3 1/2"	7/64"	40
16d	4"	7/64"	32
20d	4 1/2"	7/64"	24
24d	5"	7/64"	18
30d	5 1/2"	7/64"	14
40d	6"	7/64"	11

Tip Tip—When driving nails you will be amazed at how much easier it is when you drill a pilot hole first. Needless to say, this also eliminates most dangers of splintering and cracking the wood.

School Officials Support WGH Radio Scholarship

Jim Moore, and school administrators Roland Friedman, Williamsburg; E. W. Chittum, Chesapeake; R. H. Owen, Virginia Beach; A. J. Mapp, Portsmouth; E. L. Lambert, Norfolk; and Mr. Wilson, Suffolk.

Not a decorating idea, but certainly a handy idea for the home-maker is this applicator which permits distinctive white permanent marking and writing on a variety of surfaces including metal, wood, cloth, leather, plastic, glass and even paper. These marks are waterproof and quick-drying on all materials. Mothers may use the White Opague Magic Marker to personalize their children's school gear, personal belongings, as well as labeling jars, cans and other household items.

Should a Firm Rate a Man by His Wife? • Holiday in Greece BY VANCE PACKARD
Round Table: How We're Solving the Parking Problem

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

Getting Elected, the Easy Way . . . page 6

Winston Abbott wasn't well-known in Andover, Connecticut. In fact, nobody knew him. But they put him up for Town Treasurer, and he won—or did he? A town's affairs, it seems, are even harder to manage than your own.

Vance Packard's Greek Islands . . . page 8

With the enthusiasm of a man refreshed by a wonderful trip, Mr. Packard tells his tales of Greece. You'll read how the Greeks drink and dance in the tavernas until they work themselves into a thunderous wine-glass-smashing contest that brings the evening to an abrupt end. He tells, too, of quieter things—of white marble columns and statues and of the soft air and light. It's almost like being there.

Will She Please? . . . page 11

Can your wife throw a party, talk—but not too much, dress well—but not as well as the boss's wife, solve the kids' problems without bothering their father? Then she may score a big plus for you in business, say the computers. Here are the pros and cons of the new corporate custom of wife analysis.

Pre-Christmas Shopping . . . page 26

This month Garden Editor John Brimer covers the stuff gardeners' dreams are made of—the power tools that can do his chores for him. They'll mow and clip and sprinkle and sweep lawns and cultivate for him, and do it beautifully, and the sight of one of these gnomes will gladden his heart on Christmas morning. Because they're complicated machines and serious investments, read all about them now, the author urges, and select with care before the rush begins.

On the Cover

Artist Mike Ramus knows his business—up at dawn, into buffalo-plaid jacket and red peaked cap, and on to the wild woods to bag a big one. Then weary and worn, home again to find that the big fellow may have been in your own back yard all along! It just goes to show that dumb beasts aren't so dumb after all.

GETTING AROUND

... to Our Pleasant Places and People

There's a butcher in a University City, Missouri, supermarket, we hear, who's an amateur psychologist as well. When the market recently advertised turkeys for 23 cents a pound and a customer complained they were scrawny, he promptly set her right.

"These turkeys are raised especially," he said, "for those who want to stay thin. Now, if you want to get fat, we have some real plump ones at 43 cents a pound."

And while we're on the subject, here's a thought from our friend, Dick Hayman:

"Thanksgiving dinner's

A two-stage fete:

First the turkey's stuffed

And then it's us."

Back came a teen-ager in a towering rage:

"Esther Plotel is a big fat flak. Now about the Beatles, what do you think? We like the Beatles. But we don't like you. Esther Plotel is a best-up shoe. Yeah! Yeah! Yeah!"

In their own write, of course.

And speaking of the Beatles—or would you rather not?—Anne Palmquist of Downers Grove, Illinois, says she saw a teen-age girl carrying a large album of opera records the other day and asked her why it wasn't one by the Beatles or the Dave Clark Five, instead. Opening the book, the teen-ager produced 10 Beatle singles. "I find it easier," she explained simply, "to carry them in this old thing."

One of the starlin Justice Lawrence Wittig of Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin, likes to tell is about an amorous 19-year-old who was caught driving with one arm around his girl. According to the testimony, however, he was not driving erratically and was not speeding, so the judge decided to let him off with a stern lecture. "I want to remind you, young man," he said, "that one-arm driving is against the law, whether to hold up the roof or hold onto a companion. Also, it can cause accident." The young man agreed and then said reassuringly, as he turned to leave, "Don't worry, your Honor, I don't go with her any more."

NEW EL CAMINO '65

Handsome as a car... useful as a truck

Beautifully useful That's the new '65 El Camino by Chevrolet. Never before has a vehicle of such practicality taken a more pleasing shape than this one. One look from any angle will tell you that.

Outside, El Camino's bright styling almost belies its rugged build. In back, graceful side panels enclose a pickup bed with more than a half-ton of cargo capacity. And there's a husky tailgate that lowers to accommodate extra-long loads.

Inside, El Camino's luxury invites you aboard with handsome vinyl and cloth appointments that stay new and fresh looking even under toughest use. And if you like, you can even order AM-FM radio, bucket seats and air conditioning.

Under the hood, too, you can really have things your way with a wide choice of 6-cylinder or V8 models. A Hi-Thrift 194 Sbc and Turbo-Fire 283 V8 are standard or, if you prefer, you can also specify engine options ranging all the way up to 327 cubic inches. Couple your choice of engine to one of Chevrolet's four great transmissions, and you're on your way!

Sound pretty good? Just wait'll you try an El Camino on the road... you'll find yourself dreaming up dozens of uses for it. See your Chevrolet dealer soon to find out how beautifully and economically a new El Camino can work for you... Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit, Michigan.

At times lovable dogs can have the most unlovable smell, as most pet owners know, but Mrs. S. O. Komarnitsky of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, has the answer. All you have to do, she suggests, is add a half cup of vinegar, plain or cider, to the final rinse of Rover's bath.

Mrs. Francis B. Falser of Woburn, Massachusetts, reminds us again of the wisdom of children. When her only brother died, she was having great difficulty adjusting to the loss, and she was deeply concerned, too, for her small grandson who had also loved him dearly. When he was told he wouldn't be seeing his uncle again, he thought for a moment and said, "Well, when I don't see him, I'll just make believe he's at work." Somehow, said Mrs. Falser, her grandson's little make-believe device made things easier for her, too.

Harold Heller of Silver Spring, Maryland, tells us about a young friend who sent his best girl a box of candy for her birthday with this note attached:

"To Helen, with all my allowance."

Grammen's Chinese Theater in Hollywood may be famous for its forecourt of movie-star footprints, but Burbank, California, has a footprint shrine, too. It's a forecourt of the four-footed fauna, where hoofprints and paw prints have been immortalized in the concrete of the Burbank Animal Shelter. Here are the tracks of Francis the Mule, Jackie the Lion, Rhubarb the Cat, Sam the Dog, and Gypsy the Horse, all of whom won the animal "Oscar," the Patsy award. Other renowned dogs and cats who have left their paws imprinted are Lassie, King, Cleo, Old Yeller, Fyewackett, and Samantha.

A Broomall, Pennsylvania, man was planting a collection of small pine and spruce in his yard recently when he found he had run out of space. So he offered the remaining few to a neighbor who had been working in her garden at the same time. She was delighted and called her husband to come and see the trees. He made it quite clear that he was boss of the yard, if not of the house, and wanted no part of them. "But," exclaimed his wife, "I want to fix the place up." "What for?" he demanded. "For my next husband," she said sweetly and went back to her gardening.

Someone forgot tire chains...

• This lady should have left her car in the garage. But you know how busy women are: they must take children to school, must shop, must attend committee meetings no matter what the weather forecasters say.

Someone who loves this lady should have made sure that her car was ready for a sudden snowstorm with tire chains in the trunk. After a blizzard begins to tie up traffic it may be too late, for dealers generally sell out fast. The time to protect ladies who drive is before they need tire chains. Wet feet, colds, aches and pains are poor substitutes for the help tire chains give.

Ask for Weed V-Bar Reinforced chains. Weeds are the original tire chains, the original bar reinforced and the original V-Bar reinforced. They give traction you can trust on regular or snow tires.

"You may keep the records, but I will not have that album cover in my home!"

Mrs. Robert S. Reitman of Gates Mills, Ohio, may have solved the problem of the servant shortage. This past summer she gave a party for 100 guests following the Chagrin Valley Kennel Club Dog Show, and she didn't have to lift a finger. Twelve automatic vending machines, the same kind you put a quarter into to get a ham sandwich, did the job. The machines, housed in gaily decorated tents on the Reitman lawn, dispensed everything: hors d'oeuvres, dry martinis, cold poached trout with pink mayonnaise, and strawberry pots de crème. Actually it was Mr. Reitman, smart fellow, who thought up the idea, although not without trepidation, he admits. "There wasn't any telling how the guests would react. But they loved it. Who knows, this may become the party of the future!"

Gordon Morrison of Wellesley, Massachusetts, would have been in serious trouble not long ago if it hadn't been for the Medic Alert disc he wore around his neck. While playing tennis he fell and cut himself so severely across the wrist and hand that it left him dizzy and weak, and he was taken to the hospital. Thanks to his disc he was spared the routine tetanus antitoxin injection which would have sent him into shock (he is dangerously allergic to his disc noted), and he was given tetanus toxoid instead.

According to the AMA there are 40 million other "high-risk" people in this country who should be wearing Medic Alert tags for protection in case they ever need emergency treatment. Even wearers of contact lenses should wear tags—blindness has resulted from lenses not being discovered and removed in time.

To spread the word and increase the use of Medic Alert discs, Boston Life Underwriters has now formed Project Lifeguard, PO Box 311, Boston, Mass. 02117. Inquiries are welcome.

Beautiful sequel to success... this even livelier '65 Comet

We couldn't make Comet any tougher for 1965. So we made it even more beautiful, and more lively. Made the styling cleaner, sleeker, sportier. Made the engines heftier. Every one is bigger—from the thrifty Comet "6" (now a hustling 200 cubic inches) to the new 289 cubic inch Comet Cyclone Super V-8 with 225 horsepower. (Who needs pep pills when you've got this kind of performance?) And there's sporty new flair to the interiors—new fabrics, new trim and appointments, and performance-minded options such as bucket seats and 4-speed stick shift. The one thing not new is the stamina that made Comet the World's 100,000-Mile Durability Champion. And you wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

I WON MY ELECTION—

OR DID I?

To his surprise and dismay, he woke up Town Treasurer

BY WINSTON O. ABBOTT

I MOVED INTO the country to enjoy the quiet life. That is where I made my first mistake. I made my second mistake when I had lived in Andover long enough to become a registered voter. One evening a couple of my neighbors dropped in for a chat. That in itself should have made me suspicious, but I am not by nature a suspicious person, and that is how it happened that I became the town treasurer.

"We would like you to run for treasurer," they said after the usual exchange of small talk. "Why?" I asked. "I don't know anyone in town yet." "That is why we picked you," they replied cheerily. "Nobody around here votes for anybody anyway. They vote against people. If they don't know you, they won't vote against you. You'd be as good as elected." I didn't believe that for a single minute, and now I am the medium-sized treasurer of one of Connecticut's smallest towns.

*"Old records," he said simply.
"You'll need them in your business."*

At 8:15 the morning I assumed office the first selectman backed his dump truck into my front yard. "Old records," he said simply. "Why don't you take them to the town dump?" I suggested, looking at the 30-odd cartons tied with old string and clothesline. "You'll need them in your business," he chuckled cheerily.

So we piled the cartons under the east eaves of the attic, while the wasps buzzed busily about and speeded up our task. They'll be there until the people of Andover really get to know me, and then the first selectman will bring his truck and transfer them to somebody else's attic for another two years.

The following morning I received an official-looking letter from the State Treasurer for Social Security. "We wish to inform you," the letter said, "that you have overpaid the account of Wilbur Jones in the amount of five cents. Please fill out four copies of the enclosed form and file with this office at your earliest convenience." I am not accustomed to filling out forms in quadruplicate, and I didn't have any carbon paper, so I wrote a polite note: "Please refund the nickel and oblige." But so far I haven't heard a word.

A few days later I had an official visitor at my office in Hartford. He represented the state dog warden. "We don't agree with the amount of your dog-fund balance in the town report," he explained patiently. "Drop into our office, and we'll go over the matter in detail." I began to wish that more people in Andover had known me prior to election time.

That night my wife said that I had had a call from the town auditor. "He would like to take a look at your books to see that you are complying with state regulations in keeping records," she read from her shorthand on the telephone pad.

I CALLED AND INVITED HIM down to my office under the stairs in the front hall. He was a most friendly and pleasant auditor. "Everything appears in order," he stated. "How do you like being a public servant?" He laughed and his laugh didn't sound too funny. "You will find that you sure earn your dollar a day."

A little after 11 that night I took a call from a lady on Bunker Hill. "Now that you're treasurer, I hope that you'll do something about getting taxes down," she said, as if it were that simple. "They're altogether too high." I agreed. "I am sorry that I have nothing to do with the tax rate," I assured her. "You probably know that most of our money goes for education. By the way, how many children do you have?" "Five in school," she said. "You're working against yourself," I said seriously. I am certain that my reply will further reduce the possibility of winning another election. At this point I do not know whether that is good or bad.

Some weeks later I stopped at the gas station, and as I got out of my car I heard a grizzled fellow townsmen expounding his views on the tax rate, the budget, and the possibility of a new school. "Them fellows who run this town can spend money faster than the mint can make it," he said.

I walked over and held out my hand. "I'm Winston Abbott," I said. "Harry Hoskins," he replied, holding out a hand the size of a ham. "Guess you must be the new town treasurer. I voted for you. This town sure needed a change. Glad to know you."

Perhaps he was correct. Perhaps town governments, like people, need a change. When my two-year term is nearing its finish, I shall think well of what Harry Hoskins said.

B. J. BLAUSTEIN

If you're in debt and want to get out—I can show you 71 ingenious (but perfectly legal) ways to do it

I wrote this book for people who are in debt, for those who really need help. And they can get it, quicker and easier than they think.

There are dozens of legitimate ways (a full 71 in all) to delay your debt, and eventually get out of it, and I believe I know them all. It's a pity that more people don't.

I have been a bank credit officer for nearly thirty years. In this time, I have sat down with a quarter of a million people to help them solve their financial problems.

My new book, HOW TO HAVE MORE MONEY TO SPEND, demonstrates step by step the techniques that can take the strain out of paying your debts. With some thought and planning, you can change a recurring monthly headache into a relatively painless experience!

TIME-TESTED METHODS

Did you know, for example, that you can borrow yourself out of debt? (The process involves a number of thoroughly tested steps—the first of which is to borrow about twice as much as you need.)

And here are a few other things I'd like to show you:

- How to "freeze" your indebtedness indefinitely, paying it off only when you're ready — a perfectly proper technique that works fine for the U.S. Government, and can work just as well for you.

- How to get more credit — even when it seems you have reached your limit.

- How to avoid paying hidden charges when you buy on "time." (In other words, how to reduce your debts even before you incur them.)

- How to eliminate many needless, crippling expenses from your personal spending.

- How to deal with your financial problem as a whole — instead of wasting money attacking it piecemeal.

Which method—or combination of methods—should you use? As you read HOW TO HAVE MORE MONEY TO SPEND, this question will answer itself. The book is filled with detailed case histories. At least one of them should be close enough to your own situation for all practical purposes.

Remember: none of this is theoretical or speculative. It has all been tried — it has all worked. Every course of action I recommend has helped real people find their way back to one of the happiest conditions known to man — complete solvency.

The Best of the Greek Islands

BY VANCE PACKARD

author of "The Naked Society,"
"The Pyramid Climbers," etc.

A sharp-tongued reporter selects them, with love. Read now, go later

A GOOD MANY Americans are discovering a source of delight unique in this world—the Greek Islands. There are more than 2,200 of them and happily the climate is pleasant most of the year, including the early summer.

The islands, first of all, are a visual feast. As you fly over the Cyclades group, for example, you look down on a seeming necklace of sparkling islands set in gold against the azure blue of the sea. As the coastal villages come into view from the sea, clusters of little white houses appear, nestled against rock-terraced hillsides.

Each village has a waterfront promenade where villagers sip coffee at the cafes while fishermen dry their nets, which vary in color from lemon yellow to dark reddish brown, depending on the time and depth at which they'll be used. In the bays men in small orange-red and green fishing boats row with one hand on astonishingly slender oars while they scan the bottom of the sea for fish through their homemade bucketlike viewing devices that break the rippling waves. The water is so clear that one can see fish 30 feet down.

The islanders are a rugged, fiery, picturesque people. In the evening at the village tavernas the men drink and roar with laughter until they seem beside themselves. And then the exploding begins. They laugh as they fling their wine glasses or plates against the stones of the promenade. Little boys trot out and quickly sweep the debris into the sea, while the manager keeps tab on the broken tableware. If there is music, the men line up and do a trotting kind of dance. Each takes turns leading the line and giving a grand display of acrobatics done to music.

To see the most exciting treat the islands had to offer was a panoramic view of the history of western man. A good place to start is in Crete, largest (160 miles long) and southernmost of the islands. It is at the maritime crossroads of Europe, Asia, and Africa and for many centuries before 1,200 B.C. the Minoans of Crete dominated the Mediterranean. While they did, they built a fantastic civilization for its time, which predates by 1,000 years the classical Greek era.

Unlike most of the early Asian and Egyptian civilizations, the Minoans were not preoccupied with preparation for death. They were bursting with the enjoyment of life, and this glows from their artistic creations.

Back from the main Cretan port of Heraklion, on a large knoll surrounded by other hills, you see at Knossos the remains of the great labyrinth of Minoan palace buildings. The throne room gleaming in the sun is virtually intact. You see the queen's bathtub that had running water three thousand years ago; storage jars eight feet high; and the arena where youths and maidens staged their "bull dances," somersaulting between the horns of the charging animals. Most important, you see remains of the glorious, naturalistic wall frescos of bulls and dolphins and bare-breasted women. (Some of the movable works of art are preserved in the Heraklion museum.)

In exploring the rise of western man, we next visited some of the favorite gathering places of the classical Greeks, who from 700 B.C. to 400 B.C. produced a civilization that is still the envy and glory of the world.

One place you should surely visit is the tiny island of Delos near the center of the Aegean islands. Although only a speck of land about two miles wide that rises to a peak at Mount Cynthus, it was the heart of the classical Greek world, a sacred island to which anyone of consequence made pilgrimages. It was considered to be the birthplace of the god Apollo, lord of light and of the sun and of the joyous way of living. The island was "purified," and it was forbidden for any living creature to be born or to die there.

Today Delos is virtually uninhabited, but its white marble columns and statues, gleaming against the sparkling azure sea, cover nearly half a mile. You reach it by boat from nearby Mykonos. Five of the nine great marble lions guarding the sanctuary of Delos are still in position. More exciting are the mosaic floors, still amazingly and brilliantly intact, in several of the great houses, such as the house of the Dolphins, the house of the Trident, and the house of the Masks. The themes of the houses are reflected in the mosaics.

Another important haunt of the classical Greeks was the island of Kos in the Dodecanese group just off the coast of modern Turkey. It was their favorite spa—and several Greek friends advised me that today Kos is their favorite vacation spot, too.

Near the heart of the pleasant modern town of Kos is a cool sanctuary under a gigantic cluster of plane trees. It was here that Hippocrates, the father of modern medicine, examined patients in ancient days. Two miles up a cypress-lined road you come to a great three-leveled spa, the temple of Asklepios, god of health, and with it what is believed to be the world's first school of medicine. At this temple patients and other visitors enjoyed great drama, athletic games, fine sculpture, healing water, and magnificent scenery. The ancient Greeks may have been short on medical knowledge but they understood what modern doctors are just relearning about curing ailments by working on the psyche through placing the patient in a delightful environment.

Now let us move into the next big phase of western man's history, the millennium or so during which Christianity took root in the western world. To do this we need only to move a few miles north to the spectacular, quaint island of Patmos.

It was here, according to the Bible, that the Book of Revelation was written. The author is widely believed to be St. John the Divine. Priests will proudly show you the spot in the grotto half way up the mountain where he is said to have had his revelation.

At the very peak of the mountain is a remarkable monastery of St. John founded on the then deserted island in 1088. Around an open, white-washed courtyard a number of elaborate chapels and small chambers contain rare relics, including the fourth-century Gospel according to St. Mark, written on vellum in silver and gold.

Moving closer to modern times, we can see in the fabulous island of Rhodes the climax of the Crusades and the end of the medieval era.

Rhodes, also within sight of Turkey, is south of Kos and is the largest of the Dodecanese group. No island in the world has a longer history of being the scene of dramatic, important human events. Its ancient town of Lindos was thriving as a maritime center in 1500 B.C.; and in the classical Greek period its residents built on its 400-foot high promontory surrounded by coves the most spectacularly situated sea-side temple to be found in all of Greece.

The city of Rhodes at the northern tip of the island is younger than Lindos and was a gathering place of Greek philosophers and artists. At the entrance to its harbor was erected one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, a 100-foot high gleaming statue of the sun god, known as the Colossus of Rhodes. In the end it crashed into the sea as the result of an earthquake about 224 B.C.

OUR MAIN INTEREST IN RHODES, however, is in the fairly recent period from around 1300 to 1522, when it became the headquarters of the Crusaders. It had been driven from the Holy Land and built Rhodes into their great rallying point. You see the result as you enter its stunning harbor. In a curve nearly half a mile long rises a great gothic wall with gateways. The walls continue, with moats, to form a large, enclosed city. Inside, the Crusaders built their "Street of the Tongues," along which the knights of the various nations displayed their coats of arms. The street is still intact. Also inside and rising high above the walls is the massive palace of the Grand Master of the knights, whose great rooms you can explore.

The Turks twice besieged the walled city in vain and finally in 1522 Sultan Sulaiman the Magnificent captured it at a cost of 90,000 men. Projecting into the sky line of Rhodes today are several minarets of mosques built by the Turks. And Turks still largely populate the old walled city. In 1912 they lost Rhodes to Italy, and the Italian occupation is evidenced by the grand villas high above the city that still have Italian names—Mussolini vacationed there—and farther up you find concrete pillboxes that were used by the Italians and Germans in World War II. In 1948 Rhodes was returned to Greece, and outside the walls a thriving, prosperous small city has emerged.

Since Rhodes is permitted to be a free port, British fabrics and Swiss watches are available at eye-opening prices. North of the city are a number of fine beach hotels that enjoy an almost continual bracing breeze in the summer.

My personal favorite of all Greek islands I've known, however, is back in the heart of the Aegean next door to tiny Delos. It is Mykonos, which may be short on ancient glories but of all the islands best epitomizes the Greek-island way of life that has been developed for survival by the inhabitants in recent centuries. Mykonos is as stark as Corfu is lush. Almost every inch of its rocky hillsides has been terraced to produce tiny fields that can yield grapes or grass for goats or sheep.

THE HOUSES OF THE ISLAND are whitewashed cubes. In the town around the harbor these white houses and shops are built along stone-paved lanes—also whitewashed—which are so narrow that donkeys are the only form of transport used in the main part of town. On the hills behind, broad windmills catch the fairly constant breeze and turn the great circular stones that grind the island's oats and wheat.

In the town women sit in doorways knitting and weaving sweaters, skirts, shawls, blankets, and dresses which they sell at low prices. On the sea-front fishermen stride along among the storks and pelicans carrying octopuses on their shoulders, or they sit by their spread-out, colorful nets repairing the holes torn in them the night before. These men with their special needles use their teeth and all their toes to position the nets while their hands work swiftly.

Perhaps their way of life will change as more visitors from many lands come to the village's tavernas and excellent hotels. But it is fascinating while it lasts.

In getting to the various Greek islands I traveled by passenger boat, plane, and car ferry. Cruise boats are available for trips lasting from one to six days. Or a group of five to eight persons can charter its own motor calque or yacht. I met a New York professor at Mykonos who with six others was chartering a 60-foot yacht. It was costing them less than $40 a person a day.

The next time I come to the Greek islands I hope to explore the possibilities of arranging for a boat of our own, and then it would be easier to reach such beautiful, primitive islands as Sifnos and Samothrace, which I was discouraged from trying to visit this time. The prospect gives me something to dream about.

The devout spirit of Christmas and its colorful celebration are resplendently expressed in these reminders of the religious art of the 15th century. They will also be received and cherished for years to come for their decorative beauty.

The prints are lithographed on heavy, specially selected paper that captures the unique quality of the Bible printed by Johannes Gutenberg and hand-illuminated by religious artists more than 500 years ago. They have been reproduced from the Berlin-Fulda Facsimile, Leipzig 1913-1914, in the Don Cleveland Norman Collection. Some of the existing copies of The Gutenberg Bible . . . 25 on paper and 32 on vellum . . . which served for purposes of public exhibit, have been insured for as much as $500,000 each. Quite aside from such considerations, see for yourself how perfectly the color, workmanship and design of these page-reproductions fit into the decor of any room.

Should a Firm Rate a Man by His Wife?

HOW IMPORTANT is a woman to her husband's career, as a hostess for his associates, and as the status symbol of his success?

If you put any stock in the hiring practices of a majority of our corporations and even colleges, landing a big job today and then progressing up the executive ladder is an absorbing career for two. The importance of the wife can be summed up by the statement of one company president who said:

"If a man's wife is a drag when he's assistant manager, then we think she'll still be one when he's top echelon. When it comes to promotion, he's at a disadvantage."

One case in point—one in hundreds—concerns a Seattle, Washington, wife who got the glad news that her husband had been given a promotion after being passed over once for "social reasons."

To her sister, who was baby-sitting for the couple's children in a New York hotel suite, the jubilant wife said, "You have no idea how much of our future has been hanging on this weekend in New York. They call it a Junior Management Seminar, but it's really a social inspection of husbands and wives. I don't know what I would have done if I had failed Bill again."

"What do you mean, failed him?" her sister asked.

The young wife related how the previous year her husband's bosses had dropped in on them unexpectedly during the dinner hour.

"I got flustered and the kids got excited and were impossible. We were having liver for dinner, and it burned. Our liquor cupboard was bare. On top of that, I had not finished cleaning up from a bridge luncheon earlier in the day. Bill was kind about it when he was passed over. They told him a company wife should be prepared at all times for the unexpected and should know how to handle a crisis. Some clients like to be entertained in the informal surroundings of a company executive's home. Ours was certainly informal that night!"

A prominent Boston textile firm is still looking for a vice-president to be in charge of marketing. The decision to hire one highly qualified candidate for the post is up in the air because of two words scrawled on his personal-history file: "wife problem."

An isolated instance? Far from it. Today it is against the policy of many companies to consider a man for an important position without appraising the woman behind him.

While wife evaluation is not new, the criteria upon which wives are being judged have been expanding far beyond the ability to "hold your liquor and throw a decent party," as one personnel manager puts it.

"The wife must," in the lofty words of another executive, "be a person who is totally adjusted to both the pressures of her internal and external world." She is expected to come equipped with basic homemaking skills and social graces and, as the corporation sees it, she is obligated to work for the same goals as her executive husband. This means accepting, even encouraging, business trips, long hours at the office, frequent socializing with the right people, cancelled vacations, and moving to a new area when a promotion involving a transfer comes up.

She is also expected to see that household affairs do not burden her husband, must be able to assume the major tasks of rearing the children, and must not demand too much of her husband's time or interest.

For a woman there is a special challenge in qualifying as a hostess by corporate standards because it involves mastering what is known as "the lasting quality"—the ability to get along and adapt to any situation. This involves contradictory goals—being the all-American Mom who does the household chores and at the same time being the informed social image. It means learning that "what a woman is a man cannot be, and isn't that wonderful for us?" And it also means accepting the fact that no American, adult or child, escapes the judgment of competitive accomplishment.

IN A SURVEY of 8,300 top business executives W. Lloyd Warner and James C. Abbeiglen found that the family-centered woman—the homemaker who knows little or nothing about her husband's job and has only minimal relations with his business associates and their wives—is completely obscured in the statistics by the kind of wife who is heavily engaged in civic affairs and the social life of her community.

The wife who participates directly in helping her husband solve business problems is rare. And the career woman seldom appears at all as the wife of a top executive.

CALVIN COOLIDGE Among the first Presidents to endorse the United Way of voluntary support of community health, welfare and recreation services while in office. He said: "I'm glad to give. The Community Chest is a fine idea."

HERBERT HOOVER "The true hope of progress is in the spiritual field, and these are the helpful actions in the world and the worthwhile things in the community. The Community Chest stands for this spiritual growth. It occupies a position that must constantly be built stronger if we would build the spiritual side of American life..."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT "Care of the aged, service to demoralized families, hospitalization of the needy sick, home nursing, settlements, guidance of youth, care of the children without a chance—these and hundreds of other services are in the hands of your local welfare organization... they must not be forgotten..."

HARRY S. TRUMAN "The Community Chest gives us a chance to make sure our help will really count. When we give to the Chest, we can be sure that we are helping our neighbors and our neighborhood in the right way. And when we do that, we are making our country a better place to live in for ourselves and our children."

LYNDON B. JOHNSON "One of our enduring American traditions has been the voluntary contribution of time and money to strengthen our country's many communities. Nowhere else in the world do people give so generously toward this end. Millions of Americans perform both a public service and an act of human compassion by their participation in and generosity to their United Fund or Community Chest. In doing so, they express a common desire to help their community assist the young and old, the sick and distressed."

JOHN F. KENNEDY "I hope that you will join in this great national effort, this great national crusade through the United Way, and give. It will make your community a happier place; it will make you a happier person, and in the real sense your community is your country. It will make our country a finer place in which to live. United, there is little we cannot do..."

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER "We can't possibly know about all our neighbors in need. Somebody must show us the way to help them. This is the purpose of the United Community Campaigns of America. Right now these United Campaigns are getting under way in over two thousand communities across the land. They provide us with a splendid opportunity to express the traditional neighborly concern of America."

acquired standards and companions.

The outgrown wife, however, does not appear in the Warner-Abbeglen survey. Before the man has moved from middle to top management, Warner told the writer, she has been replaced, usually by divorce.

But suppose, in a happy marriage, the wife has a career of her own that she wishes to pursue? Suppose she is a "private woman," as one of them said desperately, unwilling to have her family and home life invaded? Suppose she can't even pretend to be interested in the kind of society where it's a question of "holding your liquor and throwing a decent party?"

Surprisingly enough, a case can still be made for the old-fashioned wife, in spite of growing evidence that hiring practices are based on the idea that success comes in pairs; and there are still companies which believe that getting ahead depends not on whom a man chooses to marry but on what his talents are.

KEN SMITH, treasurer of Jantzen, Inc., one of the nation's largest swimsuit manufacturers, states that, while the wife constitutes a real motivational factor for the husband, "We don't go much further than determining whether a couple has similar educational backgrounds. It's the man whose performance we are interested in."

John A. Erhard, Dallas, Texas, banker, lawyer, and organizer of many successful corporations, flatly rejects the idea of the wife as a determining factor in advancing her husband's career.

"Industry, ability, and integrity, those are the things we look for in a man. If he's got those, plus determination, he'll make the grade. I've never heard of a board of directors handing out a vice presidency and being influenced because the man had—or didn't have—an attractive, social wife."

Mel Carpenter, assistant to the president of Georgia-Pacific, one of the giants in the lumber industry, commenting on his firm's management-development program, said, "We are interested in hiring the man who gets the job done. We do think it's important when a transfer comes up for the wife to be included in the planning. The adjustment is easier to make."

Whatever a company's policy with regard to wives, it must be admitted that women figure more importantly than they used to because social and business relations are becoming harder to separate.

If a woman thinks of today in terms of the future, and if her involvement in her husband's career is played in low key, and she has learned to be poised and controlled, she is not likely to be fazed by a quick appraisal from a company where her husband wants to work or where he is being considered for promotion. She will not take wife analysis too hard because she realizes—imperfect though it may be—that it is the only method companies have of establishing firmly the indispensable role of the woman in our dynamic industrial society.

By and large, companies don't want to risk hiring a man with a career-minded wife. They feel she won't have time for community and social affairs, a "must" if she is to make the associations which can smooth the way for her ambitious spouse.

As an example of this, a young advertising-account manager told his wife, who was a fashion photographer, that she would have to give up her career. He related how the agency head had called him in for an informal chat about his progress with the company and had informed him that in the company view, "A wife with an independent income stifles ambition and often eliminates the husband's spirit to go after bigger game." The bigger game in this case was a client who had complained he didn't see enough of the young man and his wife to judge his capabilities to handle greater volumes of business.

To many companies the worst kind of problem wife is the woman who has not developed along with her husband. Inevitably she begins to suffer by comparison when the husband—who has been broadening himself in exciting and larger worlds—measures her against his newly

Even in spacious Texas, roads can be dangerous for horsemen. After a fatal accident outside Houston, parents posted signs like this one—and built an arena to turn every child into a safe and happy cowhand.

Horse-Lovers' Heaven

The horseless carriage nearly won out in this Texas suburb, but . . . !

NANCY ANN BAKER was a happy 13-year-old who lived in the western suburbs of Houston, Texas. In view of her age and homeland, it's hardly necessary to add that she loved horses.

Nancy was riding her pony along a local road in July, 1962, when a bus caused the pony to rear. Nancy was thrown—and killed.

Almost immediately a movement arose to ban horseback riding; streets were getting too crowded, and the lives of children had to be protected. But the tragic incident also inspired another group, one that had been thinking for months of developing a community riding arena. "That's as far as it had gone. Lots of talk," recalls Harold Ricards, Jr., president of the Association that grew out of this drive. "When Nancy was killed, we decided to take immediate action."

Fifteen parents formed the nucleus of the organization and soon enlisted most of the 90 families in the area—along Memorial Drive—who owned horses (a total of 160 head). Today the tribute to Nancy, the Memorial Horseowners' Association, has accomplished its purpose, and made the country she loved to ride in safe for other children.

The Association's center is a large, previously undeveloped lot for which its owner, William Beinborn, charges only a nominal rental. Once it was theirs, the membership summoned all hands to convert the land into an arena—275 feet long and 120 feet wide. With posthole diggers, saws, hammers, and quantities of lumber, the members accomplished the job in less than five hours. They now had a course equipped for barrel racing, hurdles, and equitation events.

Knowing that their youngsters would soon tire of limiting their riding to a single open field, no matter how attractive, the members also got busy making the rest of the community safe for riding. They put up signs reminding motorists to watch for horses and to drive carefully.

PARENTS do most of the work at the arena. What they can't do for their youngsters they make sure is done by outside experts. The parents serve as gatekeepers, horsemanship judges, and announcers.

"We spend weekends outdoors with our kids now," says one enthusiastic parent. "And there's something doing all the time: riding picnics, overnight trail rides, and competition with other Texas clubs." And Ricards comments, "Maybe Dad can ignore Junior's stamp collection or his model airplanes, but he just can't ignore Junior's horse grazing in the front yard. Parents have to get involved in this kind of community activity for their own good—and their children's." With a Texas grin, he adds, "It makes real horse sense."

Easy does it

Forcing never made a baby a bigger or better eater... a happy association with mealtimes often has. Your baby is bound to relish his food more if left to eat, not made to eat. No one food is a "must." Certainly your cherub needs essential nutrients such as protein, certain fats and a variety of vitamins and minerals but he can get these nutrients from many different foods. If baby takes a temporary dislike to a food—a vegetable, say, there are several Gerber alternates with similar food values to substitute.

Accepted with pleasure

That's how babies usually react to the savory goodness of Gerber Strained Meats. True-meat flavors and a wonderfully smooth, moist texture account for their happy acceptance by wee ones.

Made from special cuts selected by Armour, they're specially processed to "lock in" natural flavors and assure that extra-nice texture. There are 10 very nice ways to give your baby the protein he needs for growth and strength.

Pertinent P.S.

It should be reassuring to know that Gerber Meats are the doubly-reliable products of two great names—Gerber, famous for fine baby foods, and Armour, famous for fine meats. ARMOUR

Feeding footnote

One at a time is a good introductory "rule of thumb" for new foods. Let baby try each new food a few times before tackling another. Too many new tastes at one time may confuse him; cut down appreciation of any single food.

Variety review

Not less than two daily servings of vegetables, at least one of them green or yellow, is a good dietary pattern for babies. Gerber offers 10 vegetables, designed with your baby's eating pleasure in mind. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, they're "custom-cooked" according to their own requirements to preserve naturally good colors and flavors... the utmost in precious food values.

They're all Gerber-great:
Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

"Babies are our business
... our only business!"

You can't kick the tires... so look under the hood!

If you're a tough customer, welcome! If you're a person who kicks tires, squeezes melons, taps plaster... we especially invite you to "look under the hood" of the Conn Organ.

MEMBER OF AMERICAN LIFE

THE AUTOMOBILE is a large and heavy piece of machinery and when it isn't in motion or tucked in its own garage, it has to be somewhere else. But where? There are 50% more cars on the road today than there were 10 years ago. Especially, as you might expect, on suburban roads. How else are people, more and more of them, young and old, to get themselves to market, to the hardware store, to the pediatrician, the piano teacher? How else to church, to the PTA, to the movies, to lunches, cocktails, dinners?

For every car involved in these comings and goings, parking space must somehow be found at the end of the trip from the home station, and curb-side space was already getting scarce 10 years ago. No wonder there's a jam!

Newspapermen from all over the country have reported to us on their local conditions, and, as you will see, parking is a headache everywhere, and everywhere merchants and town fathers and car owners themselves are working on ways to break the jam.

Conditions are the worst, as most of us know from exasperating experience, in the old downtown business section—on Main Street.

A FEW EDITORS even predict sadly that local stores which do not or cannot provide adequate, convenient, and free off-street parking will be out of business in five or 10 years or even less. The prediction is a sad one because suburban editors have an alert eye on community finances and know well that the downtown retail merchant, as long as he stays in business and makes money, is a very useful taxpayer, whereas the shopping center is too often outside the community limits and pays taxes in an adjoining township.

Where people are succeeding in breaking up their parking jams, a first principle is usually a new zoning ordinance which requires any new business building to provide off-street parking in due proportion to its estimated patronage. This is coming to be considered a must not only for stores but for schools, churches, and other public buildings, and for industry. In East Providence, Rhode Island, the hope is that new buildings going up in the business area will provide enough off-street parking space before the rising flow of traffic

How We're

the Parking Problem

There's more than one way to break up the jam on Main Street, survey shows forces on-street parking to be completely banned. "It will be interesting," remarks the local editor drily, "to see whether the problem or the solution arrives first!"

Parking meters are being installed in many towns to induce shoppers to get along with their business and vacate the space for the use of someone else. In some places they seem to be satisfactory—as in Summit, New Jersey, where "meter maids" on motor scooters buzz around noting violations, and the money from fines is spent to provide more metered parking lots. Mt. Holly, New Jersey, supplements its meters by handing out Courtesy Tickets politely advising the car owner when he has overstayed his legal time and asking him to move the car within half an hour. If he doesn't, he gets a regular summons, but most people respond kindly to kindness, and move—402 summonses in the first six months of the courtesy plan, as against 2,183 in the same period the year before. (Courtesy Tickets carry a diagram on the back, by the way, showing where nearby off-street parking space can be found.)

But in other communities meters have been tried and found wanting. Many people don't like them. Richfield, Minnesota, reports that the city fathers regard them as unmentionable, and their actual appearance could start a civil war; in Chamblee, Georgia, "they would cause more trouble and resentment than they'd be worth in revenue."

ELSEWHERE, experience shows that vandals and careless parkers with long-overhang cars disable the meters (Highland Park, Illinois); in some cases so many are out of order that police can't enforce complaints against violations (Hopkins, Minnesota). In Coral Gables, Florida, where meters are being considered, merchants are insisting on short time limits to create rapid turnover, while shoppers want longer time limits to allow more leisurely shopping. And in Oak Cliff, Texas, where meters are used but seem to be driving patrons to more distant shopping centers with free parking, the retailers are setting out saucers of free pickles to keep their customers happy and in town—no questions asked, no purchases required.

Highland Park, fed up with meters, put on a campaign and squeezed through a $550,000 bond issue to acquire 1½ city blocks in the center of town (including the site of the present commuter railroad station) to provide parking spaces for the retail area. A new railroad station is being built some distance away, with its own parking facilities—thus separating commuter parking from shopper parking, the two being incompatible time-wise.

The city administration of Dearborn, Michigan, holds that "the public streets are for the movement of vehicles, not for the storage thereof"—a sound principle which is being applied with foresighted caution. Anxious merchants are being encouraged to join together to buy parking lots; the city uses its power of condemnation to assist, assessing costs to the beneficiaries. But in Zionsville, Indiana, a proposal to buy a parking lot with public funds was defeated by taxpayers who insisted the merchants should pay the whole cost themselves.

WHERE COST makes one-level parking lots too expensive, in terms of land use, off-street parking in high-rise buildings is under consideration. Oak Park, Illinois, reports that nearby residents don't like them—perhaps because they are both noisy and unlovely. But for Brookline, Massachusetts, they may represent the only way out.

Parking is the number-one municipal problem there, even though property owners and retailers are cooperating, accepting increased taxes and spending their own money to hire architects to design improvements in arrangement and access facilities. But in the end Brookline parking may have to "go upstairs" because there is nowhere else to put the cars; anyway Brookline's citizens and planners—like those of almost every other suburban community in the country which is more than 10 years old—must make up today for the (alas!) unwarranted optimism of the dear dead past, when it was happily assumed that "out here in the suburbs there'll always be plenty of room."

In Birmingham, Michigan, architects and engineers have come together in a Civic Design Committee which plans to preserve the business area by diverting through traffic to a ring-road around it. They are also going to provide

CLEANER DISHES

Famous KitchenAid wash action—based on over 50 years of specialized dishwasher manufacturing experience—gets dishes cleaner. No hand rinsing. No special washing or spray gimmicks are required. Safe, thorough, high velocity water power scrubs every dish throughout the massive wash chamber.

Automatic Dual Detergent Dispenser for single or double wash and Automatic Rinse Agent Dispenser (optional in some models) help get dishes sparkling clean.

DRIER DISHES

Half of dishwashing is dish drying, and all KitchenAid dishwashers have exclusive Flo-Thru drying that gets everything bone dry. A separate fan gently circulates fresh, sanitized air over, under and around each piece. This exclusive KitchenAid system is safe even for fine china and good plasticware.

PUSH BUTTON OPERATION

No complicated mechanisms or dials to set in KitchenAid dishwashers. Just load the dishes, push a button and dishwashing's done automatically. When you're comparing dishwashers, check the starting operation required. You'll see that not all push button systems are as easy to use as in KitchenAid dishwashers.

CHOICE OF CYCLES

Most KitchenAid portable dishwashers offer a choice of wash cycles.

Once and Done gives partial loads such as breakfast or snack dishes a short power rinse and holds them moist till you're ready to do a full load. Saves hot water and detergent.

Utensil and Utensil provides special treatment for heavily soiled pots, pans and other cooking utensils. Has quick drying period. Eases hand cooking problems.

Full Cycle in all models thoroughly power rinses, double washes, and rinses again. Then provides Flo-Thru dry. Assures cleaner, drier dishes.

BIG, VERSATILE CAPACITY

All KitchenAid models have big, versatile capacity and hold a normal day's load of dishes, plus pots, pans, glasses, silverware and utensils. There's room without the overcrowding that reduces washing performance. Spacious racks accommodate even over-sized pieces such as 4-quart mixing bowls, roasters, tall goblets, and big plates—pieces too large for most dishwashers.

LOADING CONVENIENCE

You'll find KitchenAid dishwashers easy to use. Some top-loading KitchenAid models have an Automatic-Lift Top Rack that rises with the lid. Other models have a convenient Swing-Up Top Rack that folds back to give easy full-width access to the bottom racks. Front-loading KitchenAid convertible-portables have big Spacemaker Racks that roll all the way out for random loading convenience. Big, multi-compartment silverware baskets have space for long items.

NO INSTALLATION COST

No need to remodel. Roll your KitchenAid to the sink and snap fill-drain hose connector quickly to the adapter which is furnished. When dishes are done, disconnect and roll the dishwasher away. Pressure release button in hose connector lets you draw hot water if needed. Full-width Guide Bar and big, easy-rolling casters for easier mobility. Extra-long hoses and power cord with adapter furnished. Automatic cord reel, adapter with aerator in some models.

For your extra convenience, KitchenAid top-loading Portables have an attractive heat and stain resistant work-surface top. Convertible-portables have a counter-think maple top. See your KitchenAid dealer. Note in the Yellow Pages for a KitchenAid portable.

Parking

structural parking ramps, and redesign the shopping area for maximum pedestrian use.

While downtown problems are the worst, other parking troubles are all too familiar. Rush-hour congestion at railroads and bus terminals is serious; so is the parking jam for sports events and at concerts. Several editors note the increased use of automobiles by students going to school (no parent of a teen-ager needs any reminder about that). At some schools, we hear, the growing traffic is already interfering with the standard Mama-piloted delivery and collection of youngsters and is even creating a safety hazard.

The arrival of industries of various types in suburban communities of course adds to traffic volume, but industry is—in this instance as in others discussed in earlier Round Tables—generally trying to be a good citizen and is providing ample parking space for employees and industrial motor traffic at its sites; only 9% of our reporting editors found any reason for criticism in this connection.

To sum up, the parking problem in suburban communities is simply one of the many consequences of what Robert C. Wood calls "an extraordinarily durable romance—the American love affair with the internal-combustion engine." Suburban towns, too, have more than their share of families with two or more cars (and glad to have them, of course, headaches or no). One estimate is that multiple-car households increased 67% in the five years 1956-60, 42% of them being in the suburbs.

We have already noted the trend toward zoning laws which require adequate off-street parking space for every new or remodeled residence, retail establishment, industrial facility, and public building. This is certainly the wave of the future; much of our parking problem comes from trying to catch up with an earlier over-optimism.

AMONG various other hangovers from more spacious times, we hear from Scottsdale, Arizona, that some horse-owning residents are unhappy because modern rearrangements have caused the removal of many hitching posts from downtown curb sides; they demand equal parking rights for their hay burners.

Another glimpse of broad open spaces comes from Parkrose, Oregon, the center of a well-planned though as yet unincorporated residential and trading area, where parking problems are foreseen in the future but haven't arrived yet. They are bound to come, but as these reports show, they can be solved sooner or later by forethought and skillful planning.

Power-Full Garden Helpers

of the dream tools*

BY JOHN BRIMER
Garden Editor

Lawn mower

Snow blower

WITH THE CAMPAIGNS behind us and the garden put to bed for the winter in most parts of the land—which means the holidays are almost upon us—this is a good moment to consider powered tools and how they can simplify life and save time and gladden a gardener's heart.

Good tools—well chosen—enable you to whip through mowing, clipping, sprinkling, lawn sweeping, and cultivating with a minimum of effort, practically eliminating the drudgery of hand labor. Examine these powerful helpers now with an eye to Christmas presents for dedicated gardeners or those who merely want to keep nature at bay with comparative ease. They will bless you if you choose with good common sense, ignoring the gadgetry tools that may not be really useful.

Probably at this season a snow blower or thrower will excite the most immediate interest. These range from estate-sized models, costing $300 or more, to a new mini-model which sells for less than $90. Women can use this new "compact" thrower, for it weighs only 20 lbs., with a 3-h.p. 2-cycle engine that quietly and efficiently cleans a 14-inch swath right down to the pavement. By using its second handle, it can be operated as a scoop to pile into drifts or to dig out snowbound cars. Snow blowers and throwers operate on the principle of casting a stream of snow from 15 to 30 feet outward from the walk or driveway. Power-Full Garden Helpers

The other type of mower is the reel, with multiple blades mounted on a frame that rotates horizontally, amputating the grass against a cutting bar. Some gardeners prefer the reel mower, claiming it mows neater and cleaner, while others swear by the rotary mower, pointing out that it cuts taller grass easily, at times when the lawn has got ahead of them because they've had to be away or there has been a rainy spell. Both types come in hand models, either self-propelled or hand pushed, as well as riding models. Some of the rotary types are exceptionally maneuverable in the new versions, enabling the gardener to mow extra close to trees, shrubs, and flower beds.

This covers the most important of the powered helpers. Let your common sense measure their merits and choose the one most to your purpose. As a final suggestion, let us add that there is still plenty of time for Christmas bidding!

KEPPING A HEDGE trimmed to precise perfection is little trouble when an electric clipper is used. The clipper is also useful for cutting back perennials in autumn for shearing evergreens to create topiary designs, and for many other tasks. Powered cultivating tools, powered lawn edgers and edging clippers, powered thatch rakes to detach and remove matted dead grass from the lawn and let vigorous new growth come in, these and many other time-saving tools will complement the larger and more important tools. Lawn sweepers have been powered for years, but this season a new feature is a hose attachment on one model which permits vacuum cleaning of leaves and other debris from such difficult spots as corners and under low shrubs. To the hand-rake gardener this will come as a time-and-labor-saving boon.

A number of automatic watering devices are now available, among them an underground system of plastic piping furnished with jet outlets at intervals, designed to

I was asleep to Tampax

Then I woke up!

You've heard the phrase . . . "be the first in your neighborhood to use it?"

I guess I was the last in my group to use Tampax® internal sanitary protection.

The trouble was, I thought pads were a necessary bother. Why not? I'd never tried another way.

Then one time when I was complaining about those four or five days that happen every month, one of my friends let me have the straight facts.

"Look," she said, "why add to your problems? With Tampax, you feel almost as if you do on normal days. Trying it doesn't offend you to it, you know. But you owe it to yourself to try Tampax this month."

So I took her advice. And all I have to say is, you won't believe the difference Tampax makes. The most wonderful thing is the personal feeling of cleanliness and confidence it gives me.

Seriously, girls, isn't it about time you woke up to Tampax? Listen to me! A user for two months—and suddenly I'm an authority! Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

The baffling riddle of Japan (and how to get to the heart of it)

Japan is everything you've ever heard—and everything you've never seen.

It's a sea-green sky with pagodas in Kyoto.

It's a fast-moving street with more than 30 theatres and 700 nightspots in Tokyo.

It's the eastern sound of bamboo flute, samisen and gaishu song, the western sound of Japanese guitar gone electric.

It's the glitter and clatter of a pageant that lasts for 40 days and 40 nights.

It's the quiet wisdom of centuries handed down in poems of 17 syllables.

It's the place where Yesterday takes its time getting around to Today and Today can't wait for Tomorrow.

Plan to fly there with us—any day.

Take our Great Circle Route from California to Tokyo. Or go by way of Hawaii and stop over at no extra fare.

Prefer some other Pacific port-of-call? We can fly you to Hong Kong, Manila, Singapore, Djakarta, Bangkok, Samoa, Tahiti, Fiji, Sydney and New Zealand.

Pay as little as 10% down. That's all it takes to fly the World's Most Experienced Airline.

See a Pan Am Travel Agent. He can suggest scores of Pacific odysseys.

And he can take the mystery out of getting there.

Plaza Robbery

Missing Money Bag Sought

VIRGINIA BEACH — The money bag missing from last Tuesday's armed robbery at Princess Anne Plaza shopping center is still lost and will probably not be found for some time, police said Monday.

The holdup men were taken into custody shortly after the robbery about 10:30 Tuesday but the search for the missing bag has continued.

"It is almost an impossible task," Detective Lt. W. W. Davis said, "because of the vast area involved. But we are convinced the accused robber is telling us the truth about dropping the bag."

The money will probably be found months from now by a hunter or someone going through the woods. Whether or not we ever get the money is something else," he said.

Another Charge

The two sailors charged with the armed holdup, Charles Carey Keith, 25, of Birmingham, Ala., and John W. Mapp, 29, of Levelland, Texas have also been charged with burglary in another robbery.

Police charged the two Oceana men with the second crime Friday, claiming they took $3,200 in cash and a rifle from Miller's Department Store last June.

Keith and Mapp were arrested Tuesday night shortly after $14,471 in cash and checks was taken from a Miller's employee and an armed guard as they were about to put the money in a bank's night deposit box at Princess Anne Plaza.

Keith was taken into custody after he ran his car through a roadblock and led police on a wild 100-miles-per-hour chase. Police bullets brought the car to a stop but Mapp made his escape by foot through a heavily wooded area. He was arrested shortly afterward but had only three of the four missing money bags.

Lt. Davis said the new charges of burglary were filed after the two sailors gave police statements concerning the theft at the department store on June 13.

He said the burglars concealed themselves inside the store at closing time then used tools from the store's stock to break into the safe. They had to force a door open to leave the store.

Davis said that Keith had worked as a stock clerk at Miller's but left the job about a week after the June burglary.

A preliminary hearing for the two has been set for next Monday.

Local Man Bronze Star Winner

SAIGON, Viet Nam — Capt. Fielding I. Tyler, 31, of Virginia Beach, has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in ground combat in South Viet Nam.

He is an adviser with the 3rd Viet Nam Battalion of the 32nd Regiment operating in the Communist-infested Mekong Delta.

Capt. Tyler was with the battalion when they were airlifted into action around the delta district of Tan Phu in mid-April.

Their job was to wage a counterattack against a Viet Cong unit that had surrounded and attacked the village of Tan Phu.

The Vietnamese suffered many casualties in the action. After assisting them, Tyler organized an evacuating squad.

The citation to his Bronze Star read "with complete disregard for his own safety, he led the squad into the battlefield to rescue the casualties."

Tyler personally carried 4 soldiers 200 yards to the battalion rear.

MEET OPPORTUNITY HALF WAY; START RIDING IN A NEW 1965 FORD MUSTANG DECEMBER 24th

If an opportunity were presented whereby you could own a new Ford Mustang, worth over $2700.00 without cost on your part during the next six weeks, would you seize that opportunity and make the most of it?

Or if you were offered $750.00 cash for a little spare time during the next few weeks—with the positive assurance of being liberally compensated for every result obtained—would you stand back, hesitant and undecided? At first, no doubt, you would entertain the thought that "surely it is not real." But, while thinking all these things if, indeed, thinking at all you'd let someone else more alert and aggressive, step in and beat you to it.

Now the reason for the above statement is that The Virginia Beach Sun-News is offering just such opportunities to wide-awake energetic men and women, as well as to the more ambitious young people residing in the Virginia Beach trade area, when it invites you to enter its big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest. It is just starting and your most certainly can profit mightily through spare time effort during the next few weeks.

Opportunities Beckon

Volumes could be written on the subject of "Our Opportunities." It is one of the queerest elements that enter into this complex existence of ours which is life. Opportunity means everything or it means nothing, depending upon how it is met and handled by different individuals. One person's failure to recognize it, for example, proves to be another's success.

Some of us sometimes wonder why people always seem to get ahead in this world, and alas, far too often we lament our lack of opportunities. Sometimes we make the flimsy excuse that we're too busy to take part in a proposition of this kind. Truly, we realize that everybody's busy these days. But, according to the writer's observations, it is the busiest people in every community who invariably win the biggest prizes.

Sometimes, too, while taking stock of our blessings, we mistakenly claim that Ole Man Opportunity must have passed us by enroute elsewhere, or that we were not home when he knocked upon our door. However, such claims rarely ever are based on facts. In stead, we just simply failed to recognize and seize opportunities when presented to us. Isn't that true?

Meet Opportunity Half Way

Dame Fortune is now knocking at your door. She is literally pounding upon it with both fists to awaken you to the opportunities existing in this "Everybody Wins" subscription contest which utilizes whatever spare time you will have during the next few weeks toward winning prizes worth thousands of dollars. Greet this opportunity NOW—before it becomes too late—and make the most of it.

Remember, it costs absolutely nothing to try and you positively cannot lose. Remember, too, that anything worth having in life is worth striving for. Just a few short weeks of interest and effort and you may be riding in your own new Ford Mustang worth a small fortune in today's market—very soon and for a long time to come.

SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST HITS STRIDE

Getting underway this week is a full-scale Virginia Beach Sun-News circulation campaign in which contestants will be competing for a top award of a $2,635.95 Ford Mustang. $750 in cash will go to the one scoring second best and there will be four big cash bonus awards for third, fourth, fifth and sixth place winners.

The contest will be conducted in the entire Tidewater area. A sound, profitable business proposition in which "everybody wins," the contest offers, in addition to the top prize Ford and cash awards, liberal commission payments every week to active participants. The commission amounts of 20 per cent or $1 out of every $5 collected.

Residents interested in taking part and putting their spare time to good advantage will find opportunities throughout the area for vote-winning subscriptions in line with the rapid shift in population and the steady influx of new residents in all of the communities. Making it easier than ever for them to sell subscription to The Virginia Beach Sun-News will be a special rate for more than one year.

Clip Out the Entry Blank

First step towards the car or some of the big cash money is to clip the entry blank and the free vote coupon appearing in this issue; then using the early effort coupon—good only during the first week of the contest—for a flying start with a substantial number of votes applying to your credit.

A special contest office has been set up at The Virginia Beach Sun-News and working with the contestants throughout the campaign will be Miss Jeannine Bullard and her father, Bob Bullard, experienced campaign managers representing the Liner Circulation Service which has been conducting newspaper circulation programs from coast to coast over the past 58 years.

Interested residents from any part of the area served by The Virginia Beach Sun-News are invited to take part and are urged to stop in at the campaign headquarters today to get the earliest start possible.

Prizes To Be Awarded Christmas Eve, Dec. 24

Prizes will be awarded Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, climaxing the intensive 6½ week campaign which is open to men and women (married or single), and to responsible, enterprising young people, residing in this area. This will make Christmas very merry indeed for some energetic residents of the area.

"This contest is designed to expand our list of subscribers quickly and effectively," Albin R. Mailhes, publisher stated, "and to open the way for our friends and readers to profit in a big way through whatever spare time they may have in the next few weeks. So it is a plan that works both ways and to the ultimate good of all concerned." Jeannine Bullard explained that under the contest rules, winners of first and second awards will consider their "weekly pay checks" as an advance which will be returned upon presentation of prizes—thus obviating double compensation. "This does not apply to third, fourth, fifth and sixth place winners," she added.

Contest prospects are reminded that the contest is for only a few weeks' period and they shouldn't delay getting started. Come to the newspaper office or phone 438-2401.

As an accommodation to contestants, the contest office will be open all day Saturday.

Man Gets Ten Years

VIRGINIA BEACH — Circuit Court Judge Robert S. Wahab Tuesday sentenced Herbert Lee Capps to 10 years in the state penitentiary for the 1963 murder of Robert E. Harmon.

Five years of the sentence was suspended.

Sam Westry, Capps' accomplice in the crime, was convicted by a jury July 3 and sentenced to 20 years.

Harmon's badly decomposed body was found in a shallow grave off Laskin Road last February. He had been shot in the chest. He had been listed as AWOL from Oceana Naval Air Station for more than three months.

According to testimony, Harmon was shot with Westry's pistol Oct. 27, 1963 after an argument over a woman. Both Capps and Westry admitted they buried the body.

Grass Fires Dot Town

The Reverend David Wright, who organized the Seatack Fire Department, and David Wilson were among the volunteer firemen fighting a sweeping grass fire in the wooded area near Owl Creek Lane Monday afternoon. In the pre-dawn hours both the Davis Corner and the Chesapeake Beach Fire Departments had battled a grass fire at the S & E Truck Stop on route 13. This type of fire is becoming more and more common because of the extreme dry conditions. Remember when it rained last? (Staff photo by Hardy)

Thousands See Antiques

VIRGINIA BEACH — More than one thousand people a day filed into the Civic Center to visit the Antiques Show. The show ran from Thursday through Sunday.

This year marked the sixth year of the show. Already the sponsoring Princess Anne Woman's Club is thinking of next year's show—so might be the 38 dealers who showed.

The dealers came from ten states and Washington D.C. One came all the way from Maine.

Were people buying or looking? Both, a survey of dealers showed — but many visitors showed a great lack of knowledge when it came to quality antiques.

Patrick Henry's signature is very rare, yet a document signed by him as governor of Virginia went unnoticed by most. A fine China serving set, the only one of its type known to exist outside of one other set in a museum, drew not a single comment.

The most popular booth was one having costume jewelry. The dealer said "When women come to an antique show, they want to buy something—anything."

Herzer Concert Successful

THALIA — The Clifford Herzer piano concert Saturday under the sponsorship of the Auxiliary to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach has been called "a great success."

"It was a great success," said Mrs. C. U. Walkley of the auxiliary. "We don't have the complete figures on the total funds raised, but it looks good. So many people gave us cooperation—especially Mr. Herzer who donated his services."

Hospital Administrator W. Earl Willis said of the auxiliary "They've helped us in many ways. They work as receptionists, in the business office, and serve as nurses aids. Through their fund raising they were responsible for the air conditioning of the old building. The auxiliary offers wonderful service to the hospital and patients."

Parents Will Discuss Guide, Evaluation

VIRGINIA BEACH — An evaluation on Virginia Beach High School and a planned booklet on teenagers will be outlined tonight at a meeting of the Parents League of Virginia Beach High School.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The "Teen-Parent Guide," also compiled by a committee from the local school and nearing publication, discusses education's responsibility toward moral as well as intellectual development.

Antique Show Offered View Of The Past

WAVY CONTEST DRAWS 1,500

More than 1500 entries were received in a "Car Capsule Contest" conducted by WAVY Radio (Norfolk-Newport News, Virginia) as contestants vied to win an MG sports sedan. The winner was 7 year old Elaine Pidgeon of Norfolk who correctly identified the contents of the mystery capsule as a "button".

The contest was for WAVY listeners to identify an object hidden in a special capsule on display in an MG sedan at Cheekered Flag Motor Car Company. Clues were offered on the air during a three week period leading to the identity of the mystery object as a button. More than 87 correct answers were received and a drawing was held to determine the winner.

The Pidgeon family made their participation in the WAVY contest a joint effort and submitted eight correct answers, one for each member of the family with Elaine's name being drawn as the winner.

Shady Pest Firms Deployed

BLACKSBURG — "Fly by night" exterminators were deployed here last week by a Virginia Beach businessman who is president of the Virginia State Pest Control Association.

George L. Aldridge Sr., of response to the welcome at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, have had during my year as president has been the oft-repeated one from the general be fraudulent operators," said Aldridge. "Let us protect the reputation of our industry by doing a thorough job, being true to our fellow man and doing what is right at all times."

Also speaking this morning was Aldridge's partner, Lee E.
Chambers, who discussed public relations. He said that Ivy
Lee, John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s public relations man, was largely responsible for the creation of the Colonial Williamsburg and the Rockefeller Foundation.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Leaves From The Capitalist Book

Is communism turning capitalist in its effort to spur a lagging economy? Not quite—but more and more reports say that it is taking leaves from the despised capitalist book.

For instance, Time magazine reports: "While Western businessmen are traveling behind the Iron Curtain in increasing numbers, Western ideas are crossing the frontiers with even greater impact—and some of them are stirring up a kind of revolution. Beseet by economic problems that stem largely from their doctrinaire Marxism, the nations of the Soviet bloc are turning to many capitalistic practices that they once roundly condemned."

Chief among these, apparently, are Soviet experiments with something akin to our own profit system. Incentives are being offered to workers who really produce. And plant managers whose operations show a profit and an above-the-normal efficiency are rewarded too—not only with more money, but with such prizes as better housing and motor cars.

Marxist economic theory is far from dead in the Soviet world, but it is taking on a sickly cast. The reason: It just doesn't work.

Praise For The FDA

Last February, an antidepressant drug, tranylcypromine sulfate, was taken off the market by its manufacturer. This, according to an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, was done "after strong pressure from the FDA, but under firm protest by the company."

Recently, the FDA announced that it was permitting the drug to return to market on the condition that adequate attention is called to all potential hazards associated with it.

That in the AMA's opinion, is to the credit of the FDA's new medical director, Joseph F. Sadusk, Jr., M.D. The controversy, it goes on, "... appears to have been resolved by an objective appraisal of the medical and scientific data available." It then makes this all-important point: "It would be well for the FDA to bear this in mind and to use its regulatory power with discretion in any area in which a significant segment of the medical profession agrees that a drug, even though potentially hazardous and having a certain risk in its use, can be used effectively to the best interests of patients. It appears from Dr. Sadusk's disposition of the tranylcypromine problem that he is aware of this. . . ."

The question is simply one of benefits as balanced against risks. Numbers of very valuable prescription drugs can, in a relatively small number of cases, produce adverse effects. But does this justify denying them to the many who find them of service in prolonging life and restoring health? The only answer seems to be No.

Absolute safety, if demanded of drugs, would mean an end to progress. The action of the FDA in this particular matter was strongly in the public interest.

Opportunity Unexcelled For Big Prizes, Cash In Circulation Contest

Energetic People Are Being Sought

Wanted — local energetic men, women, boys and girls who can use an unlimited sum of extra spending money for spare-time effort during the next few weeks and have equal opportunity with others to win a beautiful 1965 Ford Mustang purchased from the Emrhoe Motor Company valued at over $2700. $750 will be awarded as second grand prize — without cost or obligation.

Sounds like opportunity unlimited, doesn't it? Well, we are sincere in telling you it is just that — and a golden one too!

Were you one of those who read the announcement in last week's newspaper and just delayed taking advantage of this generous offer?

Perhaps you too, had the erroneous idea that dozens would be taking part in this contest and that the competition would be too keen for you!

We'll be frank and honest about it, it's simply a fact that far too few — considering the magnitude of this liberal prize offer and the large field in this newspaper's trade area to be covered during the short subscription drive — have shown intentions of participating. Consequently, this is your opportunity to take an active part in the contest and get your share of the good things offered.

Too busy, sure, we're all busy — everyone who really amounts to anything is — but it's a truism that "busy people are the ones who always get things done" for they know how to economize their time and utilize it profitably.

Afraid of costs? Get this straight. It costs absolutely nothing to try and you positively cannot lose. The very least you can receive is $1 back out of every $5 of your subscription collection, payable weekly as earned.

Youth Back From Atom Conference

ARAGONA — Richard Dailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Dailey of 412 Lavender Lane, has returned from the 1964 National Youth Conference on the Atom held in Chicago. Dailey was sponsored by the Virginia Electric and Power Company.

A senior at Princess Anne High School where he is vice president of the school's science club, Dailey said he listened to lectures from a couple of Nobel Prize winners and the head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Touring the Argonne National Laboratory is what he liked best. After graduation, Dailey expects to head for the University of Virginia to study bio-chemistry.

Purpose of the conference was to present to the nation's most gifted high school science students and teachers an authoritative and inspiring picture of the peaceful uses of the atom. It was also designed to develop interest in the study of science in the United States.

MISS LUCRECE HALL

VIRGINIA BEACH — The voice that for 19 years has brought comfort and assistance to those in need has been silenced by death.

Miss Mary Lucrece Hall, 50, founder and operator of the Physicians' Exchange here since 1945, died in her home at 4702 Ocean Ave. Sunday at 4:45 p.m.

Although confined to a wheelchair and bed after an automobile accident made her a paraplegic when she was 15 years old, Miss Hall remained cheerful and energetic through the years, refusing to let her physical handicap deter her spirit.

She often sat on the sidelines at the Cavalier Tea Dances and was a familiar figure on the beach at 47th Street where her many friends would stop by for a chat.

But never far from her side was the telephone and most Virginia Beach residents knew her as the voice behind the Physicians' Exchange.

At the urging of the local Medical Association, Miss Hall started the exchange in 1945, taking off-hour calls for the city's five doctors. As the city grew, so did Miss Hall's services.

She was also quite active in the Virginia Beach Rescue Squad through the exchange and during the years became one of the city's most beloved citizens.

A lifelong resident of this area, she was a daughter of Edwin M. and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Knapp Hall. She was a member of First Presbyterian Church and the Cavalier Beach Club.

She is survived by a brother, Edwin M. Hall Jr. of Virginia Beach.

Funeral services will be held today at 11 a.m. at First Presbyterian Church with Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home in charge. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Still Time To Enter And Win

BOOSTER WEEK IN CIRCULATION DRIVE WILL START MONDAY

How To Win 1,000,000 Votes
During "Booster Week"

Here's an example of how quickly and easily votes pile up in this newspaper's big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest, now in its formative stage:

Twenty-five thousand votes are issued for each four year subscription to this newspaper (only $10 during the contest) providing same is received at contest office while the maximum number of votes are allowed.

Just 20 such new or renewal subscriptions (amounting to only $200 in collections) would entitle any contestant to 500,000 regular votes; and as 50,000 extra votes are issued on each and every $20 "club," that many subscriptions would constitute exactly 10 "clubs" on which 500,000 extra votes are given.

Then too, if these 20 "full limit" subscriptions are reported on or before Monday night, Nov. 30—while the 12,500 special vote offer on each four year subscription of the contest is in effect—it would mean an additional 250,000 votes.

Listen, wide awake contestants, haven't you at least 20 good friends who would lend their support to the extent of a "full limit" subscription (which incidentally, gives them a substantial saving) toward helping you win that smart new 1965 Ford Mustang worth $2733.95, grand capital prize or the second grand prize, $750 in cash? Surely you have—try it and see!

By Robert L. Bullard
Contest Manager

With the announcement of an exciting and special vote offer, effective only during what is to be known as "Booster Week" starting next Monday and ending Monday, Nov. 30—there's time yet for other ambitious people in this area to enter the big "Everybody Wins" contest and make themselves winners of the biggest and best prizes.

Never before in this city has there been a contest for local people of such magnitude, where the prizes are so valuable and highly desirable, and the winning requirements so liberal and inviting.

On a wager a man recently stood near the entrance to San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge and offered passersby their choice of several crisp $20 bills for $10.

He stood there nearly all day before finding takers.

"It's too good to be true," was the usual hurried comment of passersby.

To an even greater extent, however, this newspaper is offering livewire men and women (married or single) and young people in this city a more liberal proposition in the "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest, just getting underway.

But like the offer at the Golden Gate Bridge, too many local people seem to think it's too good to be true, and unless they make up their minds quickly and seize this opportunity, it will have passed out of their reach completely and forever.

Yes, this newspaper is offering thousands of dollars in prizes, topped by that 1965 Ford Mustang worth $2733.95 followed by a second grand award of $750 in cash, and other prizes galore—to strictly local people in this strictly local enterprise. And the winning of these prizes is simply a matter of taking both new and renewal subscriptions to this newspaper.

The contest is very short, terminating Thursday, Dec. 24. An outstanding feature of this greatest of all prize contests is the fact that there will be no losers in this race. The very least anyone can receive in return for his or her spare time and interest is one dollar out of every five dollars of their individual subscriptions, from both new and renewal subscribers.

The commissions are payable weekly and earned, in accordance with the plan more fully outlined in the official opening announcement.

So far our most unlimited city subscription has hardly been scratched, and it should be an easy matter to induce your friends and neighbors, or anyone, anywhere, to take full advantage of the special money-saving subscription rate in effect during this drive.

The entire purpose of this subscription drive, of course, is to increase our family of regular readers, to extend our scope of usefulness in the city and for community betterment in the

London Bridge P.O. Approved

LONDON BRIDGE — A new post office building at London Bridge has been approved by the Post Office Department in Washington and may be open for bids in about 90 days, Virginia Beach Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite Jr. said Wednesday.

Notification of the approval came Friday from Congressman Thomas N. Downing and the Postmaster General.

Plans for the new facility are now being drawn up in Washington, Crosswhite said, and once they are completed they will be open for bids.

"The plans should be ready in about 90 days," he said, "and certainly within six months."

The new building will front about 100 feet on Great Neck Road in London Bridge Park, he said, and will be staffed with at least 20 carriers.

"The area in and around London Bridge is one of our fastest growing areas," Crosswhite said, "and we very much need a larger post office to serve those communities."

The site selected for the post office is owned by J. D. Marden. Crosswhite said the property would be purchased then sold to a lessee who would construct the building and lease it back to the government for a period of time.

Crosswhite also said that a contract station is planned for Kempville, another growing community that needs more postal facilities.

Sealed proposals for the Kempville station will be accepted by Crosswhite until 1 p.m. Monday.

It will probably be located in a store or business already established in Kempville Borough where it will be convenient to the public for transaction of postal business.

The facilities of the station will consist of money orders, registry, parcel post and the sale of all necessary postal supplies.

The term of the contract will end June 30, 1966.

Five Story Med Tower Underway

HILLTOP — Construction on a modern 5-story Medical Towers near Hilltop got underway this week and is expected to be ready for occupancy in about 10 months.

The 4-acre site on First Colonial Road is now being cleared and preliminary land work is being done by heavy equipment. Construction on the building itself is expected to start in about 30 days.

Located across First Colonial Road from the new General Hospital of Virginia Beach, the Medical Towers will house offices for doctors, dentists and other medical professionals.

The top five floors of the estimated $400,000 building will be devoted to 25 individual suites. The lower level will contain a lounge and facilities for prescription druggists.

Designed by William E. McClurg, Virginia Beach architect, the modern brick building will rise from a formally landscaped site, complete with reflection pool, and will offer adequate parking facilities.

Owner of the project is the Atlantic Virginia Corporation and the builder is Moore Construction Company of Virginia Beach.

Thieves entered Taylor-Burgess through this hole they smashed in the roof of the men's room. After stealing about $85, they visited the store next door. Three neighboring stores were entered and robbed in this manner sometime between Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. (Staff photo by Hardy)

BAYSIDE TO GET NEW PLAY AREA

BAYSIDE — The Bradford Acres Civic League has been granted the use of several acres of prime property in Bayside for a proposed playground.

The league met Monday night and discussed plans for the project which, when completed, will include football and baseball fields, volleyball and basketball courts and swings and seesaws. Picnic tables may also be added later.

The property is owned by W. W. Oliver who has given the league permission to use it until such time as it is sold or developed.

The site is located on Shore Drive between a trailer sales firm and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge - Tunnel approach road. The rear of the property adjoins Bradford Acres and the front faces Shore Drive Inn Theatre.

All of the facilities will be installed on a temporary basis since the property may be withdrawn from the league at any time. But this arrangement has not dampened the enthusiasm of the group. The league members, some 35 strong, plan to do the work themselves with financial assistance, they hope, from Bayside merchants and other civic groups.

The property has already been cleared and will probably be leveled some time next week.

Oliver has asked the league to not remove any topsoil from the property or lay any concrete.

The volleyball and basketball courts will be made of clay.

The project has been undertaken by the league because the community, made up of about 43 homes, has become completely hemmed in by commercial development.

"Our children have to play ball in the streets," Mrs. T. R. Burnett, wife of the league's president, said. "They can't even get to school playgrounds because of heavy traffic."

Faced with this pressing need for adequate playground facilities, the league has set January 1 as its deadline for completing the project.

"Every available man, woman and child in Bradford Acres is going to jump in and work to get the job done," Mrs. Burnett said. "We want the playground, now, before our children outgrow the need for it or before a tragedy occurs."

The league also plans to open the playground to tourists coming off the bridge-tunnel and to neighboring communities.

Albert Byrd is chairman of the committee in charge of recreation.

MEETING FRIDAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Black Angus Restaurant will be closed to the public Friday after 3 p.m. for a special gathering of the Virginia Beach Shrine Club.

It will reopen on its regular schedule Saturday at 11 a.m.

Four Break-ins Here Tuesday

VIRGINIA BEACH — Amateur and professional thieves broke into at least four stores between Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Hardest hit were three neighboring stores in Laskin Shopping Center.

Point of entry was through the roof of Hofheimer's. From here the person or persons used a ladder to climb into the false ceiling connecting the stores.

Once up, he moved to Taylor-Burgess, then on to Coter's.

To prove this could be done, and by a sizable man, Officer Willie Padon retraced the thief's route through the false ceiling from store to store.

In Hofheimer's, the thief came down a long shaft and fell, or broke, through the ladies room ceiling. Unless he was the same one who robbed Hofheimer's about 14 months ago, he must have received quite a shock. The safe was still sitting against one wall, the dial knocked off, door open, and empty.

Total take seems to be about $15 removed from the cash register and a part of Manager Charles Warburton's fruit cake. Either the cake wasn't too good, or the thief was a sloppy eater. Cake was scattered about the floor in two rooms.

After trying to remove pairs of shoes, he moved on. Items are being checked for fingerprints.

Taylor - Burgess

Next the thief took a store ladder, put a hole in the roof, and climbed into the false ceiling. Above the men's room of Taylor-Burgess, practically the entire ceiling was knocked down.

Entering through this hole, the man apparently looked about for cash. Using a handy pair of scissors, he pried open the cash drawer to find $85 cash including some $10 worth of change. The pennies he left. Checks proved of no interest either.

Receptionist, Mrs. Ruth Lowe told Police Detective Harry Seager that the last person left the beauty shop about 5:30 Tuesday night. The first break was 8:30 Wednesday morning. A ladies razor case was removed from Taylor-Burgess and found next door at Coter's where the thief dropped it.

Again using the same hole he had to drop into the beauty shop, the thief climbed back in to the false ceiling. From here he moved along the narrow space to his next robbery.

Coter's

Breaking a hole into the ceiling of Coter's at a point over a carpet counter, he made a dangerous leap to the counter and on to the floor. If he had landed a few inches to either side, police might have found him still in the store Wednesday morning—impaled on spikes separating carpet samples.

Seager, Padon, and other police officers looked without success for blood. Police believe the thief may have received a few scratches from his repeated leaps through ceilings.

According to Seager, Coter's safe was opened by a "peel" job. Seager explained that this meant a sharp instrument had been hammered around the safe door edges to neatly peel open the door.

From Coter's safe, $77.80 from Tuesday's receipts was taken, plus about $50 from the petty cash box. Again checks and pennies proved of no interest to the robber.

Mrs. Rolfe Drpen of Coter's said that the store had been closed from 5 p.m. Tuesday until 8:25 a.m. Wednesday. Seager removed the safe door and other evidence for examination at police headquarters.

Napoleon's

Police were relieved to learn that a cash register drawer found open in an adjoining store, Napoleon's Ltd., had been left open by the manager, L. N. Joyner.

"Since I was robbed two weeks ago," said Joyner, "I've been leaving the cash register drawer open to show would-be thieves that there's no money here. No use in having them break-in and wreck the place for nothing."

People's Drug Store in the same shopping center, was also broken into about two months ago.

Amateurs

Elsewhere in town, thieves removed the side screen and entered a store through the window. Investigating officer Joseph Perez said amateurs were suspected because of the type store and the articles taken.

Perez said about 20 sweaters and golf shirts plus 15 watches were removed by the thieves. "They broke into a desk drawer to get three of the watches," said Perez. "The others were in a show case."

The 'Y' of It

Guest Writer Ann Cole

"No man is an island." By nature man is a sociable creature. He likes companionship — so does a girl. It is natural to like to work and play with others. And where can we find such a varied program in which a girl can work and play with others as that offered by our local YWCA? Surely this world organization must have 'built its house upon a rock' instead of sand for it has withstood the storms of a changing universe while many good causes and organizations are no more. How true it is that the good is the enemy of the best. It takes the best to survive. When I first found the "Y" it filled a great need in my life. I found gym and rhythm classes, basket and volley ball, swimming lessons, all kinds of dancing, and even fencing (Touche). It was all such fun, and I accepted all its benefits without thinking too much about the purpose behind it. It did then, and still does, offer to young women a program so well rounded that it fills the deepest needs of women. It gives the joy of a healthy body; it helps to mature the mind through meaningful study, reading and cultural programs; and develops the spirit through its Christian leadership and contagious fellowship. It helps women to find the answer to why we are here and how to live joyfully, with a real purpose for our lives. It is a BIG IDEA—as big as the whole world. Any idea which excludes any woman is too small to last, and you will find the "Y" in many laps around the world, welcoming into its fold women of every race, class and creed. It is truly for every woman, everywhere, always offering the best!

Once a friend was driving to California. She had some misfortunes and had to turn back. There she was, without funds, in a strange city, not knowing where to turn for help. Soon she thought of the "Y", and there it was, a warm and friendly place to stay while waiting for money to come from home.

Think of all the different creative talents of women which can be developed at the "Y", and which, while maturing, will bring joy not only to the owner of the talent, but will also bring much pleasure to those with whom it is then shared. Consider the quality of the recent book review of "Man on Fire" by Mabel Gorenson. Think of being able to listen and have such a book come alive through the caring of a young mother who is also "on fire". To drink in the beauty and inspiration of this book was truly a feast! And thinking about the art program—this is not just "art for art's sake", but art with the purpose of developing the creative urge to say something good to the world with brush and canvas.

The history of the YWCA is one of a friendly hand and warm heart. Virginia Beach is indeed fortunate to have the "Y" here. Let's support it enthusiastically so that it may grow even greater in stature and usefulness in this community and all the world.

KITCHEN SNACK COUNTER

Thinking of adding a snack bar to your kitchen? Be sure you match the height of the counter with the height of the chairs or stools.

A counter 30 inches high should be used with the average 18-inch chair. Allow 20 inches for leg space under the counter. If you prefer to use counters 36 inches high, you'll have to use a 24-inch high stool for comfort. And remember, that stool will need a footrest 6 to 8 inches from the floor. Figure 14 inches of knee space under the counter.

For easy eating—and no bumping of arms—allow 21 inches for each person to be seated at the counter.

SAVE THAT TAG

On wash day, do you play a "guess the fabric" game—because you've lost the tag that came with the garment, the one that tells what material it's made of and how to care for it?

Whenever you buy a new garment, immediately remove the tag and label it—Mother's green shift, Barbara's blue blouse, etc. Then be sure to save the tag.

If you have a bulletin board near the washing machine, hang it there. Or, you might use a card file for garment tags. Put in dividers with the name of each member of the family. Slip the tag from Barbara's blue blouse behind the card with her name. And you'll have no trouble finding it quickly on wash day.

If you know the fabric of a garment and how to wash it, you'll get better wear and satisfaction from it.

If you sew, copy information from the end of the bolt on an index card and file it.

We do like new food products—some of them! There's no particular secret about this. After all, well over half the things you'll find on your local grocery store's shelves were just dreamed 10 years ago. Today they are a major part of our shopping bill. Tomorrow, many of them will be fond memories—gone to join the cracker barrel, the dried fish, and a host of others.

We do like these new food products—some of them! We buy them, we use them, we want more of them. They add glamour, excitement, and interest to food shopping as well as to our everyday eating.

Yet, they also pose problems, both to us as food shoppers and to food marketers. To us, as food shoppers, they offer this dilemma. How can we keep up to date on these products and know how to get the most value for our food money?

This is difficult. For instance, one supermarket operator reported that in 1962 he added more than 750 items to his shelves. This meant that, if we were to be up to date in our shopping decisions, we had to evaluate two new products every day of the year. That's a lot of product evaluation.

During the same time, the same operator said he dropped about 1,000 items from his shelves. Some of these we may have regarded as tried and true friends, yet the grocer did not sell enough of them that they paid shelf rent. We then had to find and evaluate substitutes for these old friends.

It's quite a problem to the grocer, too. He said he added more than 750 new items in 1962. He also said he chose these from more than 3,500 that were offered to him. In other words, he chose less than one out of four. It's hard to tell which one to choose and which one to reject. Add to this the difficulty of deciding what product to drop and you see the grocer has his problems of choice and evaluation too. Nor does he always guess right as he tries to balance the advantages and disadvantages of various products and then compare these with his impressions of what you and I, as food shoppers, want.

New food products are fun, they are exciting, and we like many of them. Few of us want to stop the flow of them onto grocery shelves. Yet, they do impose a burden on us. We have to run quickly to keep up in the search for the most value for our food dollar.

BASKIN IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

There is great speculation about the end result of the population explosion that has been underway since the Middle War. I am aware of the present results, and can foresee great problems. This, however, does not shake me up nearly as much as the "bureaucrat explosion" which has been going on now for quite some little time. The number of bureaucrats is expanding at a rate which threatens to engulf us, and no one is doing a thing about it, except help it along. It will not be too long before everyone will work for a bureau of some kind, and the next logical step will be to put us in barracks and uniforms.

Perhaps that will never happen because of the nature of bureaucrats. They get their kicks out of placing obstacles in the path of citizens, and if everyone was a bureaucrat they wouldn't have any fun any more. There would be not a single soul to devil with silly rules and regulations and the breed would die from sheer boredom.

Since the normal bureaucrat multiplies like coathangers, it is likely that some six weeks from now we will discover that there are no people left in the world—just people looking up rules and regulations which were written by higher level bureaucrats with twisted minds. When this day comes, it will be time for the lone citizen—if there's one left—to grab a long knife and run amuck. I suggest that he start in Washington, where he could behold a passing person and know that the odds are 35 to 1 that he had rid the world of a burden.

He need not go to The National Funny House, but could start his Lizzy Borden act on the local scene, since the species exists in the run-of-the-mill organization.

I walked up to the drive-in window of a bank the other day and looked in at a teller who was polishing her nails. There was no car within a hundred yards of the place, so I thought I'd get a check cashed. Could I? No!

Seems as how drive-in tellers only handle money and checks that arrive in cars and other gasoline powered vehicles. I suppose that she wraps the money in labels that say "Mobile Money—Not Taken From Pedestrians" and stamps the same thing on the backs of checks cashed from automobiles. It is even possible that she has instructions about her job that are so restrictive that she has to identify the model of the automobile and break down the money into manufacturer's classifications.

Next week I'm gonna really foul her up, I'm gonna ride up on a horse.

Another On The Boulevard

Charles Rusk of 4908 Klamath Road was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way by Officer L. W. Barlow after a wreck on Virginia Beach Boulevard about dusk Tuesday. Rusk came out of Kellam Road, hitting a car moving toward Norfolk. Mrs. Emily M. Pitt of 3837 Lamp Avenue was driving the second car. There were no apparent injuries to either driver. Less than 24 hours before this wreck, a head-on collision took the life of Johnson Philip Price on another section of the Boulevard. (Staff photo by Hardy)

'Jumping Jim' Has No Speech Defect Now, Thanks To Stage

VIRGINIA BEACH — When J. P. Harrison was in the third grade, teachers put him on the stage in hopes of helping a speech defect. The speech is long corrected, but he's never too far from a stage.

When he's not out front acting or singing, he's backstage working lights, building sets, or maybe even directing. He's also done sound and make-up.

There were no dramatics in the high school he attended, so he wasn't seen around stages until after he joined the Navy eight years ago. Then it started all over again!

He worked backstage on two shows while on the West Coast. Transferred to the east, he soon found himself acting with the Little Theater on Long Island.

The Navy sent Harrison to NAS Oceana in June of 1963. His first play was as Gabe in "Happy Birthday." Then came the role of Morestan in "Shot in the Dark." Next Virginia Beach residents saw him as Old Jim in "Girls in 509."

Now Harrison is studying his role as the lieutenant in "My Three Angels," and helping to build the sets.

But it's not all theater for Harrison. He belongs to the Civic Chorus, the Thalia Presbyterian choir, and earns his keep with the Navy as an electronics technician.

Known as "Jumping Jim" to ham radio fans, he also carries that name over to his car radio — KKG3893 on the citizens band. He likes to fix hi-fi's, listen to his many classical records, read good books, and study psychology.

His goals include improving his voice and acting so that Little Theaters will long have on and about their stages one J. P. Harrison.

THE KEEP HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

Historic briefs about the area now known as Virginia Beach.

Soon after receiving his large grant of land in that part of Elizabeth City County which was south of the Chesapeake Bay Adam Thoroughgood put 14 mark on territory as well as paper. In Nugent's "Cavaliers and Pioneers" is found this record: "Adam Thoroughgood, in December 1635, purchased 600 acres on the Lynnhaven, alias Chesapeake River." Thoroughgood had come from King's Lynn, Norfolk County, England. Next year this lower part of Elizabeth City County became New Norfolk.

During the Mass a Chalice will be blessed. Next month a delegation of Knights of Columbus will present the Chalice to Cardinal Cushing of Boston who will in turn present it to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy who will designate a foreign mission as its recipient. The Chalice was purchased with donations from Knights of Columbus of the Tidewater area.

KEMPSVILLE — A Solemn High Requiem Mass will be sung in memory of the late President John F. Kennedy at 6 p.m., Saturday, at St. Gregory the Great Catholic Church, Virginia Beach.

The Mass is being sponsored by the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach Area General Assembly of the 4th Degree and Knights of Columbus of the Tidewater area. The Mass will be sung by the St. Gregory the Great choir under the direction of Mr. Robert Forrest.

All clergy, city officials and the public have been invited to attend.

Cold Waters Predicted

PORTSMOUTH — Water temperatures during the next few months may be fatal to boatmen involved in boating mishaps, the Coast Guard has warned.

A spokesman from the Fifth Coast Guard District in Portsmouth said that the average boater today has expanded the season almost two full months, enjoying the sport well beyond the Labor Day date that once brought the season to an end.

When the water temperature of rivers, bays and the ocean remains below 60-degrees (Fahrenheit), persons going overboard because of boating accidents have an extremely short life expectancy unless they are wearing an exposure suit such as those worn by aircraft crews and skin-divers.

The following information, taken from the U.S. Navy's manual, "Survival in the Water", indicates that in water at 32-degrees Fahrenheit, life expectancy is less than one hour; 40-degrees, one half hour to three hours; 50-degrees, one to six hours; 60-degrees, two to 24 hours and at 70-degrees, three to 40 hours. These are figures beyond which no person may be expected to live.

The Coast Guard also pointed out that experiments and actual experience has shown that a lightly clothed person in water near freezing point can survive for approximately five minutes, but not longer than 10-15

Structure Is Ready For Use

PORTSMOUTH — Rear Admiral Oscar C. Rohnke, USCG, Commander, Fifth Coast Guard District announced today that the offshore structure which will replace the old Pan Shoals Lightship will be placed in commission next Tuesday, weather permitting. Ceremonies aboard the structure will mark the event.

Adult Cage Groups Meet

The organizational meeting for Adult Basketball will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the Recreation office on Indiana Ave. in Oceana.

Two leagues will be offered this year: The Unlimited Men's League and the Duffer Men's League. As usual a franchise fee of $25.00 is charged for each team entry and deadline for team Rosters and entry fees will be required in middle of December. Details will be given out at the organizational meeting.

Something new has been added to the Duffer League rules this year. There is still an age restriction (25th birthday must be reached before 1 Jan. 1965) but due to many requests, "slow-down" rules have been added. These new rules restrict running with the ball in the backcourt by the offensive team and there can be no defensive press in the backcourt.

These "slow-down" rules have been very popular in other cities (for this age group) and the Recreation Department is hoping these changes will increase the size of the League this year.

Marine Gunner Gets Golf Ace

LITTLE CREEK — Marine Gunner Sgt. Wesley R. Goff recently had two reasons for celebrating. It was the Corps' 189th anniversary and he shot a "Hole-in-One" on the Eagle Haven Golf Course at the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base.

The "gunny" sank the ball with a nine-iron shot on the par three, 140-yard 15th hole. The play was over a water barrier.

This was Goff's first hole-in-one in nine years of playing golf. He was playing golf with 2d Lt. J. F. Miller of Hq. Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and CWO J. M. Martin, Disbursing officer for the Landing Force Training Unit at Little Creek.

About halfway to the green we all started running for the cup. Sure enough, there it was, exclaimed the elated Goff.

Besides making it a perfect day for the Marine golfer, he stands a chance to win several prizes from the Eagle Haven Club.

No, Goff admits he didn't come close to breaking the course par of 70, but he'll keep trying. Gunner Sgt. Goff is the Disbursing chief of LFTU. He resides with his wife, Beverly, and their five children at 353 Lineberry Road.

Virginia Beach Band Takes Second

TYPICAL AMERICAN BIRD NOT NATIVE

You may have talked turkey, eaten turkey, danced the Turkey Trot, drunk Wild Turkey, sung "Turkey in the Straw"—perhaps you've even hunted this "typical American" bird—but did you know that the original domesticated turkey was not a native of America . . . and probably wasn't named by Americans? It's a fact!

The turkey we eat today originally had been raised by the Aztec Indians of Mexico. Emperor Montezuma (of "The Marines Hymn" fame) had so many that he fed them to other animals in his zoo.

What, then, did the Pilgrims enjoy at the first Thanksgiving dinner? Native American wild turkeys, brought to them by the Indians as gifts.

The Indians of North America told many tales about the wild turkey, according to information supplied by researchers at Austin, Nichols & Company. The Tewa Indians tell a story—probably a Pueblo version of Cinderella—about a poor girl who is befriended by turkeys. Like fairy godmothers, the turkeys dress her up, give her a beautiful hair-do, and send her to a dance where she finds a suitor. But alas, the maiden and her Prince Charming do not live "happily ever after," for the girl flees westward with the turkeys, and her mother accuses her of being a witch!

Our national bird is the bald eagle, but if Benjamin Franklin had had his way, we might see a turkey rather than an eagle on the reverse side of the new Kennedy half-dollar coin. Franklin wrote:

"I wish the bald eagle had not been chosen as the representative of our country; he is a bird of bad moral character; like those among men who live by sharpening and robbing, he is generally poor . . .

"The (wild) turkey is a much more respectable bird, and withal a true original native of America."

The turkey today is a part of native American art form. Remember the Turkey Trot? That was a popular ragtime dance of the Twenties. And then there's the song "Turkey in the Straw," based on an old minstrel melody, which one authority calls the "liveliest and most popular of American fiddle tunes."

Can you remember a famous movie in which turkeys played an important role? In "Sergeant York," Gary Cooper (portraying the World War I hero) learned to become a skilled marksman by participating in turkey shoots back home in Tennessee. Later he astonished Army personnel with his deadly accuracy.

Most everyone in the U.S. knows turkey as a traditionally American food. And when an American company that manufactures premium 101 proof bourbon was looking for a name that identified it as truly American, they settled on—of course—"Wild Turkey." It is often seen today beside domestic turkey on a platter.

Where does the word "turkey" come from? Explanations abound:

1. The wattle of the bird resembles the Turkish fez.
2. The bird makes a soft "turk, turk" sound.
3. The Indians called the bird "turkee."

4. Information uncovered by Wild Turkey researchers revealed that when the turkey was introduced in Europe, the poultry merchants who sold it referred to the bird as "tukki," a Hebrew word meaning peacock.

Which explanation is right? Henry E. Davis, famed wild turkey hunter and author of "The American Wild Turkey," upholds the last explanation. "In my opinion," he says, "this is the most plausible view."

As a figure of speech the word "turkey" can have a variety of meanings. While you may praise the distinctive flavor of turkey, Irishmen expect an entirely different taste when they sup on "Irish turkey"—which is corned beef and cabbage! In America, a bad play is called a "turkey"; when we speak frankly, we "talk turkey."

The Indians, the Spanish, the English, the Irish, and native-born Americans like Sergeant

York—all have contributed to the folk lore of the turkey. Like the United States itself, the modern turkey on your table is a blend of the best of many different varieties.

The wild turkey, "a true original native of America", was Ben Franklin's candidate for our national bird. A maker of Bourbon, seeking a truly American name for its product, settled on Wild Turkey. The wild turkey was also a popular figure in North American Indian mythology.

In Virginia... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Ocean Park Women Hear Mrs. Townsend

BAYSIDE — The Ocean Park Woman's Club held their November meeting recently at the Club Room of the Ocean Park Fire Station. Members and their guests were served a "turkey dinner" with all the trimmings. The club room and tables were decorated with the harvest symbols.

Mrs. R. E. Townsend, chairman of Mental Health for the Tidewater District, was guest speaker. She pointed out in her talk the lack of funds for Eastern State Hospital. And cited as an illustration that funds are available to take care of approximately 2,000 patients and the hospital has around 3,000. During the question and answer period the question was raised "What could be done about more help?" Mrs. Townsend urged the members to write the State legislature and ask that more funds be made available for the hospital.

To give the patients a more homey atmosphere in which to get well, one house has been acquired which can house about twenty-five ladies. Many household items are needed for this project. It is hoped and planned that more of these "homes" be made available for the patients.

Many of the club members as they entered the meeting room deposited gift items on a table which will be taken to Eastern State.

According to Mrs. Lawrence Eley, club president, there will be more music at the club meetings. Mrs. E. Carr Smith will serve as pianist and several songs will be sung each meeting by the club group.

In a lighter vein for the meeting the first vice president of the club Mrs. Rhoda White put on a "flapper" skit to the tune of "Yes Sir! That's My Baby."

OLD DONATION OYSTER ROAST SET SATURDAY

BAYSIDE — All roads lead to Old Donation Episcopal Church on Saturday.

The parish house of the historic church on Witch Duck Road will be the scene of the Annual Oyster Roast and Bazaar sponsored by the women of the church.

Since 1935 people from nearby communities have gathered for reunions with old friends over a delicious country luncheon of freshly roasted oysters, Smithfield ham sandwiches and home-made desserts.

The number attending seems to increase year after year, and this year should bring many hundreds to savor Lynnhaven oysters and to select from the quantities of pickles, preserves, and jellies made from precious recipes handed down through the years, home-made cakes and pies, and plum puddings.

Dried flower materials, much sought after for colonial arrangements, fresh vegetables, novelties, Christmas decorations and needlework will be available.

The Bazaar will open at 11 a.m. Oysters will be served from noon.

This is an excellent opportunity for newcomers to visit the old church where the baptismal font, dating from 1640, is still in use.

Wigs Replace Mink As Most Wanted Gift

Text by Doris Padrick

LYNNHAVEN — "All I want for Christmas is a smart-styled wig" is the refrain being repeated over and over by maidens and matrons alike. Mink coats, which used to be the traditional most-wanted gift, rates below the fast-proving most popular feminine desire this year.

Having a wig is as good as having an extra head, and better than a new hat. Wigs have advanced beyond the fad classification and can now be considered a necessity to any fashionable woman.

Jerry Bailey, the tiny vivacious manager of the Princess Beauty Shop, on Virginia Beach Boulevard, helps her customers to select the best possible color, style and cut of the wig most suitable for her.

Mrs. Bailey is justifiably proud of her wigs, and she and her co-workers, Judy Renn, Marde Hathaway, Brenda Gaslin, and Catherine Harrell, are well trained in all phases of beauty care. The Princess Beauty Salon is affiliated with Mr. Lucky of Norfolk, who also supplies fashion wigs for the ladies, as do many others in the area.

When the wigs arrive at a beauty salon, they resemble a shaggy mop (or an uncombed Beatie!) but the skillful hands of the beauty operators cut and set the wigs into perfectly styled hair-dos.

A wig will fit the customer comfortably as there is a drawing string which adjusts the size to the head and to the degree of firmness without tightness. The wig will not slip around.

If the color wig wanted is in stock at the beauty shop, it takes about a week to receive the finished product. If the wig must be ordered, delivery can be expected within 10 days to 2 weeks.

The most popular shades are of auburn, black, brown or golden blonde. The pastel shades are more expensive and may take longer for delivery.

Working girls usually select a wig the same color and style of the natural hair-do, as the wig will be used to fill in between regular shampoo-and-set trips to the beauty shop. A hair set will look fine for about three or four days, but working girls do not always have the time to make more than one visit a week to the beauty shop. That is when the wig comes to her rescue. As soon as her natural hair-do begins to droop, it is a simple matter to pin flat the hair and slip on the wig...and presto! glamour and style for the rest of the working days.

Wigs provide the busy club woman with instant fashion no matter what time of day or week. A woman who must make many public appearances likes to be a fashionable representative to whatever cause she is upholding. A wig styled more formally than her generally casual hair-do will allow her to be ready in a minute to attend any gathering and feel well dressed and a credit to herself and to her organization.

Formal affairs, such as banquets, dances, installations, etc., often necessitate an elaborate style for the ladies' hair. The time it takes to have the hair washed, styled and set in a high-fashion manner can be used for other necessary preparations for the occasion; when she has a wig that can be left with the beauty operator to be set in the desired glamorous style.

There are many good reasons for owning a wig. Ladies who are dissatisfied with the color of their own hair will find it a much simpler and less risky matter to try-on a wig of a different hue in making the change than to go through the process of bleaching or coloring, and then being dissatisfied and having to wait for it to grow out, or to try to color it back. A wig can be used to cover hair which has been colored and is now growing back to its natural shade.

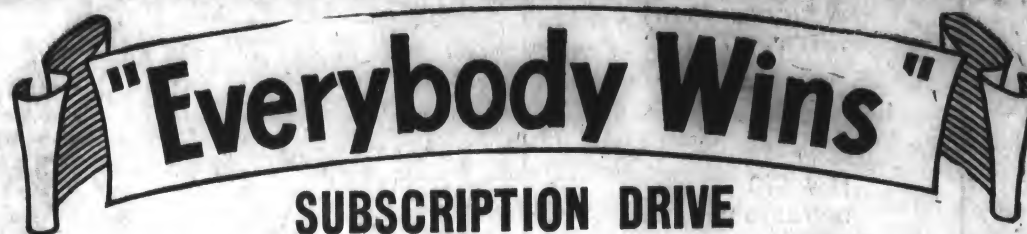

A woman's hair is called her crowning glory. And she never feels completely "right" if her hair is not perfect for the occasion. A wig solves this problem in a most satisfying manner.

Reporter holds "raw" wig in right hand, wears the page boy flair, and displays the dark brown bouffant flip.

Busy Pilot Returning To Concert Stage

Virginia Beach Violinist William R. Rowell is a man with a dream—and the know-how and determination to see it come true. (Modern Arts Studio)

By Robert Hardy

THALIA SHORES — William R. Rowell of 605 Heron Point Circle is a busy man by anyone's yardstick. For all practical purposes, Rowell has three full time careers—air line pilot, piano tuner, concert violinist.

Since his father was a gifted violinist and teacher with the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, it was natural for Rowell to begin his study of music at an early age. When he was only five-years-old, he was giving public performances.

He continued to study the violin until he was 17. During this time he received coaching from the internationally known concert violinist Jean Ten Have. Then a series of circumstances made it necessary for him to give up the formal study of music.

"Airplanes had a fascination for me as they did for many youngsters. I used to ride my bike 10 miles every Sunday just to watch the planes. A man who noticed I was always at the air field began to give me lessons. The war ended private flying of this type.

"In 1945 I started formal lessons. By 1946 I was living by flying."

Chief Warrant Electrician Davis Rogers received his certificate of retirement at a ceremony held at the Coast Guard's Electronic Repair Shop on Atlantic Avenue. Before Rogers' retirement, he was Commanding Officer of the unit for two and a half years. He resides with his wife at 522 25th Street. (Coast Guard photo)

Rowell is now flying commercial planes for Piedmont Airlines. To earn money for his flying lessons, he started tuning pianos. Now he operates an extensive piano tuning and repair business in his non-flying time. Recently, he undertook and completed the staggering task of completely rebuilding his own piano.

But when his formal lessons stopped, his love of the violin didn't. His grandmother had been a violinist, and, for years as a youngster, he himself had been an active soloist with various orchestras throughout Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana. With this background, Rowell's dream of the concert stage were far from gone.

He continued to study on his own. For three seasons he performed with the Louisville Philharmonic Orchestra. For seven years he was first violinist in a string quartet. And for several more years, he was a violin teacher.

In 1959 came the big decision. With his wife's support he decided that he would return to the concert stage. Now came endless long hours of practice, practice, and more practice. Two private recitals in 1961 established him as a solo violinist in the Tidewater area. Then came a series of recorded recitals which were broadcast on WRVC-FM.

"My return to the concert stage was April of this year when I performed in Phoenix, Arizona under the sponsorship of the Grand Canyon College as a part of the annual Phoenix Arts Festival."

This performance met with enthusiastic audience response and critical approval. The Phoenix Gazette wrote "Good technique and intonation... nice consideration of dynamic requirements."

Then last August Rowell was asked to perform under the sponsorship of Mrs. Richard Priest Dietzman in Louisville, Kentucky.

Sitting in the audience were 15 judges of Young Artists' Promotions, Inc. When he finished, they swamped him with unanimous approval—and requests to promote him in future performances.

The contract he signed with Young Artists' calls for a concert February 15 in Louisville. There will be people at this performance who will offer him additional dates—if he does well.

FILMS TO START SAT.

THALIA — The Kiwanis Clubs of Virginia Beach and Norfolk - Princess Anne will launch their Travel and Adventure Series Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at Princess Anne High School auditorium.

The first presentation in the series of six films will be entitled "The Legendary Mediterranean" and will be narrated by Gene Wiancko.

This color film is the fascinating story of the colorful ports-of-call of the world's most famous sea, from Sicily to Seville.

The film will feature Sicily in the springtime; the legends of Sardinia and Corsica; and the charm of Mallorca and Ibiza. The "tour" will take the viewer along the Amalfi Drive to Rome, then to Genoa and through the French Riviera through Monaco, Nice and Cannes.

Each of the films to be shown in months to come will feature some of the world's most beautiful places.

On December 17 America's 49th state will be spotlighted in a pictorial diary of an Alaskan logger and his buddy in the film "Lumberjack's Alaskan Adventure."

January's featured film will be "Wings to Puerto Rico" followed by "Hong Kong" in February, "Grand Canyon Adventure" in March and "Germany and the Berlin Story" in April.

Season tickets for the entire series are now on sale at 31st Street Cleaners for $5, adults, $3 students. They may be purchased in Norfolk at the Admiralty Motel.

TITLE WINNING TEENAGER HOME FROM TEXAS TRIP

By Doris Padrick

LYNNHAVEN — Lynnell Raye Bass is an exceptionally poised, attractive young lady who has recently returned to the normal atmosphere of high school studies after a dream-filled week in Dallas, Texas. While not a top-prize winner in the "Miss Teenage America Pageant," Lynnell is a champion representative of all Tidewater teenagers. She represents everything desirable and is a daughter Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer R. Bass of 404 Sharp street can be justifiably proud of for many reasons.

Blessed with a pretty face and a slim figure, her sweet nature and good manners attest to lovingly firm upbringing designed to achieve her avowed career in modeling and, perhaps, the theatre.

A professional model from the age of twelve, Lynnell, just turned 17, has many titles to her credit. She was named "Miss Ocean View" in 1961 when only 13, in 1963 she was the "Best Dressed Teen-ager of Virginia Beach," and earlier this year, she won a $1,000 scholarship when she became "Miss 16 of America," and she captured "Miss 17 of Tidewater" in the Seventeen magazine contest.

Winning titles is fun, according to Miss Bass, but she never counts too heavily on being first in any test of this type. Just being a contestant brings its rewards.

The Miss Teenage America Pageant was the most hectic and tension-riddled contest in which she had ever competed... but also the most wonderful. She was impressed with the fantastic beauty of Dallas and the warmth and friendliness of all people she met. The treatment given the girls and the fun-filled activities planned made the trip an experience she will never forget.

Her plans for the future do not include, at the moment, any other beauty contests on the scale of the last one attended. Right now, she is only interested in catching up with her schoolmates in her studies at Frank Cox high school, attending the school functions with a certain boy, continuing with her modeling around Tidewater, and making occasional TV appearances.

She studies authentic folk dancing with Mrs. Kates of Norfolk, and is with the drama classes at Cox. After graduating from high school, she will attend Old Dominion college, probably majoring in dramatics, while financing her education with modeling assignments all over Tidewater.

Lynnell Bass is a young lady who knows what she wants and she is keeping to her schedule to achieve it.

"SERVING THE WORLD'S LARGEST RESORT CITY"

'RETIRED' POLICE DOGS LEAD USEFUL LIVES IN STAND-BY K-9 CORPS

VIRGINIA BEACH—When a police dog joins the department, he's assigned to an officer. From then on, the two live as one. They train together, work together, and go home together. But what happens when the man no longer patrols?

The Virginia Beach K-9 Corps had to face just such a problem not too long ago.

9 Corps.

As the former patrolmen were promoted, they kept their dogs at home just as they had during off-duty hours before. The city can call these police dogs back into service whenever the need arises.

Two of the former officers in the K-9 Corps are Detectives Harry Seager and C. W. Simmons. Seager served in the Army K-9's before coming with the Virginia Beach Police.

"Once trained, and retired, each dog would be in a different stage of readiness—just like human beings," Seager said. "If several men were sent to a special school, each would retain a varied amount later. The key is knowing your dog."

"Working with K-9's is very interesting work. It takes six days a week for 10 to 13 weeks to train a police dog. And this is physical work! If the dog crawls, you crawl. If he jumps a hurdle, you jump the hurdle."

"Both man and dog start from scratch. The instructor teaches you, you teach the dog." The dogs are given the usual obedience training—sit, heel, stay, come, etc. Then more. The dogs learn how to search, attack, come-off, and other things most people would rather not have the family pet do.

So what happens in the home? Simmons trained and still has a Doberman pinscher.

"In the home, he's a pet—on the job, another piece of police equipment," said Simmons.

Simmons' doberman always stood in the car. "He always paced back and forth," continued Simmons. "Lucky never once ceased being alert. Only after we went home would he sleep."

Yet once in the house, Simmons' wife could control Lucky. Lucky even played with the cat.

One officer had a dog so mean that no other policeman would ride in the same car with him. At home three children would safely wrestle with him every night. He wouldn't think of hurting them. Seager had the largest of Virginia Beach's police dogs. He was such a big German shepherd, that whenever Seager would snatch the leash in training, the dog would just wag his tail. Thus he earned the name Happy.

Now that Happy isn't on duty everyday, he has become a favorite of neighborhood children.

For those who can handle them, police dogs can become house pets. But don't try to break-in where they live. Even old shoes can kick mighty hard.

What happens when a police dog retires? To say that a police dog at home is just like any pet dog would be misleading—but they have their relaxed moments, too. Lucky's master is Detective Sgt. C. W. Simmons. When Simmons was promoted, Lucky went on a less active status. Now he is in the "Stand-by K-9 Corps."

BEACH MEN AT GA. BASE

HUNTER AFB, Ga. — Virginia Beach was represented by competitors at the Military Air Transport Service Third Annual Aerial Delivery Competition Sunday at Hunter Air Force Base, Ga. Some 22 giant air cargo carriers from units throughout the world took part.

Air Transport Squadron 22 from the Norfolk Naval Air Station had the following Virginia Beach residents: Lt. j. g. R. X. Kauffman, 1304 Strawberry Lane; Lt. j. g. G. T. Zeller, 5409 Coventry Circle; Lt. j. g. A. H. Forrester, 109 83rd Street; and Aviation Boatswain's Mate J. E. Tharp, 300 Westwood Circle.

Purpose of the contest was to enhance combat readiness and professionalism among MATS aircrews.

The plane crews attempted to perform Aerial Delivery or "parachute bombing" of cargo and troops from low altitudes to a designated drop zone. They were judged by Air Force observers on Low Level Navigation, timing, delivery accuracy and crew professionalism.

Each aircraft was required to make three cargo drops and one parachute drop. One of the cargo drops was conducted at night.

Beach Census Being Taken

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Audrey L. Hayden of 1832 Windy Ridge Point is one of four Tidewater women selected to work with the Bureau of Census on its current population survey.

As a Census Bureau interviewer, Mrs. Hayden will visit a scientifically chosen sample of local households during the next few weeks.

Other Tidewater interviewers are Mrs. Mary G. Euler and Mrs. Helen K. Blassingham of Norfolk and Mrs. Edna A. Hill of Chesapeake.

Oceana Tops U.C.F. Quota

OCEANA — The Naval Air Station Oceana reports that the United Fund Campaign on the base has ended with 122 per cent of the goal.

The total was $6,700—that's $1200 over the goal.

Captain Dexter C. Rumsey, II, Commanding Officer, in acknowledging the contribution by his personnel, said that he was extremely proud of his command's fine participation in such a worthwhile program.

At the beginning of the program, Rear Admiral E. B. Taylor, stated that "The Navy is an inseparable part of the community and Navymen share in the many community services supported by the United Fund."

Navy personnel have traditionally been the leaders in community groups and service programs," he added. As Commandant Fifth Naval District, Rear Admiral Taylor heads the Navy's United Fund Campaign in this area.

Lieutenant Commander William Sprunk, Jr., NAS Oceana Comptroller, was the air station's coordinating officer for the 1964 United Fund Campaign.

New Record

NORFOLK — Policyowners of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company will receive a record $47 million in policy dividends during 1965 it was announced today by Leslie B. Disharoon, general agent for the company in Norfolk.

The total is about $5 million more than the 1964 dividend distribution, due in part to a new and improved dividend scale, he said.

STRONG CHURCHES...

make STRONG COMMUNITIES

OLD ENOUGH!

Not old enough for a novel, a dictionary, an encyclopedia.

But old enough for the Bible!

For in these very years before she fully understands its truth, a child learns to respect God's Word. Reverence is born. A sense of the importance of religion develops.

The passages must be short... and sensibly chosen. Childish but searching questions must be answered. Mother and Dad will soon discover that explaining Truth to their child deepens their own comprehension.

Take advantage of a parent's most sacred privilege. Introduce your child to God. Make the Bible part of the family. Participate in and cooperate with the Church's program of religious education.

A child grows spiritually whose parents grow spiritually!

The Mixing Bowl

It's Fun To Cook

By LUCILE CLARK

SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Give Thanks For Turkey

The juicy, golden-brown turkey on the holiday table is good reason to give thanks for the abundance of the season. With the addition of Ac'cent monosodium glutamate, your bird can be a paragon of good flavor. Ac'cent brings out all the sweet, delicate taste of the meat and makes it seem juicier, too. Shake it on the skin and inside the cavities—and be sure to use it in the stuffing and gravy, too. Allow about one-half pound ready-to-cook turkey per serving when purchasing the bird—and allow extra weight for seconds, sandwiches, and the incomparable turkey hash.

Holiday Turkey

Wash turkey in cold running water. Pat inside dry with paper towels; leave outside moist. Use ½ teaspoon Ac'cent per pound of turkey ready to stuff. Set aside half the total amount for the dressing and gravy; divide the remainder between skin and body cavities. Sprinkle cavities also with salt and pepper. Stuff turkey. Fasten neck skin to body with skewer. Push legs under band of skin at tail, or tie them to tail. Place turkey, breast side up, on rack in shallow open roasting pan. If desired, cover with a loose covering or "tent" of aluminum foil. Roast turkey in a slow oven (325° F.), according to weight. Cook the bird 3 ½ to 4 hours for a 6 to 8-pound turkey; 4 to 4 ½ hours for an 8 to 12-pound bird; 4 ½ to 5 ½ hours for a 12 to 16-pound bird; 5 ½ to 6 ½ hours for a 16 to 20-pound bird; 6 ½ to 7 hours for a 20 to 24-pound bird.

The first permanent English Settlers of America celebrated their first Thanksgiving at Jamestown.

In Virginia, as in New England the native American Turkey — then wild was their Thanksgiving favorite dish.

The Jamestown settlers had no ovens so they cooked over the fire. Fried corn bread was one of their favorites and to this day fried corn bread is still a favorite in many of our Southern homes.

Here's a recipe for this favorite:

1 ½ cups corn meal
¾ cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs
1 cup evaporated milk
Hot fat for frying

Sift corn meal, flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Combine milk and eggs, add to dry ingredients and stir until well blended. Fry in hot grease in skillet—when bubbly, turn and cook on other side.

With Thanksgiving and the Holiday season approaching, now's the time to plan meals and try out new recipes — before things get so frantic. If you're not completely pleased with the poultry stuffing recipe you've been using, do try these excellent recipes from the test kitchens of the American Spice Trade Association.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Slightly Thin Is Mode For Expectant Cattle

Thin, skinny cows can have their calves easier than chubby fat ones, and are less apt to be exhausted in the process. They may, therefore, start mothering sooner, and this can result in more calves saved on a cold night.

Trouble is, they must not be "bony" thin, just slimly skiny thin! Perhaps about like they are in July or early August fleshing. They must be vigorous, healthy and in the pink, except for excess fat.

Herdsmen and advisers generally shy away from this recommendation because it is misunderstood, and cows fed too little get weak. Cattleman Louis Chisholm advised me on this point last year.

His 100 cows had a perfect calving record, but before they started calving they had him worried. They've never been slimly thin before, but due to drought they were last fall.

After their perfect calving performance, and he'd had a chance to contemplate, he came up with the notion that extra fat was an enemy of a perfect calving record.

Mrs. Chisholm is due part of the credit. Cows in their heavy springing condition are put in the small calving pasture in plain view from the kitchen picture window. While kitchen chores are done, the cows are checked simultaneously. Even over a cup of coffee, it may be discovered that the alarm should go out to be on the lookout for a restless-to-be-mama.

"It's a dangerous recommendation coming from you," said Tom Bibb, "for already the biggest winter loss is from starvation." Tom is a veterinarian in northern Virginia, who related this tale to back up his opinion.

He had done post mortems on a sample of cows from 11 or 12 that had died from one herd. Their second stomach (or whichever one has all those thousands of tissue folds in it to give it additional surface area) has a hard layer of dried clay mud between each fold of the tissue. This mud has been processed into the equivalent of a brick.

Naturally, food could not be processed by this organ, so death resulted. These cows were fed too little in the first place, and in a muddy lot on the dirt, in the second place, so that part of what they ate was clay. When those that did not die ever got rid of the bricks in their digestive tract is not known, but it is understandable that Tom gets scared when somebody hints at a letup in cow feeding.

It's not a gimmick to save feed. If they are left off condition before they calve, this may save feed at the time, but it has to go right back into them as soon as milk production starts.

Vitamin A shortage could get to be a problem. Dry cows need 16,000 international units a day.

A pound of alfalfa hay contains 3,200 units equivalent, so in the process of cutting down the energy to reduce fat, don't cut out the chance of getting enough Vitamin A. After they start milking, the Vitamin A requirement jumps up to 40,000 units daily. A nursing cow can be fed a lot of things. Twenty-six pounds of mixed hay that provides at least 6 or 7 pounds of legume will figure out all right. A better one may be 6 pounds of alfalfa and 20 pounds of grass hay.

Where hay is limited, 10 pounds of mixed hay and 8 to 10 pounds of corn (which has had one-half pound of one of the oil meals added) will do the job. Sixty to 65 pounds of corn silage with one and one-half pounds of oil meal or around 80 pounds of grass silage with no additional protein supplement is adequate. A full silage ration with no dry roughage is fine.

The cows will go to the woods and eat bark from the hickory trees, and you'll think they are about to die. Don't worry, they'll make it.

We've had two dry years in a row, and we must not do things that may result in lighter calves to sell next year. One of the worries, however, is not worth worrying about—their being a little thin at calving time.

Strawberry Diseases

The majority of strawberry disease specimens received at the VPI Plant Disease Clinic this year were infected with black root rot, a term we use to describe a disease condition.

It is usually the result of several contributing factors. Roots of the affected plants are black throughout with few, if any healthy laterals. Some of the roots may have patches on areas that are darker than the rest. In some instances, a cross-sectional examination will reveal that the inner "core" may still be alive.

The exact nature of black root rot is not well understood. It is known, however, to be associated with soil-borne fungi, drought conditions, poorly drained soils, nematodes, heavy fruiting, mite injury, virus diseases, winter injury, or any other condition that would cause root damage or a generally weakened plant.

Frequently some of the factors contributing to black root rot may be traced to the soil and its preparation. Strawberries do best in a fertile, sandy loam that is well drained and has a pH between 5.5 and 6.5. If plants are set in poorly adapted soil and if good practices are not followed, they will not grow well and they'll be more susceptible to various soil organisms associated with black root rot.

Weak roots may suffer further damage if greater than normal stress is placed upon the damaged root systems. This frequently occurs during periods of heavy fruiting or drought. The roots may not be able to satisfy the demands of the plants and the plants consequently die.

Some steps to take to help prevent black root rot are: Select fertile, sandy loam soil that is well drained.

Plant healthy, virus-free plants from sources free of black rot and/or nematodes.

Set out plants carefully about one month after the average date of the last killing frost.

Remove buds and blossoms from newly set plants and cultivate carefully.

Maintain effective control of insects and diseases. In soils where nematodes are a serious problem, fumigation with a nematocide may be profitable.

Mulch the plants properly in late fall. Avoid excessive use of fertilizer.

HINTS ARE GIVEN ON ALFALFA SEEDING

Farmers planning to seed alfalfa next summer may profit from some hints.

You should feel free to seed alfalfa in fields on which granular heptachlor or heptachlor-fertilizer mixtures have not been applied.

If you now have some good stands of alfalfa which you would like to keep, don't plow them up because there might be some heptachlor residue.

Extension specialists at VPI are now doing research on the length of time heptachlor residues persist after soil-surface treatment has been used. The specialists are also studying the uptake of heptachlor by the plant when it is grown on land previously treated.

Additional information on these studies will be released as it becomes available.

Wouldn't it be nice to have a flameless electric dryer today?

An electric clothes dryer is more than just a marvelous convenience in bad weather. It's a year round saving machine that can actually pay the average homeowner 10 eight-hour days at the clothesline every year. It saves on heating time.

Save on clothes and linens, too, because you need far fewer. And right now, there's an extra saving. Ask your Live Electrically dealer about verco's special offer (good until December 31st) of $15 off qualifying electric dryer installation!

"Neither democracy nor effective representation is possible until each participant in the group—and this is true equally of a household or a nation—devotes a measurable part of his life to furthering its existence."—Lewis Mumford

Hello, folks. Just a couple of weeks ago, millions of Americans went to the polls to make their choice of who shall represent them in our various governing bodies. This is one of the greatest expressions of one citizenship duties in a free nation. You may be asking yourself what this has to do with 4-H Club work since club members aren't old enough to vote. Well, this is only one citizenship responsibility. In order to vote responsibly you should know who and what to vote for. This you, as a 4-H'er, can learn. Do you know what you must do to be a good citizen?

A Good Citizen Practices Self-Improvement
As a good citizen, it is your responsibility to develop yourself to your utmost ability. Our Nation has developed its greatness through the efforts of individuals who have dedicated themselves to doing their best, and then making their best even better. This can be done by developing self-discipline, a wholesome attitude towards life, and providing leadership for others to follow their good example.

The Good Citizen in the Home
People usually think of citizenship as something outside the home. But it actually begins in the home. If you can get along with members of your family—take your share of home responsibilities, appreciate the contribution each one makes—you have a foundation for cooperative living in the larger community.

Choosing 4-H projects that fit into the family living plan is a big step in training for good citizenship—leading to a desire to help with projects for the good of the community, the state, the nation and the world.

Good Citizens Participate in Community Activities
No one lives alone—we are all inter-dependent. In America many opportunities are "free". Schools, libraries, play grounds, for example. Good citizens not only take advantage of these organizations—they help to maintain and protect them. Do you appreciate and make the most of what is offered in the way of a good education?

Your 4-H Club should be active in all community activities. Many 4-H Clubs have helped improve church, school, and park grounds, painted mail boxes, put up 4-H "Welcome" signs, helped with fund raising campaigns, and prepared seasonal gifts and food baskets for those in need.

A Good Citizen Knows His Government
What do you know about the function of your City, State and the Federal Governments? Do you know why it is necessary to tax people, to have a police force, the cost of good roads? To know these is a responsibility of a good citizen.

4-H Citizenship Tour is Planned
The 4-H Council of Virginia Beach has planned a tour of Virginia Beach City Hall (Princess Anne Courthouse), the Azalea Gardens, the Seashore State Park, and Cape Henry Lighthouse on Friday, November 27, in an effort to develop citizenship among its members.

The tour will begin at 9:00 a.m. with an opening address by Mr. Russell Hatchett, City Manager. Visits will then be made to fourteen of the City's departments where he 4-H Club members and their parents will learn the function of each department. The group will then proceed by car-caravan to Norfolk's Azalea Gardens for a picnic lunch (bring your own), and then to the State Park for a short walking tour, and then on to Cape Henry Lighthouse. We hope that every 4-H Club member and their parents will support this activity of your 4-H Council.

COMING EVENTS

Nov. 20—4-H Achievement Night—7:30 p.m., Kempsville Jr. High School
Nov. 23—Blackwater 4-H Meeting—Blackwater Fire Station, 7:30 p.m.
Nov. 30—4-H Council Meeting—Demonstration Kitchen, 7:30 p.m.

CRYSLER SPECIAL SET FOR FRIDAY 8:30 TO 9:30

Donald O'Connor as a nervous knife-thrower, Richard Chamberlain as a Nipponese gunslinger and Stella Stevens as the "Sweetheart of the Stratosphere" will be spotlighted in sketches and songs on "Chrysler Presents a Bob Hope Comedy Special" Friday, over NBC-TV, from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Annette Funicello and Trini Lopez also will share center stage with Hope in his second variety hour of the season. Les Brown and his Band of Renown share the hour's spotlight.

The program will open with Hope's humorous observations on the passing scene both at home and abroad.

In the sketch "Wingo and Targo," a knife-throwing act begins to split when sure-shot O'Connor (discovered by his shapely assistant (Pat Priest)) prefers the attentions of human target Hope.

In "Bonzi Earp," a retired Japanese gunslinger (Hope) is challenged by young Billy Kamikazi (Chamberlain) and the scene becomes "high noon" in a tea-house. (Chamberlain is the title star of NBC-TV's "Dr. Kildare" series.)

Lopez, fast-rising recording and night club performer, sings "Jezebel" and later is joined by Hope for a duet of "Hello Dolly," in Spanish.

In the "Show Biz Airlines" sketch, a hammy flight captain, Buzz Blunder (Hope), and shapey hostess Stella Stunton (Miss Stevens) are the stars of in-flight entertainment's newest gimmick, a jetstream floor show. Miss Funicello will sing and dance in a production number called "The Clyde." O'Connor returns for a dance production about a politician named Fifenknish.

Jack Shea is director, Mort Lachman is associate producer and Sil Caranchini is assistant to executive producer Bob Hope. Choreography is by Louis Dapron.

"Chrysler Presents a Bob Hope Comedy Special" is written by Mort Lachman and Bill Larkin, John Rapp and Lester White; Charles Lee; and special material by Gig Henry. Norman Sullivan is writing consultant. Sponsor is Chrysler Corporation through the Young and Rubicam advertising agency.

New Series To Have Bergen In Top Role

Polly Bergen will be the star and Jack Webb the producer of a new half-hour sophisticated adventure series based on the widely-read Selena Mead stories in This Week Magazine and planned for the 1965-66 season on the CBS Television Network. It was announced today by Hunt Stromberg, Jr., Vice President - Programs, Hollywood.

Miss Bergen, one of the entertainment world's most versatile personalities, will play the title role of Selena Mead, "the most glamorous secret agent since Mata Hari," or, as others identify her, "a female James Bond."

The new series is based on the This Week Magazine stories by Patricia McGerr, which are credited with reaching a reading audience of 13 million. A property much-sought by television and motion pictures, "Selena Mead" will be published in book form in December by Doubleday.

Miss Bergen, who first attained stardom as a singer, will be returning to the Network where she played her Emmy Award-winning role of Helen Morgan, in "The Helen Morgan Story" on "Playhouse 90" in 1957. She also appeared on the CBS Television Network for five years as a panelist on "To Tell the Truth" and during the last three years starred in such motion pictures as "Cape Fear," "The Caretakers," "Move Over, Darling," and the current "Kisses for My President."

Jack Webb, producer of the projected series, is winner of three Emmys and countless other awards. He is best known for the successful "Dragnet" series, the "General Electric True" program and numerous motion pictures.

"Selena Mead" will be a joint effort of the CBS Television Network, Webb's Mark VII Productions and Miss Bergen's KAM Enterprises.

Showing At Two Theatres

Sean Connery and Gina Lollobrigida share starring roles with Ralph Richardson in "Woman of Straw," the United Artists Eastmancolor suspense drama. It opened at the Beach Theatre Wednesday and will continue there through Saturday and will open Sunday at the Princess Theatre.

Norfolk Little Theatre Comedy JFK Program Is Next Play

NORFOLK — "The Pleasure of His Company," described as a "rueful comedy," is the next presentation of the Norfolk Little Theatre, Dec. 5 thru Dec. 12.

Written by Samuel Taylor, the play has as its leads Angela Walker, David R. Maltby, and Sandra Blake-Gray. Others in the cast are Lee David Cohen, Gay E. Milius, J. Thomas Brewer, and Tom Story.

Several in the cast are newcomers to the NLT stage. Angela Walker, of Sydney, Aust., now a Navy wife, studied at the Repertory Theatre School of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London. Her experience runs from BBC-TV and Gaumont British Films to productions such as "Blithe Spirit" in Hawaii, roles in Newport, R.I., productions, and at Virginia Beach in "Waltz of the Toreadors," "Shot in the Dark," and "Oh Man, Oh Woman" with the Summer Sands Playhouse.

For Milius, a commander and legal officer in the Naval Reserve at the Norfolk Naval Station, this is the second time round in the comedy; he appeared in it with the Little Creek Players in 1961. Milius has also had roles with the Breezy Point Players and Summer Sands Playhouse, as well as with drama groups in Arlington, Va., Dartmouth College, New Rochelle, N.Y., New York City, and a U.S. Navy film.

The NLT's Jessica, Sandra Blake-Gray, was educated at schools in Tokyo and England, as well as in the U.S. For the Granby High School senior class play, she became a multi-lingual announcer (British, Russian, American) in "The Mouse That Roared." She is also on the costume committee of the NLT.

An interesting and unpredictable guest at a wedding leads to an unpredictable and surprising denouement in "The Pleasure of His Company," at the Norfolk Little Theatre, 801 Claremont Ave., Dec. 4 thru Dec. 12.

An added plus to investing in Series H U.S. Savings Bonds is that interest earned is not subject to state or local income, personal property or intangible taxes.

EXTRA VOTES OFFER ANNOUNCED TODAY BY THE CONTEST DEPT. OPEN UP WAY FOR LATE STARTERS

By Robert L. Bullard
Contest Manager
Subscription List Grows

We welcome the ever-growing list of new subscriptions being added to our already large family of readers, and also thank the scores of old subscribers who are taking advantage of this rare money-saving opportunity to renew their subscription — even though many have not yet expired — at the 2-years for $10.00 bargain rate in effect only during this generous contest.

Participants in this contest are, without exception, meeting with gratifying response on every hand in their quest for subscriptions (the FREE points on each subscription means, of course, the winning votes for them.) and this newspaper appreciates the wholehearted reception given them by residents of this area, and elsewhere, to our subscription drive.

The encouragement extended to this fine group of ambitious contenders for rich prizes offered — headed by that shining new 1965 Ford Mustang, worth $2733.95 — spell SUCCESS in large capital letters for this strictly local competitive affair; and, by the same token, will better enable us to serve in every way the best interests of this entire area.

Paychecks Awarded Weekly
Moreover, it is our pleasure each week to issue substantial weekly paychecks ($1 out of every $5 of each contestant's individual subscription contributions on both new and renewals) all in accordance with the liberal offer outlined in opening announcement of contest; and, in due course, the most aggressive ones will reap their greatest rewards in the form of costly major prizes and big cash bonus awards.

And each participant realizes that these major prizes — tremendously valuable and highly desirable — now lie practically within their grasp, either to be claimed for their very own or forfeited by inaction to more enterprising competitors during the next few weeks, and no one with an eye for quick and lush gain is going to let them get away without a struggle.

"Booster Week" Opens Way
Starting at once and extending through all of this week — terminating Monday, November 30, the contest will issue SPECIAL BALLOTS good for 12,500 EXTRA votes in addition to the 25,000 regular votes on each and every 2-year "full limit" subscription (only $10.00 during contest) which affords all contestants a never-to-be-repeated opportunity to really get into high gear, forge ahead and win the prize of his or her desire.

A mere handful of such subscriptions NOW for any one of the various contestants could immediately make them potential winners of the biggest and best prizes, soon to be awarded.

Join Contest today and be a winner of the biggest and best prizes, soon to be awarded. Big Winner Christmas Eve, December 24.

Youth Held In Stabbing Case Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — A 17-year-old youth has been taken into custody by Virginia Beach Police in connection with the stabbing and rape of a 25-year-old housewife Sunday night.

Police said the attack took place in Virginia Beach Borough shortly after midnight and that a uniformed officer picked the youth up on description a short time later.

He is now being held for Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court.

The victim was apparently alone in her home with her 4-year-old child when the attack occurred.

The youth allegedly raped the woman then stabbed her in the stomach with a steak knife.

Police said she is in poor condition in Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

Ocean Hiway 1965 Program Underway

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Ocean Hiway Association has launched its 1965 Program For Progress. Association President Roy A. Stevens said "The basic aim of the program will be to generate more travel and more dollars with resulting benefits to all areas and businesses that comprise the Ocean Hiway system."

The Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel makes Virginia Beach very much a part of that system. With a 1965 budget of $130,000, the expanded plan of action represents the most ambitious program the association has ever undertaken. Each plank within the overall platform is a program in itself.

To promote travel, the program calls for:

- Expanding the advertising in areas of travel origin
- An effective sign program to attract and keep travelers
- Working closely with toll authorities to increase traffic
- Producing and distributing maps and other literature
- Increasing information services

- Conducting a continuous news and publicity program
- Conducting a continuous program of travel research with the aim of building a sound long-range program of travel promotion

- Establishing new programs and services to enable members to multiply the effectiveness of the association efforts.
- Developing an enthusiastic team of boosters throughout the route.

The Ocean Hiway also has an active hiway development plan in which members will:

- Help organize state hiway improvement groups to work for four-laning and other improvements
- Justify the need for Ocean Hiway improvements by generating more traffic
- Encourage local groups to make their areas more attractive as vacation destinations or places

This same slate of officers will serve the Virginia Beach Multiple Listing Service, Inc.

● Promote recognition for the Ocean Hiway as a national scenic route.
The association executive office is temporarily located in the Civic Center. Executive Director Fred Brinkman said that a permanent office will be located in the Virginia Beach area from which all administrative functions will be handled.

Society Hopes To Preserve Landmarks

VIRGINIA BEACH — "We must awaken our community to the need for preservation of historic landmarks," M. F. Fogler, president of the Princess Anne County Historical Society, said here this week.

He was referring, in part, to 40 homes in this area that were built before 1800 and the necessity of saving them from urban growth.

"Last year 250 houses in Virginia of this same vintage went down under the bulldozer," he said. "The citizens of this community must act now to preserve what we can."

The society is conducting an active campaign in educating the public on the value of preserving antiquities in the area.

"We need help from all quarters to accomplish this," Fogler said.

The group exhibited pieces of Princess Anne "Americans" at last week's Antiques Show and Sale at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center and plans another exhibit at the Norfolk Museum next spring.

Society members also distributed during the show flyers on the group's attempts to preserve historic buildings.

"We need as many members as we can obtain so that we can increase our prestige in order for us to get a real hearing in the press for public relations and from our City Fathers for necessary help in promoting our urgent, worthwhile program," the flyers stated.

One of the society's main projects is the acquisition and restoration of Pembroke Manor, the historical old brick two-story home that sits in the center of a rapidly developing residential area.

City Council has appropriated $10,000 for purchase of the building and surrounding property but legal technicalities have delayed consummation of the purchase.

Etheridge Urges Budget Compliance

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Treasurer V. Alfred Etheridge Monday rapped various department heads for their inability to operate within the city budget.

Etheridge's comments came before City Council on the heels of a request from Juvenile Court for the employment of two new probation officers.

"We set up a budget," Etheridge said, "and it doesn't seem good to come back to council and ask for additional personnel. It's getting to the point where the budget doesn't mean much."

He pointed out that City Engineer Charles Kiley had just asked for two new employees and now two probation officers had been requested.

"I'm not saying they aren't needed," he added, "but I am saying it isn't sound business to keep adding personnel. We should be able to plan our departments for 12 months at a time."

Prior to Etheridge's comments, Bayside Councilman Lawrence Marshall had suggested that council presently approve one new officer and include the second man in the next budget.

Council asked City Manager W. Russell Hatchett for his opinion on the situation.

"I think they need additional help in that department," he answered. "Judge Branch (Juvenile Court Judge L. Travis Branch) says he is greatly concerned about the work load the present staff is working under. They are working very long hours and it is becoming too much for them."

"Well somewhere along the line we're going to have to plan a little better for the future," Etheridge commented.

Council approved Marshall's recommendation to hire one officer now and delay the second employment until the next budget is set up. The salary was set at $5,725 annually.

Tow Target Hits Club

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Navy delmar-type tow target fell from an airplane Friday into the surf and bounced onto the outdoor dance pavilion at the Cavalier Beach Club. Damage from the six-foot, 80-pound target was limited.

A spokesman from NAS Oceana, where the tow plane is based, said "Its loss is believed due to a combination of bad weather and equipment malfunction."

Council Okays Upgraded Code For Building

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council Monday approved a revised building code that would upgrade future construction despite opposing cries from the Tidewater Association of Home Builders.

Bayside Councilman Lawrence Marshall was the only abstaining vote in an otherwise unanimous decision from the 11-man council.

Inspection Supervisor John Gibbs defended the new building ordinance before council while TAHB President W. W. Reasoner and Al Cistola of Terry Corp. represented area developers in opposing it.

Cistola claimed the new revisions would increase builders' costs so that middle income families would not be able to buy homes in Virginia Beach.

"It will get so that people can't buy $7,000 or $8000 homes anymore," Cistola said. "Everybody will have to buy executive homes. If we get industry into Virginia Beach, the laborers won't be able to buy homes."

Thicker Plywood
The main conflict in the code was the thickness of plywood sheathing. The new ordinance specifies a slightly thicker sheathing than that now used by most community developers.

Reasoner said builders would use exterior plywood sheathing if council would allow the thickness to remain the same.

Gibbs pointed out that thicker plywood would possibly eliminate the warped roofs and sidings some homes are now experiencing.

The code specifies 3/8 inch plywood for a 16-inch span and 1/2 inch plywood for a 24-inch span. TAHB asked for 3/8 inch plywood for a 24-inch span.

"We need the thicker plywood for the nailing of shingles," Gibbs said. "We have found that nails pop out of the thinner plywood."

"Will these recommended changes improve the quality of the houses in Virginia Beach?" Councilman Edward T. Caton III asked Gibbs.

"Yes sir, they will," Gibbs said. "These changes were supported unanimously by the City Building Code Committee."

In answer to a question from Cistola, Caton pointed out that the changes will apply to all building permits issued after Monday's meeting, not to those issued earlier.

Apartment delayed
Council also placed a 30-day moratorium on issuing permits

Dr. Whitehurst Speaker For School Assembly

VIRGINIA BEACH — Dr. William Whitehurst of Old Dominion College will speak on the Cape Henry Pilgrimage during the Wednesday afternoon assembly at Virginia Beach High School.

Speaker at the eighth and ninth grade assembly Wednesday morning will be the Reverend Richard Woodward, pastor of the Virginia Beach Community Chapel.

Thanksgiving music at both assemblies will be provided by the eighth and ninth grade choruses.

While the holiday lasts from 3:30 p.m. Wednesday to Monday morning, students will close their books at their own risk — six weeks tests are scheduled for December 2, 3, and 4.

for apartment construction pending an ordinance that would limit such buildings to areas zoned for multiple-family residence.

This moratorium will delay groundbreaking on some 2,000 apartment units throughout the city, the larger ones located at Frontier City, Malibu, Pembroke, Princess Anne Plaza and Hilltop.

Once the ordinance is passed it would eliminate construction of apartment buildings in commercial or limited commercial districts and confine them to multiple-family zoned areas.

In other action, council:
● Approved the payment of $105,000 in engineering fees in connection with the city's proposed water and sewer system. The amount will come out of the general improvement fund derived from the sale of bonds.

● Agreed to ask the State Highway Department to consider the design and construction of Interstate 64 where it intersects with Providence Road with the possibility of increasing the width of the pavement.

● Approved the moving of two houses from Princess Anne Plaza to a site on 78th Street where the two buildings will be joined together for a duplex.

● Approved on second reading the following appropriations: $2,000 by the Public Works Department for sand fencing; $13,498.65 by City Engineer's Department for two new employees and trucks and other equipment for inspections; and $29,000 by Utilities Department for sewer lines to the new hospital, the latter amount to be paid out of the bond issue funds.

DALLAS NEWSPAPERS PUBLICIZE BEACH

VIRGINIA BEACH — The name of Virginia Beach, Va. was prominently displayed on the pages of two of Dallas, Texas' most widely read newspapers recently with the beautiful appearance of Lynell Bass as Miss Teenage Virginia Beach pictured.

The Dallas Times Herald featured her picture on the front page with a story of all the contestants visit to the "Six Flags Over Texas," a popular amusement park.

The story of her Samoan sit-down dance she performed for the talent segment of the contest was covered complete with picture of her in costume, in the Dallas Morning News.

Bronze Star Medal Winner

LITTLE CREEK — Major Richard E. Mack, U.S. Army, received the Bronze Star medal Monday, for "Distinguishing himself by outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam during the period of October 1963 to July 1964." The medal was presented by Rear Admiral Earl R. Crawford.

Shown above is Robert E. Powers, 12, of 2817 Pine Ridge Lane. Not only is he the youngest contestant in the Sun-News "Everybody Wins" contest, but he is currently the third highest contender suggesting the possibility of history in the making. Robert L. Bullard, contest manager, stated that the present record is held by a boy 14 years old who won a car several years ago. Robert fully intends to break this record.

HOW TO WIN 1,000,000 VOTES DURING "BOOSTER WEEK"

Here's an example of how quickly and easily votes pile up in this newspaper's big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest, now in its formative stage:

Twenty-five thousand votes are issued for each two-year subscription to this newspaper (only $10 during the contest) providing same is received at contest office while the maximum number of votes are allowed.

Just 20 such new or renewal subscriptions (amounting to only $200 in collections) would entitle any contestant to 500,000 regular votes; and as 50,000 extra votes are issued on each and every $20 "club," that many subscriptions would constitute exactly 10 "clubs" on which 500,000 extra votes are given.

Then too, if these 20 "full limit" subscriptions are reported on or before Monday night, November 30 — while the 12,500 special vote offer on each four year subscription of the contest is in effect — it would mean an additional 250,000 votes.

Listen, wide awake contestants, haven't you at least 20 good friends who would lend their support to the extent of a "full limit" subscription (which incidentally, gives them a substantial saving) toward helping you win that smart new 1965 Ford Mustang worth $2,733.95, grand capital prize or the second grand prize, $750 in cash? Surely you have — try it and see!

Mrs. Hal Norman Stata

GODSEY — STATA

ALANTON — Miss Cynthia Ann Godsey became the bride of Hal Norman Stata Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Virginia Beach Methodist Church Chapel with the Rev. Beverly Felty officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard G. Godsey of 1725 North Alanton Drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Muncie E. Stata of 1724 North Alanton Drive.

Mr. Godsey gave his daughter in marriage and Mr. Stata served his son as best man. Miss Harriet Watson was maid of honor.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride.

After a wedding trip through the state of Florida the couple will make their home at 324 Bay Plaza, Treasure Island, St. Petersburg, Florida.

Club Hears President

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Cavalier Garden Club met Wednesday at the Princess Anne Country Club with Mrs. Lonnie O. Clark, Jr., president, presiding.

It was announced that the December meeting would be at the Princess Anne Country Club, with a cocktail party preceding the luncheon. Each member is to bring a Christmas gift.

Mrs. Kenneth Treschow displayed three interesting holiday door decorations, showing ingenuity in material and construction.

The speaker was Mrs. L. O. Clark and her subject was "Christmas Doorways".

Mrs. Clark brought with her several very lovely decorations, with instructions on making them. She demonstrated to the members the steps used in making a dollararia wreath. The traditional wreath is in a circle, the circle representing eternal life.

To be a true dollararia wreath, it must be made of fruit, either real or artificial, and the color blue must be incorporated in it. Mrs. Clark pointed out, if using real fruit, to dip the cut side of the fruit in warm paraffin to seal and preserve it. Also spray the completed wreath with a plastic spray to further preserve the fruit and discourage the birds.

Condition the greens used in the wreath in a mixture of 1 tablespoon of glycerine and 1 quart of water. This formula can be used in the past of your Christmas tree holder to preserve the tree and prevent needles from falling.

The following ribbons were awarded:

Arrangement Class: Mrs. Harold Kahan, blue; Mrs. Vernon J. Houtman, yellow; Mrs. S. R. Brackebrough, red.

Specimens: Mrs. F. D. Terrill, Jr., blue; Mrs. Wm. G. Thompson, 2 blue; and Miss Ida May Edmond, 1 red.

The program consisted of the showing of slides ranging in subject from local scenes of the Ash Wednesday storm of 1962 to zoological scenes of Florida.

Arrangement winners were Mrs. L. P. Crockett, blue; Mrs. K. Minton, blue and yellow; Mrs. Meredith, and Mrs. S. S. Howard, red; and Mrs. N. C. Edge, yellow.

Horticulture winners were Mrs. J. E. Adams, two blue; one yellow; Mrs. W. S. Troutman and Mrs. Crockett, red; and Mrs. Minton, yellow.

AIMIARIV Workshop Held On Judging

VIRGINIA BEACH — An Inter Club Judging Workshop was held recently at the Galilee Episcopal Church and sponsored by the Virginia Beach Council of Garden Clubs.

The instructor was Mrs. Frank E. Lukanich who is a National Accredited Judge and is Chairman of the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs Flower Show School.

Mrs. Lukanich instructed classes on how to go to other clubs and judge their flower arrangements and horticulture specimens.

She said there are four basic things to look for in flower arrangements—design, color, distinction and suitability of material. That it was important to bone up on your different lines of flower arrangements and types of plants for horticulture before going out to judge. She also said it was important to be kind in judging and not to be too critical. Honesty in judging was stressed.

About 100 members were present, representing 30 out of 40 member clubs of the Virginia Beach Council of Garden Clubs.

Y-Teens Back From Owaissa

Tickets are only $1.00 per person, and can be purchased from any Y-Teen member or at the Y office, 303 30th St. Dress is casual; music by "The Beachnuts."

Here's How To Cook That Holiday Turkey

Do you know how to prepare roast turkey like a pro?

According to the experts, correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat on a rack in an open pan. It requires no water, little basting, no cover and no searing.

Low temperatures assure better flavor and appearance, less shrinkage and less loss of juices. A shallow open pan allows for the heat to circulate around the bird, roasting it evenly.

For best results, follow these simple steps recommended by the makers of Wild Turkey Bourbon:

Cotillion Club Dance Friday

VIRGINIA BEACH — The first dance of the newly organized Virginia Beach Cotillion will be held Friday at the Cavalier Hotel in the Colonial Room from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

JoJo and his Frets will provide dance music and refreshments will be served.

Decorations will carry out the school colors of all the local high schools.

Mrs. John Levering, director of the Bon Soir Club of Richmond, will attend the dance.

The cotillion is sponsored by Mrs. Leo Bliley and Mrs. E. P. Richardson. The membership is made up of invited 10th and 12th grade students from local high schools.

GARDENERS GET HOLIDAY IDEAS

BAY SHORE — "Christmas Arrangements" were the theme of Mrs. K. F. Trachow's program presented to the ladies of the Bay Shore Garden Club.

Mrs. Maurice Jackson and Mrs. John Matthews were hostesses for the meeting.

Awards for floral arrangements were given to Mrs. C. G. Baughman, Mrs. Maurice Jackson, Mrs. John Matthews, and Mrs. S. Schmidt for blue ribbons. Red were won by Mrs. Maurice Jackson, Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. Gilbert Wilson.

CAMPFIRE CANDY SALE UNDERWAY

BAYSIDE — The Campfire Girls Candy Sale will run from November 24 through December 4, featuring Fanny Farmer candies.

On Saturday, the sales will be held at Bayside Colonial Store, Millers Dept. Store, and Aragona Shopping Center.

1. Preheat oven to 325°F. (slow).
2. Rinse bird with cold water. Drain and pat dry. Rub cavity of bird lightly with salt, if desired.
3. Insert stuffing, if used, before the turkey goes in the oven for roasting. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present; or tie them to tail.
4. Place turkey on rack in shallow roasting pan, breast side up. Brush skin with fat. If a roast meat thermometer is to be used, insert it so that the bulb is in the center of the inside thigh muscle or in the thickest part of the breast meat.
5. Place in preheated oven. If desired, baste or brush occasionally with pan drippings—especially any dry areas. When turkey is two-thirds done, cut cord or band of skin at drumsticks.
6. When the meat thermometer registers approximately 185°F. the turkey should be done. A bird weighing between 6 to 8 lbs. will take about 2 to 2½ hours before it registers that temperature. An 8 to 12 lb. turkey will have to be kept in the oven anywhere from 2½ to 3 hours, while a bird of from 12 to 20 lbs. will need 3 to 4½ hours for completion.

If you're wondering what to serve your guests along with the main dish to enhance their dinner, you might bear in mind the fact that Wild Turkey Bourbon in glasses is often seen beside roast turkey on a platter. In fact, that's a good way to serve roast turkey like a pro.

Walling Back From School

VIRGINIA BEACH — Thomas E. Walling, 4717 Harlie Ave., has completed four weeks of specialized instruction in cement and concrete and has resumed his activities as assistant plant chief chemist for the Lone Star Cement Corp. in West Chesapeake.

The session attended by Walling was devoted principally to the study of cement and concrete technology, the design and manufacture of quality concrete, the proper uses of concrete in construction, and a review of the Association's organization and activities.

The training course is one of a series conducted each year by the Portland Cement Association.

Sodium-restricted (low salt) diets, sometimes prescribed for people with high blood pressure, can be tastier if cook learns to use spices, herbs and lemon juice with a flourish, Tidewater Heart Association says.

Fishing Take Good In State

WEEMS, Va. — The landings of all varieties of fish and shellfish from Virginia's commercial fishing areas, both salt and fresh-water, totaled 10,800,000 pounds for September, 1964, bringing $854,500 to the fishermen. The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries of the U.S. Dept. of the Interior has just released this information from its field office at Weems.

Not included in the totals were the menhaden for reduction taken by purse-seines, customarily reported only at season's end.

Leading items in volume were hard crabs 4,994,300 pounds, menhaden 2,643,300 pounds, spot 1,032,000 pounds, and oysters 222,300 pounds (of meats).

September is not ordinarily a prolific commercial fishing month in Virginia. This September registered a decline—no more than seasonal—below August, in which the grand totals were 12,515,000 pounds and $1,159,000.

Comparing September 1964 and 1963 gains in desired species were evident as follows: croaker 113,600 pounds as against 53,300 pounds, sea trout 254,400 pounds and 186,600 pounds, snapper turtle 14,700 pounds and 7,100 pounds; spot were more than double.

Similarly, declines, but not serious ones, were noted in butterfish, catfish, fluke, striped bass, swellfish, crabs, hard clams and oysters.

The nine-month period for 1964 shows an over-all increase in both total poundage and money above the corresponding 1963 period: 1964 fish and shellfish, 139,085,600 pounds worth $12,340,600; 1963, 122,142,200 pounds worth $10,142,200. The highly important seed-oyster fishery for the same period: 1964, 554,500 bushels (state measure) worth $826,200; 1963, 550,800 bushels worth $750,800. These totals include some seed from privately-operated grounds.

Some impressive increases appeared for the two periods. Croaker went from 70,800 pounds to 384,500 pounds, Boston mackerel from 76,500 pounds to 268,500 pounds. Porgy, with 9,236,400 pounds, showed more than 1 million pounds gain, spot almost 2 million and swellfish almost 3 million. Crabs, hard clams, scallops, squid and snapper turtle were all up, but in lesser amounts. But oysters, with 6,049,600 pounds (of meats) registered a welcome advance of nearly 2 million pounds.

Involved in the September 1964 harvest were 3,230 men and 1800 boats.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Right Way And Wrong Way

Almost all of us, whatever our source of income, would like to make more money. This is only human.

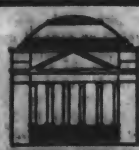

But there are right ways and wrong ways to seek this goal. One of the worst of the wrong ways was in the news a few months ago when a farm organization attempted to artificially jack up prices and, in effect, to repeal the natural law of supply and demand by withholding livestock from market unless packers would agree to price-fixing contracts. This was a failure—an inevitable failure. But a salutary lesson can be learned from it.

The livestock producer is a free agent. He is offered a day-in, day-out cash market for his meat animals, and it is a free market in every respect. No human power arbitrarily declares what the price will be at any given time. It may be profitable, or it may be unprofitable. Price is determined by the conditions of the moment—the relationship of the size and kind of supply to current demand.

Over a period of time, efficient and capable producers have done well. There is every reason for confidence that this will be the case in the future. And, under the free system, they have been generally successful without any loss of liberty, or right of decision, or freedom to run their ranches as they see fit. All the evidence suggests that the overwhelming majority of livestock men want to keep those rights and freedoms and are opposed to government interference and controls. They can be assured of that only if the free market system, fair to producers and consumers alike, is maintained.

The lessons of history tell us that.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

In listing high-ranking business schools in the country, "Forbes" business magazine two years ago predicted that the University of Virginia's Graduate School of Business Administration was "a new school to watch."

Established in 1954 by the Board of Visitors, GSBA is the youngest school of the University.

It is also one of the fastest growing schools. The entering class of 1955 had an enrollment of 33 students. By 1960, total enrollment in both years of the master's program had grown to 96. This year registration hit a new high of 132.

The entering class (86 this fall) is expected to reach 100 next year. About 100 applications more than this year's 400 are expected to be received.

One indication of a school's quality is its faculty-student ratio: one teacher for every six students.

Faculty members include a former president of Montgomery Ward, a former economist with the United States Chamber of Commerce, a former vice-president of Young and Rubicam, Inc., and a former dean of the Graduate School of Business and Public Administration at Cornell University.

The school's program is based on the case-study method of instruction rather than on the familiar lecture method.

"The case method permits the student to experience a vicarious involvement in an actual business situation, while the lecture system tends to assume that a specific group of principles can be applied to all situations," says J. L. Snook Jr., director of admissions for the school.

"Students have to make their decisions in areas where there are no simple 'yes' or 'no' answers," Snook says. "Over the course of the two-year curriculum, a student may get involved in nearly 1,000 of these cases."

"The course is designed to train men and women for positions of administrative responsibility in business and government," says Dr. Charles C. Abbott, dean of the school.

No particular undergraduate courses or fields of study are required for admission. The student body contains a variety of liberal arts majors and engineers, as well as business and other majors.

"The school is imbued with the belief that the greatest service it can perform is to help make the free-enterprise system work," Dean Abbott says.

Nearly 300 individuals and companies comprise a Sponsor organization to the school.

Member firms support research in management and economic problems of direct significance to business and to the public.

On Bermuda Cruise

Mrs. Mary Grubbs, of 814 Mayflower Apartments, and Mrs. Lucille Potter, of 1580 Laskin Road, Virginia Beach, are posed on the deck of the Furness Luxury Liner, "Queen of Bermuda", just before sailing from New York on an ocean holiday cruise to the sunny Bermuda Isles.

Sandler Plans Expansion

DIAMOND SPRINGS—The Diamond Springs Refrigeration Corp., a subsidiary of L. M. Sandler & Sons, Inc., has announced plans for a $85,000 addition.

This new room, the third one constructed, will be the culmination of a planned expansion program begun in 1960. It will be 160,000 cubic feet of cold storage to handle 1½ million pounds of merchandise.

L. M. Sandler started as a fish peddler with a wagon in 1913. On his return from the first war he purchased a retail stall in the city market. When his two sons, Sam and Harry, joined him after the second war, their business grew and changed from a retail market to a wholesale fish, frozen food, and grocery business. When the city market was torn down, the firm purchased and moved to the Diamond Springs Cold Storage.

MRS. MARY OZVALT

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mrs. Mary Horvath Ozvalt, 73 of Blackwater died Sunday at 2:15 p.m. in a Portsmouth hospital.

A native of Hungary, she was the wife of Steve Ozvalt. She had lived here 35 years.

Levin Speaks Here

Norfolk Representative Bernard Levin spoke last week to the Virginia Beach Eagles Aerie. His talk centered around local option for liquor-by-the-drink, a move he has actively supported for some time. CANAL GROUP GETS SUPPORT

VIRGINIA BEACH—A City Council-appointed canal committee and a Currituck County, N. C. farmer, armed with 200 signatures on a petition, have given support to the city's proposed canal project.

The farmer, James Tice, said Friday that the canals would relieve flooding conditions in this area "which is costing us thousands and thousands of dollars a year."

He said he loses about an acre of land a year to erosion, a situation that would be relieved by the canals.

The canal committee released a report Friday urging construction of the Virginia Beach drainage canals despite objections from the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission. The commission claims the project would increase salinity and damage plant life in Currituck Sound. "It is our unanimous opinion," the report states, "that the eastern and central canals should be started at once to relieve the flood conditions."

The committee recommended a delay on construction of a third canal which would link Rudee Inlet with Linkhorn Bay and of the proposed western canal through Kempville.

The eastern canal would run from Rudee Inlet south to Back Bay. The central canal would connect Lynnhaven Bay and Currituck Sound via the North Landing River.

Members of the committee are Richard J. Webber, Aubrey Holmes, Mason Gamage, Charles Kiley and Clinton M. Teets.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett said Friday that the group had met in Richmond with Virginia, North Carolina and federal authorities to discuss the project.

"We presented our case in the hope that we would receive assistance in getting federal aid," he said. He added that no word had been received on the position of the three agencies.

Overall cost of the canal system has been estimated at $3,676,826.57.

Hatchett, backed by City Council, has said that the city will sponsor the project even if it doesn't receive federal funds. It is feared that North Carolina's opposition to the canals may hurt the city's chances of getting federal assistance.

Meet Your Best Friend

Chief Dispatcher G. M. Held may one day save your life or home. His job is to dispatch all city fire and rescue equipment. This is how. Someone needing help phones 428-9121. Held gets all the information—name, address, location of fire, type of fire, etc. Quickly, he notifies the closest fire station. In the case of a house fire, he'd alert the two closest stations. To do this, he pushes a fire station. From his location on Arctic Avenue, this will sound any chosen fire signal in town, or all at once. When the firemen reach their station, they radio Held. He then dispatches them. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Tax Sale Nears On City Lands

VIRGINIA BEACH—Several hundred parcels of land will be sold at public auction next month unless delinquent 1962 taxes are paid by the present owners.

The sale will be held December 5 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Princess Anne Court House.

Persons now owning delinquent real estate will have until the date of the sale to pay the back taxes.

Before this property can be sold, a chancery suit must be brought against it in Circuit Court by the city's Department of Law.

Property is considered delinquent when taxes remain unpaid for three years.

After it is properly advertised it is turned over to the Clerk of Court's office where it remains, in the name of the Commonwealth until the taxes and penalties are paid or it is sold.

Once the property is sold the new owner is responsible for the back taxes.

A complete listing of the delinquent property was published in a legal notice in the November 5 issue of the Sun-News.

Census Takers Are Named

VIRGINIA BEACH—Enumerators named for the 1964 Census of Agriculture are Mrs. Sarah Barrow, Mrs. Margaret Rhodes, and Mrs. Arlene Lewis.

A census of agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather needed, up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production.

Enumerators in Virginia Beach belong to a force of 23,000 throughout the nation employed temporarily by the U.S. Bureau of the Census for this year's Census of Agriculture.

The persons appointed will be trained in a special 4-day home study course designed to prepare them for the farm census.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Please accept my sincere thanks for the publicity you gave the United Communities Fund campaign in the Virginia Beach area. My co-worker in this campaign, Mike Savadics, joins me in extending appreciation to you and to the business men of this City for making the campaign successful.

The cooperation received from our local restaurants, hotel-motel and other business firms was indeed heart warming to those of us working for the UCF campaign.

Sincerely,
J. T. Crosswhite, Jr.

LAW TOPICS

A PUBLIC SERVICE FEATURE OF THE VIRGINIA BEACH BAR ASSOCIATION

"I want a divorce," are words spoken frequently in the average lawyer's office.

Few other statements reflect the intense, bitter, emotional struggle which has preceded their pronouncement. Yet in few other instances is the person more in need of sympathetic and competent counsel before his decision becomes final. For although nearly everyone knows the common grounds for divorce, few understand its full significance, and fewer still realize that at best, a divorce is usually only a partial solution of problems confronting a husband and wife.

As is well known by any lawyer, divorce frequently creates other problems, even more impossible of solution. This is especially true if minor children are involved.

Even though the public may accept with apathy a high rate of divorce, the law still favors the continuation of a valid marriage. Lawyers and judges also feel it is their duty to help perpetuate a marriage rather than to help dissolve it.

It is for these reasons that when consulted about a divorce the lawyer will make a detailed and searching inquiry as to the nature and background of the complaints. After being fully informed he may be able to recommend a better solution to the problem than a divorce. Thus he may aid in a reconciliation and the re-establishment of a normal and harmonious home life.

Of course, if a reconciliation is impossible and one of the spouses charges that the other has been guilty of one or more of the causes for which a divorce may be granted, the lawyer consulted may begin the proceeding by filing a petition in court alleging such grounds and praying for a divorce.

Tangle—A New Game Fad

Teenagers are now taking up Tangle, a new game that has become a popular diversion in Ivy League colleges where students have organized their own campus tournaments.

Following in the tradition of such ancient pastimes as chess and checkers, Tangle is a game of strategy and capture. Players must rely upon their own individual skill, luck and chance are not involved.

The game consists of one playing board with 93 hexagon shapes called Tangle Tiles. Two, three or four can play. Each player has 29 playing pieces of various shapes and point values which are distributed from those of other players by a particular color.

Points are scored when a player encloses all six sides of a Tangle Tile. Because the pieces have different point values, only the value of the final piece that completes the enclosure counts. In addition, the Tangle Tiles themselves are also worth points, and these are added to the score.

Ivy Leaguers report that the game's greatest asset is that it develops one's sense of perception, enabling the player to plan his moves far in advance. For teenagers, however, the appeal seems to lie in the joy of getting one's opponent hopelessly "tangled".

Tangle retails for approximately $4.00. It is manufactured by Selchow & Righter Co., publishers of Scrabble crossword game and Parcheesi backgammon game.

Hirt Appears On NBC-TV

Anything can happen when Al Hirt sets aside his trumpet to make his singing debut on the NBC-TV Thanksgiving Day special, "Your All-Time Favorite Songs," to be colorcast Thursday, Nov. 26 (7:30-8:30 p.m. EST).

Al will sing his interpretation of "September Song." His "vocal coach" was Dean Martin who, along with Al and Eddie Gorme, share top billing on the program which has as its theme the 20 all-time favorite songs, as determined by a Reader's Digest poll.

"Sinatra he ain't," Dean admitted, "but Al has a nice easy-going style of delivery and a pleasant voice."

In addition to his vocalizing, of course, Al gets an opportunity to render trumpet solos, including "Exodus." Al also does a song-and-dance duet with Dean Martin on the show, and as Dean relates it, "Al is about as graceful as a bird elephant."

Al, in turn, said, "Attempting to harmonize with Dean Martin is about as hopeless as a conversation between a beer-drinker and a sherry-sipper."

Al promises another first on the show. He has dropped from 285 to 250 pounds. Al says the dropping of the 35 pounds was comparatively easy: "I have been on the road and away from New Orleans and my family so long that I haven't the chance to savor my wife's home cooking."

Jim Nabors, star of "Gomer Pyle—USMC," was shorn for his role by a real-life Marine Corps barber, Bill Waddell of San Diego, Calif.

Thanksgiving Parades Set For CBS-TV

Millions of viewers will see a dazzling array of spectacle-on-the-march in the four-city "Thanksgiving Day Parade Jubilee" on the CBS Television Network Thursday, Nov. 26 (10 a.m.-12 noon, EST).

The two-hour broadcast will cover Macy's Parade in New York, the J. L. Hudson Parade in Detroit, Gimbels Parade in Philadelphia and Eaton's Santa Claus Parade in Toronto. Captain Kangaroo and Mr. Green Jeans will be at the "magic electronic window" through which the pomp and pageantry will be presented. On a city-by-city basis, here is what will happen:

New York — Viewers will have Bud Collyer and the new Miss Teenage America, chosen at Dallas on Friday, Nov. 13—as their on-scene representatives for the 38th annual Macy's Thanksgiving Parade.

Fred Gwynne, star of "The Munsters," will be in the line of march, joined by Al Lewis, who plays the Munster family's Grandpa. They'll be wearing the same Munster make-up and costumes they wear Thursday evenings on the CBS Television Network, and will be riding in the Munsters' "family car."

A new giant balloon, a 55-foot figure of Linus the Lionhearted, will join Macy's helium-inflated heroes of juvenile literature and entertainment. Linus is the friendly, timid lion who made his CBS Television Network debut this fall in a new Saturday morning cartoon series.

Popeye, Donald Duck, Bullwinkle the Moose, as well as Dino the Dinosaur and Elsie the Cow, who made their first appearances in last year's parade, will also be aloft in the line of march.

The Paul Laval Band which was featured at the New York World's Fair will ride in the parade on a specially designed vehicle, and there will be a dozen high-school marching bands from Tennessee, Virginia, Florida, Pennsylvania and New York.

There will be a huge and elaborate Santa Claus float and others representing Toyland, Radio City Music Hall, the Metropolitan Opera and the Pan American Steel Band, as well as a circus float, another on which there will be a continuing "battle of the bands," and clown acts and walking comedy routines.

Detroit — Arthur Godfrey and Bess Myerson, "I've Got a Secret" panelist, will report the 37th annual J. L. Hudson's Parade, Lassie, CBS Television Network star and the nation's number one canine celebrity, will officiate as Grand Marshal on Float Number One.

Among the most colorful features will be the huge papier-mache heads, fashioned by the Italian craftsmen of Viareggio, worn by costumed paraders on foot. Twenty giant floats, ranging up to 135 feet long, 24 feet wide, and 17 feet high, will honor such immortal figures of juvenile literature as the Three Little Pigs, King Arthur and Excalibur, Alice in Wonderland, Mother Goose, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Big Top and Little Toot, the Four-and-Twenty Blackbirds and, of course, Santa Claus. Among other participants will be 10 crack high school bands, outriders, a police escort, and the Detroit Police Department Band.

Philadelphia — The 45th annual Gimbels Parade, to be reported by Allen Ludden, television host of "Password," and puppeteer Shari Lewis, will be the biggest of its kind ever presented in the City of Brotherly Love. It will comprise some 60 floats, 25 bands and more than 3,000 marchers. A throne float will carry the Queen of the Parade, to be selected from among hundreds of applicants between the ages of 6 and 12. The major units will be captive rolling balloons, ranging from 20 to 110 feet in length and measuring up to 15 feet in height. They will include a 100-foot snake, a 65-foot leopard and the 110-foot representation of the "Alice in Wonderland" gryphon, with an eagle's head, a lion's body, a snake's tail and enormous wings decked with green and yellow feathers. There will also be a 100-foot flying carpet bearing Aladdin and his lamp, and a colorful array of other storybook characters including a tableau of The Owl and the Pussycat, the Turkey who married them, and Piggy-Wig who was their best man. Other features will include clowns, tigers, parrots, a Humpty-Dumpty, a rhinoceros, and a walrus tearfully walking the oysters to their doom.

Toronto — Eaton's 60th Santa Claus Parade will be described by Canadian-born Art Linkletter. The parade forerunners will be headed by Elmer the Safety Elephant. There will be clowns, greeters, flag bearers and bands galore. The lead float will be the magnificent Santa's Jubilee, marking the Eaton Parade's 60th anniversary. There will also be floats with giant animated figures representing Mother Goose, the Three Little Pigs, famous nursery rhymes, a 60-foot caterpillar called Kenney, a huge gingerbread man, the Fairy Queen and her attendants, the Fur Traders, Noah's Ark, the Mississippi River Boat, the Queen of the Sea and the Space-land Rocket Ship.

Figures of Peter Panda, the Snow Queen and the Jubilee Singers dressed in costumes evoking Dickens' story "A Christmas Carol" will be in the mile-long line of march, too.

A dozen military and school bands will set a lively pace for the procession. The final float will be the traditional Eaton's Santa Claus tableau, in which a group of 10 boys and girls, with Santa driving his reindeer, portray a Christmas Eve fantasy scene.

"Thanksgiving Parade Jubilee" will be produced by Paul Levitan, Director of Special Events for the CBS Television Network, with Clarence Schimmler as associate producer. Clair Roskam and Bill Demling are the writers.

Area Residents Must Act Quickly Or Miss Opportunity Of Lifetime

By Robert L. Ballard
Contest Manager

GOING, Going, Going the opportunity of a lifetime for residents of this area.

Are you one of those who have considered entering the Virginia Beach Sun-News big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest but as yet have not started? If so, better act now or you may wake up to find this golden opportunity has slipped away from you!

Failure to act immediately could actually mean losing your share in the nearly $6,000 in prize awards which this strictly local subscription drive is making possible.

Interest Rising in Contest

Although this interesting contest is just starting, comment from all sections of this large trade area is mounting each day. Residents of Oceana, Princess Anne Plaza, Aragona Village, Lawson Forest, Thalia, Kempsville, Seatack, and all surrounding communities are already talking about this big subscription drive and a number have called the office to ask why contestants have not yet stopped by to take their subscriptions. This fact alone would clearly indicate that a real opportunity still exists for those who wish to enter the contest at this time. It is definitely not too late to enter and share in the big awards on December 24. If you start at once.

Large Field Untouched

As yet there are many large fields that have not been touched by contestants in this big race and any energetic man or woman could very easily acquire a position on equal footing with the other contestants in just a few days. Six big prizes are awarded in all and ALL contestants compete on an equal basis. Should you not be one of the six who win major awards, the unique plan under which the contest is operated affords all workers substantial earnings for their efforts. It is impossible for a contestant to lose... the minimum reward for any contestant is a weekly pay check for 20 per cent of ALL subscription collections, $1 of every $5 collected which could very easily amount to $50, $75 or even $100 per week.

Make Spare Effort Profitable
Spare time can be made to pay off in a big way during the next few weeks also, but, it will pay off only to those who have the foresight to get started now. Energy and ambition are the only requirements, no special training is necessary... ENTER NOW!

Two From P.A. Plaza Group End Training

PLAZA — Two members of the Princess Anne Plaza Volunteer Fire Department have become the first two volunteers from Virginia Beach to complete the Fire Service Training Course of 75 hours.

Both Robert L. Yon and Robert Bottom will be awarded certificates by the state. The course is in three complete sections: basic, standard, and advance.

Other volunteer firemen in the city have completed one or two sections of the course and are working toward the certificates. These men add to this work at their own time and expense, and are at the same time active in other fire-fighting and rescue activities.

JOINT SERVICES

AT BAYSIDE CHURCH

BAYSIDE — Thanksgiving morning at 10 a.m. there will be a joint Thanksgiving service at Bayside Christian Church, Greenwell Road, with Rev. R. Musser, pastor Baylake Methodist giving the sermon. This is an annual event with the two churches. Each year they alternate.

Hospital Gets Needed Funds

Each year the White Heron Motel has its newspaper buyers put their coins into a piggy bank for the Virginia Beach Hospital Building Fund. "Now remember, I'm not a surgeon," laughed Hospital consulting Engineer John Everett Jr. as he knifed open the pig before on-looking doctors. Spilling forth was $210 and one slug. Those attending the luncheon-ceremony were Dr. J. L. Gardner, Dr. James P. Charlton, Sun-News Reporter Robert Hardy, White Heron Manager Miss Pat Bragg, the motel's general manager R. H. Spessard, Everett, Chairman of the Hospital's Board of Directors Hunter C. Phelon, Dr. W. A. Dickinson, Dr. Fitzhugh Earley, and Dr. John Mapp. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Eagles Sponsor Toy Campaign

Virginia Beach Aerie No. 3204, Fraternal Order of Eagles is sponsoring a "Toys For Tots" drive in the City of Virginia Beach in conjunction with the Virginia Beach Fire Departments and the Little Creek Amphibious Base. The fire stations have the facilities to store the toys and will accept them at anytime if they are brought to the stations; however, the stations do not have the equipment to pick up the toys on a large scale.

Chief Davis and Capt. Hugh McKenney and other volunteers at the Little Creek Amphibious Base operate a workshop to repair the toys to be distributed to needy children in Virginia Beach through the Virginia Beach Welfare Dept. and Bayside Lions Club.

The Virginia Beach Eagles' Club is collecting toys in the Aerie Home to be delivered to the Little Creek Amphibious Base, and on Sunday, Nov. 29 will furnish several cars and trucks to pick up any repairable toys from anyone in the city of Virginia Beach calling and giving their address and leaving the toys on the curb.

The Eagles Club can furnish enough cars and trucks to cover the city of Virginia Beach only, and will in no way interfere with any toy drive the other cities in this area may have.

The numbers to call are 497-8765; 497-2181 or 464-9962, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 29.

The toys may be taken to any Virginia Beach fire station at any time and the Eagles' Club will pick them up on Sunday, Nov. 29 only.

Junior Miss Event At P.A. High Saturday

THALIA — The Thalia Annual Virginia Beach Junior Miss Pageant sponsored by the Princess Anne Jr. Chamber of Commerce will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Princess Anne High School Auditorium.

The Junior Miss title is given to the high school senior between the ages of 16 and 19 who best typifies the ideal American teenager. Judging includes personality, talent, scholastic achievement, and personal appearance.

Appearing will be 16 finalists out of 35 applications. Along with the trophy and other prizes is a $200 scholarship.

Indians - Pilgrims - Thanksgiving

Seatack Elementary celebrated Thanksgiving in a big way as the second grade boys dressed as Indians and the girls as pilgrims. Too young to pass the peace pipe, Carnel Bly, 8, offers his hand in friendship to Diane Cooper, 7. The annual program opened with songs, poems, and readings following lunch. The Reverend Maurice Riddick rendered a sermonette. Sponsoring teachers were Mrs. Laura Adams, Mrs. Meador W. Buford, Mrs. Susie D. Whitehurst, Mrs. Ruth S. Bell, Mrs. Myrtle W. Jones, and Miss Elizabeth Olds. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Parents Make Report On Beach Schools

VIRGINIA BEACH — A report card was issued recently that was just a little different from all other report cards. This one came from the parents and rated Virginia Beach High Schools — and there were no punches pulled.

The report spoke well of both the band and the football team. Other plus marks in the report went to the labs, science, language and home economics which are well organized, modest and satisfactory.

Minus

Minus marks to Virginia Beach High School were in its lack of experienced, remedial English teachers, its short term and young, inexperienced teachers, some confusion or misunderstanding in tutoring, its lack of an Honors English Program, Forensics and Art Classes which the students at Princess Anne, Kellam and Cox receive, and which have been established for several years at the schools.

English

Students receive a full English program at Virginia Beach with the exception of Honors English. All schools interviewed have remedial English in all grades, but there is a great need for experienced teachers in this field.

Grading

The principals were asked by the Committee "Can English teachers use help in grading themes?" Opinions and answers varied: — Princess Anne countered with a "Yes, if trained." Cox stated "Yes, if put on a paid basis—otherwise not dependable." Kellam stated "Their teachers take care of this and no help needed." Virginia Beach replied "Not advisable as each teacher has his or her own method for grading."

Since it has been estimated by several authorities that 20 or 30 hours of outside work by English teachers is required if students are taught to write by writing, plans should be made to solve this problem.

Participating in Forensics by the high schools in this area brought only "no" in the report for Virginia Beach and "yes" for the other high schools.

Assistant Principal Mrs. Margaret Jeter corrected this statement and introduced Miss S. J. Armstrong, new Drama teacher for the school.

Miss Armstrong stated that although speech and debate are limited to Juniors and Seniors at present, this Spring will see a debating team at Virginia Beach High and that next year it is possible all grades will be offered courses as at Princess Anne, Cox and Kellam.

Art

Art Courses brought a complete zero to Virginia Beach. Art I, II and III are offered at Princess Anne, Cox and Kellam. Miss Jeter stated that it was at one time offered but became a crib course for football players and was discontinued for lack of space. It will perhaps be reinstated next year if there is a demand. It was not brought out why the demand is filled and has been filled for some time in the other three high schools.

Discipline

Discipline in the various schools is varied. Princess Anne gives a student a choice of two days suspension or paddling; parents are required to come to the school with the students for counseling.

Cox School talks with the student. If the attitude is poor, the parent is called. If this fails, the Juvenile Authorities make an attempt to talk with the student and if nothing can be done, then, suspension and expulsion.

At Kellam, a unique and unusual program is followed, which according to the Assistant Principal, Mr. Topp never fails. Extra work is assigned and students attend a seventh bell citizenship class. Jobs are found for the students, boys take care of grounds girls wash windows and tilework. This has been found more effective than expelling or suspension.

At Virginia Beach teachers handle all discipline problems. Counseling is done for the pupil and the usual punishment is one hour after school.

Stealing is also assessed differently at the schools. Princess Anne has monitoring by SCA students in its halls, Cox has new locks installed on its lockers.

Kellam has monitoring at school activities only—where most of the petty thievery takes place. Virginia Beach is at present considering the monitoring system.

Guidance Counseling

Guidance counseling, is handled somewhat alike by the schools. Princess Anne has five full time counselors and one part-time counselor who represents the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps as well.

Cox has three full time counselors.

CHURCH PLANNING

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

BAYSIDE — The Christian Board of Education of the Bayside Christian Church met November 24, at the church, with the Primary teachers. The purpose of the meeting was to plan the Christmas Program for the children. Mrs. Irene Smith is chairman of the board.

seors, and Kellam three full time counselors. Virginia Beach with 1100 students has two full time, and one part time counselor. The state recommends one counselor to 300 students.

The tutoring program is solved differently by all three schools. Princess Anne gives teacher help and access to public and private tutors. Cox has no inside tutoring, but the Guidance Department has a list of tutors.

Kellam screens the 11th grade in May to determine in advance individual needs on subjects by the pupils to be admitted in the fall. Personal contact is made during the summer to determine the extra classes.

Extra sit-in classes are offered to all grades in place of study halls. The student is encouraged to attend for information and observations only. A study hall consists of small groups with teacher help available.

The solution to tutoring at Virginia Beach is in reports required of teachers by pupils failing a course, — a statement by the teacher as to what she has done to help and then parents are informed.

Classes are given after school and tutoring lists are made available. No charge is made for tutoring done at the school.

Library

The library facilities in the four schools rate somewhat the same with the exception of Cox which is open on Wednesday night.

Untrained Teachers

Why the influx of new teachers each year with little or no practice teaching or experience in their background?

Many a teacher must pinch-hit in some subject with which she is unfamiliar or untrained which in today's society of specialization would not be tolerated in the field of law, medicine or industry but is acceptable to the world's most important product, the training of minds.

Mrs. Jeter stated that the new teachers bring new ideas, and new viewpoints to the students. The argument of whether mastery of the subject is also brought was not resolved.

Mrs. John Waller co-author of "Teen-Parent Guide" submitted a question on why Virginia Beach had no full time liaison between Faculty and students such as represented by the Director of Student Activities at Cox.

This program furthers the participation of students in SCA projects, clubs, trips to cultural and historical sites, and stimulates and encourages students to achieve and participate in all benefits for his community.

ROBBERY HERE PUTS VICTIM IN HOSPITAL BED

VIRGINIA BEACH — According to Virginia Beach Police, Maricene Chaney, 66, was assaulted and robbed Tuesday at his place of employment, Davey Jones Lockers on 17th Street.

Maricene Chaney is in the hospital today, perhaps wondering who his friends really are. Tuesday night he was the victim of a robbery set-up by the same female employee who gave him a birthday party five days earlier.

Chaney and the employee, Diane Patricia Eans, 18, of Colony Trailer Court, were preparing to close the Davey Jones Lockers.

"I was sitting in a chair waiting to close," said Chaney. "It was about quarter to midnight. Mickey, that's Diane's nickname, came over. She said there was something going on in the back and for me to go see."

The front room has pool tables. In the rear room there are rows of dimly lit lockers.

"I went in the back. They were waiting for me behind the door. When I stepped in, they hit me five times across the head."

Chaney kept a large sum of money in his pocket at all times. His daughter, Mrs. Marie Merkle said only last Sunday she and her husband had warned Chaney not to carry it. "But he wouldn't listen."

Police Officer J. G. Malesky was called to the scene about 12:30 a.m. Wednesday. He and investigating Detective C. O. Lambert Jr. learned that over $500 had been taken from Chaney's pocket.

Miss Eans was picked-up by 3 a.m. Charged with assault and robbery, she confessed to setting-up the robbery.

Police moved quickly, and shortly after Miss Eans was taken into custody, two men were arrested.

Construction worker Robert Gerald Thomas, 18, of the 600 block of 16th Street, was charged with assault and robbery, and burglary with intent to commit robbery. This is a capital offense.

Ronald G. Metevier, 20, of NAS Oceana, was arrested and charged with being an accessory after the fact. $495 was recovered.

Police found the bloodstained instrument used in the assault. It was a long piece of metal as used to frame fluorescent lamps. As proof of the viciousness of the assault, the metal had bent to conform to Chaney's head.

The hearing has been set for November 30.

Turkey Aftermath
What is turkey aftermath? Well really there are several types of this ailment—all delightful!

Three types I have had are:
Turkey Chowder—Turkey Vegetable Soup and clear Turkey Soup. Here's how you get the ailment!

Turkey Chowder is especially hearty for a one-dish meal. After the meat has been removed from the bones, the carcass is simmered with herbs, celery and onion, along with Accent and Tabasco to make a flavorful turkey stock. Carrots, rice, cream-style corn and the turkey pieces are added to the cooked broth. Turkey Vegetable Soup is another sturdy favorite, combining onion, celery, carrot, frozen peas and rice, with lemon juice added for a tangy touch. Clear Turkey Soup is a delicate broth, perfect for preceding a meal. After cooking, the vegetables used to flavor the broth are strained, and the soup served clear. However, if you like a little texture, add cooked rice, noodles or croutons.

A hearty soup is most practical for the company of family meal—it can simmer in the kettle while you greet guests. Best of all, there is no last-minute fussing when you plan your menu around soup—simply ladle it out and wait compliments.

TURKEY CHOWDER

Turkey carcass
2 quarts water
1 tsp. Accent
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
3 sprigs parsley
2 stalks celery with leaves
2 medium onions, sliced
Remove meat from carcass; reserve. Break up carcass and place in a large deep kettle. Add water, Accent, salt, Tabasco, parsley, celery, onions, bay leaf, bouillon cube and thyme. Bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat and simmer 1 hour. Strain stock and return to kettle. Add carrots and rice; cover and cook 20 minutes, or until rice is tender. Add corn and turkey; heat to serving temperature.
YIELD: Approximately 2 quarts.

Beef For Your Menu

Some of the less tender—and budget priced—cuts offer excellent possibilities as change-of-pace meals.

Take chuck steak, plate, brisket, fore Shank and the heel of the round. They are good in stews, braised as a pot roast or simmered for a boiled dinner. Ground, they make up into tasty meat loaves, meat balls, hamburgers and casserole dishes.

Flank steak can be fashioned into a very special Sunday dinner with a bread or sausage stuffing. Spread the stuffing over steak, pull sides of the steak together to form a long roll, and tie with a string or fasten with a skewer. Place on rack and bake slowly in 350 degrees F. oven about 1 1/2 hours. If desired, add a mushroom or gravy sauce during last half hour of baking time. Canned Mushroom Soup can be easily used.

Florist's Plants

A potted plant makes a lovely gift for a person in the hospital, a gracious hostess or a birthday girl.

Florist plants are grown in greenhouses. They are used to conditions there, so for best results they should continue to receive regulated light, heat and water.

A few of the more popular gift plants are listed below with their desired growing conditions.

Azaleas—Keep azaleas in diffused sunlight. They do best at temperatures of 55 to 60 degrees. Water frequently.

Chrysanthemums—Potted chrysanthemums like full sunlight, temperatures between 60 to 70 degrees, and lots of water. Most potted mums are not satisfactory for later planting outdoors. Some new varieties, however, are. Ask your florist.

Cinerarias—Place them in a sunny window. They like temperatures from 50 to 60 degrees and frequent watering. Discard plant when the flowers are gone.

Cyclamens—Flowers last about 2 weeks if the temperature is kept at 70 degrees, longer at 50 to 55 degrees. Never let water stand in the crown of the plant; flower shoots and bases of the leaves rot easily.

Hydrangeas—Provide abundant water and moderate light. After the plant has bloomed, cut it back to several internodes and repot.

Ring Dance At V.M.I. This Week

LEXINGTON — For Virginia Military Institute second classmen (juniors), the Thanksgiving weekend means more than just football and turkey. It's the time of the traditional ring dance when members of the class receive their VMI rings. And Virginia Beach will be well represented.

Leading the figure of the ring ceremony will be Cadet Marshall C. Taylor, of 173 Pinewood Road, Virginia Beach, president of VMI's class of 1966. He will escort Miss Kathleen Watson, also of Virginia Beach (1921 Lynncove Lane). Miss Watson is a senior at Sweet Briar College.

Eight other cadets from Virginia Beach will be among the second classmen taking part in the ring ceremony. They are:

Cadet Robert S. Solomon, 3112 Lynnhaven Drive, with Miss Lynda Ellen Harris of Springfield.

Cadet John M. Turner, 202 50th Street, with Miss Elizabeth Brinkmeyer of Bethesda, Md. Miss Brinkmeyer is a student at Duke University.

Cadet John B. Waltz, III, 5390 Sir Barton Drive, with Miss Marjorie Haack of Silver Springs, Maryland.

And Cadet Thomas F. White, 3311 Shore Drive, with Miss Judith McKendree of Lexington. Miss McKendree is a student at Averett College in Danville.

OCEAN PARK LADIES LEARN GERMAN WAYS

By Doris Padrick

OCEAN PARK — A glimpse of life in Eastern Germany during the crucial post-war years was given to the Ocean Park Women's Club by Mrs. Maria Ursula (Koch) Bateman who was born and raised in Oppeln, Germany, near the Polish border.

Arranged by the International Affairs chairman, Mrs. Michael Henry, the morning meeting was held in her home on Surry road last Wednesday, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Maria, who could speak only a few phrases of English just a few short years ago, described vividly, in perfect English, her life as a child with her mother and father and sister and brother when food was scarce and life was generally bleak and uncertain for all German citizens. Their very survival depended upon bravery in the face of treachery at every step.

She recalled an incident when she, as a teenager, was walking the dark street carrying many cans of precious Argentine beef, and a large figure of a man stepped up to her as she came near a dimly lit gas streetlamp and grabbed her purse strap to stop her. "My instant reaction was to smash him full in the face with a heavy can of beef. He let go and I ran, terrified, the rest of the way home. But he wasn't about to get that beef!"

Maria met her future husband, Roy, while he was serving with the army in Germany, and dated him secretly for many months before her father discovered they wished to be married. "Like all typical German fathers, he insisted we wait until Roy's service was completed," she remarked, "but when he returned to me 17 months later, my father gave up his blessing and we were married in Germany in November 1952."

The Bateman family, which now includes a son Rene (almost 11) have made 11 return trips to Germany to visit Maria's family, and Maria's mother has visited the States.

Both Miss Swerdtger and Mr. Haden were honored guests at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Watson at their home in Charlottesville about 30 guests attended.

Miss Judith Ann Huck and Miss Nani Coleman Swerdtger, members of the wedding party, entertained the bride-elect at a kitchen shower at Miss Huck's home in Birdneck Point. The guest list numbered 30.

Mrs. Llewellyn Pugh Haden will be hostess for the rehearsal dinner for her son and Miss Swerdtger Friday night at the Princess Anne Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin A. Studds will entertain the couple at a bridal luncheon Saturday at the Cape Beach and Cabana Club preceding the 5 p.m. wedding ceremony at First Presbyterian Church.

COLORING COTTONS CAN BE FUN AT CHRISTMAS

Wondering whether to give toys or clothes to the youngsters on your Christmas shopping list?

A happy solution to the problem is offered in one of the most appealing gift items to come along in years, reports the National Cotton Council. It's a new fun idea in children's wear called "color-me" cottons.

Designed to divert young artists' talents from coloring the living-room walls to creating their own original fashions, the outfits are printed with outlines of whimsical animals and toys ready to be colored.

Each garment comes with its own set of special crayons for coloring the designs. Colors come out by simply soaking the garment in cold soapy water before tossing it in the washing machine.

After each washing, the young artist can re-color the outfit in a fresh new color scheme.

Available in a variety of styles for boys and girls, "color-me" cottons provide children with hours of entertainment plus months of practical wear.

One of the most striking outfits for little girls is a bright red cotton broadcloth dress with a detachable white apron. The apron is printed with a large black outline drawing of a ready-to-be-colored tiger. The same style is offered in a royal blue dress with a giraffe motif on the apron.

For older girls, the "color-me" motif is applied to an over-blossom topping a low-waisted kelly green dress.

In the mirror of fashion this season, every woman is a fair and gentle lady. A new softly feminine look shows up in every category of women's wear . . . from sports separates to formal attire.

Illustrating the trend, according to the National Cotton Council, is a romantic holiday collection of cotton blouses and shirts. They are on the market in time for special gift-giving.

of fashion witchery, carried out in soft design accents, ultra-feminine fabrics, and elegant ladylike colors.

For the "fair lady" look, the cotton blouse group makes a fashion point of portrait necklines, frilly ruffles and floppy tie-bows, tucked bibs and long billowing sleeves. Sleeves on several shirts are real period types, with fullness ending in a long three-button cuff. Other long-sleeved styles have elegant French or flaring wing cuffs.

Fabrics featured in the holiday collection are notable for their air of femininity. Lustrous cotton satin headlines one blouse group, which is crisply patterned in the elegant black and white color scheme of the memorable Ascot scene from "My Fair Lady." The cotton satin styles come in bold stripes or large coin dots, dramatic contrast to their newly soft tailoring.

One of the most romantic fabrics in the collection is all-cotton embroidered eyelet. Delicate pastel cotton prints also are featured, lending a fragile charm to many simply-cut shirts.

Guaranteed to please every fair lady on your Christmas list, each blouse in the holiday collection comes in an individual pink gift box.

PERKY—Bold polka dots sparkle on white cotton satin in this blouse styled with portrait collar and three-quarter sleeves with wing cuffs. It's included in Lady Arrow's "My Fair Lady" blouse collection.

FEMININE—Inspired by the fashions in "My Fair Lady" is this feminine-looking blouse of embroidered cotton eyelet. Ruffles form a stand-away collar and edge the three-quarter sleeves. By Lady Arrow.

City's Volunteer Firemen Most Dedicated Group Of Men

This city is blessed with the best volunteer fire departments in the world. We know that is a broad statement but we will stand by it. If ever there was a group of unsung heroes the many volunteer fire groups throughout the city stand high in that regard.

It would be impossible to estimate the man hours donated by these dedicated men to safeguard the lives and property of their fellow citizens. These hours are spent in fighting fires and saving lives. This is the job they have volunteered to do.

Over and above the duty hours spent when a fire alarm is sounded these men also raise the necessary funds to operate with certain projects throughout the year. True they receive some financial support from the city but they must augment this with additional money.

What the public does not know about this fine group of citizens is that for the past two weeks some 152 Virginia Beach firemen have devoted their nights attending fire training schools at various locations in the Tidewater area.

These volunteer firemen serve without pay in the hazardous work of fighting fires and now they are devoting what extra hours they can find to improve their skill and knowledge of fighting fires.

We say these men deserve much praise and they make up a part of the picture of Virginia Beach and why this city is so pleasant and nice. Our hats are off to the city's many volunteer fire units.

The Ocean Hiway's 1965 Program Of Progress

The Ocean Hiway Association, whose headquarters office is now located in Virginia Beach, has announced a most ambitious program for 1965 that is expected to generate more travel on the Ocean Hiway and thus, in turn, mean more business for the areas along the scenic route.

The new Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel is very much a part of the program and the Virginia Beach area stands to benefit from the efforts of this promotion-minded group. A breakdown of the points included in the Association's 1965 Program of Progress includes the following:

- Expanding the advertising in areas of travel origin.
- An effective sign program to attract and keep travelers.
- Working closely with toll authorities to increase traffic.
- Producing and distributing maps and other literature.
- Increasing information services.
- Conducting a continuous news and publicity program.

● Conducting a continuous program of travel research with the aim of building a sound long-range program of travel promotion.

● Establishing new programs and services to enable members to multiply the effectiveness of the association efforts.

● Developing an enthusiastic team of boosters throughout the route.

The Ocean Hiway also has an active hiway development plan in which members will:

- Help organize state hiway improvement groups to work for four-laning and other improvements.
- Justify the need for Ocean Hiway improvements by generating more traffic.
- Encourage local groups to make their areas more attractive as vacation destinations or places to stop.
- Promote recognition for the Ocean Hiway as a national scenic route.

TELL ME

NAVY MAN FIXES CLOCK, GAINS FAME

LITTLE CREEK — Jules Verne tampered with time in his turn-of-the-century novel "The Time Machine" and captured the imagination of the world.

LTJG Phillip Wyne has tampered with time in a novel way and captured the hearts of thousands in the Mediterranean world. Wyne is assistant main propulsion officer aboard attack transport USS Montoya (APA-31) currently deployed to the Mediterranean with the Sixth Fleet as part of the Mediterranean Amphibious Biking Force. His extensive experience in precision instrument repair enabled him to become one of the most potent weapons to date in our people-to-people campaign.

His first came in Filos, Greece where he accidentally learned three facts of the church tower clock had not changed expression for a decade.

Priests there said the clock would probably never be fixed because of the great expense of bringing a repairman from Athens. But the Montoya officer turned his hand to the intricate task and soon the hands of the clock—still for years—began to turn. The ingenuity and imagination he used to overcome a lack of parts and tools were rewarded by the effective friendship of the priests and people.

The Mediterranean is a close community despite borders and political factions. Such deeds as this cannot go unnoticed. These clocks are not mere timepieces to the people of these towns and villages. In some areas the birth, life and death of 10 or more generations have been measured and regulated by the stroke of their tower clock. Their sense of identification with these venerable landmarks is ingrained and reverent.

The word spread and in Montreale, Sicily another clock whirled and stirred under the talented fingers of America's "Ambassador in Time."

Wyne's fame island-hopped ahead and from Malta the American Consul General dispatched a request that he pit his skill against the formidable task of repairing the tower clock in St. John's Cathedral of Valletta.

The 250-year-old clock was larger than any he had tackled before. It required reworking, adjusting, replacement and even rebuilding of some of its major components. LTJG Wyne worked steadily until he got the mechanism ticking again. He returned the next day to make the "fine" adjustments—only to find that the ancient timepiece had lost only one second in 24 hours!

Impressed with the feat and aware of his other acts of goodwill, local radio and television stations held interviews featuring the young American naval officer. One reporter noted that, incidentally, Wyne had no watch. He admitted the oddity, but shrugged it off with the observation that he just didn't have time to keep one in good repair.

If some thoughtless soul should mention to LTJG Wyne that London's "Big Ben" must someday malfunction, the glow from his eye might even melt the heart of a Marine DI.

ALLEN IS FORD SCHOOL GRADUATE

RICHMOND — Archie F. Allen, Jr., with EmRhac Ford, Inc., of Virginia Beach, has been graduated from the sales management course conducted by the Atlanta Ford Marketing Institute.

The area currently called Virginia Beach has had two royal namesakes. At first it was called Elizabeth City after England's Queen; then it became New Norfolk; then Lower Norfolk in 1637. In 1691, to settle disputes, boundaries were drawn and this area fell heir to the name which King James II daughter had: Princess Anne, later Queen Anne. The merger with Virginia Beach in 1962 returned it to its first namesake, England's Virgin Queen, Elizabeth I.

Revival Set For Francis Asbury Church

GREAT NECK — A Church-Wide Revival will commence at Francis Asbury Methodist Church on Great Neck Road Sunday and continue through Thursday, according to an announcement by the Reverend LeRoy Davis, pastor. The Reverend W. L. Sturtevant, pastor of Bon Air Methodist Church, Richmond will be the guest minister.

The Revival will open Sunday at 11 a.m. with a "Good Neighbor Sunday" service to which each "good neighbor" is urged to bring a "good neighbor." A pre-revival "Joy Sing" including several familiar gospel songs will form an integral part of the morning services. "Make Room for Christ" will be the theme of the local minister's sermon.

At 7:45 p.m. Sunday, and continuing at the same hour through Thursday night, a "Joy Sing" of favorite gospel songs will be conducted informally. Each night the guest minister will share with the young children the singing of several simple songs easily adaptable to young children. Arrangements have been completed for guest anthems each night to supplement the local church choir and to introduce the theme of the guest minister.

The Reverend W. L. Sturtevant, a U.S. Army Chaplain during the last World War, has conducted preaching missions in Cuba and Norway. When meeting in Oslo, Mr. Sturtevant was a delegate to the World Conference of Methodism. His deep spiritual fervor and singing ability has caused him to be in great demand through Virginia and other states.

Mr. James Miller is the local church Commission on Membership and Evangelism Chairman while Mrs. Dorothy West is Chancel Choir Director and Miss Laura Donaldson is organist.

Anyone wishing to share in Christ-Centered preaching, singing and fellowship is cordially invited to attend the Revival at Francis Asbury Methodist Church November 29 through December 3, at 7:45 nightly.

A frequent picture in Virginia Beach is another speeder being caught by radar. In the "DAY" photo, T. M. Millions stops motorist. The radar can be seen mounted on the patrol car in front of the motorist. It can be angled to read speed in any direction. In the "Night" photo, Lewis Barlow watches for speeders from a new patrol car. Here the radar is mounted on the back window. It can also be mounted inside the car, picking up speeders through the window. It's just as effective whether the police car is parked or moving. Chief J. E. Moore said "Two radar cars caught over 490 speeders last month—too many. I wish people would pay more attention to their driving." (Staff photos by Hardy)

SERVING PUBLIC IS LIFE STORY FOR BEACH BUSINESSMAN

by Doris Padrick
VIRGINIA BEACH — A barefoot boy of nine in stovepipe pants spending his time around a gas station to earn a little spending money was the unassuming beginning of a career in serving the public which now spans nearly 40 years.

From mechanic to service station owner to bowling establishment owner-manager, and now transportation official is the up-hill climb made successfully by Joe Phelps, well-known throughout the Tidewater area as a businessman actively engaged in services to the community.

When Phelps began using his own Thunderbird bus to transport the youth to and from the bowling lanes in the recreation program, he realized that a service could be rendered to the many private schools, churches, and organizations throughout the area. And the idea for a fleet of buses and the Virginia Bus Service, Inc., was born.

His latest venture began in June 1964 when he transported the many high school students to summer school classes. The locally owned and operated bus company now carries students for Star of the Sea School, Everett School, Norfolk Catholic High, and Old Dominion College, as well as taking the children on athletic and educational field trips for the Virginia Beach City Schools, and youth groups from various local churches.

He realized it was a problem for private sources to own their own bus as schools and faculty are neither equipped nor trained in the mechanics and upkeep of the machines. Neither do they often have the necessary parking area. With his background of service station management, he is an expert in keeping the eight buses in tip-top mechanical condition. And there is ample parking area for the buses around Thunderbird Bowl.

From his war service years as a flight instructor in light aircraft, he learned how to maintain a strict time schedule enabling the buses to be where they should be at the time promised. The ETA (estimated time of arrival) factor has been carefully studied and worked out to a minute degree. Trial runs were made and time noted to ascertain the best possible routes in regard to traffic, lights, and the boarding area for the children. He feels it most important that the bus stop be in a safe area where the children will not have to cross traffic in a congested area.

Safety of the children passengers has been the most seriously checked out feature of the bus service. Local housewives plus two men are employed as the drivers, and a constant check is made of their physical and mental condition. It is vitally important that all drivers have the complete thorough eye examination and be certified as being able to see everything in every direction possible.

The drivers are capable and trustworthy, the buses in proper mechanical condition, and the route carefully mapped out.

Serving the public and being associated with the children makes the Virginia Bus Service, Inc. the most satisfying business venture of Joe Phelps' varied careers in public service.

Local Golfers Enter Bermuda Four-Man Meet

HAMILTON, Bermuda — The Princess Anne Country Club, a frequent competitor in the annual International Goodwill tournament here, is sending a four-man team to the 1964 event which will be played on this resort island Dec. 1-4.

Assistant Professional Bernard Austin and three club members will be competing in a field of almost 100 other teams from England, Scotland, Canada, the United States, Barbados and Bermuda.

Scheduled to travel to Bermuda with Austin are Albert Kouri of 1144 Crystal Lake Dr., Virginia Beach; Gene Evans, 7423 Muirfield Rd., Norfolk; and Marvin Lucas, Blackbeard Road, Virginia Beach.

It is a 72-hole, best-ball event which is played on three of the seven golf courses on this 21-square-mile island. The pro on each team plays scratch and his three amateur partners are allowed handicaps.

Last year, the Virginia Beach foursome failed to qualify for the final round of the tournament.

Another Virginia club, the Country Club of Virginia of Richmond, has also entered the tournament. Listed as a tentative starter is the Sewell's Point Golf Club of Norfolk.

On Dec. 5, all the professional golfers will meet at the world-famous Mid-Ocean Club for a separate, 18-hole, prize-money tournament—the Goodwill Professional Championship.

Resident Wins Mr. Virginia

Mike Kowach, 21, of 101 44th Street, won the title of Mr. Virginia last Saturday in Lynchburg. This was the first contest he'd ever entered. Training for three months, Kowach lifted weights two hours each day. Now stationed at NAS Oceana, he and wife Nancy plan to remain in Virginia Beach after he gets out of the Navy next September. Kowach works part time as a real estate salesman. Originally he hails from Warren, Ohio.

ANGLERS EARN CITATION PLAQUES

VIRGINIA BEACH — Outstanding catches in the 7th Annual Virginia Salt Water Fishing Tournament have earned citation plaques for 1910 anglers. About 25 per cent or 418 anglers came from 22 states, Bermuda and England.

Final tabulations compiled by the tournament office at Virginia Beach showed Bluefish were by far the most abundant Citation size fish in the State's 22 species contest with a total of 780 registered for the season.

This is the third successive year that Bluefish Citations have led in the annual six-months contest. A total of 1780 Bluefish Citations in 1963 caused tournament officials to raise the minimum weight requirement for blues from six to nine pounds in 1964.

Flounder, carrying a minimum weight requirement of 6 pounds was the second most popular entry with a total of 329 entered. This is the largest number of Flounders ever entered since the minimum weight requirement for this species was raised from five to six pounds in 1959, when more than 500 Citations were registered.

Records

Two new all time Virginia Sport Fishing records were set in the annual six-months contest. A giant 95-pound 8-ounce Black Drum boated off Smiths Island of Virginia's Eastern Shore boosts the national record for this species by just one-pound 4-ounces and captures the Kelam Distributing Company Black Drum Trophy for Wilson Glenn.

Grid Leagues End Season

VIRGINIA BEACH — The recreation football leagues—Midget, Jr. High, and Sr. High—sponsored by the Virginia Beach Recreation Department officially came to a close on Saturday, November 21. Three districts shared the championships.

The midget championship was won by the C & K Hawks, coached by John Miller, with a 7-1 record. Alfred Olds' Red Devils of Seatack won the junior high championship by defeating the Bayside Eagles, coached by Fred Cross, in a play-off game 6-0 on Saturday, November 21 at the Union Kempsville Athletic Field. Both teams ended the regular season with a 6-1-1 record. The Seaboard Mustangs, coached by Jake Whitehurst won the senior high championship with a 6-2 record.

of Saxis.

The other all time Virginia record breaker was a 25-pound 4-ounce False Albacore boated by J. L. Sparrow of Norfolk, while trolling off Virginia Beach. Sparrow's record breaker exceeded the former title holder by seven-pounds four-ounces and earns for him the Long Creek Marina False Albacore Trophy.

Leading Entries

Two Virginia Beach men won three awards. O. L. Lester caught a Wahoo weighing 56 pounds 11 ounces, and a Tautog of 11 pounds three ounces. M. L. Sawyer caught a 15 ounce spot. All three were taken in Virginia Beach waters.

Three out-of-town men caught their prizes off Virginia Beach. J. J. Phillips of Gloucester Point took a 39 pound dolphin. J. L. Sparrow of Norfolk caught a 25 pound four ounce false albacore. J. W. Palmer of Newport News took a 12 pound 12 ounce bluefish.

Chargers New Grid Champs

The afterschool playground at Thoroughgood School climaxed their 4-team, 11-man football league last week by crowning the Chargers as league champions with a 7-2 record. Members of the winning squad were Bob May, Keith Sudduth, Mike Gaslin, Craig Summerlin, Neil Jordan, Jural Herring, Steve Lakers, Will Partridge, Blaine Lucas, Bill Stuart, Ricky Allen, C. L. Shaffer and Dale Boswell.

The Jaguars were second with a 4-3-2 record and the Thunderbirds (3-5-1) and the Baracudas (2-4-3) followed in that order. High scores for the season was Keith Clothier with 43 points, with Keith Sudduth, Chargers (41 points) second and Jimmy Morrisette, Jaguars (24 points) third.

Mr. John Daniels, Director of the Playground has picked the following boys to form an All-Star team that will subsequently play the Champion Chargers.

Jaguars — Jim Morrisette, Dave Meier, George Lyon, Butch Hartzog, Kyle McNeer, Bob Hemson and Dave Cowling.

Baracudas — Kyle Britt, Ken Melton, Bruce Jefferies, Buddy Byrd, and Bryan Beatson.

Thunderbirds — Steve Ragsdale, Wes Barnette, Bill Sanderlin, Hank Evans, Rusty McMullan, Bob Marsh, Lanning Williams, Leslie Luhrs, and Don Drew.

Mr. Daniels will start his Soccer League on Monday, Nov. 30. All boys wishing to be on a team are requested to report on this date.

HURD'S

HURD'S ROAD

JUST OFF LITTLE HAVEN ROAD

WHEN WINTER COMES HERE ARE TIPS TO FILL CHILD'S TIME

Whether you're a mother, a teacher, or a scout leader, you're bound to welcome these tips for keeping children happily occupied on snowy, blowy days when they can't go out to play.

With aluminum foil and such other easy-to-find items as old rubber balls, wooden spoons, and construction paper, you can help youngsters start their own puppet show... fashion foil into popcorn animals for a birthday, brighten Christmas spirits with aluminum foil wreaths made in less time than it takes to wrap a present. And it doesn't have to be Christmas for a wreath to be appropriate!

Directions for these and many more items have been compiled in a new booklet, "Foil Is For Fun," featuring creations by designer Conny of Alcoa. Here are just a few shining examples:

Puppet Show — Your "cast of characters" is easy to assemble: a few rubber balls or wooden spoons! To fashion a round, bouncy kind of puppet, cover a rubber ball with aluminum foil to form the head. Neck and "body" are a pencil inserted in the ball (for a child's hand to grasp). The "clothes" are a square piece of fabric fitted over the pencil, through a small hole cut in the center. When you hold the pencil for the "show," your hand forms the body of the puppet while it holds the "clothes" in place. Puppet faces can be cut from felt or construction paper and glued on the foil; hair can be made out of ribbon or yarn.

Form another puppet from a long wooden spoon—the spoon serves for both head and body. Build up spoon face by wrapping with foil until you have the contours you want. Then cover with a smooth foil surface and glue on the features. Body and clothes are the same.

The puppet theater is created from a large box; cut out the opening for the stage. Use heavy-duty foil to cover box, overlapping the foil and pressing it close to the cardboard. Tape the edges on the inside and let the show go on!

Cone People — Make your cones out of stiff construction paper, then cover each cone with foil. Top the figures with "heads" of small plastic foam balls. For faces, glue on cotton beads, red noses or whatever your fancy dictates. Tiny cone hats make a nice final touch.

Popcorn Pets — These playful creatures are doubly popular for party tables: inside the shiny foil shapes are delectable popcorn balls. To make a cat, you need an 18-inch-long sheet of foil. Place popcorn balls four inches apart, leaving enough foil to form ears and tail. Bring up edges and roll balls in foil. Crush loosely around the two balls to hold them in place. Then crush—hard—to make neck and tail evenly tight. Cut foil on top part in center close to ball and form ears. Then decorate.

Do the same for the Lion — but remember his neck is shorter and his eyes are bigger. His main attraction is his mane! The little Rabbit is all ears — he seems "tuned in" to the delighted laughter of small guests.

Melvin Mouse — Melvin can be made with a few items from the kitchen. Cover separately with foil a scoop (or large spoon), and a plastic laundry sprinkler. Assemble Melvin by pushing the scoop handle down through the sprinkler top. Crush two pieces of foil, forming mouse ears, and tape to the back of the scoop "head." Features can be shaped out of felt or construction paper, hair can be a few strands of rope or yarn—glue them onto the head. Arms are made by lightly crushing a seven-inch length of foil, then taping it to the back. Melvin would love to have a perky ribbon around his neck, and a pink tail.

Wreaths — A simple overlapping and crushing technique can turn out a sparkling wreath in a jiffy. Pull out a long length of foil from the box, holding firmly to one end. Gently crush lengthwise until you have enough foil to form a circle. Then go around the circle with more foil, crushing and overlapping, until your wreath is the desired thickness. For Christmas, since it's the season to be jolly, tie on a jaunty red bow as a final touch. For birthdays, perhaps you might decorate with gay "take-one" lollypops.

Directions for making a star flower, a gleaming foil butterfly, a scary Halloween mask, and other creations are available upon request to "Foil Is For Fun."

Lassie, the collie star of "Lassie," enjoys flying and has been in almost all kinds of aircraft, from helicopters to jets.

BAYSIDE LIONS HEAR PORTSMOUTH POLICE CHIEF

BAYSIDE — The Bayside Lions Club met November 18, at Shore Drive Inn with the president, Jack Tallent, presiding.

Program chairman George Freeman introduced Col Jim Crowe, Chief of Police for the City of Portsmouth. Col Crowe had an outstanding career in the U.S. Marine corps before his retirement.

Crowe talked about "Veterans Day" (formerly Armistice Day). He spoke of the part that Americans played in wars during the last half century and the importance of keeping America strong.

He noted that with the combined power of the various branches of the armed forces America is the strongest nation in the world. Col. Crowe said that the Strategic Air Command and the Navy's Polaris subs have the ability to destroy any and all of the enemy targets.

Another thing necessary to our security is our continued control of the seas.

Rev. Earl Farrell, chairman of Lions Information Committee told about some of the relief work done by Lions clubs in the recent Earthquake Disaster in Alaska and many other fine charitable activities.

Lloyd Gunter, chairman of the club's annual "Turkey Shoot" reported that this year's "shoot" was a tremendous success — (the club should net $1,500.00) — Gunter presented a certificate of appreciation to Charles Martinette for outstanding service to the club. He sold 500 tickets in advance of the "shoot."

Thanksgiving in Virginia Beach... a time for counting your blessings. Be aware of what you have.

Be thankful you are a resident of an area filled with friendly home folks... for the cross-section of types and interests creating for you a well rounded sphere of activities, both plain and fancy.

Be thankful for the close proximity of the ocean... in the summer it gives a pleasant recreation; in winter, a brooding time for quiet reflection.

Be thankful for the modern new communities building up all around giving comfortable homes and bright business establishments... for historical homes and areas, rich reminders of a proud heritage.

Be thankful for busy highways to get you where you want to go... for twisting country roads for leisurely sight-seeing drives.

Be thankful for open fields and rich earth combining to grow your food and producing beauty... for towering trees, whispering or wailing in the wind.

Be thankful for sunny days, rainy storms, cloudy skies, cool nights... for any change of weather and season keeping you ever alert and mindful of the insignificance of self.

It is easy to be thankful for the blessing you have; it is necessary that you be thankful for the troubles not experienced.

Be thankful you don't live without freedom... that you don't go to bed hungry... that you don't walk on the cold ground without shoes... that no bombs explode in your street.

And most of all, be thankful you do not live without love of family, friends, and God.

Fire Groups Sponsor Film

VIRGINIA BEACH — City volunteer fire departments have banded together to sponsor an auto racing film to be shown December 12 and 13 at Princess Anne High School Auditorium. Funds from the $1 admissions will be divided equally among the volunteer departments.

There are three 1964 color sound films to be shown—Richard Petty's first major win at the Daytona 500, A. J. Foyt's second win of the Indianapolis 500, and Buck Baker's third win of the famed Southern 500.

A special feature will be guest racing celebrities and door prizes.

Times for the racing spectacles starts at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. December 12. Show time on December 13 is set for 2 p.m., 4 p.m., and 6 p.m.

Tickets are currently on sale by members of the sponsoring Virginia Beach Volunteer Fire Departments.

House Burns To Ground Here Monday

VIRGINIA BEACH — A house burned down at the corner of 18th and Atlantic 10 p.m. Monday. Because the house was vacant and due to be torn down, Virginia Beach Firemen were instructed to allow it to burn. A close watch was maintained to safeguard nearby property.

Youth Charged With Forgery

VIRGINIA BEACH — Police have charged a 19-year-old deliveryman with forging his employer's name to about 25 small checks.

William Harvey Jennings Jr. of Lee Road, employed by Herbert Harrell Florist since 1962, is accused of signing Harrell's name to some 25 checks since May. Police said he altered cash register tapes to cover the shortage.

Jennings was previously charged with burglarizing Temple Emanuel at 25th Street and Baltic Avenue on Oct. 5.

He is awaiting grand jury action on the second charge and is now in Virginia Beach jail.

SPENCE JOINS HONOR FRATERNITY

RICHMOND — Bailey Spence, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Spence of London Bridge, is among 31 students and one faculty member who have been initiated into the Virginia Alpha Chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, a national honorary mathematics fraternity at the University of Richmond.

Eligibility for the fraternity requires a B average in mathematics courses.

Spence, a junior at the University, is a graduate of Princess Anne high school where his activities included member of the Hi-Y, Key Club, Beta Club, baseball and basketball teams. He was co-editor of the yearbook and recipient of the Danforth Citizen Award.

Firemen Learn New Methods Through Study

VIRGINIA BEACH — For the past two weeks 152 Virginia Beach firemen have been attending nightly classes at fire training schools set up at various locations. These men were giving of their time and energies without pay to better serve the community.

Few people seem to realize that there is only one paid fire department in the entire city of Virginia Beach. This is the one located behind the Civic Center. All others are manned by volunteers.

These volunteers often leave their jobs during the day, or their beds during the night to fight fires and save lives and property.

Not only do the volunteers give of their time without pay, they also raise the needed funds to buy and maintain fire-fighting equipment.

Long-time member of the Chesapeake Beach Volunteer Fire Department John K. Dunning said "All the volunteer departments are still accepting contributions. I don't think any have yet reached their goal."

And they haven't! During the present fund raising activities of the several volunteer companies, only about an average of 60 per cent of the funds were achieved even though the firefighters asked a token one cent a day from each resident.

Still giving of their time to fighting fires and raising funds, the firemen also took time to attend the fire training school. There were 10 different classes: portable fire extinguisher, fire streams, ladder practice, salvage, inspection, gas masks, ventilation, operation at a fire, forcible entry, and flammable liquid. The flammable liquid was by far the most dramatic. Given at the fire training center in Chesapeake, the flammable liquid class has been known to send its students to the hospital on occasion. This is one class where no one sleeps.

A large shallow pit is filled with oil, gasoline, and other flammable liquids. In the center of this pit is an old truck. When the fire is lit, this truck is completely engulfed in curling hot flames.

The firemen approach the scorching blaze in a frontal attack. Two hose teams are used. The plan calls for cooling the truck's center first, then circling to either side.

Instructor M. E. Clifton, a Captain with the Chesapeake Fire Department is careful to warn the men not to forget the center.

"That truck body is hot," Clifton warns. "If you forget it and don't keep it cool, it can re-ignite the liquid, trapping you in the pit."

In the two times this reporter went to watch this class, no one forgot—and no one was hurt.

At the end of the two weeks of classes, of the 152 volunteers enrolled, 92 completed the fall course and were awarded certificates. The others received credit for hours attended.

Each of the volunteer fire departments had their turn in helping put out the flammable liquid fire at the South Norfolk Fire Training Center.

Bayside Club Hears City's Park Plans

BAYSIDE — Department of Recreation and Parks Director Harold Whitehurst, spoke recently to the Bayside Junior Woman's Club. He told the members of the plans to develop the area into recreation parks and increase the number of roadside tables. Desirable areas have already been chosen for campsites and boat ramps. It is the hope of the Department of Recreation and Parks to develop Virginia Beach City into a year round resort area.

The members voted to undertake a two year project to purchase and donate tables and benches for a desirable location. The chairman for this new project is Mrs. James F. Groome, Public Affairs and Conservation chairman of the club.

The club is also making a study of the Dismal Swamp and is supporting the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in the development of the Dismal Swamp for recreational use.

CHRISTMAS ISLAND BAZAAR THEME

BROAD BAY — "Christmas on the Island" will be the theme of Broad Bay Garden Clubs bazaar scheduled for December 9, to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gibbs, 2433 Windward Shore Drive.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

HOUSE FIRE CLAIMS THREE LIVES HERE

KEMPSVILLE — The Davis Corner and Kempsville volunteer fire departments Monday had to put their new training into action in a way no one wanted—a house fire. A man and his two sons lost their lives in the fire. His wife and daughter were badly burned.

John Jordan and his wife Vera came home to 1418 Centerville Turnpike about 11 p.m. Monday. "I had just come in," said Mrs. Jordan. "My husband went to the garage. That's when he saw the fire at the Burfert's, and told me to call the fire department."

"He ran through the backyard to their house. He couldn't get in. The house was a mask of fire. The mother, that's Eartha, was out of the house when he got there."

"She said 'My God! My husband, my children are burning up!' I don't know how the child got out. She wasn't out when we got there."

The child was Louise, 10. Police Officer Thomas Glisson received the call at 11:05 p.m. When he arrived at the residence of John Burfert at 1352 Centerville Turnpike, the fire had already claimed the lives of Marshall Burfert, 45; and his two sons, Marshall Jr., 8, and David, 5.

"Upon arriving at the scene, I went to the rear," said Officer Glisson. "I found the residence in total flames. Eartha Burfert and her daughter, Louise, were found in a badly burned condition. Both were placed in a Kempsville ambulance and sent to Norfolk General Hospital."

It was then that he learned there were three persons in the burning building.

The house was of frame construction. Before the fire departments arrived, the roof fell in, entombing those inside in a fiery coffin. Once the firemen arrived, the fire was out in just a few minutes.

"It doesn't take long to smother that type of fire when we put a fog spray on it," said Chief G. M. Held of the Kempsville Volunteer Fire Department. "But it was too late for those inside."

Knowing there was a house fire, the firemen brought along two rescue trucks. With Mrs. Burfert burned over 50 per cent of her body and Louise perhaps worse, the volunteers may well have saved both lives by having the ambulance on the scene.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

BRYAN BENNETT IS AMONG "WHO'S WHO"

GREENVILLE, N.C. — Bryan L. Bennett of Virginia Beach was one of 36 East Carolina College upperclassmen named to the 1965 edition of the national publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A 1960 Princess Anne High School graduate, Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Bennett Sr. of 2348 Pleasure House Road.

More Than Enough

We are the most prosperous people the world has seen! Even the poor among us live in princely comfort compared to some in other lands. Our country is famous for its beauty and fruitfulness, our cities are as modern as tomorrow, and our future glows with promise. God has indeed been good to us.

But with His bounty of wealth and power, God has given us responsibilities. Because we have so much, we are called upon to share what we can spare. And we are required to work and pray for the end of ignorance, poverty and suffering wherever they are found.

To be able to give in a blessed privilege. Let us fill our churches and join in heartfelt thanks to God that we have enough... and more than enough... to share.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Schoolday Lunch That Earns a High Grade

Triple score for this lunch: it's easy to prepare, it's filling, and kids enjoy every mouthful. Equally important, it's nutritionally well-balanced. Chicken for proteins (milk, too, in the thermos); red midjet tomatoes and raw carrot sticks—spearheaded through olives—for supplies of vitamins A and C; an apple and grapes for extra vitamin C; a pickle for punctuation; and for energy and eating pleasure, a generous serving of crisp Wise Potato Chips. A lunchbox-full of food values and appetite appeal. Economical, too, in preparation time and actual cost. (NOTE: Chipped chicken drumsticks can be prepared the night before and served for dinner, if desired. Then cold sticks can go into the lunch box.)

CHIPPED CHICKEN DRUMSTICKS
Place 6 to 8 washed and dried chicken drumsticks (6 to 8 pieces equal one pound) in shallow baking pan. Brush with 1/4 cup mayonnaise and sprinkle with finely-crushed contents of 1 six-ounce bag of Wise Potato Chips. Bake in moderate (350°) oven for 1 hour or until tender to a fork. Count 2 or more drumsticks for each serving. Serve hot or cold.

The Mixing Bowl
It's Fun To Cook
By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Its Thanksgiving again!
My how time rushes by! I hope you're having a wonderful day with your loved ones—I want to give you a poem before we chat about food today.

Its "The Treasured Moment" by Beryl Stewart.

A spicy fragrant kitchen,
Gay centerpiece of flowers,
A hearthfire with its crimson flames
Assuring cheerful hours.

A turkey in the oven,
Bright silver on the table,
And children laughing merrily
While Grandpa tells a fable.

Then comes the treasured moment
The one we all love best,
When hands are folded, heads are bowed,
And gratitude expressed.

After a delicious Thanksgiving dinner—there'll be some planning for "Turkey Encores." Here are some helpful suggestions, at least I hope you'll find them so.

TURKEY HOLIDAY PIE
2 cups cubed cooked turkey
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
2 egg yolks

Drop Biscuit Topping
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

Make a white sauce of butter, flour, milk and salt. Add turkey and olives. Heat thoroughly. Add a little bit of hot mixture to beaten egg yolks. Stir into hot sauce. Mix thoroughly and heat. Turn into casserole.

Cut shortening into flour which has been sifted with salt and baking powder. Add milk and stir to make soft dough. Drop by tablespoons onto hot turkey mixture. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) about 15 minutes or until biscuits are browned.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI
3 cups diced turkey
1/2 cup sliced canned mushrooms
1/2 cup thinly sliced onions
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Combine ingredients and chill. Makes a mighty good sandwich!

Capt. Toran New Skipper

LITTLE CREEK — Captain William P. Toran relieved Captain Wilmon H. Ayer as commanding officer of the attack cargo ship USS Capricornus Saturday.

Captain Toran reports to Capricornus from duty with Commander Military Sea Transportation Service, Atlantic Area, where he served as Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations.

Captain Ayer will report for duty in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations. While under his command, Capricornus has participated in numerous Navy-Marine Corps Team amphibious exercises demonstrating the versatility and mobility of seapower in meeting the Four Ocean Challenge facing our nation.

Radios Not Affected By Tunnel Air

BAYSIDE — The Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel Monday became the first travel facility in the world where motorists can listen to their car radios while driving through tunnels.

J. Clyde Morris, Executive Director of the Bridge-Tunnel, flipped a switch adding broadband radio reception to the existing two-way short-wave system in the two mile-long tunnels.

"So far as we know, there is not another tunnel anywhere with AM radio reception," Morris said.

The 17.5-mile long bridge-tunnel, longest in the world, opened for traffic last April. It spans the mouth of Chesapeake Bay between Virginia Beach and Virginia's Eastern Shore. Its two tunnels dip as much as 90 feet under the bay surface beneath channels used by ships plying the ports of Hampton Roads and Baltimore.

The new radio system consists of AM antennas mounted at each end of the tunnels and connected with amplifiers. The amplifiers boost the signals received by the antennas and feed them to antenna cables running the length of the tunnel ceilings.

The ceiling antenna cables were built into the tunnels originally to provide two-way short-wave communication for the bridge-tunnel's patrol cars, maintenance and emergency vehicles. Only the outside antennas and amplifiers had to be added to make the system serve car radios.

Even the short-wave system is unique, according to M. S. Blosser of Norfolk, District Representative for the Communication Products Department of General Electric Company, designer of the system.

"We haven't learned of another vehicular tunnel anywhere in the world with an internal radio system of any kind," Blosser said. "The closest thing to it is a two-way short-wave system being planned for New York's subway system."

Leon R. Johnson, Chief Engineer for the Bridge-Tunnel, said the new AM antenna will eliminate the annoyance motorists feel when they drive into a tunnel and their radio goes dead. "I don't know why it is," Johnson said, "but it always seems to happen just as the announcer says, 'We interrupt this program for a special news bulletin,' or 'It's the last of the ninth,' the score is tied, and Mickey Mantle is stepping up to bat."

MACHINERY CARE TIPS

Fall is the time for farmers to give serious consideration to storage and conditioning of farm machinery. Life of any machine can be lengthened considerably with proper fall and winter care.

I suggest putting the machinery under cover for winter months. It is best to have a storage shed large enough for all machinery. If this is not possible, tarpaulins or heavy plastic covers can provide some protection. Unpainted metal parts such as moldboards, discs, and cultivator shovels should be protected from rust. Clean oil or grease, brushed on, will give protection for short periods, but special anti-rust compounds should be used for longer periods of storage.

All bearings and fittings should be well lubricated before storage to prevent rusting. Equipment with pneumatic tires should be blocked up to relieve the weight from the tires.

Machines powered with auxiliary engines require extra attention. Drain and flush radiators of liquid cooled engines. Change engine oil, then run the engine for a few minutes to lubricate the internal parts.

Spark plugs should be removed and about one tablespoon of clean engine oil poured into each cylinder. Replace the plugs and turn the engine a few revolutions by hand to distribute the oil cylinders.

Drain the fuel from all lines, the tank and carburetor. Leave the drains open for a few days to allow evaporation of fuel. Then close the drains to prevent dirt from entering the system.

Air cleaners should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled. Batteries should be fully charged and stored where they will not freeze. Lastly, cover or plug the exhaust pipe and crankcase breather pipe to prevent entrance of dirt and moisture.

CENSUS OF AGRICULTURE BEING HELD THIS MONTH

Farmers in November will be receiving questionnaires from the U.S. Census Bureau.

This 1964 census of agriculture will cover almost every phase of farming activity, plus the family's work off the farm.

The census law requires that the questionnaire be filled out, but it also guarantees that the information will be kept confidential and used only for statistics.

A week or two after the farmer receives his form, a census enumerator will call to pick it up, make sure all questions have been answered, and give any help needed to complete the form.

GRAIN AERATION

Years ago farmers had to laboriously "turn" grain by hand to remove hot spots. This practice has been replaced by aeration.

Aeration is simply a matter of forcing air through the grain, but this cools the grain and equalizes temperatures within the bin. It also removes storage odors, retards mold growth, reduces insect activity, and prevents a build-up of moisture in the top center of the bin.

Grain drying removes moisture by forcing large amounts of air through it. Aeration is not used to dry grain, but mainly to cool it, and only a small air flow is needed.

Moisture accumulation is a problem in large storage bins. Warm grain in storage loses heat slowly as cold weather approaches. Grain at the surface and next to sidewalls cools first. The center of the mass remains warm. These temperature differences set up air movement in the stored grain.

Cool air near sidewalls moves downward and into the warm grain at the center of the bin. As the air becomes warm, it rises—picking up moisture as it moves upward. When this warm, moist air reaches cold grain at the surface, condensation may occur. If this happens, spoilage can be expected.

This can be prevented by aeration to equalize temperatures of grain throughout the storage bin. When temperatures are equalized, moisture migration cannot take place.

A motor and fan unit is the heart of a grain aeration system. A duct system distributes the air. An air flow of only one-fifth to one-twentieth cubic foot per minute per bushel is adequate for aeration. That's only a fraction of the air flow needed to dry grain. A large storage bin can be aerated with a small motor and fan unit.

The aeration fan should run when the air temperature is 10 to 15 degrees below the grain temperature and when relative humidity is between 50 and 75 percent. The object is to cool the grain mass to 50 degrees. When this temperature is reached, the system is operated a few hours each week to remove odors.

HOW'S BATTING AVERAGE OF YOUR DAIRY HERD?

Every dairy herd a baseball team?

That's one way of looking at it. Do your dairy cows all have high batting averages? Do they all make plenty of home runs? Or do some of them strike out every time they come up to bat?

A good batting average means that a cow should attain at least her "mature equivalent basis"—the amount of milk she should produce when she has completely grown up.

Take a cow named "Babe," which has calved at two years and one month. She has just completed her first 305-day record with a yield of 10,000 pounds of milk. Since she was still growing during those 305 days, and has not reached her mature size and milk producing ability, we must increase her actual milk yield by 30 percent to make it comparable with the yields of older cows. The projected increase would amount to 13,000 pounds of milk—"Babe's" mature equivalent basis.

It may be, however, that the other cows in the herd, eating the same food and getting the same care, produce 14,000 pounds of milk on a mature equivalent basis. Then, "Babe's" batting average is not so good.

It's probably not as inferior, though, as the 1000 pounds deficiency would indicate. About 75 percent of this loss is due to environmental influences and chance.

We can say, therefore, that "Babe" in reality is only 25 percent inferior, in inherited milk producing ability, to her herd-mates. This would give her an "estimated breeding value" (EBV) of only 250 pounds less milk than the 14,000 pound average of her herd-mates.

After EBV's have been obtained by this method for each cow, it's up to the dairyman to decide who he'll keep on his team.

Shall we keep the weak hitters another year and hope that they will produce more milk? We can do this, but the chances are rather small that they'll become among the better cows in the herd. It's probably wiser to plan to replace them now.

City Market Doing Well

DIAMOND SPRINGS—The city's produce market at Diamond Springs is still going full blast and will continue to do so as long as there are fresh vegetables to sell.

Agricultural Agent E. R. Cockrell Jr. said there are quite a few vegetables still available despite the late season—onions, sweet potatoes, turnips and other greens, to mention a few.

The market's 16 stalls are all operating on a full schedule, he said, and the supply of produce is good.

"And we will continue to remain open as long as we have anything to sell," Cockrell said.

Box office favorites Doris Day and Rock Hudson are teamed again as husband and wife in Universal's Technicolor production "Send Me No Flowers," now showing at the Princess Theatre.

TRIO OF STARS NEW COMEDY FILM

A trio of comedy performers, who have literally scooped all of the whipped cream off the tasty movie profits during the past several seasons are at it again.

Once more Doris Day, Rock Hudson and Tony Randall have parked their super-trailers that serve as on-the-set dressing rooms on a Universal sound stage, looking not unlike a fabulous circus just pulled into town.

This time their springboard for best-selling comedy is a screen adaptation of "Send Me No Flowers," a Broadway stage comedy of a few seasons back. With Hudson and Miss Day teamed as husband-and-wife for the first time — and Randall as their next-door neighbor — "Send Me No Flowers" draws its humor from a hypochondriac who, erroneously convinced he has only a few weeks to live, sets about finding a suitable mate for his widow-to-be. The comedy, in Technicolor, is now showing at Princess Theatre.

What's the secret of their success? "Excellent scripts, performed expertly," says director Norman Jewison. "Without the story, the situations, the pace and the correct attitudes, no comedian can score."

But more than that, with these three performers, it's a chemistry rarely found on any stage, legitimate or sound. They have more than respect for each other. It's deep affection. They start with a simple situation and, by respecting and reacting to each other's professionalism, Don Meeker, a Norfolk City Fire Inspector, who in real life is "Candy the Clown" led a parade of Tidewater talent into the Naval Amphibious Base Theater for a special "Hollywood Matinee." "Candy" coveting brought mercurial backstage before the show when he aired his snafus for the Baker's Doves singing group from Norfolk High School. The "Sally Sevens" Combs from the Navy School of Music played the lively tunes which set the mood for the show.

"And what's even more amazing, they do it without resorting to shock, out-and-out slapstick or blatant sex. There's always plenty of sex in their comedies, of course, but it's the cleanest sex invented."

CBS Reports Depicts Picture Of Segregation

The trials of a middle-class Negro family seeking to buy a home in a predominantly white suburban neighborhood of one of the country's major metropolitan areas in the North will be the subject of CBS Reports: "Segregation: Northern Style" Wednesday, Dec. 9 (7:30-8:30 p.m., EST) on the CBS Television Network.

CBS Reports' hidden cameras follow the Negro couple on each step of their search for a $28,000 to $32,000 house in white suburbia, where they hope to raise their 11-year-old daughter in a friendly, integrated environment. Viewers will hear what happens inside real estate offices and homes as the family pursues its search—the sound recorded by means of hidden microphones. They will not see the names or faces of the brokers and home-owners involved.

During their first six weeks of intensive house-hunting, which began last July, the couple visited 24 real estate offices in 11 cities and towns in a single Northern suburban county. Sixteen (or two-thirds) of these brokers showed them no houses at all. The remaining eight showed a total of 13 houses, only two of which were actually in the price and size category sought.

It was at that point that the family turned for help to a coordinating organization of voluntary local fair housing committees. CBS Reports' cameras are on the scene at a meeting of one of these local committees, a group that helped the family to see more houses. Hidden cameras and microphones follow a white "tester" as she is shown houses by a real estate agent who previously declined to show the Negro couple anything. And the cameras and microphones are there when the Negro husband and a fair housing member return to confront the agent with the evidence. The agent then agrees to show them houses.

The problem of the home owner who refuses to show his home to a Negro is met when the husband attempts to return to one of these houses with his wife. The agent reports the owner's refusal to let them in.

In a reflective interview, filmed before they apostrophized for help to the fair housing group, the couple speak of their reasons for wanting to move from their present home in a predominantly white section of a Northern suburban town. They tell of their desire to live where people do not run because a person of another race or belief has moved into the neighborhood.

Stanwyck Is Presley Co-star

Intrigued by the novel casting which finds Barbara Stanwyck, a four-time Academy Award nominee for her dramatic film characterizations, in a co-starring role with Elvis Presley in Hal Wallis' "Roustabout," which opens Wednesday at the Beach Theatre, the distinguished actress was asked: "Isn't this quite a switch from your customary type of role?" "A change of pace, yes," admits Miss Stanwyck, "but this part could open a brand new audience for me. You see, Elvis has his own legion of fans. They are staunch and loyal followers. Maybe they've never seen me in a motion picture."

"Another thing," Miss Stanwyck added, "I am loyal to my old friends, too. 'Roustabout' is a Hal Wallis production. This will mark my fifth picture for Mr. Wallis, one of which includes one of my finest roles in 'Sorrowful Number.' I sort of feel that working for the first time with Elvis, for Mr. Wallis, is most fortunate."

Miss Stanwyck's role as the attractive and vigorous owner of a travelling carnival, brought her back to the Paramount lot for the first time in more than ten years. Her last picture there was Wallis' "The Furies." The famous actress even has the same measurements as she did some years ago. Paramount's fashion stylist, Edith Head, used the same forms as before in designing her costumes. Miss Stanwyck is prompt on the set for shooting. Reading and watching color TV travel subjects are her chief hobbies. She is very active, keeps athletically in trim and knows everything that goes on in Hollywood, but she's not a nightclubber and rarely, if ever, goes out on the town. All in all, Miss Stanwyck is quite a girl, as everyone on the "Roustabout" set will attest to.

"Roustabout," in Technicolor and Techniscope, was directed by John Rich. The cast, along with Presley and Miss Stanwyck, includes Joan Freeman, Lefty Duzik, Sue Ann Langdon and Pat Buttram.

Vietnam War On NBC News

In choosing the title, "Vietnam: It's a Mad War," for the special colorcast that will be presented by NBC News Tuesday, Dec. 1 (10-11 p.m. EST), producer Ted Yates probably was thinking as much about his production team's experiences as about the war itself.

Along with associate Robert Rogers, cameraman Julian Townsend and soundman Al Hoagland, Yates spent about two months in South Vietnam compiling material for the program. Much of the time was spent in areas never before visited by journalists and cameramen.

"After we got to Saigon we just took off on our own," Yates said. "We would get to some isolated outpost or base and the people there would say, 'Who are you?' and 'What are you doing here?' We'd tell them what

Young People's Concert Series Monday Fare

"Farewell to Nationalism" will be Leonard Bernstein's subject on the second of this season's New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts, Monday, Nov. 30 on the CBS Television Network (7:30-8:30 p.m. EST). Bernstein's approach is that although music has become more international in character since World War II, many people still like to hear the familiar and recognizable nationalistic music of the 19th century—a kind of fond, nostalgic look backward.

On this premise, Bernstein and the Philharmonic will feature the following works on the program of Nov. 30.

"The Moldau," from the symphonic poem "My Country" by Czech composer Bedrich Smetana; "The Three Corners Hat," a ballet by the Spanish composer Manuel de Falla; and "Fourth of July," a movement from "Symphony: Holidays" by the American composer Charles Ives.

The New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts, now in their eighth season on the CBS Television Network, are videotaped in Philharmonic Hall at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

The third program of this season will be broadcast Thursday, Jan. 28 (8-9 p.m. EST).

Julie Andrews On NBC-TV

Stage and screen star Julie Andrews makes one of her rare television appearances as special guest on NBC-TV's "Andy Williams Show" colorcast of Monday, Nov. 30 (9-10 p.m. EST). Comedian Bill Cosby and the Osmond Brothers round out the cast.

Backed by the Nick Castle dancers, Andy opens with "Fireworks" and Miss Andrews joins him in the final chorus. Then, in an example of whirlwind courtship, Andy and Julie completely "letter" a theatre marquee with the words, "See Julie Andrews Starring in 'The Americanization of Emily'." Exhausted by their efforts, the pair rest while some kissing scenes from the above mentioned movie are shown. Andy adds some wry comments about the busing between Julie and James Garner, and Andy and Julie then sing "Hallelujah, I Just Love Her So."

The informal spot features Cosby with a comedy routine about a tough football game he played in the streets as a boy. Julie joins the Osmonds in singing "Supercalifragilistic" (from the movie "Mary Poppins," in which Miss Andrews stars) and "Sing a Rainbow."

A medley of English music hall favorites is next with Andy and Julie offering "I've Got a Lovely Bunch of Coconuts," "Don't Put Your Daughter on the Stage, Miss Worthington," "Who Threw the Overalls in Mistress Murphy's Chowder?" and "Mad Dogs and Englishmen."

The crew itself did not escape illness. Rogers has only recently fully recovered from an attack of amoebic hepatitis. Despite their hardships, or perhaps because of them, Yates and his crew have nothing but respect for the Vietnamese soldiers and their American advisers.

"The Vietnamese are really tough," Yates said. "A lot of them are thrown into battles with little or no training. Sometimes they are practically firing their weapons for the first time when they are shooting at the enemy. But they hang in there and shoot it out with the Vietcong. I'm glad we're on the same side."

QUICK CHANGE FOR FASHION

With a rain-or-shine coat, there's never a cloud on your fashion horizon. A quick change in the weather just calls for a quick change in accessories to produce a double-duty ensemble. A shining example of versatility, this Modern Juniors coat reverts from Poppo's banker-grey denim to mad plaid Madras. Available in sizes 5 to 15.

IDEA HOME DECORATIONS

The average home handyman has the tools that he needs to take care of many minor tasks—but more often than not his efficiency is hampered by the fact that he can't find the exact tool that he needs. There's no better time than now—the indoor season—for the handyman to put his working tools in order. The man who doesn't have room for a full-fledged workshop can settle for a convenient tool cabinet and holder. Such a unit is easily constructed of panel hardware and Pegboard and most dealers can furnish plans for wall type, carry-all or roll-around units.

Did she learn the values of thrift and responsibility? How to make dimes and quarters add up to dollars? These are some of the valuable lessons each child can learn through the U. S. Treasury's School Savings Program. By putting their dimes and quarters into U. S. Savings Stamps, thousands of American children are saving toward the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds—one of the best investments any of us can make. A successful School Savings program is based on partnership—the teacher, the child, the parent, the volunteers who make it go. Our country is a partner too—because young citizens who buy Savings Stamps are helping to keep America strong.
